Brooks Wants a Pardon. James Brooks of this city is circulating a petition about the city asking the governor o pardon his son. Tom, who is serving a life sentence in the penitentiary at Fort Madison for murder. The circumstances of the crime are well remembered by the people of Council Bluffs who have lived here for the past five years. Brook and a young man named Frank De Goode were in a saloon known as "The Bucket of Blood" on Upper Broadway one afternoon in May, 1889. Brooks discharged a pistol and DeGoode was instantly killed. Brooks claimed the shooting was accidental but the evidence controverted that state ment, and he was sent up for life. Mr. Brooks claims to have received letters from the prison authorities, repre senting that his son has entirely reformed, and one of his chief claims for a pardon is Identified McGuire. Doug McGuire has been identified beyond doubt by the young woman who was employed as domestic at William Keeline's house, as the man who broke into their house several years ago and stole quite a lot of valuable property. McGuire had a partial hearing in Judge McGee's court yesterday afternoon, and considerable evidence was adduced against him. The young woman referred to, in going from one room another, was suddenly confronted by Guire, who stopped and talked with her some little time. When he left the goods were found to be missing. It was further shown that McGuire had confessed the crime while confined in the Nebraska penitentiary to Mr. Keeline, and had promised to restore them to him if Kee line would not prosecute him, a condition to which Keeline said he agreed. At the close of the afternoon session the case was post poned until next Tuesday afternoon at 2

A young man giving his name as James Wilson was arrested yesterday afternoon as he was making a bee line for a motor tram to go to Omaha. In his effects was found a skeleton key of the most pronounced type, one which would open almost any lock. The authorities are of the opinion that he is the man who stole C. L. Gillette's overcoat and sold it in Omaha for $2.50. s also recognized as the man who was fo loitering about the Danforth block a few days ago with the evident intention of break ing into some of the lodging rooms there.

THE DAILY BEE NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Commandant Keatley of the Marshalltown Soldiers Home Praises the Veterans.

ONE OF THE BEST IN THE COUNTRY

Inwates of the Institution Have Improved Wonderfully since Their Admission -Many Good Words for the Country's Defenders.

Commandant John H. Keatley of the Soluters homent Maraballtown was present at the installation of officers of the Union Veteran Legion and the Ladies Auxiliary Thursday evening, and delivered an address which was listened to with a great deal of interest by the large audience present, with reference to the institution whose affairs he ooks after. The remarks he made with reference to the roys in blue themselves, and their babits and deportment while at the home, were especially interesting.

The habits they acquired after leaving the irmy, he said, had been bad in many cases, and they had consequently sunk into discouragement and distress. But the influences that here beared. ences that have been exerted upon them after being taken into the shelter of the ome, have resulted in an almost eformation, a moral improvement being easily brought about in a set of men who are well fed and clothed. Christian influences through regular religious services are moulding and shaping their feelings and restoring to them that patriotic manhood that distinguished them in their career as soldiers. Prayer meetings among them, led by themselves three times a week, together with the personal influence of the best among them and the Old Men's Christian association, has left a profound influence upon their character and conduct.

Drunkenness has almost entirely disapeared. And in that respect the Iowa So diers home has a record not yet achieved by any other home, state or national, in the critice country. The lowa home has a character for sobriety that has attracted the attention of General Averell, the inspector of national and state homes, and has won his highest encomiums and commendation, Since November 8 there has not been a single case of intoxication at the fowa home, condition and result that cannot be said of any home in the United States. The speaker referred also to the duty of the old soldiery as citizens, and the example that is due from them to the rising generation in leading them to a patriotic sense of duty.

DIVORCE MILL.

Two Cases Receive Attention from Judge Thornell-Peter Miller's Case Dismissed. The divorce case of Peter C. Miller was on trial in the district court yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Miller did not put in appearance in court, a default was taken. and Mil ler told the story of his domestic troubles and would probably have been granted the much longed for matrimonial freedom had it not been for a little technicality, which will cause him to sweat a few months longer. It seems that instead of waiting until the statutory two years had clapsed between his wife's descriton and the time of commencing his suit, he filed his petition eighteen mouths after his wife had ceased to live with him. The case was acordingly dismissed and he was told to file another information three months from now, in case he still hankered after a divorce.

Mary A. Hansen's pica for a divorce from Hans C. Hansen was also under consideration. Both live in Neola, and the plaintiff's side of the case was looked after by a local attorney. The evidence showed that the two had lived together without intermission from the time the suit was commenced until the night before the trial was to begin. They then separated and for the first time they found themselves without the delights of home life. One rather amusing thing took place during this cross-examination of Hansen. The attorney was trying to show that Hansen was a shiftless fellow, drinking and gambling all his earn-ings up and allowing his wife and the cight children she had had by a former husband ing Hansen as to his habits, the attorney "Now, Mr. Hansen, were you in the poker room connected with a certain saloon in Neola one evening?" "Yes," was his ready reply. "I was in there the same night you were."

