Monday. Although Wilson is not a very sporty looking fellow, he has been having a quiet good time. When he sold the 241 head of sheep he only drew $33. He has kept pretty close to the botel, but he had a good time with the girls who work there, just the same. That is, he has been giving them some pretty sweet talk. Last evening he was to take one of them out for a sleigh ride and when his money came he was going to make a few presents. He even tried to "mash" the landlady, but in this ho was given a quick stagger.

Wilson is a rancher and hails from Box

Butte, this state. He has a bill of sale for the sheep which shows that he paid $7,500 for the lot. This would be a much higher figure than he is disposing of them at. The bill of sale reads from the "Thurlow Land and Lave Stock company to Henry Wil-son." Whether the bill of sale is genuine or not is a question. The chief of police at Colorado Springs telegraphed Chief Beckett last night that the owner of the sheep was on his way to South Omaha and that he would have with him requisition papers. One story is that Wilson bought the sheep with the understanding that he was to take them to Nebraska and fatten them, but that he put them on the cars and shipped them direct to a market. He will be held until

There's a New Shoe Store in Town.

Or at least there will be some time this week. Mr. T. B. Norris is the proprietor, and his many years experience in the shoe business in this city, with his former partner, Mr. Wilcox, is a sufficient introduction and at the same time guarantee of a first class establishment. Mr. Norris has leased the building at 1413 Douglas street and is stocking it from street to alley with an unusually fine line of shoes for ladies and gentlemen and children. He says he does not intend to do the only shoe business in Omaha, but will do a good healthy trade at as small a margin of profit as is con-sistent with the price of living and city He will be ready for callers taxes. about the latter part of the week.

Earl of Warwick.

Loxnos, Dec. 2 .- The aged earl of Warvick died today at Warwick castle. The most marked social effect of the death of the earl is the fact that Lady Brooke, the great favorite of the prince of Wales and one of the beauties of England, becomes ountess of Warwick, as her husband, Lord Brooke, is the eldest son of the late carl Lord Brooke also succeeds to the income of the Warwick estates. The principal estate is at Warwick castle, one of the finest in England and supposed to be considerably over 1,000 years old. The cost of maintaining the castle, however, is very great. The late earl (George Guy Greville) wa the fourth earl of Brooke and of Warwick, the present earldom of Warwick having been created in the latter half of last The old earl of Warwick of the century time of the wars of the Roses, the King-maker, as he was called, or the "Last of the Barons," belonged to the Beauchamp family, which became extinct in the fifteenth cen-
