EXPECT HIGHER BEEF. Optimistic Cattlemen Talk of Range Stock Going Up.

The Ogalalla Land & Cattle company was board of directors was chosen and other business was disposed of. A large number of men prominently identified with cattle interests were in attendance. Among the number is Manager Irvine of Wyoming, and Colonel Frank Over of Chicago. Both gentlemen agree upon the subject that the cattle interests of the country are gradually being controlled by a limited number of companies. The smaller stock dealers are dropping out of the business, one by one, for the reason that it does not prove a paying investment. not prove a paying investment. for them. Cattle are growing scarcer each year. Range cattle perished in large numbers last winter and the prospects for the coming year indicate another appalling nu-merical decrease. The result, Mr. Over opined, would be an increase in the price of beef, with indications that beefsteak would grow tougher with the ascendancy in market prices. Mr. Over, who is a cattle king with a laurel wreath of tenderloins and a scepter wrapped with porter house steaks, says that he has been in the business so long and watched the cattle interests with such keen interest that he is frank to confess that rates on beef will commence to raise within sixty days. Within eight months the American consumer will have a practical illustration of the Mother Goose theory that the cow jumped over the moon—so far as prices for meat are concerned. He said that the larger cattle companies and dealers would be compelled to make the raise to make up the lesses and expenses. He reported that the Ogalalia Land and Cattle company had no cause for complaint this year. The company had 92,000 acres of land in Nebraska and 50,000 head of cattle in Wyoming. Finances were

The eminent Chicago cattleman then spoke somewhat joyfully over the fact that money circles in New York and Chicago were becoming confident and more liberal. He said that Chicago capitalists were auxious to make loans now at 5 per cent and

The play is one of the strongest of all the realistic dramas, and the best work of the well known dramatist, Leonard Grover. Among the principal realistic features of the graduction are: A vast river of real water that covers the entire stage to a depth of, four feet, and containing 60,000 gallons of real water; a full rigged yacht, low boats, terries, a beautiful prismatic fountain and a practical steamboat that runs at the rate of twelve miles an hour and carries twenty massengers. JUDGE DUNDY REFUSES AN APPLICATION

Says It's Polly to Allow Each of the Receivers the Same Salary Regardless of His Daties or Qualifications-Minor Railroad Matters.

The pending motions in the Union Pacific receivership case were taken up by Judge Dundy in federal court yesterday and all but one were disposed of. The exception was the application to fix the compensation for the attorneys for the original plaintiffs. In this case the court refused to take action until after he had had an opportunity to see how much work the attorneys were doing in order that the compensation might be just to all parties concerned. The application to make the salaries of the receivers $18,000 a year was denied. In delivering his opinion Judge Dundy enlarged to some extent on the equities of the motion. He said that to ask him to fix the salaries of all the receivers at a given amount was manifestly absurd. It was impossible to suppose that the services of all the receivers wore equally valuble. A practical railroad man versed in all the exigencies of the situation was certainly worth more than a manwho had no practical knowledge of the affairs involved. It would also make a difference whether the entire time and energies of receivers were devoted to the work. Some of them might give all their time to it while others might be but little more than figure heads. In this case compensation should be fixed proportionately. In the opinion of the court the amount asked was exorbitant. There were any number of good busines men who would be willing to give their whole time to it for $1,000 a year. Pernaps they might look pleasant and listen and sign their names occasionally in a legible hand with just as much success as, the men who had been appointed.

Judge Dundy added that there had been a good deal said through the newspapers and otherwise in regard to the duty of the re-ceivers to protect the interests of the gov-ernment. He would see that they were equally solicitous for the interests of the road. In this case the best interests of the road were the interests of the government and there should be no deviation from their duty in either case.

The application of the receivers to be al-In application of the receivers to be al-lowed to deposit funds in certain banks se-lected by themselves was also overruited. The court substituted an order empowering the receivers to deposit in the regular depositories of the United States court in each state and territory where the business was transacted. The local effect of this order is to divide the funds in this state among three banks in Omaha instead of depositing them all in a single institution as recommended in

Orders were granted the receivers to take up certain outstanding right-of-way claims and directing the company to pay to Treasurer Harris, representing the receivers, such sums as might be necessary to keep alive all the corporate interests of the road.

