MAJOR MENTION

Boston Store, 10-day sale. The school board will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor will give an excursion party Tuesday evening in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church.

Miss Krach, a young lady living in this city, stumped and fell while dancing at a Masonic temple yesterday morning, about 2 o'clock. She was transported by several other dancers, who could not stop, and had to be taken home in a hack. Her injuries were very painful.

A company of little tots will put their dolls through a drill at the Congregational church next Thursday night. A number of other well-attended parties, with excellent music and sweet illustrations from foreign lands, odd cradles, queer babies, foreign mannan, nursery rhymes, etc., are all on the program. Only 25 cents.

While W. S. Marshall and wife were attending the First Presbyterian church last evening some miscreant ran off with their rifle which they had left standing in front of the church. In another part of this paper will be found a description of the missing property. So far there is not a trace of the rifle or whereabouts of the thieves. The police have been put on the trail.

The fire department was called out Saturday afternoon by a fire at the residence of J. S. Standford, 347 Avenue G. The fire started from a gas stove, some inflammable material having been left too close. Mrs. Standford was in the house at the time, confined to her bed by illness. She was somewhat unnerved by the excitement, but was moved to the home of her brother, Harry Burke, where she is thought will not suffer any serious consequences.

Harry Hamilton, who was mentioned in The Sixties here as having been discharged after an examination by the court on the charge of playing a confidence game, came to this city Saturday night, accompanied by his confederate, Charles Fabey. The latter went to Omaha and the former to his home in this city. He has announced his intention of annihilating certain members of the police force who arrested him, and the police are consequently on the qui vive.

The Twin City Dye works is now the largest and most complete in the west. The new building is equipped with the newest approved machinery, in hands of expert workmen. All kinds of dyeing, cleaning and restoring ladies' and gentlemen's garments, feathers, etc. All work guaranteed. Office and works at 26th street and Avenue A, Council Bluffs, Omaha office, 1521 Farmington street. G. A. SCHOENBAUGH, Proprietor.

For Rent—The store on Broadway, now occupied by U. P. Tea Co. Ask your grocer for Domestic soap.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS. George D. Rice of Denver is visiting his many friends in Council Bluffs.

Dr. Myron Phelps of Glenwood is the guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Phelps.

R. R. Harrison has returned from a health-seeking trip of several weeks through Fremont county.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Shepard celebrated their twenty-seventh anniversary of their marriage last Saturday.

Deputy Marshal A. L. Lydick of Fremont, Neb., was in the city yesterday for a visit with his brother-in-law, Mr. Lydick.

Herbert Stacy, a son of W. C. Stacy of this city, is now connected with the Howell Manufacturing company of Beaver Dam, Wis.

Miss Sue Hutton of Omaha was the guest last week of Miss Sadie Davis, with whom she was a classmate in Perry Hall seminary, Lake Forest, Ill.

Charles Keith, the friend of the "Q" railway at St. Louis, is the guest of his son, J. J. Keith. He is well known here, having been some years ago agent for the same railway in this city.

You pay your money and you take your choice—either Dr. Jeffrey's Elixaria for a cough or a cold. This five years' trial proves Dr. Jeffrey's diphtheria medicine infallible in putrid sore throat, as in malignant scarlet fever or malignant diphtheria.

W. E. Chambers, dancing academy, Masonic temple. Classes each Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Smoke T. D. King & Co's Partagas. Dancing Club Organized. About thirty young men of the city have banded themselves together into a social organization called the Mnemosyne Daning club. Their intention is to give parties every two weeks during the winter at the hall of the Woodmen of the World.

The apparently unpronounceable name which the boys have chosen is not so bad, after all, when one has a proper combination. For the benefit of the uninitiated and perhaps some of the initiated, it may be stated that the word Mnemosyne is pronounced and the accent must be on the second syllable. Who objected at the christening of the first word? It was pronounced and the accent must be on the second syllable. Who objected at the christening of the first word? It was pronounced and the accent must be on the second syllable.

"Happy memories" is said to be the meaning of the title, and the friends who are fortunate enough to receive invitations are promised a great many "memories."

George S. Davis, prescription druggist, S. M. Williamson still sells the Standard and Domestic at 106 South Broadway, as has been reported.

For neat job printing, prompt delivery and lowest prices go to Fryer Bros., B-6 job office, 12 Pearl street.

