GAY GRIDIRON GLADIATORS

Nebraska and Iowa Warriors in All the Panoply of Foot Ball Fray.

DOUGHTY TEAMS READY TO BEGIN BUCKING

Last Year's Old Score and Today's New One Will Be Consolidated and Settled Before the Sun Goes Down This Evening.

When the sun goes down this evening it will be pretty well understood which is the best man—Nebraska or Iowa. They are both stalwart, brawny young fellows, full of strength and fortitude and the pugnacious spirit of the times and it is reasonable to expect a gigantic struggle.

It is to be a battle to a finish and between the foot ball teams of the universities of these rival states. The conflict will be doubly important, inasmuch as it is not only the final meet in the interstate championship, but will settle a grudge of twelve months standing between the Antelope and the Hawkeye champions. They met in desperate strife here last fall and were compelled by darkness to quit with even honors—a drawn battle. Each have nursed their wrath and vengeful feelings since, resolving when they met again to conquer or die. The opportunity to carry out this patriotic determination will present itself this afternoon, when the two teams will again be arrayed against each other in vigorous contest.

The game will be played under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian association at the local park, the ball being faced off at 3 o'clock sharp.

Both teams, plumed and belted, are in the city, ready and eager for the fray. The Iowa boys got in yesterday afternoon and stopped at the Dellone, while the Nebraska team arrived this morning and is at the Merchants.

Exemplification of Muscle.

Without a doubt it will prove the greatest foot ball game ever seen in this part of the west. There is much rivalry existing between the two teams and it will be nevelopean effort to establish supremacy. This is essentially an age of muscular development, as all who attend this afternoon are likely to see exemplified. Both teams are in the finest fettle, though Iowa has the advantage slightly in weight and experience, guaranteeing in advance a thrilling combat. The Young Men's Christian association has made excellent preparations for the accommodation of the crowd, and, as the railroads have all made excursion rates to and from surrounding towns, a great gathering should be on hand.

In conjunction with the game the ex-collegiates resident here and in the adjacent cities, will hold a sort of a reunion on the grounds, and as each is true to his alma mater and the colors of former associates on the athletic field, a confusion of strange slogans may be expected to fill the wintry air. A fashionable audience is already assured.

How They Will Face.

Unless unforeseen contingencies make changes necessary the teams will face each other thus:

Nebraska.	Position.	Iowa.
Hopewell	center	Rogers
Frank	quarter	Sawyer
Yont, J. G	full back	Elliott (capt.)

WATCH FOR A CRASH.

At Cambridge the Irresistible Expects to Meet the Immovable Today.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 29.—The Pennsylvania-Harvard game tomorrow will be for blood. Both sides are determined to win and will play gamely. Harvard is crushed and feels disgraced after her defeat by Yale. She will do or die this time. The Pennsylvanians come up feeling they can win and are bound to be victorious. Both sides will play an aggressive game, relying on wedge and mass play, and the chances are substitutes will be needed by both sides before the game is over.

The Harvard men are very quiet, rather grouchy, and rather look as if it would be rather uncomfortable to buck against them. They long for another stab against Yale and will use Pennsylvania for a substitute. In comparing the elevens, man for man, they are about even. As far as team play goes, both sides play the same hard, rushing game, with Harvard having the advantage in more new plays. The Quakers, however, will have their captain, McKay, who is a star man, and the crimsons will miss Waters. Lewis, the center rusher, will take his place. In general, while the teams show up well, Harvard will play the game of her life. It is not believed here that the Quakers can do much better or play harder than they did against Yale or Princeton.

YALE—TWO TO ONE.

Wearers of the Blue Chase the Tigers to Cover in Betting.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The seventeenth annual foot ball game to be played tomorrow afternoon on Manhattan field between Princeton and Yale promises to be in many respects the most successful contest of this kind ever played. Both teams will arrive in this city this evening. There are already large numbers of visiting college men in town. The corridors and public rooms of the Hoffman house have begun to ring with yells of opposing factions.

Betting on the game has been comparatively light. Small wagers were laid early in the season at even money. The odds changed to 2 to 1, and last evening some bets were placed at 5 to 4 on Yale. Indications seem to show that at these figures Princeton will keep the money. It is generally conceded that the style of play will be of the open variety, and that Yale will refuse to mass her men except when no other course is open to her.