And then everyone smiled, even to the court, as the lawyer proceeded to refresh the witness' mind upon several things that took place on the night when they were out together.

The case was finally taken under advise ment.

Stolen Cattle Recovered. A "trampified" young man introducing himself as Harry Smith was found yesterday afternoon with five cattle his care which seemed to be len. He was trying to seil them for $25 a head, when competent judges thought they were worth at least $40. said he was coming to Council Bluffs by the foot route early yesterday morning when he ran across a man driving a team behind the cattie. The man offered him the job of taking the cattle to the city and Smith accepted. Thompson, as the other man called himself, told his new man so keep the cattle for him near the Western house while he went to Omaha, and also told him to sell them for $25 if he could. Smith claims to be perfectly innocent of any wrongdoing, and the authorities are inclined believe his statement. The cattle are evidently stolen, but they think it was Thompson who did the job. In the mean time the cattle are in Jenning's stable wait ing for an owner to turn up. They are said to bear the same brand as some cattle owned Grand Army Encamoment. The annual encampment of the Grand Army of lowa will be held in Council for the three days begin-Bluffs ning May 1, and the members of Abe Lincoln post are already making preparations for the event. At last year's encampment, held in Keokuk, there were 6,000 veterans present, and as Council Bluffs is far ahead of Keokuk in the matter of railway facilities, a still larger turnout is looked for. Among those present will un-doubtedly be many from Nebraska. There is no building in the city large enough to accommodate the crowds that will be on hand, and the probability is that every assembly hall, together with most of the churches, will have to be called into use for campfires and other meetings of the encampthe payer was not allowed to see. The payer is consequently not quite so well protected against the loss of his money by having it drawn by some one not entitled to it, but the new scheme will cause much less trouble in many cases, the payer being able to endorse the order with his name exactly as it appears in he order the first time he tries, without having it sent back to him after going to Washington.

BOWNAN WILL ACCEPT.

Question of Who Will Be Postmister is Cractically Decided. There is little doubt that Thomas Bowman will be the next postmaster, or at least the two men who have been most prominently mentioned as candidates are willing to admit that they concede it to him. A telegram was received by one of the republicans of the city yesterday afternoon from Congressman Hagar stating that he had had a conversation with Bowman, and from what the latter said, he was and confident that he would accept the presi dent's offer. Other telegrams came rectly from Bowman to his friends which conveyed the same impression, so that in Council Blud's the opinion was almost general jast evening that it would be Bow man. Mr. Rickman, in conversation on the subject, admitted that his appointment was out of the question and said Bowman would be the man. He did not appear to be in the slightest degree ruffled by the turn affairs had taken, but said that in the interests of the democratic party n Council Bluffs the president could have done nothing else than to throw both him self and Wadsworth out and appoint some one else who would not meet with opposi tion from the wings of the party.

COULDN'T LIVE ON HIS TALENTS.

A Despairing Office Seeker Gives a Sena tor a Bit of His Mind. A good story was circulated at the capitol this week at the expense of a certain western senator, who owes his position to a political upheaval in his state, and was "chased into public life" to quote a disgruntled constituent more by circumstance than any merit of his own. He follows the gonfalon of Simpson. Last Monday an old friend called, says the Washington Capital. The friend was in needy circumstances; he wanted a position. What previous conversation was had deponent knoweth not. But the seeker after government place raised his voice to a higher key. "Then there's nothing you can do for "My dear fellow," replied the senator, 'the democrats have filled all the places outside the civil service except the aborers, and you surely don't want a aborer's position.' "Don't care what it is. It means bread and butter, and it's honest, ain't it?" "Yes, yes," hastily interrupted the "But you'll have to wash spitenator. toons and scrub floors, and I wouldn't like to offer a man of your ability such a menial job. Besides, your talents ought to provide you a good living.' Provide nothing," retorted the now horoughly angered man. "I can't live on my talents to the extent of meat and drink, and I want you to understand, senator, that if you had to live on your talents you wouldn't get a square meal in a century."

Interpreting a Dream Book.

A young married woman, living in the East End, had a peculiar dream the other evening, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. She dreamed that she was down town on Euclid avenue with her baby and was preparing to board a car to go home. The step of the new Euclid avenue motor was rather high and she requested a gentleman to hold her baby while she boarded the car. He con sented, but before he could return the infant to the arms of its mother the car started and left without the child. The grief of the young woman was intense and so troubled was her mind that she awoke. Her relief at finding it all a dream was so great that she decided to buy a book on dreams and learn what it all signified.

