Eilliard Experts Adopt Some New Rules to Govern Balk Line Games.

IVES EASILY WINS ONE FROM SCHAEFFER

Young Napoleon Puts Up a Strong, Daring Game, While the Wizard Played in Poor Form Nearly All Through the Match.

Chicago, Jan. 10. - The bright and particular stars of the American billiard firmament. Schaeffer and Ives, drew a big crowd at Central Music hall at their first encounter since Schaeffer, in New York, four weeks age, set a new high water mark in rons and averages. Both are Chicago men, and both have hosts of local admirers. Tonight, however, Schneffer's friends were in obvious majority.

Additional interest attached to this game from the fact that the players of the tournament, Schaeffer, Siosson and Ives, met today and signed an agreement which bars the anchor nurse for the balance of the tournament The new rule provides for eight separate and additional balk spaces at each intersection of the balk lines and the cushions. The new cushions or blocks are six inches long and three and a half inches wide, indicated by chalk lines. The player has nine consecu tive shots when both object balls are inside the block spaces, but on the tenth shot one at least of the object balls must be driven out of the block space. In view of the change in the rules all bets were declared off.

Opened it Idly. Ives won the bank and failed to count. Schaeffer found an unpromising break after his second shot and retired on a well-nigh impossible shot. With a long follow, Ives got the balls in hand the first shot and clicked off his points with great rapidity at the lower end of the table. He was evidently strung up to a concert pitch, nursing on wide lines with extraordinary proficiency. At fifty-five the balls got away from him and he stopped at fifty-eight on a hard two-cushion stroke. The balls were left abso-lutely safe, and Shaeffer missed.

Neither player got any opening in the third inning, a kiss into line spoiling a beauti ful position play by Schaeffer, ives found things more to his liking in the fourth, but after handling the balls cleverly for want looked like a good run he lost them and stopped at thirty-one. Shaeffer led off now with some splendid position work, but failed on a long reach masse at fourteen. Ives' Play Was Strong.

Once more Ives found a good opening and made good use of it. Up to fifty he had but little close nursing, but he then used the corners to good advantage. As no neared 100 he had to take the open table for a few shots, but it was all the same to him, as his play was daring and strong. When he at last fell down at 131 it was on a dead one. When Schaeffer's turn came he was all at sea, and in the nineteen which he made in his fifth inning there was hardly one good billiard shot. The same was true of his seventh inning, in which his stroke was wretched. Score: Ives, 220; Schaef-In his ninth inning Ives got the anchor position by accident and played it for eight shots, then got it again and promptly broke it. His next experience was two freezes, but he overcame them by daring masses. He was having all the luck and doing all the playing as well, and nothing looked hard to When he ended at seventy-nine he left for Schaeffer an apparently impossible break, but by a stunning round the table shot the Wizard scored amid tremendous applause. But the next break was even more difficult, involving four cushions with reverse twist, and when, with a marvelous conception and execution strictly Schaefferesque, the count was made the spectators simply went wild. But breaks were still bad and he could do no more than twelve. Ives had gone into tem-porary retirement and made no progress. At the eleventh inning the score was: Ives, 316;

Gave 'Em All Sorts.

Failure to get out of halk ended lyes' run of thirty-one in the twelfth and spoiled what looked like a big run. Schaeffer could not hold them with his faulty stroke, and at twenty-one sat down. Ives now opened up a very choice and interesting collection of all-around billiards, introducing pretty much everything in his repertoire, including an occasional bad shot, promptly offset by an extremely good one. At eighty-six he got into trouble and missed by a hair a long four-cushion shot around the table. Score: lves, 433; Schaeffer, 167.

In the thirteenth inning Schaeffer for a succession of pretty drives, forces, follows and draws. He had regained his stroke, and was now playing fine billiards. Says They Will Fight. "The Corbett-Mitchell fight will surely come off in Florida," remarked Louis Hufmeyer of Jacksonville, at the Murray yesterday. "I know positively that Jim Bowden of the Duval club has got all the wire laid and Governor Mitchell will have his hopes electrocuted if he touches any of them. Bowden is a stayer and he is a man with a pull. The tourist trade of Florida is a fizzle this y ar. and the business men can readily realize the necessity of having some event that will draw the people there and revive business. It means a godsend for the hotels and the result is that the business fraternity is backing Duvat in his fight, Governor Mitchell is evidently making a grand stand play for the church people, but he is not in it—and future events will verify my asser-

He said to the Associated press correspondent in regard to the outlook for the fight: "I am of the opinion the club will be successful in its efforts to bring the fight off and you may be sure our end of the affair will give them all the support in our power. ourse, if we knew as a certainty that the match would have to be abandoned, Corbett would still continue training until officially notified the meeting was off. All of the dispatches you see saying either Cerbett or myself have entertained favorably any opositions from Colorado. Cuba or any ther point is merest rot and without foun-ation. Corbett in a conversation about Mitchell was asked his opinion about how long the contest would last. 'I am not in a position to judge of Mitchell's ability, knowing little more of him than what I read in the newspapers, but I saw him box once. That was with Mike Cleary. If he has not learned some new wrinkles since then he won't last more than four rounds."