W. S. Baird, Lawyer, Everett block. Goodies Went West. Relics of the World's Fair are passing through the city in large quantities, many of them being on their way to San Francisco to be placed on exhibition at the Midwinter exposition. Among the things of interest that went through Saturday was the Goddess of Liberty who used to occupy so conspicuous a place in the court of honor at the World's Fair. Her head was severed from her body and her body was divided into a number of pieces, so that she would hardly have been recognized by those who had seen her graciously greeting the multitudes that thronged the fair grounds. It took three freight cars to transport her remains westward over the Union Pacific.

Sugar Corn! Sugar Corn! Try the Council Bluffs Sugar Corn. The best in the market. Absolutely no chemicals used to bleach the corn white. It is young, tender, sweet, clean and wholesome.

Domestic soap is the best. Ladies, if you desire absolute peace in the kitchen ask your grocer for J. C. Hoffmayer & Co's Fancy Patent flour.

Night School to Be Started. A night school is to be started up in connection with the Young Men's Christian association for the purpose of assisting those of the members who wish to pursue study along almost any common line of education. The opening will be on Monday evening, November 27. French, German and shorthand classes will be organized, each pupil being charged $1 for a term of four months. The other branches are free. They include bookkeeping, penmanship, mathematics, grammar and composition, mechanical and architectural drawing. Good teachers have been secured for almost all of these branches, and the names of those composing the list will be announced in the course of a few days. Sessions will be held once a week.

NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

City Council Meeting Tonight Will Be Fraught With More than Usual Interest.

ON INTERSTATE FRANCHISE EXTENSION

Motor and Bridge Company Will Ask for a Favor-Ex-Fire Chief Nicholson's Case to Be Thoroughly Investigated and Disposed Of.

The city council will have a meeting this evening, at which considerable business of importance will be brought up. Among other things is the question of extending the line of the Interstate Railway company for two miles more, in order to allow it to build its electric motor line at leisure. There is considerable feeling against such an extension among the people of the city, as the only thing that the company has so far done in the way of improving transportation facilities between the two cities is to lay a block of worthless track in such a slovenly way that the city was compelled to pay $1,350 damages to a lady who was injured by it. A great deal of interest is felt in the action of the council in this matter.

Another thing to come before the council will in all probability be the reinstatement of Charles Nicholson to the position of fire chief, from which he was removed temporarily while charges of incendiarism and habitual drunkenness were pending against him. The grand jury having disposed of the charge in his favor, his reinstatement is a matter of course. It is a question in which every citizen has an interest, as the fire chief of Council Bluffs cannot help being vitally interested. In order to keep insurance rates down, the standing of the fire department must be kept up. If Chief Nicholson is guilty of drunkenness while on duty there is no doubt that his temporary lay-off would be made permanent. It should be promptly reinstated. The question is far as it has been brought before the public is strongly against him, and for his own sake he should insist that the charges made be fully investigated.

MAYOR MILLER'S TENSION. MISSOURI VALLEY, Ia., Nov. 19.—To the Editor of The Bee: In THE SUNDAY BEE, under the caption "Fleece a Farmer," you place several severe strictures upon an "accommodating justice shop" in Valley, which I presume is intended to apply to a case tried before me on the 18th inst., in which T. Cahely and H. Hamilton were charged with obtaining money by false pretenses. To a statement of facts in the case, including the evidence produced, I do not and could not demur. In your narration of the alleged crime you state that one G. W. Morgan, a farmer living near Louisville, Neb., is the source of information, and that the witness, the complainant witness, was Charles Brandt, who stated in evidence that he resides near Louisville, Neb.

"Presuming that by Morgan you mean Brandt, the only portion of Brandt's testimony that Hoffman (the baggageman) corroborated was as to the identification of Defendant Cahely. Hoffman's evidence, however, is the man he saw at the baggage car for a short time. He testified to nothing concerning the "heaving" which occurred in the smoking car (Hoffman not being present at the time). Concerning Defendant Hamilton, no evidence was produced implicating him further than being present at the time of the alleged swindling. The complainant witness testified that the entire transaction was between him and Cahely. As to Defendant Fabey, there was just as much, just as positive evidence that he did not commit the crime as there was that he did. He gave a detailed statement of the facts of the case, all of which are to be disclosed in the records thereof and the minutes of the testimony now in my possession, and open to the strictest scrutiny. The only one interested sufficiently to examine the same. R. J. MILLER, Proprietor "Accommodating Justice Shop."

BOSTON STORE. FOTHERINGHAM WHITEHEAD & CO., Leaders and Promoters of Low Prices, Council Bluffs, Ia.