Racing License Refused.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—On account of the influx of thieves, pickpockets, confidence men and touts into the city to attend the Benings race meeting, Superintendent of Police Moore has issued a communication to the commissioners of the district recommending that they decline to issue a license to the Ivy City Jockey club for winter racing.

Will Discuss the Game.

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—At a special meeting of the overseers of Harvard college in this city today the following petition was presented to the board by Mr. George Shicker:

The wide difference of opinion which exists as to the merits and demerits of the game of foot ball as now developed and played by collegians leads the undersigned to request the board of overseers to cause full statistics to be gathered and compiled and a thorough investigation conducted so that the appropriate attitude of the government of our university to the game may be wisely determined, so that if practicable modifications of the game, calculated to lessen its dangers, may be suggested and so that parents and also their sons in college or preparing for college may have the benefit of the results of a thorough and judicial inquiry by a competent committee.

The petition was referred to the committee on physical training and athletic sports.

George Floats In and Out.

George Fitzgerald, the well known welter weight, was in the city yesterday. He came expecting to get on a match here with some local man, it made little difference who, but finding the game at a standstill he left last night for Kansas City, taking Danny Daly along with him.

ATLANTIC'S BIG BILLOWS.

Crew of the Schooner Ashore Off Fire Island All Rescued.

FIRE ISLAND, Nov. 29.—Captain Randall, with his wife and little son and the ten men of the crew, who for upwards of twenty-four hours were lashed to the spray-drenched rigging of the wrecked schooner Louise H. Randall of Smith's point, were rescued at daylight today by the tug I. K. Merrit. All are alive and will recover when proper care can be given them.

The wrecking steamer reached Stapleton, S. I., about 3 o'clock this afternoon. In addition to the schooner's crew the Merrit also brought the captain and six men of the Smith's Point life saving station and one man from the Bellevort station, who, while in the surf trying to get to the schooner this morning, had their boat stove in. They were rescued by the Merrit's crew.

Captain and Mrs. Randall were taken to the Presbyterian hospital immediately after they were landed in this city. Captain Randall's story of the wreck is as follows:

"The schooner left Philadelphia Friday with a cargo of coal for Boston. At about 2:30 a. m. Saturday the mercury fell and there was every indication of a hard blow. Three heavy seas swept over the Randall, throwing her on her beams and shifting her cargo. The vessel did not right after that and I directed that the halyards be cut, and attempted to run before the sea to gain shallow water, when I hoped to anchor. When we reached nine fathoms of water we tried to anchor, but the anchor fouled and soon afterwards the vessel struck on the outer bar.

"I carried my wife into the rigging and lashed her fast. The men on deck then all ascended to the rigging and prepared for a long siege. Within half an hour after the vessel struck the life saving crew was at work trying to shoot the life lines over the vessel. I, my wife and children remained in the rigging until we were finally rescued at daylight this morning by the Merrit wrecking steamer."

It was said at the hospital tonight that Captain Randall and his wife were much improved.

Lifeboat Can't Reach Her.

CHATHAM, Mass., Nov. 29.—This morning a threemasted schooner was seen ashore off Common Flats. Great seas were breaking over her and not a trace of her crew could be seen. The crew of the life saving station is making efforts to reach the wreck, but unless the sea goes down this can hardly be done.

Unknown Schooner Ashore.

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—An unknown two-masted schooner is ashore on Deer island. She is supposed to be a British vessel. A tug has gone to her assistance.

FEDERAL COURT.

Several Cases Disposed of Yesterday—Others Under Consideration.

The federal petit jury having in hand the case of Mrs. Catherine Beard against the Mutual Reserve Fund Life association, in which the plaintiff sued to recover on a policy of $5,000 issued to her husband, found a mixed verdict yesterday for the plaintiff for the full amount of the policy and accrued interest. The verdict embraced twenty-two special findings, the most important of which contradicted the theory of the defense that Beard was intemperate, not in good health, that he died while intoxicated, that the policy had lapsed, and that, therefore, the polity contract was void. A motion was filed for a new trial.

