Secretary Morton Appoints a Kansan Expert on the Pathology of Vegetables.

WILL FERRET OUT THE CAUSE OF DAMAGE

Millions of Dollars Annually Lost by Farmers Because of This Disease of Wheat -Hope to Soon Understand Its Nature.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE, 513 Fourteenth Street, Washington, Feb. 3.

Secretary Morton has appointed Mr. M. A. Carleton of the Kansas Agricultural college a special agent of the division of vegetable pathology in the Department of Agriculture, and his work will be particularly directed to the study of the rusts of cereals, For some two years past this division of the department has been experimenting with a view to discover some means for the prevention of rust of cereals. The importance of the investigation is best shown by an estimate of the amount of damage caused by this disease. It has been estimated, for instance, that to wheat growers alone in Australia rust causes an annual loss of more than $10,000,000. From careful estimates made in this country it is be-Heyed that an aggregate loss to American farmers as a result of the attacks of rust will exceed $40,000,000 annually. Australia has recently offered a reward of $50,000 for a practical remedy for rust.

Prof. B. T. Galloway, chief of the division mentioned, referring to the subject, says: Our knowledge of the diseases of plants and treatment of the same has increased so and treatment of the same has increased so rapidly during the past few years that pro-per studies pursued in the light of new facts will, I feel confident, prove of great benefit to the farmer, by pointing out meth-ods whereby the great damage caused by rust may be prevented or, rather, greatly dimitished diminished

"Since this division began its experiments on the subject a number of interesting facts have been brought out. We have found, for example, that the treatment of the seed and soil with various chemicals before and after planting, the method advocated by the Australians, is of no value whatever in preventing the disease, and under cer-tain conditions it can be prevented by spraying with various fungicides. A num ber of experiments, however, in this direc tion show that while not always reliable spraying is too expensive to be depended upon. Our attention must therefore be turned to some more difficult questions, including the physiology of the wheat plant itself. Some varieties, and even individuals of the same variety, are found to be to certain extent exempt from the attacks of rust. There are reasons for this immunity, which, if known, would undoubtedly throw light of great practical importance upon e subject. "It is with a view of pushing the investigations of the cereal rusts in this direction and in a manner commensurate with their importance that I feel especially gratified by the appointment of Mr. M. A. Carleton as a special agent of this division, he having for several years devoted special attention to rust, and being in my opinion eminently fitted for the work in view in every way. WOES OF THE SUGAR TRUST.

'It may appear to be an act of base in gratitude for the democratic party in con-gress to cut the throat of the Sugar trust after it had contributed a large sum of money to the success of our party last year, but there are good and ample reasons why we should feel under no obligations to that glant monopoly, no matter what it did for the party now in power."This is what a prominent castern democratic member of the house said to your correspondent, commenting upon the refusal of the house to place any discriminating duty upon refined sugar, which is the life blood of the Sugar ist. ,He continued: "I will tell you the secret of the disgust of democrats at the Sugar trust. There was no doubt a sympathy in the ways and means committee for the trust, which induced that KNOCKED OUT HIS WIND. One of the passenger elevatormen in the Treasury department is a raw-boned Irishman, who carried a gun in defense of his country's flag a third of a century ago. He Is an intense American, and of course does not relish the encroachments upon our prin-ciples of British systems. This old Irishman was tickled nigh unto death last week when one of his own blood whipped "a bloody Britisher" down at Jacksonville. The next morning, just after he had carried up the fecretary of the treasury, two sapient Eng-lishmen, who had evidently come over to see the fight and expected their fellow citizen to win, entered the elevator. The first thing that cought their attention was the electric fan which in summer time cools the hot heads of the politicians who visit the depart ment.

