Bills Introduced for the Sappression of Anarchy, Pants, Dec. 11 .- At a Cabinet council held this afternoon bills were agreed upon to be submitted to the Chamber today providing for the repression of anarchy. M. Casimir-Perier presented the new measures today in the Chamber. He dwelt upon the necessity of passing them, saying they would not encroach upon true liberty. His remarks were greeted with profound cheering.

The first of these bills makes it a penal offense to publish incitements to commit outrages by the use of explosives; the second bill regulates the manufacture and possession of explosives: the third bill extends the powers of the police for the repression of anarchistic agitation, and for preventing anarchistic outrages. The fourth bill provides for police supervision of anarchist so-

Casimir-Perier Applaudesi.

Premier Casimir-Perier was frequently interrupted by applause when he, explained that the bill to modify the press law provides for the making it a penal offense to publish incitements to pillageor to murder or to commit incendiary crimes, and that it also provides that the glorification of crimes shall be punished by five years imprisonment and that the authorities shall have the power to make preventative arrests and seizures.

M. Goblet opposed an immediate discussion of the bill, claiming that he feared it would encroach upon the liberty of the press and appealed to the deputies not to lose their heads. M. Goblet's remarks were followed with cheers from the left and were greeted with protests from the centrists.

M. Pelletan moved to adjourn the debate until tomorrow, but, amid a scene of con-siderable enthusiasm upon the part of the supporters of the government, this motion was rejected by a vote of 404 to 143. The announcement of the vote was greeted with loud cheering and showed that the predic-tions made in these dispatches that the bomb outrage would greatly strengthen the government were well founded.

M. Ramel then moved the government's bills be sent to a committee immediately. Premier Casimir-Perier promptly opposed this motion, amid the loud applause of the centrists, which was accompanied by protests on the part of the left. A scene of great excitement followed, but the government again won a sweeping victory, the motion being rejected by a vote of 389 to 156.

Wanted to Discuss the Laws.

M. Viviani said the socialists wanted t discuss the laws and not to adopt them without debate. Amid considerable interruption he continued saying the socialists would not consent to rush the bills through the Chamber.

M. Toussaint, socialist, created an uproar by declaring the majority of the deputies were panic-stricken and that they were ready, in their alarm, to adopt any measure which the government brought forward. Finally, in spite of the protests o' the so-cialists, an immediate discussion of the bill was ordered.

M. Boisserin demanded that the minister of justice, M. Dubost, should give the Chamber a full explanation concerning the proposed modifications of the press law.

M. Dubost, who was greeted with cheers from the majority of the members, warmly replied that the uew press law was only destined to hinder crime, [loud cheering] and the associations of anarchists, whose leaders the minister loudly exclaimed, are known to the government, cheers, and it was against this class that the government Boisserin then proposed an amend-ment, which the government opposed amid neuric which the government opposed and load cheering, and which was rejected by a vote of 300 to 86, the result being received with load cheers from the friends of law and order. After further discussion the bill was adopted by a vote of 413 to 130, and the Chamber adjourned.

HOW SHE G. T THE CHECK.

Ives and Slosson Open the Billiard Match at Story of Fascinating Zella Nicolaus and Susceptible Howard Gould.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 .- The World this morning says: The case of Zella Nicolaus, who is suing George Gould for $40,000, appears today in an entirely new light by reason of a story which has come out, giving what purports to be the true history of the affair. This account comes from an authoritative source among the friends of Mrs. Nicolaus.