The case of M. M. Morrill of the state of Washington against H. B. Law of Lincoln is now on trial. The suit, which is for damages in the sum of $2,500, is based on an attachment, alleged to be illegal, of a grocery stock at Lincoln formerly owned by C. A. Morrill, a brother of the plaintiff, bur which the plaintiff had taken possession of under a bill of sale prior to the levying of the attachment. The jury is now out.

Carnegie, Phipps & Co. of Homestead fame are the plaintiffs in a case put on trial before Judge Dundy yesterday. The defendants are Richareson & Co., formerly Omaha contractors, and their bondsmen, Messrs. Drexel, Foll, Hulbert, Blum and Retregier. The suit is for $15,000 for iron alleged to have been sold Richardson & Co., to be used in the construction of a court house at Red Oak, Ia., in 1891. The defense is that the indebtedness alleged was not incurred, and that the bond which is being sued on was defective.

Moses St. Clair pleaded guilty to selling liquor to a Winnebago Indian named John Johnson, and Samuel Bordeaux pleaded guilty to giving liquor to a Sioux Indian named Louis Greenwood. The prisoners will be sentenced later.

The grand jury at noon took a recess until 2 o'clock Friday.

DECLARED THE BONDS INVALID.

Important Decision Rendered by the Supreme Court of South Dakota.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 29.—Judge Elgerton directed the jury to bring in a verdict for the defendant in the case of the National Life Insurance company of Montpelier, Vt., against the Board of Education of Huron, S. D. The decision declares invalid the $60,000 of bonds issued during the 1890 campaign for the capital location. If this decision is sustained by the supreme court of the United States every municipal and school bond issued in South Dakota since statehood is invalid. Huron alone can repudiate $300,000 worth of bonds.

Another Confidence Game.

A girl about 14 years old, good looking, intelligent and well dressed, has been working successfully a money-getting trick on people living in the vicinity of Seventeenth and Center streets, and, perhaps, in other localities. Tuesday evening she called at the houses of John D. Howe, Mr. Nast and others near by and told the story that she lived in South Omaha and coming up to Omaha had lost her purse. She would then request enough money to get back home on. Some parties gave her 10 cents and others as much as 25 cents. Yesterday it was learned that the girl was doing the same thing at other places in that part of the city. Those who have been bilked will keep on the lookout for the stranger with the hope of catching her.

Scorched a Saloon.

A hanging lamp in the B. & M. saloon at the corner of Third and Pine streets set fire to the place about 6 o'clock last evening. An alarm was turned in from box fifteen and the firemen soon controlled the flames. The building is owned and occupied by Charles Schromp, who also lives in the upper story. The loss will amount to $500. Of this amount there is a loss of $200 on the building, which is fully covered by insurance. The damage to the fixtures will be a total loss.

The Year's Buildings.

Building Inspector Tilly's report shows that since January 1, 1,327 building permits have been issued, and the estimated cost of the buildings is placed at $927,000.

Mr. Tilly says that to this amount can safely be added $1,205,100 for owner's underestimate to the inspector, and $350,000 for plumbing, making a total of $1,555,100 expended in building operations during the year to date.

Danish Ladies' Relief society will hold a fair at Washington hall, Friday, December 1. Refreshments will be served during the evening; after that dancing. Admission 25 cents.

UNION PACIFIC INTERESTED

Wilson Bill Affects the Black Diamond Business of the Overland.

COMPANY'S COAL BARRED FROM 'FRISCO

Under the Bill Foreign Coal Will Be Unloaded at San Francisco at a Figure that Will Close the Port to Home Mines.

The Rio Grande Western is laying great stress upon the fact that last year the coal traffic of the Western reached 38 per cent of its total tonnage and this year would reach 50 per cent. While the Western is one of the great coal systems of the country it is a well known fact that the total tonnage on the Nebraska division of the Union Pacific is more than 50 per cent coal, a fact that seems to be generally overlooked.

It is the intention of the Union Pacific to make an extensive coal exhibit at the San Francisco midwinter fair, the snug little sum of $3,000 having been appropriated to show the Pacific coast people what coal mines at Rock Springs are. The exhibit will probably be in the form of a miner's cabin built entirely of Rock Springs blocks of coal.

