John Peter secured a judgment for $44 against G. M. Bailey some time ago, but could never find anything to levy on. Yesterday afternoon he had Bailey brought before Judge Smith for an examination as to his personal property. Bailey finally admitted that he had a gold watch and chain and 80 cents in cash in his pockets. He was compelled to shell out and the cash was handed over to Peter.

DAILY BEE NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Percetual Maturity Bond Promotors Arrested by the Postoffice Anthorities.

CHARGED WITH USING MAILS TO DEFRAUD

George H. Gable and John Freeze Taken lute Custody at the Instance of Inspecter Mercer and Released on Heavy Bail.

The blow has fallen and two proprietors of so-called "investment company" are in the clutches of the United States officials, with the prospect of a couple more being caught today at Council Bluffs. The agitation of this "bond" business has been widespread, and the announcement that the agent of the Chicago Guarantee company had been fined $5,000 and given a jail sentence of one year caused a shiver along the ranks of the companies. It was announced in The Bee several days ago that a postoffice inspector would arrive in the city shortly to make an investigation of the two companies doing business in this city W. G. D. Mercer of Des Moines was the inspector referred to. He arrived and with Deputy United States Marshal Richards has been looking into the affairs of these two Yesterdaya afternoon George H. Gable and John Freeze of the Perpetual Maturity Bonding association were placed under arrest on the charge of using the United States mails for fraudulent purposes, violating the statutes prohibiting lotteries. They gave bonds in the sum of $1,000 each and were released.

Had Secured Several Thousands.

The officers found that this company had issued 830 bonds in two series, the first containing 500 bonds and the second 300. A payment of $10 had been made on each of the first 500 bonds, and one of $20 on each of the first 500 bonds, and one of $20 on each of the series containing 300, to say nothing of the monthly payments of $1.50 exacted from each bondholder. The amount realized from these first payments, therefore, was $11,000 at least, and according to the prospectus, all of these first payments were to be used in forming a fund for the purpose of paying off the bonds as fast as the treasury of the company accumulated $1,000. Only four bonds had been paid, however, so that there is $7,000 which could not be accounted there is $7,000 which could not be accounted for very satisfactorily.

Gable and Freese claimed that the operation of the business had been very expen-sive and that they had paid out large sums of money in hiring agents, paying adver-tising bills and pushing the business gen-erally, thus accounting for their fail-ure to pay off any more bonds. They claimed that they had actually lost money in the venture, and were $700 in the hole. When the possibility of refunding the money received from patrons of the company was suggested they said they thought the patrons, having paid in small amounts, were better able to stand the loss in driblets than they themselves were to stand it in a

Will Make a Fight. Messrs. Freese and Gable claim that their violation of the law, if such it can be called, is purely a technical one, and they propose to fight the case to the end. The Chicago man who was found guilty of fraud and sentenced the other day has taken an appeal to the supreme court. Until the court of last resort has decided the case

After the Third Man.

A warrant is out for the arrest of J. B. Allen, the third member of the partnership, but he is at present out of the city. The Equitable Investment company is the next on the list, and it is promised that J. B. Sweet and S. P. Vannatta, the proprietors of this company, will be placed under arrest

Mr. Mercer, who was connected with the prosecution of the Guarantee company in Chicago, states that the method of operat-ing is the same in all three cases, with one or two minor particulars excepted. He left understood that a nest of hornets is to be set buzzing immediately about the ears of some companies in the far west.

COLT CASE THIS TIME. 'Jones County Calf Case" Likely to Be

day which seems likely to knock out of the ring the calf case which has given Jones county, this state, about all the fame it ever had. It is a colt this time and the colt belonged to Chris Hansen, a 5-year-old boy. Its value, according to the best evidence now attainable, seems to be about $3,50. Chris Larson had a bill for groceries against James Hansen, the father of the boy, and as the old man refused to pay he sued out a writ of attachment for the horse. The attachment caused a tremendous commotion in the immediate cir-cie of the Hansen and Larson acquaintances, but it was not a circumstance to that later on. Hansen replevined the horse and yes-terday the replevia suit was brought up for trial. Hansen claimed to have been damaged in the sum of $5, and after all the evidence had been heard the court decided that he had the best of the case and gave him a judgment. This outraged Larson's feelings and he at once took an appeal to the district court. The costs are already more than the value of the horse, but by the time the case has been through the district court every-body concerned will devoutly wish that 3-year-old colt had died about four years ago.