According to her friends Mrs. Nicolaus obtained the check originally from Howard According to her friends Mrs. Nicolaus obtained the check originally from Howard Gould when the latter was in Chicaro at-tending the World's fair. As the story is told, the $40,000 check materialized in a settlement of a part of Jay Gould's estate just before Howard Gould started for Chicago. His share in this particular division of a portion of his father's estate was $40,000, and to make the account on the books appear all right, George Gould, as executor, made out a check for this amount to Howard and gave it to him to de-posit. Howard, however, carried the check to Chicago with him. While there he met and became fascinated with Mrs. Nicolaus. He was with her the greater part of tho time he was in Chicago, and before ne left he gave the check to her. George Gould got wind of this transaction in time to stop payment on the check. Mrs.

in time to stop payment on the check. Mrs. Nicolaus presented it at the bank in Chi-cago, but when it was pronounced "no good" she came to New York and sought an explanation of Howard Gould. The latter told Zella that he would set the matter right at once, and went to his brother to know what right he had to interfere with the check. There was a stormy interview between balls in the corner of the table in the third the brothers, George declaring $40,000 was too much money to pay to any woman and shot and in a very little more than a minute had rolled off twenty-four by careful nursexpressing his determination to never pay any such demand. Howard refused to sever his acquaintance with Mrs. Nicolaus ing. Then the balls became scattered and he ran twenty, mostly in open-table play, and returned to her and reported the result of his talk with George. Then it was that Zella saw George Gould herself and threatened to bring suit for the payment of the check unless the amount The balls were left very comfortably for Slosson, and he proceeded to pile them up. it called for was at once handed over to her. George sought the aid of Superintendent His sixteenth snot was a difficult masse, Byrnes and the latter sent for Mrs. Nicolaus. It is said that when she called on Byrnes and he threatened to expose her past if she He annoved the Goulds, she calmly informed Byrnes that no matter what her past might have been, or what position she might now be in, the $40,000 had been paid to her by Howard Gould and it was as much hers as though the amount had been paid in cash. She claimed that George J. Gould, after once signing the check and paying it out, had no control over it; that he was not authorized by Howard to stop payment, and that George had finally obtained the check from her in a fraudulent manner.

This she explained by saying that when she came to New York with the check in her possession and told Howard Gould the circumstances, he had endeavored to get his prother to withdraw the stop order on the theck, but after several interviews between herself and George Gould the lat-ter told her he had decided to pay the amount she claimed rather than have any trouble over it. But for family reasons, he said, he did not want the check to go through with her signature, so if she would give up the check he would give her $40,000 m bills. This she agreed to do, and received from George two payments of $500 each. When he paid her the second $500 she When he paid her the second $500 she handed him the check, supposing he was going to count the balance of the $40,000, George Gould, she says, grabbed up the check and then told her to get ont of his sight or clse he would have her arrested as a

G. M. Jester was working at the supply nouse on the Saturday before election. Robert Macleod, the superintendent's brother, came down about 2 o'clock in the fternoon and said he wanted one of the stoves. He picked out a stove, two lengths of pipe and an elbow and told the witness to leave the keys so he could come and get the stove after "quiting time." The witness re-fused and Macleod then asked him to leave the lock unsprung. This he consented to do, and Macleod told him to say nothing about the matter to any one else. This aroused the suspicions of the witness and he told the dian, Mr. Schoonover, of the conversa-That was all he knew of it until the tion. next Thursday when he was told that the stove was gone. W. ### Japan Has No Claim.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 .-- It can be stated positively that Japan has no purpose of assuming a protectorate over Hawaii in case the United States should lose or abandon its status there. In a statement published today Henry Smith of Buffalo, who has just returned from Hawah, says if the provis-ional government fails it will be succeeded by a protectorate by Japan or Great Britain. At the Japanese legation this statement was declared to be visionary.

Omaha people have learned to place confidence beforehand in the excellence of any entertainment announced by the Young Men's Christian association, and last night at the conclusion of the concert given by the Mozart seztet, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Whitney of Brooklyn and their family, this sentiment was justly recon firmed.

The children, who seem to have equalled in musical art the splendid attainments of their parental tutors, are Misses Pearl, May and Estelle Whitney and Mr. Charles M. Whitnoy, jr. The program comprised in-strumental numbers by the sextet with piano and stringed instrumenss and vocal elections by Miss May Whitney. The exe cution in either kind was excellent.