It has only been within the last year that Rock Springs coal could be had in San Francisco, but the coal department of the Union Pacific has decided to enter into competition with foreign coals in that market, and already the output of the mines at Rock Spring is becoming popular.

Joseph Chilberg, sales agent of the coal department, said to a representative of THE BEE yesterday morning that the San Francisco market was the hardest in the world. "We are brought into direct competition with coal from Australia, Japan, China, Canada and even Scotland. Much of this coal comes to San Francisco in the form of ballast, and of course the steamship companies and sailing vessels sell the coal for whatever price they can get for it. During the great labor strike in Australia I am told a San Francisco broker made $10,000 off a cargo of coal which came into port as ballast. Nine-tenths of the coal sold in 'Frisco comes from foreign countries, and naturally domestic coals must be sold at a very narrow margin to compete with the output of foreign nations."

Mr. Chilberg then took up the Wilson tariff bill in which the duty of 75 cents on foreign coal is removed. "If this bill becomes a law," said he, "it will completely drive the Union Pacific out of the coast markets and will make an annual difference to us of between 350,000 and 500,000 tons. If this reduction would benefit the consumer it wouldn't be so bad but it will not affect him in any way, as it will go to the producer and broker, where all reductions usually go in tariff questions."

ULTIMATUM OF THE LEHIGH.

It Is Presented to the Grievance Committee by the Board of Arbitration.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29.—The joint committee, representing the state boards of arbitration of New York and New Jersey, arrived at the Bingham house today after its conference with President Wilbur, when they at once sought to have the Lehigh Valley strike settled.

Immediately upon its arrival the committee went into consultation with the general grievance committee. Chairman Madden of the New York state board of arbitration then presented Mr. Wilbur's ultimatum for the consideration of the grand chiefs. It is as follows:

The company agrees to take back as many of its old employes as it can find places for without any prejudice on account of the fact that they struck or that they are connected with any labor organization.

That, when in the employ of the road, committees of various classes of employes will be received, as stated in the bulletin of November 21, and their grievances considered and justly treated; and that in employing men in the future the company will give preference to former employes when the strike is declared off.

Chairman Madden, after the conference with the chiefs, stated he expected some definite action to be taken by the strikers inside of forty-eight hours.

IS A DISTURBING ELEMENT.

Chicago and Southwestern Lines Bothered by the Chicago Great Western.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—The Chicago Great Western has made trouble for itself and incidentally for all other Chicago and southwestern lines by cutting the rates on excess baggage from $1.40 to $1.10 per hundred pounds. The cut was in transporting a small body of United States troops. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul announced it would make the same rate and the thing came to a head at once. Chairman Caldwell has pronounced the action of the Great Western a direct violation of the association's agreement and a meeting has been called for Friday, when the Great Western will be tried for its offense.

As to Transcontinental Rates.

Mr. Lomax, general passenger agent of the Union Pacific had time enough yesterday morning to say to a reporter that the recent visit of Messrs. Findlay and Whitney of the Great Northern was for the purpose of ascertaining if the Union Pacific was inclined to advance transcontinental rates, providing the other lines interested would agree to such advancement. To this Mr. Lomax replied as the Union Pacific had not demoralized rates in the first instance it would gladly welcome any change that would increase the revenue of the system.

Upon the immigration question he was silent except to say that the machinery proposed to be erected by the Western Passenger association would be found extremely cumbersome when actively put in operation. "The design of the bureau is to take care of next year's business as the business for this year is practically at an end. However, it is pure speculation as to just what will be done until the meeting of December 3 takes final action."

Of the recent boycott between the Southern and Canadian Pacific, and the recent rumor of its being lifted, Mr. Lomax knew nothing except what he had seen in the papers. He thought it would not affect transcontinental rates whatever, and only contemplated an interchange of round trip business.

Wants to Pay Its Interests.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The receivers of the Union Pacific, having reached an agreement with the trustees of the Kansas Pacific at the consolidated meeting, will forward tomorrow to the United States court at Omaha an application for leave to pay the November interests on the Kansas Pacific consols 6s, Kansas Pacific Denver extension 6s, Atchison & Pike's Peak 6s, Central Branch Union Pacific 7s and on the three-year notes under which Drexel, Morgan & Co. are trustees.

Erie Reorganization.