"And what is that, pray you, sir?" in-quired one of the foreigners, with the cus-tomary accent, which grates upon the ears of a loyal Frishman. "Electric fan, sor," replied the elevator

Just as the lift reached the secretary's floor the Englishman's curiosity broke forth in a request that the fan he made to go, so that he could see how it worked. The Trishman turned the current on and the fan whirred away for a minute or two. After a few moments of silence, when the fan had stopped running, and in the absence of any-thing more to say, the elevator man observed, just as his passengers were stepping

"But this fan is not as great as the one which run down at Jacksonville yesterday." "And how was that?" inquired the inquisitive Englishman. "Well, sor, this fan eannot knock the wind out of an Englishman, while the one at Jacksonville yesterday knocked all the breath out of one bloody Britisher in less than three rounds." The blood rushed to the face of the de scendant of John Bull. Quick as flash he dropped the monocular from his eye and lik a flash sprang toward the elevator. He no doubt intended to resent the twit. But the Irishman was too quick for him. With a smile he slammed the door, pulled the rop-and his elevator descended in hasts. PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

Mrs. Charles H. Van Wyck of Nebraska held her last reception of the season yesterday afternoon and evening, and it was a perfect ovation to this popular woman from beginning to end. Mrs. Van Wyck has een welcomed to Washington again by her iousands of friends here in a warmth of cordiality which is most pleasing. She was thoroughly popular in official and private life while her husband was in the senate. and the attendance and character of her reception during her stay here this winter have demonstrated that her absence from old friends has not diminished her popular ity. General Van Wyck continues to improve in health, and on every fair day drives about the city. He has not yet felt himself strong enough, however, to revisit the familiar scenes about the capitol. The sundry civil appropriation bill re-ported to the house today reduces the ap-propriation for surveys of public lands and 200 for the the lands and $200,000 to $100,000, authorizes the secretary of the treasury to enter into contracts for the construction of federal buildings at Omaha and Sioux City, appropriates $750,000 for improving the Missouri from its mouth to Sloux City, and provides that the at-torney general shall dispose of the Indian depredation cases, the defense of which was provided for by act of March 3, 1891, by giving them priority of consideration.

Joseph E. Wing was today appointed post-master at Knox, Niobrara county, vice L. D. Wellman, removed, and S. T. Sherman at D. Weitman, removed, and S. F. RAYNER OF MARYLAND TALKS ON HAWA'I He Claims the President Did the Right Thing at the Right Time, but Says

tle preliminary routine work had been disposed of in the house today Mr. Money, Mr. Lavingstone, Simpson and Mr. Reed got into a little personal tiff over a motion for the approval of Admiral Gervais' conduct. The Hawallan debate was then resumed.

Mr. Rayner of Maryland was the principal speaker. In opening his remarks, Mr. Rayner said 'I desire to be fair in the brief discussion that I shall devote to this subject. I am not sufficient of a partisan to applaud every act that proceeds from my own party and to criticise and condemn everything that is done by my opponents. I have endeavored with an unprejudiced mind to investigate this cause in all of its elaborate details. I have tried to arrive at an honest conclusion without any political bias whatever, and I shall give you the conclusion I have reached and the judgment that I have arrived at for whatever it may be worth. "My opinion is: In the first place, I am convinced beyond all manner of reasonable oubt that Mr. Stevens, the minister of the United States, was an active participant in the overthrow of the monarchy in the kinglom of Hawaii; and, in the second place, the president having submitted the matter to congress, I am satisfied that according to the usages and principles of international law we have no right, by the use of arms or force to remedy the wrong that has been committed and that all efforts for a peaceful solution having terminated we have no further right to intervene, and that it is our duty for the present to recognize the de facto government that is now in charge and our duty, in the future to recognize such form of government as may be determined upon by the wishes of the people of the

"Now, as to the proof that the monarchical form of government was overthrown by the armed forces of the United States, and that the said government would not have been overthrown but for such unlawful in tervention upon our part. There is no There is no difficulty about this branch of this investigation whatever. No one can come to an honest conclusion about it until he reads the testimony and impartially analyzes the facts that have been submitted. We could not select a stronger case before any impartial tribunal of the country in favor of the proposition that is now asserted, that the abdication of the queen was not to those who constitute the provisional government, but was made to the forces of the United States and to no one else. What I would like very much to have is the honest judgment of this house upon this question when I have submitted the facts that strike me as the salient points in this controversy.