Will flave a Dummy Fight.

A number of bets have been made within he last few days, all with odds slightly in favor of Corbett. Last night several were made, $100 to $80 being the odds wagered in each instance. A glove contest has been arranged on the same conditions under which Corbett and Mitchell are natched, to take place in this city the latter end of the week. The principals will be Green Harris, the champion negro middleweight of Tennessee, and Percy Watkins, champion middle-weight of Florida. A purse of $500 will be offered for the ntest, Although the Duval Athletic ub denies it, it is generally known this il be in the nature of a challenge Governor Mitchell. If the contest is abowed to go on without interference, then t will be taken for a certainty that the corbett-Mitchell battle will take place, but If it is stopped the courts will be asked to decide the matter. This is thought to be the plan the Duval club has formed and has guarded with such secrecy.

Queered the Fight at Home.

The statement sent out by the club last night has caused greater excitement than anything that has occurred since the battle was first talked of. Business men and sports and street arabs stand on the street orners and discuss the momentous question as to whether the fiery language of the announcement will call down the governor's wrath or not. The Duval people are resting at present. They say that they have all that is necessary for them to do. Work on the arena will go on, tickets will be sold and things will proceed as though nothing had happened

The opponents of the fight have nothing to say today. They claim that the club's action in sending out the statement was the worst possible move it could have made, but they do not give any reasons for saying There are a few conservative persons who, although in sympathy with the fight, at the same time desire some respect paid to the governor. They are not pleased with what the Duval club had to say and do not hesitate to express their views on the subject. This class is so small, however, that they do not cut much of a figure in the excitement and popular favor with which the manifesto has been received.

The former is supposed to have been implicated in the stealing of a horse and buggy and three sets of harness now in the possession of the po-lice. Detective Tom Hayes made the capture on Clifton Hill, and it was in that locality that the horse and buggy were fo front of a vacant house. As soon as McGiff saw Hayes he made an effort to escape, and it was only after an exciting chase of an hour over country ditches and fields that he was overtaken.

He claims, however, to have got them from another party. He is an old offender, having been connected with young King in the "room working" business a year or two ago and convicted on the charge of larceny.

For Abusing His Wife. Mose Elliot was locked up last night by Officer Dillon for abusing his wife. He is an old hand at this business. IN EXTRA SESSION.

Vesterday's Proceedings in the Legislature of Colorado. DENVER, Jan. 10 .- The ninth general as sembly of Colorado convened at noon today in extraordinary session in response to the call of Governor Waite. In both branches the old organizations were continued. Governor Waite began reading his mes sage at 3 o'clock and finished at 4:30. Cheers and loud applause greeted the venerable executive as he pronounced the opening words. He bowed gravely and as he went on the utmost silence prevailed. There were many workmen in the audience, but no demonstration of the unemployed, such as had been proposed, took place in or about the assembly hall. When the governor finished reading there was loud applause from the populist members of the legislature and spectators. Governor Waite's message simply reviews the recommendations which constituted his call for the session, giving some additional reasons why these suggestions should be enicted into laws. He asks for the repeal of modification of the present laws on trust deeds and attachments. He declares these laws iniquitous and says they would long ago have been repealed had it not been for the "opposition" of the bankers and the underhanded work of venal newspapers and corrupt politicians. He also asks that the law authorizing the issuance of municipal and state bonds be repealed, that the irrigation act be amended and that the position of state bank examiner be created. He dis-cusses the silver and financial questions at some length, criticising some utterances of Secretary Carlisle and Senator Teller, and eclares that the only remedy the state has "compel the restoration of the rights of which it has been deprived by coining its own silver bullion into dollars, which should pass as legal tender for all purposes on an equality with gold."

He then commends attention to the report of the monetary commission of 1876 upon the effects of the shrinkage in money, and con-cludes as follows: "We stand upon the brink of an industrial slavery—an era of falling prices, which has reduced in Colo rado the value of commodities and real estate to, in many cases, less than one-third the value of one year ago."