WALL STREET, Nov. 29.—At a meeting of the directors of the Erie Railway company, held this afternoon, the following committee was appointed to consider the question of reorganization and report a plan therefor: Judge McCollough, M. K. Jessup, Alexander E. Orr, Abram S. Hewitt, J. Lowber Welch, William A. Wheelock and President John L. King, ex-officio.

Mr. Clark Goes East.

President S. H. H. Clark of the Union Pacific, will leave in the special car 010 Friday for Boston, where he will attend a meeting of the board of directors of the Union Pacific December 5. He will probably be accompanied on his return by several members of the receiving board, as well as some of the committee on reorginazation.

Will Let the Coal Boats Out.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 29.—A shipment of 8,000,000 bushels of coal to Cincinnati, Louisville and New Orleans is expected within the next twenty-four hours, as eight feet of water is looked for by tomorrow. The rise will then be sufficient to let out coal boats.

Will Take Johnson's Place.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—John F. Proctor of Kentucky has been appointed civil service commissioner in place of George D. Johnson, removed.

Mr. Proctor is a native of Kentucky and a resident of Frankfort. Mr. Proctor has a national reputation as a geologist.

plaintiff sought to recover the sum of $75,000, which was said to be the unpaid balance of a consideration of $125,000 which Baird promised to pay Seaton for quietly recovering $250,000 in bank notes, which are said to have been stolen from Baird by a lady, was settled by Seaton receiving $20,000 and costs.

SALISBURY TALKS.

Still Confident of the Ultimate Stamping Out of Home Rule.

CARDIFF, Nov. 29.—The conference of the International Union of Conservative Associations was resumed here today. A resolution was passed demanding from the government a fresh naval program and asserting the absolute necessity of maintaining the supremacy of England on the seas.

The marquis of Salisbury, upon entering, received an address from the combined conservative clubs and Primrose league, who accorded the conservative leader a most enthusiastic reception. Replying to the address of welcome Lord Salisbury congratulated the conservatives upon the manner in which the liberal unionists and conservatives had co-operated and expressed the hope that the union would continue until their ultimate object was attained, namely: "Stamping out this miserable home rule bill." Lord Salisbury then expressed the opinion that "abhorrence of such a tearing of the empire apart was so deeply implanted in the hearts of the people that the ultimate success of the home rulers was impossible." But, the marquis admitted, the conservatives had great forces to combat and had to contend against the avowed enemies of England.

Replying to a toast at the luncheon of the conservatives, Lord Salisbury said:

"We have, unhappily, to deal with divisions and classes and the well meant but foolish efforts of those who think that by neglecting intellectual study and that by rushing to a superficial conclusion they can solve a question that has riven our community to the center.

"The difference between the mission of the conservatives and the unfortunate tendency of their opponents is that the conservatives seek to diminish differences and encourage the confidence of the various classes of the community, and it is the unfortunate fate of their opponents that at every step they exasperate and exaggerate the differences.

"Mr. Gladstone when in difficulties always sought more power by setting some class against its neighbor. Mr. Gladstone complains that the House of Lords is all on one side, but it was not always so. That phenomenon is coincident with the period during which Mr. Gladstone is leader of the liberals. Mr. Gladstone's political career shows the stepping from one invitation to a disunion of classes to another and similar invitation, and as long as he is in need of majorities he pursues this aim and will continue to find new causes to set Englishmen against their brothers.

"That is the complaint I make against the legislation before Parliament. The conservatives do not differ with the government regarding the principle, but in regard to the treatment of the bills, as this treatment simply encourages the antipathy of one class for another."

NO CHARGES AGAINST HER.

Prince Ferdinand Colonna Has No Complaint Against His Wife.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Mrs. John W. Mackay has left her house in Carlton House terrace and has gone to Paris in order to be with her daughter, Princess Colonna, during the legal proceedings attending her application for a separation from her husband, Prince Ferdinand Callatro Colonna.

An intimate friend of the Mackay family whose name is withheld by special request confirms the report of the causes which led the princess to seek a separation from her husband. The friend referred to says that the case will soon be heard in the courts at Paris. The princess charges Prince Colonna with numerous acts of adultery in addition to general profligacy. In the legal documents which have passed between the lawyers of the princess and those of the prince, not the slightest charge of any kind is made against the princess whose course meets with general approval and sympathy.