Yesterday she called at a down town book store and related her dream to the clerk, who chanced to be an acquaint She purchased the book and ance. urned to the index, where she found that such a dream as she experienced foretola that the dreamer would receive twice as much as she had lost.

"What would I get," she said to the clerk, innocently, "that would be twice as much to me as my baby?" "Twite," said the clork laconically,

Another Long Game in Which the Young

CHICAGO, Jan. 12,-Iyes and Slosson met for the second time in the balk-line billiard tournament tonight, this time under conditions more favorable to the New Yorker. who was completely snowed under last Tuesday night by fyes! big run of 487, made almost entirely with the "anchor nurse." Tonight the anchor was barred and Slosson felt that he had a living chance at the all-around game. Slosson having won the bank and missed the lay off shot Ives cornered the balls on his first shot and started off at a rattling pace, but soon lost his hold and sat down at nineteen on an easy spread. He let go on the same kind of a shot at his next opening, while in his third inning he got sewed up on a bad line break with his own ball jawed. Slosson started off with unusual slowness even for him. For his first four innings he had plenty of opportunities, but could hardly make a shot to suit him. His fifth inning showed some improvement, his run of thirty-nine being well played. He had now taken the lead, 50 to 42, and as Ives let go easily, he got another chance in the sixth and put in another good run, though it was chiefly of the sledge hammer style, his miss at thirty-eight being a very hard round-the-table shot. In the seventh he had every chance in the world for billiards, but stopped at twelve on an easy masse, Score: Slosson, 100; Ives, 42.

Poor Work for Ives. Ives began his eighth with a perfect setup in the lower right-hand corner, but let go at seven on a shot a beginner would make. The balls were left very safe, however, and the young Napoleon got another benefit in the shape of a good leave, and he now set to work to do something with it. At seventy ne had the anchor, but did not use half his allowance. He now struck a smoother gait and was trotting very fast. His 100 was passed with the balls well in hand, but a freeze and bank split them at 121, and at 124 after a very poor drive he missed a hard cushion shot. Score: Ives, 181; Slosson,

In his twelfth inning Slosson did some very neat back line nursing for forty-four and seemed likely to make an important run. but unaccountably slipped up on the easiest possible carom. Ives for his half inning gave a fine exhibition of nursing, halting on slow follow for lack of force. The run of fifty-nine carried him to 241; Slosson, 154.

Slosson's Best Showing. Slosson found the balls ready bunched and showed his appreciation of the fact by doing his very best work thus far. His run was sixty-seven, and the score now stood: Ives, In his fifteenth Slosson stepped to the front for the first time leading off with a magnificent long shot around the table for position, which he got to perfection. His fortieth shot was a long and extra hazardous bank, which he would have missed but his kiss went into a count. His devout thankfulness for this prize-taking was exhibited by some superb playing, in which he showed a perfect stroke judgment. As he reached 100, his best run for the tournament, the audience cheered heartily. On he went with close position work and accurate use of the short drive and never stopped until, at 144, a hard double cushion play for position downed him. He had now gained a strong lead, having a score of 365 to 242 in his favor. Hard breaks stopped his sixteenth inning at eight, his ninth being a kiss which deprived him of count. Ives, in his sixteenth, played for the anchor and got it, but froze at twenty and missed on an out and in masse. Slosson again found the balls in a heap, but could only get twenty-two out of them. In his eighteenth he failed on an easy masse to the cushion and quit at seven when the outlook was most promising.

Ives Goes to Work.

Ives had five rather barren innings, while Slosson was reaping his harvest, and in his half of the eighteenth set to work in dead earnest. He found the balls in easy shape and held them for a long time in the upper right-hand corner. He was playing balk line billiards at its very best, and stood to make a big run, but strangely decided to smash his position out of all shape when there was not the slightest need of it, and so fell down at 106. Score: Slosson, 402; Ives.

Then followed two blanks on either side, due to effective safety play, but in his twenty-first Ives broke the deadlock with a screaming long bank shot, but let up at seven on an easy draw. Both men were letting go on rather slight provocation just ow, as both seemingly felt the stage was critical one. Ives in his twenty-fourth got a nice break in the lower left-hand corner and worked it for eighteen before changing the opposite side, but in getting out of balk he scattered the balls and quit at twenty-Slosson's failure on an easy masse seven. cut him off at five.

Scratched and Won Out.

