GOLD MINING IN COLORADO.

Gold mining in Colorado. Increase of Fifty Per Cent Over the Output of Former Years.

Another Big Strike at Cripple Creek. A new strike at Cripple Creek, Colorado.

Annual Report of South Dakota's Mining. Inspector Shows a Brilliant Record—Last Year's Output Exceeds Four Millions—Northwestern Notes.

Colorado's production of precious metals for 1893 shows a gain of fully 50 per cent in the amount of gold, and also makes a good showing in silver, considering adverse conditions the past six months, says the Denver Times.

The figures presented below give, it is believed, a fair estimate of the state's production. The reckoning of the output for this year has been rendered difficult by the absence from Denver of W. C. Wynkoop, editor of the Mining Industry, who, for many years, has made the annual compilation. The Times is able, however, to give all the reports that have been sent to Mr. Wynkoop, and the totals which will not vary greatly from the figures which he will make upon his return to Denver.

They show the gold output to have been 315,995 ounces, worth $6,515,388. The production of silver is stated at 26,866,327 ounces, worth $20,640,892 at 77 cents per ounce, which is approximately the average quotation for the year, and is the price used by the Omaha Chamber of Commerce in the value of its product. The price actually obtained for the silver was, however, considerably larger, as the production during the past six months, before the drop in silver, was much greater than during the last half of the year.

High Grade Ore. A big strike, made in Cripple Creek, has just been announced. The Camilla, located south of the Nevada, and east of the Guyot hill, is the name of the new discovery, says the Rocky Mountain News. Eight assays were made from the fifteen-ton sample, and the results show a high grade of ore. The average value of the ore is $100 per ton, and the whole number averaged over $900 per ton. A small strike of rich ore was followed by a larger one, and a depth of thirty-three feet, a drift was run a short distance, when the pay ore was encountered. A whim will be put in at the bottom, and the ore will be raised to the surface.

There was a rich strike in the Utah Territory. The claim is under bond and lease to F. L. Wood, of the Nevada, who is having the extension of the Camilla vein in that territory. He is working three shifts on his recently acquired ground. This is the first high grade ore found on Guyot hill.

Black Hills Mines. The fourth annual report of State Mine Inspector O'Brien shows that during the past year he visited and inspected thirty-six mines in the Black Hills, four in Pennington and two in Custer. The Black Hills, says the Minneapolis Tribune. These mines were all being operated and employed from 100 to 200 men. The total output of the mines was 1,000 tons of gold and 10,000 tons of silver.