Princess Colonna gave a dinner party this evening at her residence in the Rue de La Gisanderie.

Mrs. Mackay was seen during the evening by an Associated press correspondent and questioned in reference to the suit her daughter has brought for separation from her husband. Mrs. Mackay did not seem at all concerned over the suit and refused to give any information as to the causes which led Princess Colonna to bring the suit, and referred the interviewer to her husband in New York and to the solicitor in charge of the case in London as the only persons able to give the information desired.

NAVAL BATTLE IMMINENT.

Mello Sets Out to Engage Peixoto's New Ships.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Rio de Janeiro says that Admiral de Mello has left Rio with several of his swiftest war vessels in order to intercept the new ships which are on the way to reinforce President Peixoto.

The dispatch add that great excitement prevails in Rio, and it is believed that a great naval battle will be shortly fought off the Brazilian coast.

One Hundred and Sixty Shocks.

TEHERAN, Nov. 29.—The details of the frightful earthquake disaster are just arriving. The first shock, which occurred on November 1, completely destroyed the town of Kuchan and all the villages within a radius of thirty miles. The official reports confirm the previous advices that 12,000 persons and 50,000 animals perished. Private reports, however, place the number of dead at a much smaller figure.

The shocks continued until November 24, and altogether there were 160. On November 23 a great storm set in. This greatly increased the sufferings of thousands of people whose homes had been destroyed.

Scheig and Floyd Admit Their Guilt.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Scheig and Floyd, the Minneapolis fugitives, wanted by the police of that city on the charge of robbing the Bank of Minneapolis of $90,000, admitted their guilt today in the Bow street police court, saying that they did not want the depositions taken in America read in court, as their great desire was to return to the United States as quickly as possible. Both Scheig and Floyd were thereupon committed for extradition.

HIS VIEWS WERE TOO RADICAL.

Why Mr. Johnston Was Removed from the Civil Service Commission.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Regarding the removal of George D. Johnston from the Civil Service commission, it is stated that Mr. Johnston filed with the president a minority report of the operations of the commission during the past year, and took some radical views upon important questions, differing so widely from those of the other members, that Mr. Roosevelt stated frankly and positively that either he or Mr. Johnston must leave the commission. After examining into the merits of the case, the president decided that he could better spare Mr. Johnston than Mr. Roosevelt, and asked for his resignation. This, it is said, Mr. Johnston declined to give, and he was at once informed that the resignation must be forthcoming or he would be dismissed. Mr. Johnston refused to resign, and was summarily dismissed.

Mr. Johnston himself says: "I could not approve the annual report submitted by my colleagues and felt in duty bound to state my views in a minority report. The public will appreciate the principle which guided me in my official conduct as commissioner when they see and read my report, which was sent to the president."

Will Move It to Washington.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—At a meeting of the World's fair officials today John B. Thatcher was given permission to remove the bureau of awards to Washington. Mr. Thatcher has long sought for this permission and the removal will be made at once.

HE CALLED THEM UNTRUTHS

will not multiply words. The first named is a notorious corruptionist, with some amiable qualities, who aided in bribing the legislative members to vote out the Jones-Wilcox ministry and to pass the lottery bill, and he demanded and received as compensation for his infamous services a few hours of occupancy of the Hawaiian interior department, and Peterson is the man who aided in the distribution of the lottery stock for the purchase of legislative votes and held the queen's authority to constitute a lottery cabinet and to aid the queen to proclaim a reactionary constitution.

Testimony of a Profligate.

"As to Samuel Parker, whose testimony is used to discredit my action, I would gladly say little. Good-natured, free-hearted, ignorant, fond of luxurious living, a notorious spendthrift, he has wasted a large fortune left him by his grandfather and uncle. He was a ready tool in the hands of Peterson and Cornwall in the palace conspiracy which precipitated the fall of the monarchy.

"Of the doctor, G. Trosseau, who figures conspicuously among Blount's affidavits, whitewashing the notorious Wilson and Liliuokalani and abusively reflecting on my official action, I need only say that he is an adventurous Frenchman whose principal record in Paris and moral career in Honolulu I will not soil this paper with.