Adoption of the Treaty of Commerce Be-

SPEECHES MADE UPON THE MEASURE

Von Caprivi Thinks it Will Greatly Benefit Both Countries Hely Bennigsen Drifts Off Onto Dynamiters and is Called to Order.

Bentin, Dec. 13 -In the Reichstag to may the treaty of commerce between Germany and Roumania was adopted by a vote of 189 to 165. There were forty members present The vote is regarded as more favorable than

Herr Bennigsen, in a statesmanlike speech influenced a number of national liberals it favor of the treaty, which gives the greatest satisfaction everywhere

During the course of the debate Baron von Berlepsen, minister of commerce, dweit upon the importance of the Roumanian market, saying German imports into Rodmania in 1892 amounted to 20,000,000 marks above those of Great Britain. those of Great Britain.

Baron Marschall von Bieberstein, secretary of state for foreign affairs, declared that if the treaty was rejected Roumanian cereals would go to other countries and compete with German cereals, Herr Bennigsen called upon the propertied classes to unite, in view of the dangers they were threatened with by socialism and anarchism, and he referred to the Paris outrage and the manner in which it had been treated by the socialists. Called to Order.

The speaker here interrupted Herr Bennigsen, and his protest was echoed by the socialists, several of whom shouted that that matter had nothing to do with the present

Chancellor von Caprivi in a favorable speech declared the rejection of the treaty would seriously damage the prestige of the government and empire, and that the whole economic life of the country would suffer, as German husbandry could provide the serious for the yearly innot provide for the yearly in-crease of 500,000 population. This could alone be done by German industries and, therefore, it was imperative to insure their exporting capabilities. In conclusion the chancellor said: "We have to face the question of exporting wares or people, and if the treaty is rejected the government must decline to be responsible for the consequences.

The vote was then taken and resulted in the adoption of the treaty. The majority included the socialist freisinvige party, the south Germans, the volkspartei, the Poles, most of the national liberals and a small portion of the center. The minority consisted of the conservatives, the bulk of the imperialists, the remainder of the center and Count Herbert Bismarck The result of the vote was loudly cheered. News from Japan,

ADDRESSED ON LABOR QUESTIONS.

Grand Master Sovereign Talks to an Audience of Boston People. Boston, Dec. 13.-A reception was tendered the general master workman, James R. Sovereign, and Thomas McGuire of New York, C. E. French of Mariboro and Henry B. Martin of Minnesota, the newly elected member of the executive board of the Knights of Labor, in Faneuii hall today by the members of the order in this city. The attendance was small, not over 300 people being present. General Master Work-man Sovereign was the first speaker. He said, in substance, that it was a pleasure to him to be privileged to speak in the hall made memorable by the long line of Ameri-cans who had fought for the freedom of slaves, but while we are all proud and jubilant over the victory that resulted from the movement these men were engaged in. yet we should not forget that there is at present as great need of the freeing of the white wage slave as ever there was for the colored brothers. According to the press reports there are in Chicago alone 113,000 enforced Idlers and a movement has been started to raise $1,000,000 for their relief.

Why is this distress? No people have been so industrious as the American people. By reason of our industry and ingenuity we have attracted the attention of the entire world, but with nil our industry we have not shortened the hours of labor nor increased the comforts of life. There is a wheel loose somewhere in our social machinery, and the rich are growing richer and the poor poorer, and there is rank discrimthe poor poorer, and there is rank discrimination in the law against the poor in favor of the rich. History has shown that every nation that allows the rich to grow richer and the poor poorer has always gone down and cur country will also go down if this Henry B. Martin of Minnesota spoke next and earnestly advised organization and mem-bership in the Kuights of Labor.

Thomas B. Maguire of New York spoke on the land question and numorously discussed the silver and tariff questions.