Immediately after the joint session was dissolved a row broke out in the house. Mr. Bouynge, republican, declared the governor and insulted the intelligence of the legisla ture by making a partisan stump speech Mr. Sweeney, populist, hotly defended the rovernor. A motion to adjourn sine die was defeated by a vote of 27 to 36.

The message was ordered printed by vote of 57 to 5 and the house adjourned until tomorrow. The senate did likewise, after referring the message to a committee of nine-three from each party. A very large majority of the senators favor adjournment, without act-ing upon any of the governor's recommendabut it is uncertain whether the house will fall in line.

SOLVED A MYSTERY.

Strange Deaths of the Read Family at Independence, Kan., Accounted For. TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 10.-A special to the Capital from Independence, Kan., says: Yesterday Mrs. E. L. Foster and Mrs. Allen relatives of the into George W. Read, went to the Read house, where the three mysterious deaths occurred last week, to put the nouse in order, and lit the gas in both stoves. After a couple of hours Mrs. Foster complained of being sick and started out doors. As she reached the porch she fainted away and was carried to a neighbor's, where she is still lying sick. She vomited and frothed at the mouth, as the Read family had evidently done, and today it was de-cided to make a thorough investigation. It was discovered that the pipe of the sitting room stove near waich Mr. Read had been found dead, had been pushed into the flue so far as to completely shut off al draught. This morning three dogs and a cut were shut up in the house and tied up in the different places where several men bers of the family were found and both stoves lit at about the same time. All the animals were attacked with convulsions and began to vomit and froth at the mouth, but have not yet died. This seems to indicate that the deaths of Mr. Read, child and Miss Scott were caused by the poisoned condition of the atmosphere, rendered so by the gases which should have passed up the chimney coming back into the rooms.

Resolutions Adopted at the Meeting of Their Association Yesterday. HOW TO RELIEVE THE PRESENT STRAIN New York, Jab! 18 .- The National Asso ciation of Wool Manufacturers met today at the Metropolitan hotel, with Hon. R. S. Frost in the chair. S. N. D. North of Boston acted as secretary. The following were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, R. S. Frost; vice presidents, John L. Houston, C. H. Hartley, A. C. Miller and Washington, Jan. 10. - Secretary Carlisle Thomas Dolan: treasurer, Benjamin P. Phipps: secretary, S. N. D. North.

Several prominent men made speeches, denouncing the Wilson bill, in so far as it affects the wool business.

At a conference held this afternoon to protest against the Wilson bill the following was adopted, with instructions that copies be sent to President Cleveland and members Resolutions Adopted.

"The allied industries represented at a meeting held at the Metropolitan hotel, New York, January 10, 1894, including all branches of the manufacture and sale of woolen goods, carpets and knit goods and the sale clothing and cloak manufacturers. speaking for an investment of capital far exceeding $500.000,000, embarked in business under the laws of the United States on the good faith of the government that its citizens shall be duly guarded in their vested property rights and as American citizens, have assembled to pro test against the enactment of a law which threatens to destroy a large part of this capital and render it uncertain whether the remainder shall be protected.
"The provisions of the wool and woolen schedule of the Wilson tariff bill compet this protest, which is made in the belief that its framers have no adequate conception of its practical defects. It is so drawn as to entail upon the American manufacturer the maxiim of loss and embarrassment, and offers to foreign competitors the possession of the American market at the minimum of risk

"We base this protest upon a pledge of President Cleveland in his message to gress of December 6, 1887, that 'a readjust ent of our tariff should be devised with especial precaution against imperiling the existence of our manufacturing interests. Cause of the Business Depression.

"We protest against this measure as the ole cause of a prolongation of a business defor the menace of its future enactment. The Wilson bill has disorganized the business and commerce of the country and its enactment is opposed by every branch of industry and the entire bedy of American producers. "We protest against these radical reductions of duty at a time of industrial depression among the great manufacturing nations of Europe, when their markets are glutted with surplus goods and the difficulties of American competition are greatly accentuated. We particularly protest against the treatment accorded the wool-growing industry and all branches of the wool manufacture in this bill as harsh in the extreme and more radical and proscriptive than in any other schedule.