Davenport, Hearted from Again. Frank Davenport, who was wanted very by the police a few weeks ago for forging the name of a Mrs. Patton to a check and presenting it at a grocery store in this city, beating the groceryman out of several dollars, seems to have been exercising his talents again in a more extensive way. The sheriff of Tekamah, Neb., was in the city yesterday looking for him, but failed to find him. It seems Davenport worked for a man at Tekamah for some time after leaving here, and received a check for $8 in part payment. After the check was cashed, the figure "88" after the first, increasing the value of the check ten times over, he passed the check on a stove keeper, who now wants him. Davenport spent some of his time after leaving here at Winnebago, Neb., and a deputy sheriff from this city went to Davenport, where he was standing in the door of the postoffice when the deputy came up. He immediately stepped inside of the building and waited until the sheriff had passed. He then stepped out and the dust of Winnebago from his feet in short order.

Are selling 10 a week of these steel-plate ranges. They are bound to drive out all other cooking stoves. Prices so low you can't resist. Finest bakery and greatest variety of savors. Sold by Cole & Cole, 41 Main street.

Cradle songs of different nations at Congregational church Thursday evening.

Domestic soap is the best. Probably Got a Hake-Of. A woman arrived in the city a few nights ago and put up in one of the hotels. She had come from Omaha, having stepped off on her way from her home in Nebraska to the east. Her case came to the knowledge of a Council Bluffs gentleman through a peculiar chain of circumstances, and he found that she had been charged $5 by a hack driver for being brought across the river. She stated that she asked an Omaha policeman where she could get a car for Council Bluffs. He informed her that the cars running between the cities had stopped running, and that there was a hack driver standing near who offered to take her across. It was early in the evening and of course the cars had not started. She was a stranger and did not know it. The circumstances indicate either that she mistook one of Omaha's cabbies for one of the finest, or else that some policeman got a rake-off on the hack business.

Be shown the Klein tract, 24 miles east of postoffice, out Madison street. Choicest and cheapest fruit, garden and suburban acreage, now on sale by Day & Hess, 30 Pearl street.

Ladies, if you desire absolute peace in the kitchen ask your grocer for J. C. Hoffmayer & Co's Fancy Patent flour.

General Gordon's Obituary Treatment of a Dying Pos.

HOW A MESSAGE SAVED THE MAN'S LIFE

They Meet by Chance Eleven Years After—Dynamite Gun—The Soldier's Dog—Only We and the Alamo.

The advance of the confederate line of battle commenced early on the morning of July 1, 1863, at Gettysburg. The infantry division commanded by Major General John B. Gordon of Georgia was among the first to attack. Its objective point was the left of the Second corps of the union army. The daring commander of that corps occupied a position so far advanced beyond the main line of the federal army that, while it invited attack, it placed him beyond the reach of ready support when the crisis of battle came to him in the rush of charging lines more extended than his own. The confederate advance was steady, and it was bravely met by the union troops, who for the first time found themselves engaged in battle on the soil of the north, which until then had been virgin to the war. It was "a far cry" from Richmond to Gettysburg, yet Lee was in their front, and they seemed resolved to welcome their southern visitors "with bloody hands to hospitable embraces. But the federal flanks rested in air, and being turned, his line was badly broken and, despite its bravely resolute defense against the well ordered attack of the confederate veterans, it was forced to fall back.

The answer came in feeble tones: "Thank you, general. I am Brigadier General Barlow of New York. You can do nothing more for me; I am dying." Then, after a pause, he said: "Yes, you can; my wife is at the headquarters of Cahely, and if you survive the battle, please let her know that I died doing my duty." General Gordon replied: "Your message, if I live, shall surely be given to your wife. Can I do nothing more for you?"

After a brief pause General Barlow responded: "May God bless you. Only one thing more. Feel in the breast pocket of my coat—the left breast and take out a packet of letters. As General Gordon unbanded the packet, the seemingly dying soldier said: "Now please take out one and read it to me. They are from my wife. I wish that her words shall be the last I hear in this world."

Being on one knee at his side Gordon, in clear tones, but with tearful eyes, read the letter. It was the missive of a noble woman to her worthy husband, whom she knew to be in daily peril of his life, and with pious fervor General Gordon turned to the safety and comfort of the man who had been commended him to the care of the God of battles. As the reading of the letter ended, General Barlow said: "Thank you. Now please tear them all up. I would not have them read by others." General Gordon, to the safety and comfort of the man who had been commended him to the care of the God of battles. As the reading of the letter ended, General Barlow said: "Thank you.