"Of J. A. Cummins it is correct to remark that what is herein said of Parker in most respects a pplies to Cummins.

"It is not strange that W. T. Seward united in testimony with Cummins, for Seward is a king of house, clerk and steward of Cummins. Hopkins belonged to the same gang as Cornwall and Peterson. Cornwall had been one of the intimate police associates of Kalakaua in his bestial, lecherous life and shameful transactions. He was one of the most active in getting Peterson and Colbourne to bribe the legislature in forcing out the Jones-Wilcox ministry, whom all the responsible men of the islands wished to continue. He had been put out of the ministry after a very brief stay by large majorities. Newman is the man whom the queen sent to Washington to get her restored to the throne, to sell out her claims to the crown in hard cash. He is the man by whom Blount absurdly hints that I had sent dispatches to Washington, for which errand I had never employed any one. This testimony or that of hundreds of such would not counterbalance the words of Minister Thurston, President Dole and Henry Watters among the men who know the respective parties.

"As to Wilson, the queen's favorite for many years, whom Blount attempts to whitewash, I will not soil these pages by giving even the notorious facts in his regard.

Recognition of the Provisional Government.

"As to my recognition of the provisional government, I reaffirm what I said in my recent letter to Secretary Gresham.

"Queen Liliuokalani inaugurated the revolution by attempting to destroy the constitution by revolutionary means. From Saturday afternoon, January 14, to January 16 there was no government in Honolulu except in the united and self-possessed attitude of the citizens, who assembled in a great mass meeting on January 16 and consummated the efforts of the law and order party by the establishment of the provisional government on the 17th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives, who were familiar with the circumstances of its creation. It was nearly fifty hours after Liliuokalani and her followers had destroyed her throne before a revolutionary outbreak was threatened and the men from the Boston landed.

ELECTRIC LIGHT SENSATION.

Man Who Told Stories About the Omaha Plant Under Arrest.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—E. A. Kilbourne, formerly auditor for the General Electric company, was arrested this morning charged with attempting to extort money by threats to publish a libelous article and threats to murder. The complainant in the case is Bernard E Sunney, general manager of the comoany. Sunney says the prisoner claimed that members of the company had caused a shortage of $300,000 in the account of the Omaha plant, and that in demanding hush money Kilbourne made threats of publishing the story and murder.

Mr. Kilbourne says that the arrest is a part of a systematic plan of persecution which he has been subjected to ever since, as auditor of the company, he reported a $300,000 shortage in the accounts of Mr. Sunney's son at Omaha. He was discharged, he says, for making the report, and ever since Mr. Sunney has been trying to get rid of him. He denies that he ever asked Mr. Sunney for money, except for salary due him.

Mr. Sunney's attorney says that Mr. Kilbourne is a "crank;" that his head has been muddled by figures, and he imagines that he has discovered a tremendous defalcation.

Rumors about the alleged shortage in the Omaha accounts of the Electric Lighting company have been rife for more than two weeks, but all efforts of THE BEE to find any basis on which the charges could be founded proved unavailing.

YESTERDAY'S DEAD.

Sergeant J. A. Campbell.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 29.—Sergeant J. A. Campbell of the ordnance department of the United States army, who has been located in the Allegheny arsenal, died on Monday night, aged 58 years. His death was due to a complication of diseases.

Bishop D. A. Payne.

XENIA, O., Nov. 29.—Bishop D. A. Payne, founder of Wilberforce college, fifth senior bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal church, died at his home at Wilberforce today after devoting seventy years of his life to religion and education among his people. He has been a bishop in the church for thirty-two years.

THE FAIR DREAM CITY

Its Beauties Made Realities by Photographic Art.

A MOST REMARKABLE COLLECTION

Secured by the United States Government Photographer and Now to Be Distributed Among the Readers of This Paper.