A rank scratch on his second shot saved Ives' life in the twenty-fifth, which he began with 415, against 456 for Slosson. Ives now resumed the lead with a well-played run of 104, which ended with a freeze and a missed bank. Score: Ives, 519; Slosson, 456

There was poor play and easy falldowns on both sides for the next few innings, until in the thirtieth Ives ran fifty-six and was now within sixteen points of game, while Slosson lacked 110. He managed to gather up twentysix in his thirty-first, but ended by leaving a set-up, and Ives set for sixteen and game, but was kissed off at nine. Slosson opened the thirty-second with half a dozen hard shots and then had the balls in good nursing shape, but failed at forty-six on an easy draw, leaving Ives seven to go, which he made at miduight. Score:

Slosson-0, 1, 6, 4, 39, 38, 12, 5, 0, 5, 0, 44, 67, 144, 8, 22, 7, 6, 0, 0, 13, 27, 3, 5, 2, 1, 3, 28, 26

Two cases of yellow fever were reported n board the Austrian corvette Zrinyi and five other cases upon merchant vessels in the bay. The health of all on board the United States men of war was excellent.
A correspondent in Rio also reports that on January 4 all the ministers of foreign powers having waiships in the bay informed President Percote and Salduba they would suspend all efforts an intervention between the contestants and that both sides might go ahead and bombard each other to their hearts' content, but the foreign warships did not move from their auchorage and the rebet vessels still remain eusconced behind the islands safe fro.n Peixoto's guns:

the city has recommenced. There is much feeling among the inhabitants both of the city of Rio de Juniero and of the provinces against President Peixoto. This has been owing to the action of Peixoto in enrolling many foreigners for service under the Brazilian government. Men from the etheroy have been engaged in serious disturbance at Pernambuco. They were ashore at that place and after a heavy drinking bout proceeded to make themselves obnoxious. Vizorous easures were resorted to to overpower them and in the struggle two of the Nietherey's men were killed. The other men of the party will be dealt with rigor-ously by the Nietherey's commander. It is reported from Rio Grande do Sul that the government troops have defeated the insurgents at Itajahy.

HELD A LIVELY MEETING.

Members of the Ways and Means Committee Tangled Up Over the Income Tax. Washington, Jan. 12.—The democratic nembers of the ways and means committee considered the internal revenue bill today. The meeting was a spirited one, many unexpected motions being made, so that at one time the friends of income tax feared they were defeated. At the outset of the meeting Mr. Tarsuey moved that the question as to whether the internal revenue features were to be reported as independent bills be referred to a democratic caucus This brought on an aufmated discussion.

When the vote was taken the Tarsney motion prevailed by a vote of 6 to 5.

Mr. Byrum furnished the surprise of the meeting by moving to reconsider the entire revenue bill as practically agreed on at a meeting some time ago. This motion also prevailed by a vote of 6 to 5. Mr. Bynum voted with the opponents of an income tax. The affirmative vote was cast by Messrs. Wilson, Breckmridge, Bynum, Stevens and Montgomery: the negative vote by Messrs, McMillin, Bryan, Whiting, Tarsney and Turner.

A question then arose as to where this left the bill; whether the Tarsney resolution whether the Bynum resolution left anything to submit to a caucus. After some discussion as to the status a vote was again taken on the other internal revenue features, and they were agreed to as previously decided upon. The democrats who are opposing the income tax proposition, led by Wilson, then forced a direct vote upon the question of submit-ting all the internal revenue features to the house as a separate measure. notion to so report the internal revenue bill was agreed to by a vote of 6 to 5, Mr. Bynum voting in the affirmative. The question of a caucus was still in doubt, owing to the various motions which had intervened since the Tarsney proposition had first carried, but it was finally agreed, informally, that if a caucus to consider the income tax should e called by any members outside of the ways and means committee and the caucus entiment on the vote should be for the in corporation of the internal revenue features as part of the Wilson bill, any member of the committee so disposed could make the motion on the floor of the house to so include

With Particular Reference to Car-Scat Monopolists,

A car-seat monopolist, one of those men who spread themselves out for more comfort than they are entitled to, was discomfited Saturday on a Royal Blue train between Washington and Baltimore, says the Baltimore Sun. In the ladies car only one seat was left vacant. was next to the window, and on it was placed the overcoat and travelling bag of the man who sat at the other end of the seat. Two ladies entered the car and the colored porter politely asked the man to give the seat to one of the ladies. The man did not reply, and the porter, still polite, requested the man to remove his baggage from the seat. The only reply was a grunt. The ladies passed on.

An athletic young man in the car, who was a stickler for fair play, rose from his seat, got one of the ladies to take it and threw his overcoat over his arm and strode to the seat occupied by the mean man. He said not a word, stepped over the monopulist's feet, tossed his overcoat over the back of the seat. threw the other mar's overcost to one side, dropped his valise to the floor, and took comfortable possession of the scat. After the young man had seated himself all the passengers in the car clapped San Francisco road and official party passed | their hands in applause. Cigar cases