German Stockholders in the O. R. and N. Co. Watching Proceedings. BERLIN, Dec. 6 .- A meeting of the German bondholders of the Oregon Railway and Navigation company, of which concern it is claimed, the largest number of shares are held in Germany, was convened this morning on the Berlin tourse. The meeting was called in consequence of the nonpayment of the December coupons, according to the report received in Berlin, of the Union Pacific railroad. Today's meeting was convened by the Deutsche bank and there is claim their interests are seriously threatened by the attitude of the receivers. Herr Siemens of the Deutsche bank and Dr. Barth read a long report on the situation, which said that the fact that the De cember coupons would not be paid should not frighten the bond holders. Although they might be in a very disagreable position, it was only temporary. The Oregon Railway and Navigation company, the report continued, was commercially, in a happy position, as it was the Union Pacific's only outlet to the coast. It was added that the character of the country forbids a parallel line and that the traffic of the Oregon Railway & Transportation company can never be taken

The report gives in detail the exact holdings of Union Pacific in the Oregon Railway & Navigation company and shows the man-cial condition of the latter; together with its earnings since 1887. Continuing, the report says that the decrease of the year is partly in consequence of the crisis from which the whole of America, and especially the west was suffering; but was now passing away. The report also says: "It may be con-fidently expected that the Union Pacific, even in the hands of a receiver, will make a proposal by which the control of the Oregon Railway and Navigation is secured to it under conditions acceptable to the Oregon Railway and Navigation company." It was added that it may be possible, in the interests of the latter, to make the Oregon Railway and Navigation company an independent company, and in a proposition to make arrangements with the Northern and Central Pacific, whichever was the most advisable.

The meeting approved the report and elected a committee composed of the follow-ing: Herr Stemens, Heieft, Altman, Hap-penstadt and Oswald to represent their interest, with full power to act. The bonds were deposited in the Deutsche bank.

An amendment to the constitu-tion to this effect is out of the question Otherwise the scheme of the proposed road is feasible and would be very divantageous."
Nothing whatever was said in the convention about unconstitutionality or impracti-cability of the project on account of the shipments of cereais in iropical waters. The convention adjourned shortly after moon to meet again in Topeka Thursday, January 4. The payment of such bounty is radically wrong, and I am not in favor of palliating a wrong or recognizing it even for a limited period of time; besides, free sugar will save to the people the $10,000,000 now insually paid as bounty to the sugar producers of the country. Coroner's Inquest Fails to Bring Out the Cause of the Crime-Testimony of Witnesses Some Pacts Respecting Anderson's Career.

Hundreds of people yesterday visited the morgue, where lie the Loties of Mary Jen sen, murdered Tuesday night in the cellar of Beimred & Hansen's procesy store at Bixteenth and Webster streets, and that of the murderer, Martin Anderson, who, after the commission of the crime took his own life by cutting his throat. The inquest on the booles had been set for it o'clock, but it was a half hour later before the coronar got his witnesses and jury together. A hundred or more men crowded the morate to hear the testimony.

E. G. Wilmoth, the proprietor of the hardware store next door to Heimrod & Hansen, testified to bearing the cries of a woman and scuffling shortly after 8 o'clock. He thought the sounds came from the base-ment of the building. Witness then told about calling for help getting the key to the store and nating the door unlocked. The next witness was H. M. Mr. Bibbins was placed on the stand and said: "I identify the dead woman as Mary densen, a servant employed in my family. I last saw her about 6 o'clock last evening. She left the house between 6 and 7 o'clock. She has worked for us for eight months and we considered her a good this morning the girl had never missed a ment at my house, and when she was not in the kitchen at breakfast I decided to visit

The witness said that Anderson had oemsionally delivered groceries at his house, but did not know whether Mar: Jensen and Anderson were acquainted or not.

The coroner then called George Heimrod to the stand. Witness said Anderson had been employed as a porter about the place since last April and was considered a good man. "To my knowledge," spid Mr. Heim-rod, "Anderson did not have a key to the store, though he might have had one made. When my bookkeaper was sick some time ago he gave his key to Anderson and told him to open the store in the morning." Here a comparison was made between the kes carried by Mr. Heimrod and that found in Anderson's pockets and they were found to be exactly alike. The store was closed promptly at 7 o'clock Tuesday night by Johnson the chief cler'. Mr. Hansen witnessed the locking up of the place and left, satisfied that everything w. :

After considering the case the jury brought in a serdict that Mary Jensen was killed by Martin Anderson and that Anderson came to his death by his own hand.

Judging from some of the talk of the policement and detectives it was not a new trick for Anderson to have a woman in the store at minit. They say that more than once a woman has been seen to leave the side door of the store and wais rapidly up Webster street. After committing the crime Anderson evidently realized the enormity of the offense and wanted to take his own life very badly. He cut the arteries of his left hand at the wrist and then made a stab at his heart. It is supposed that he did not cut his threat until he heard the officers coming down the