How often was it said by exposition visitors, "There is so much of everything that one can remember nothing distinctly." As a matter of fact, it is only by reviewing the whole event by means of proper pictorial descriptive aids that a definite, useful, and entirely satisfactory idea can be obtained. The object of the art portfolios which are now to be distributed among readers of this paper was to collect all the most important and interesting features in convenient and attractive form so that the mind would not be confused by unimportant details, but could catch and retain the salient points of the great features, these alone being necessary or useful. The portfolios, sixteen in number, containing 256 views in all, comprise the principal artistic, agricultural, architectural, industrial, mechanical, sculptural, archæological, ethnological, historical and scenic attractions; also presenting and describing the magnificent vistas, waterways, natural scenery and landscape effects. The high artistic, educational and historical value of such a work is easily apparent, especially when it is known that the views are from the official United States government photographs and the descriptions in each case verified by the proper authority. This paper has the exclusive right to make the distribution among its readers, who are eagerly availing themselves of the opportunity offered.

If you have not seen the announcement in which this offer is made to our readers, call at THE BEE office or drop us a note and one will be given or mailed to you. It is the finest collection of pictures ever published at a price that will place them within reach of every reader.

DOWN GO WAGES.

Eastern Manufacturers Anticipate the Effects of the Tariff Bill.

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—The Nonantem Worsted company, with mills at Newton, Mass., has formally notified its 800 operatives that the reduction of the tariff by the proposed new law will make it absolutely necessary to reduce wages or stop the mills. These mills have been operated for fourteen years without interruption.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 29.—Notices have been posted at the W. D. Wood rolling mills at McKeesport ordering a 10 per cent cut in the wages of all employes, including the heads of departments and in the offices.

The wages of laborers will be lowered from $1.40 to $1.30 per day. The cut will probably be accepted. About 500 men are affected.

ROXBURY, Mass., Nov. 29.—The Roxbury carpet mills, employing between 800 and 900 hands, shut down tonight for an indefinite period. The cause of the shutdown, it is said, is due to the announcement of the tariff schedule on carpets in the Wilson bill. The Saxonville mills, which supply worsteds for carpet manufactories, will also close for the same reason. Between 300 and 400 employes are affected.

SOMMERVILLE, Ind., Nov. 29.—The woolen mills in Raritan tonight notified their employes that they would either have to close down or run the mills on short time with a 20 per cent reduction of wages. The notices posted on the mills say this step is necessary because of the tariff agitation. The notice posted by the company affects 1,500 men and women.

WEATHER FORECASTS.

Local Snows and Colder Are the Predictions for Nebraska Today.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Forecast for Thursday: For Nebraska—Local snows, but generally fair during the day; much colder.

For Iowa—Fair; colder; northwest winds.

For South Dakota—Light snows, followed by clearing weather; colder; north winds.

The Madison (family hotel), 21st and Chicago. Transients, $2.00 per day.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

All of the offices in the city hall will be closed today.

Rev. Charles W. Savidge will preach this morning north of Florence, and in the evening will hold special services at his own church, Eighteenth and California streets.

Judge-elect Irving F. Baxter filed his official bond with the county clerk yesterday afternoon. The bond is fixed at $50,000, and the sureties are Lewis Allen and R. C. Cushing.

The city council has directed the different railway companies to appear before that body December 8 and show cause why the assessments as returned by the city clerk should not be placed on the assessment rolls.

Chief Seavey said yesterday that he would give thanks today for the fact that there had been less crime in Omaha so far the present year than for any year since he took charge of the police department. Crooks of all kinds have given Omaha the go-by for the past eleven months and several gangs of petty thieves have been broken up.

Before the Chautauqua college, in the First Methodist church tomorrow (Friday) evening, Dr. M. S. Terry of the Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston, Ill., will lecture on "Mohammed, the Prophet of God." Dr. Terry is one of the greatest scholars of the day. The lecture is free, and all are cordially invited to meet with the college.

On Tuesday night next, the 5th of December, Bishop Newman will lecture in the First Methodist church on "South America." He has just returned from a tour of many thousand miles in the South American republics, and what he has to say will be of great interest just now, in view of the daily reports from that section of country. The bishop will have something to say of the Brazilian revolution now in progress.

You'd Holler
If your wife traded with a grocer who threw a few handfuls of sugar into a bag and "guessed she had a pound." You'd talk scales to her.
Why not talk scales to yourself? Aren't YOU "guessing" about the circulation of some of the papers you use.
CAUTION—There's no guess work in dealing with this paper. Our circulation's printed on the editorial page. You know what you're buying and you get what you pay for.