"A duty of 40 per cent upon the foreign cost of woolen goods, equivalent to a duty of but 28% per cent upon the domestic cost, will not equalize those differences in the comparative manufacture costs. "We protest against the maladjustment of duties in this schedule, as it is illogical, un-scientific and mislited. American manu-facturers of wholesale clothing, by transferring their patterns and methods to the continent of Europe and utilizing European cloths and labor, can supply American cus-tomers with goods adapted to this market,

As manufacturers we deplore controversies with labor and contem-plate with profound regret the establishment of conditions which compel the most radical readjustment of the present scale of wages. Adequate help will difficult to obtain at the wages this bill will compel, unless there shall be a corresponding reduction of wages in all lines of industry, both manufacturing and other wise. "We appeal to the patriotism of an American congress to prevent the consummation of this national misfortune, and we appeal to our fellow citizens in every walk of life to second our protest against a legislative act of extirpation."

Californiaus Take a Hand. SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.-The state convention of wool growers and others interested in wool and woolens assembled here this morning. It is a representative gathering, many well known wool men being present from all parts of the state. Ex-Congressman Barclay Healey was made chairman. He made a speech, strongly deincing the Wilson bill for placing woolens on the free list. Telegrams were sent to California congressmen, asking them to interest themselves in the wool growers

THINKS BONDS ARE NEEDED

Secretary Carlisle's Recommendations to the proposed an issue of bonds to the senate committee on finance this afternoon. Mr. Carlisle said he wanted authority to issue bonds, and so stated to the committee in as few words He thinks an issue of bonus the best way to meet the apparently rapidly approach ing crisis in the treasury. The secretary dwelt briefly upon the rapidly diminishing gold reserve and stated that instead of increasing, as he had hoped the government receipts would do they had continued to diminish, until there was coming to be a monthly gap of about $10,000,000 between the receipts and expenditures. He said the act of 1875 for the resumption of specie payments, which also authorizes a bond issue, should be so amended as to permit this issuance for shorter time and at a lower rate of interest than is provided for in that act. Mr. Carlisle said the country would not justify the secretary in taking advantage of this authority because United States government bonds could be disposed of at a much lower rate of interest and for a shorter time. He thought it would be a very easy matter ro sell bonds enough to tide over the present urgency-to meet the propective deficiency of the present fiscal year-at 3 per cent interest and running for three, four or five years. There was a general interchange of opinion among the members of the committee and enough was developed to show that it is going to be very difficult for the committee to agree upon a bill. The meeting dispersed without any action.

REPUBLICANS TO MEET.

Members of the National Executive Committee Assembling at Washington. Washington, Jan. 10 .- The national repub lican executive committee will convene tomorrow. Nearly all the members are now in the city and there promises to be a large attendance. Chairman Carter said tonight that the committee would take up several matters which were left unfinished last year. The committee will also consider the proposition of establishing permanent headquarters and the character of permanent work to be carried on. Mr. Carter does not think the headquarters will be located here, on account of the fact that the headquarters of the national congressional campaign committee are located here. It is believed if the national committee decides to establish a permanent office it will be opened in New York. The commit-tee vall also consult members of the congressional committee as to the extent to which the committees can work together in the congressional campaign of next year.

Mr. O'Neil's Bill.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The bill of Representative O'Neil of Massachusetts, authorizing the secretary of the treasury to borrow money up to $100,000,000 in the anticipation of a falling off in revenues and to issue therefor loan certificates bearing 3 per cent interest, is attracting much attention. It is regarded as something more than the expres-sion of Mr. O'Neil's views, as he discussed the subject with Secretary Carlisle and Assistant Secretary Hamlin before introducing the bill. While giving the measure no distinct administration flavor, the treasury officials noted the fact that Secretary Carlisle's recent report suggested not only an issue of bonds, but an alternative plan should congress not authorize the bonds. Mr. O'Neil's bill was looked upon in the line of this alternative proposition.

HOW TO MAKE A FEW DIMES SAVE A GREAT MANY DOLLARS

Stylish Gowns of Handsome Color at Small Cost-New Clothes for the Whole Family -No Need of Looking Shabby Even in These Hard Times.

"I hope to help many who are trying to economize," says a writer in the Laules' Journal, "With a few packages of diamond dyes wonders can be done in making old dresses look like new. In my own family we actually did not buy a single new dress or cloak last fall, yet we dressed comfortably and in style by dyeing over clothes that had been cast aside.

Diamond dyes come in convenient markages which color from one to ten pounds f goods for ten cents. Full directions make it impossible for one to have "poor luck" with the diamond, and they are so simple to use that perfect, non-fading colors are obtained without any experience in dyeing. They have completely taken the place of the old-fashoned dye-stuffs, and are as superior to the imitations offered in some sections as is sunlight to moonlight. Men's suits and overcoats are often colored at home, and the color is bandsomer and aster than that made at the dye house, A book of free directions for home dye ing will be sent to any one by the proprinters, Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt.
