Theatrical People in Trouble Last evening Constable Baker might have been seen hovering around the box office at Dohany's theater. When the proper time arrived he made a grand swoop, but it seems a rat had been smelled by the show people, and most of what little money was in the pile was spirited away before the constable could get his fingers on it. W. B. Sloan, proprietor of the opera house at Nebraska City, swore out a writ of attach ment yesterday afternoon for the effects of George W. Paige, the manager of the show, for $100 damages for breach of contract.

Was Elected.

The third session of the contest court held yesterday resulted in a rather interesting way, Scanlan making quite a decided gain.

The First precinct of the Sixth ward was up for consideration, and the greater part of the day was spent in looking over the ballots. At the close the vote was found to be 173 for Scanian and 164 for Hazen. The vote as given by the Beard of Supervisors was Scaulan, 171, Hazen, 169, so that Hazen loses five and Scanlan gains two, thus making a relative loss of seven for Hazen. The question of the validity of the three ballots east in the First precinct of the Third ward and whose marks aid not comply with the provisions of the law, was fully argued and submitted. The court held that all three votes were bad and threw them out bodily.

By this Scanlan loses two and Hazen one, so that so far Scanlan has a net gain of six Expect Scanlan to Gain Steadily.

The prophecy is made, and with much show of reason, that Scanlan will go right on making corresponding gains in every precinct in which the ballots are recounted. In each precinct there were two democratic judges and one republican. This gave the democrats the upper hand. Consequently, in every case where there was a doubt, Hazen was given the benefit of the doubt, while Scanlan's votes were thrown out wherever there was a chance of doing so. Many of these rulings are now overruled by the three judges of contest, so that Scanlan's chances for getting in finally are contest, increasing the second s lan's chances for getting in finally are constantly improving.

Practically the only question now to be decided is whether these votes will all be allowed to go in evidence. Hazen's attorneys are relying mainly upon their ability to prove by legal decisions that the returns which were not fully signed are not returns.

THE GRIP.

It Is Here and Hundreds Are Suffering from Its Effects.

There is great suffering at present in Omaha from

The disease is often fatal to constitutions enfecbled by a chronic malady, such as catarrh, bron-chitis or asthma, and those who suffer from such chitis or asthma, and those who suffer from such troubles should take treatment at once as a preventive, or to strengthen the constitution so that an attack of the grip will not be felt seriously. It is in its after effects that the grip is most dangerous. After the acute stage has passed, the poison remaining in the system, the victim feels weak, languid, sore and nerveless. It is then that regular, steady treatment should be taken, so that no later trouble will be incurred.

Huadreds are dying from the dread effects of this disease. The treatment of Drs. Copeland and Shepard is the best in the world for this condition, and everyone suffering from the grip should take it.

Write for the mail treatment. Dr. Shepard in per-sonal charge, superintends the mail department, and by a system of close correspondence can treat and by a system of close correspondence can treat those out of the city quite as well as those who come to the office. Send for a symptom blank. Medicine shipped carefully and changed frequent-ly. Try this treatment.

Mrs. Lena Price, of Effingham, Ill., writes: "I began with you six months ago, suffering from bronchial catarrh. Friends thought I had con-sumption. Your treatment has restored me to health. I thank you heartlip."

Strangle the grip by a course of treatment with Drs. Copeland and Shepard. The cost is trifling. Get the disease out of your system.

Boys Who Stole Prunes and Storied About it Are Sent Up. The story told by William and Lewis Huffman, the two boys who were arrested for stealing prunes Friday afternoon, was exploded in police court yesterday morning, when the father of the pair told his story of the boys' actions. They claimed their father and step-mother had driven them away from home and forced them to seek shelter from the cold in the parental wood shed. They described in their small boy fashion the pangs of hunger that had assailed their internal anatomy and had led them on to the theft of a peck of prunes, a part of which they had put where they thought they would do the most good. Huffman, sr., told the judge that it was all hosh. The two youngsters, although the older was only 11 years of age, had become utterly unmanageable. His wife, their mother, died about five years ago, and he married a second time. A stepmother's affection had not proved sufficient to keep them in the straight and narrow path, and they had stolen lied stayed out nights and they had stolen, lied, stayed out nights, and committed a great many other offenses against the code of juvenile morals. He had finally sent them both away to live with have been a success as a spanker and sent them home after a short but expensive experience. He asked that they be to the reform school. Judge Smith heard the father's story and asked the boys a number of questions, in answering which they retracted some of the statements first made. The judge directed that they both be taken to Eldora.

The mother of Wayne Williams, the 12year-old boy who was arrested along with them, charged with the same offense, thought she could manage her boy if given another chance to try, and although the boy was thought of seriously as a proper candicate for the state reformatory it was de-cided that the chance should be given. The boy was sent home with her, accompanied by a series of lectures from the various officers in charge.

Stole Seventeen Unickens.

James Stewart has been carrying on system of roost-robbing for some time past, which has kept him, so his wife claims, in about all the food the family have had. He lives at 1212 Eighth avenue. Sometime between Thursday night and Friday morning he paid a visit to one of his neighbors' hen roosts and nearly depopulated it, carrying roosts and nearly depopulated it, carrying away with him seventeen fat fowls as evidence of his nocturnal prowess. He gave them to his wife to dress, and ordered her to have the job done by the time he came home. When he returned home at night he found the work undone, and he immediately undertook to show his wife a thing or two. She suddenly found herself locked out of the house, and, as it was too cold to loaf around much while deciding what should be done, she went to the police station and swore out a warrant for Stewart's arrest. He was

WOMEN! WOMEN!

Many women suffer from headaches, paties in the back, weakness and general debility, a feeling of all-geneness, and lassitude or tack of interest in life, a less of energy to accomplish even their daily tasks, and they don't know at all what is the matter with them any more than they have courage enough to apply to a physician who can core them and make new, actire, energetic women of them. Such women should read the statement of Mrs. Louie Rager, of Eim Creek, Neb., who has been ured by the Copeland and Shepard home weat ment. She says;

"I have never visited the offices of Drs.Copeland and Shepard, but their question blank for women made my case so plain that I was saved the expense and annoyance of going to a doctor's office as most women have to do. Aftergetting the medicines every month I was my own doctor, so to speak. Mine was a woman's trouble with chronic catarrh that seemed to affect nearly every organ in my body. Headache and neurakia made un nearly wild. I was weak and pale and almost helpless, My head ached and burned right on top. My back was weak and I had that terrible dragging feeling that all suffering women know all about. My doctors in Omaha sent me remedies for internal use and to apply locally also. The use of than was simple and easy. In a short time I was better and after a few months I find myself all right. My surfering is ended and I am well in every respect. It is a great boon to have the skill of special and at an expense that is almost nothing. I wast every woman in the land to know about it."