"Our political opponents will not discuss ne puestion in this house whether Mr. Stevens was guilty of a crime against the government to which he was the accredited representative and was guilty of violating the law of nations, because it is my deliber-ate judgment the testimony is so overwhelming upon this point that there is no doubt whatever of his guilt, even admit-ting, for the sake of argument, that so far as he was personally concerned his inten-tions were honorable and his motives in-spired by the highest principles of patriot-ies."

Mr. Rayner quoted at some length from the Hawaiian evidence submitted to congress concerning the landing of the troops and the establishment of the provisional government, claiming that the queen would not have been overthrown except by the interference of

When she refused to accept the conditions of amnesty that were proposed, and insisted upon ex-ercising the rights of a sagage, and was will-ing in this enlightened age to stain her soul with the blood of some of her best citizens, with the blood of some of her best citizens, though she claims to have had the tech-nical right by the law to do so, she placed hereel; beyond the pale of civilization and, however much I condemn the crime of which she has been the victim and detest the policy that made the crime possible, I would, in view of her conduct, permit her to de-part from the scene of her former glory and I would make no further effort whatever to reconstruct her throne or to restore the su-premacy of the monarchy that she repre-

'I tell you, Mr. Speaker, that as deeply as I love my country, with all the conse-crated devotion that I would lay upon her altars, with a fervid reverence for her flag wherever its colors greet the eye, I would rather see that flag lowered and trampled upon than raised as a pirate's ensign and placed in the hands of every buccaneering demagogue to use, not as an emblem of honor, but as an instrument of terror and oppression to the helpless and enfeebled races of mankind." Some routine business preceded the debate.

Mr. Money, one of the democratic members of the foreign affairs committee, then asked unanimous consent for the consideration of a joint resolution approving the conduct of Admiral Benham in the harbor of Rio.

DISPATCHES FROM BENHAM READ. In connection with the resolution he had copies of the dispatch from Admiral Senham and Minister Thompson read. "I desire to know," said Mr. Livingstone of Georgia when the reading was completed,

Mr. 'that objection does not come from 'a democrat.

"It comes from one very nearly related to democrat," retorted Mr. Reed. Mr. Sayers presented the sundry civil ap-propriation bill and the Hawaiian debate was then resumed.

Mr. Hitt was recognized to complete his speech begun yesterday. He reviewed the main points of his speech of yesterday, dwelling on the inconsistency of the administration's policy. "Why, only a few minutes ago," said he. "we were asked to approve the conduct of an American admiral at the very time when the house was considering a resolution aimed at an American minister, designed to pervert history in order to blacken the charac-ter of a public official for doing his duty on a foreign shore. On that occasion not a gun was fired, not a drop of blood was shed, yet, in the other case, we are asked to approve of the action of an American officer who began operations by firing across the bows of an insurgent ship, following it with a shell into her stern post, followed by the threat of a broadside," (Republican ap-

ARGUMENT OF A CRIMINAL LAWYER. Mr. Hitt characterized the Blount report as the skillfully prepared argument of a criminal lawyer bearing incontestible inter-nal evidence of its character. He concluded with a brilliant oration, denouncing the action of the administration against the new republic in the Pacific, a course, he said. In violation of the opinions of all writers and authorities on international law and revolting to our patriotism, because t was an attempt to overturn our own flesh and blood.

Mr. Rayner, democrat, of Maryland, one of the members of the foreign affairs committee, followed in support of the resolution. While Mr. Rayner was dwelling upon the missing letter of Mr. Blaine to Minister Stevens, in which the latter asked for in-structions, should a revolution occur in 1891, he said significantly: "I would like to tell you what I infer those instructions

NEBRASKA MONEY TIED UP Embarrassed Banks in the State Caused the Trouble.

NEARLY HALF A MILLION INVOLVED

Particular Communities Affected to a Considerable Extent-List of Institutions that Withdrew Their Funds from Circulation.

LINCOLN, Feb. 3 .- (Special to The Bee.) -A statement prepared today by Chief Clerk Townley of the State Banking department shows that there are at the present time 504 banks under the control of the banking board. On November 5, 1892, the number was 515, but since that time forty-five have been discontinued and thirty-four established. Of the banks that were discontinued since the date quoted ten are at the present time in charge of receivers appointed by the supreme court. The consolidated report of these receivership banks goes a long ways towards explaining one phase of the business depression in Nebraska. The ten banks have tied up nearly $500,000 in deposits, as will be seen by the ollowing:

1	American Savings, Omaha	$153.00
	Holt County bank	89.53
ļ	Nebraska Savings, Lincoln	60,84
9	State Bank of Franklin
6	Bank of Rushville	23,18
9	State Bank of Wahoo	21,69
93	Farmers State at Shubert	18,68
Ц	State of Cortland	15,67
	Bank of Hav Springs	0,22
ł	State Bank of Plainview	4,80

Total $127 405 The withdrawal of so much money from circulation has undoubtedly greatly em-barassed the communities in which the above banks were situated as they were, with two exceptions, small towns, where at best money circulates but feebly. In ad-dition to the withdrawal of this money from active circulation the enforced liquidation of paper held by the same banks has been an other feature of the depression. The loans and discounts of the banks mentioned above aggregate $599.655. The receivers have bent every energy to collect this paper, and while no absolute hardship has been worked toward the debtors of the defunct banks, at the same time the effort to take up so large a volume of paper in smaller towns has been attended with considerable difficulty. All these things have combined to affect the general business situation in the state, but there are many signs which daily come to the attention of the State Banking department which show that Nebraska is emerg-ing from the depression of the past year and that her banks are in better condition than ever. Many weak and supernumerary day to assist in organizing a new lodge of Independent Order of Odd Fellows in that banks have been weeded out. Others have gone into voluntary liquidation, while still others have been consolidated. hamlet

AGAINST THE CRACKER TRUST. The cracker trust came out second best in a case before the Lancaster county district court today, although the case was of little importance and will not seriously cripple the operations of that somewhat celebrated organization. Mrs. Downing, mother of James Esters, was awarded $500 damages for the death of her son, who was an employe of the factorty in Lincoln operated by the Amer-ican Biscuit company. The young man was working a bread break in the factory, when his hand became entangled in a cog wheel, and was so badly mangled that amputation was necessary. He recovered and some months later was married. After his mar-riage he died of consumption. body to retain half of the duty upon refined sugar fixed by the present law. About the time the bill was ready for report to the house a democratic member of the ways and means committee was told that the Sugar trust had for years been trying to work both of the great political parties; that in the last campaign it had given an equal contribution to the democratic and republican parties, probably $50,000 each, and it intended to be solid in any event. This statement was hardly believed, but when the attorney for the trust was met by that democrat and asked if it were true that the trust had contributed to both campaign funds, the reply was: 'Why, certainly; we thought it fair to treat both partles alike.' From that to treat ooth parties affice. From that moment we were determined that the trust should be strangled to death. No doubt the monopoly thought it could contribute from fifty to one hundred thousand dollars to the campaign fund of each of the great parties, and try to impress each that it was in sympathy with it. The sugar trust has simply thrown away so much money. I have no possible idea that the senate Id any duty to refined sugar, or in fac' that sugar of any grade will have to pay duty when imported. SHERMAN THE FINANCIAL PHYSICIAN Senator John Sherman surprised some re-sublicans by his speech on the bond question on last Tuesday. His expressions were in di-rect accord with the policy of Secretary Carlisle in favor of a bond issue. John Sherman occupies a unique In the senate and in his party. He is recog-nized by every one in Washington as the ablest financier in our country, and at no time has this administration failed to take advan tage of his advice and abilities. He was the advisor of Secretaries Windom and Foster under the Harrison administration, and he is frequently consulted now by Secretary Carlisle. His advice is given without parti-san flavor. He is never suspected of the slightest partisanship when called upon for ice. It is a case of interpretation of law irrespective of party advantage advice. His most intimate friends say that he i now leaned upon more heavily by this ad ministration than he was by the preceding administration. He is the financial phy sician of the country, and appears to be do ing a thriving business.

Probably the most constant and patient auditor of the house proceedings upon the tariff discussion during the past three weeks has been the colored man in Washington. There are along the north side of the im mense hall of the house of representatives seven great public galleries. In each arc plain continuous seats upon which ten per-sons can sit comfortably in a row. Altogether about 1,000 persons can crowd into these galleries. The doorkcepers admit all sober and same persons to these galleries without question, and for that reason they are regarded as the "colored galleries." During the tariff debates each day the sec tion of black faces has grown larger and larger in the public galleries. Ordinarily larger in the public galleries. SILVER QUESTION.

Miner.

It Will Be Taken Up Next Tuesday in the House of Representatives. WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 .- The silver quesion is to be taken up in the house next Tuesday according to the plans of Mr. Bland. He expects the debate on his seigniorage bill to last two days, so a final vote can be taken Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Bland's plans are based on a concluion of the Hawaiian debate Monday night. but if this is extended the silver debate will have to wait the disposal of Hawaii No separate rule will be reported giving Mr. Bland the right of way, as his coinage com-mittee has special privileges under the rules to secure immediate consideration for its oports.

There is no doubt as to the passage of the bill," said Mr. Bland. The feeling is far different now from that at the time of the repeal of the Sherman act. In fact, if that repeal bill was up today it would not be likely to pass. Many gentlemen have this. heard from their constituents since then, The present bull is restricted to the seigdorage and is designed to give the treasury comporary relief. It is likely to bring on reneral discussion of silver and a Giscussion of the bond question. I expect the bill to pass by Wednesday night." Representative C. W. Stone, who wrote the report against the bill, is preparing for a sharp contest, beginning Tuesday.

AUTHORIZED BY CARLISLE.

Official Statement Regarding the Allotment of the Bonds.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.-Secretary Carlisle has authorized the following statement regarding the allotment of bonds. The secretary of the treasury has considered the proposals submitted for the 5 per cent loan and has accepted all bids naming a higher price than $117,323. The proposals submitted at the upset price have scaled down 5.33 per cent and the amount of bonds allotted under this reduction, together with the subscriptions accepted in full, is $50,000,000. A notice will be sent to each subscriber advising him of the acceptance of his subscription, informing him when the bonds will be ready and stating the amount to be deposited in payment of the principal and premium. The accrued inter-est to date of deposit at the rate of interest realized by the subscriber will be added by the assistant treasurer with whom the deposits are to be made. The bonds will be de livered by the department, after payment is made, to the address given by the subscriber, or they may be sent to the assistant treas the American marines, and referring to Minister Stevens, he said: "We will con-vict him by his own letters, written months before these troubles began, by his own ad-missions and confesions, evidence that is recognized as the very strongest evidence in law. His is a defense that is so utterly falsified by every fact that it glitters through the whole of the testimony and the corre-spondence that has been submitted to us. You talk about taking down the flag of the United States. I want to know what right the government of the United States had to raise its flag over the capital of the islands. I charge that the flag of the United States had no more right to wave over the govern-ment building at Honolulu than the United States minister today would have a right o raise it over the government buildings in Brazil, or in any territory where the people were powerless to resist him." He dwelt upon the abdication of the queen, moting her letter to Minister Stevens and his reply. He pointed out that the word "declined" was written in Mr. Stevens' handwriting on the back of he queen's communi-cation and asked what right the American minister had to refuse it.

Again, speaking of Mr. Stevens, he conued: "Mr. Stevens has undertaken inued: to defame and malign almost every one who has appeared against him in this case. I have nothing to charge against him personally. He may be a man of the most honorable motives and of the most devoted standard of moral conduct. The only trouble about him is that he is entirely too good. He belongs o a race of beings who appear to have dropped down upon this earth through sheer mistake. He is compelled, I have no doubt. to carry around with him a very weights to keep himself from being sudienly translated into heaven.

"Our friend, Mr. Boutelle, whose ability I ecognize and whose earnestness of purpo I admire, has gotten possession of the flag idea, or rather the flag idea has gotten pos-session of him. He is with the flag like the Irishman is with the shellelah, whenever you see a head hit it; whenever you see a place to plant the flag run her up NOTHING MORE TO BE DONE. The question of Mr. Blount's appointment was also argued, as was the real position of de facto government. M. Rayner continued: "Let me come to the point of this discussion. A great wrong has been comnitted, a crime has been perpetrated that cannot be justified before the nations of the world. The president, in the exercise of his power and authority, has offered edress the wrong. It was his duty to do If he was right in the premises then he was right in the conclusion, and such will be the intelligent verdict of his countrymen. He could not have stood by with folded hands and sanctioned by his silence concealment of this iniquity. It was a grave and delicate question to deal with, and he has treated it with unflinching in-tegrity and courage that has characterized all of his official acts. He has assumed the whole of the responsibility, and when his conduct is calmly considered he will be fully justified at the bar of public opinion. If you once admit that our minister was at the head of this conspiracy, then it becomes the duty of the president, under every dictate of justice, to attempt to make the restoration of the rights that had been plundered. We have nothing to do with the character of the queen or her form of government. She may be as great a tyrant as ever wielded the scepter of oppres-sion; she may be possessed of the most savage and ferocious instincts. That is not th asue. The question is, Was she robbed of her inheritance? Was she dethroned? Was she despoiled of her kingdom and her crown she desponded of her kingdom and her crown by the infamous interference of a minister of the United States? If so, it was right; it was honorable in the highest degree; it was in accordance with our traditions and the very impulse of the national conscience. to make an honest and peaceable attempt to redress the grievance which she had suffered and to restore the title of which she had been robbed. This attempt has been made and the provisional government has refused to accede to the demand and the president has submitted the whole matter to congress for our action and determination. What is to be done? This is the practical question. I want to be plain about this. As far as I am concerned, I would make no give his inference, but he added, if this letter was produced and it ordered Mr. Stevens to keep his hands off, he would take black all he had said. Later, while discussing Mr. Boutelle's resolution of inquiry into the authority by which Mr. Blount had ordered the flag hauled down, he said Mr. Boutelle seemed possessed by the flag idea. "He is with the flag," he said, "like the Irishman with a shillaleh-wherever you see a head, hit it-so wherever he sees a place for he flag he wants to haul it up. (Great republican applause.) "It is better to haul it up than to haul it down.' ' inerjected Mr. Boutelle.

thought it

"He has not stopped talking about it in twenty years," Mr. Rayner continued, amid laughter.

"AND HE NEVER WILL." "And he never will," said Mr. Boutelle

(Republican applause.) "It seems to be the dream of his sleeping and his waking hours," continued Mr. Ray ner. "If he were to start for the North Pole, solitray and alone, with the folds of the flag about him, the end of the ninetcentl century would find him standing in majestic olitude upon the frozen axis of the waving the stars and stripes." (Republicans applause.)

'But not under the orders of the secretary of the navy who ordered the flag hauled down," added Mr. Boutelle, amid renewe applause.

The eloquent close of Mr. Rayner's speech was the signal for an enthusiastic demon stration on the democratic side. Mr. Draper, a republican member of th foreign affairs committee, concluded the de bate for the afternoon with an argument against the adoption of the McCreary reso-lution. He believed the proper policy for the government would be to negotiate an annexation treaty with the provisional government of Hawaii. He dweit at length upon the absolute necessity of a coaling station at Pearl Harbor and the immense commercial advan tages that would accrue to the United State if the Hawaijan islands were under the con trol of the United States. He also discussed its importance as a strategetic point in case

Mr. Bland said he was very anxious get up his seigniorage bill, which had for its object the provision of funds for the treas ury.

Mr. Boutelle suggested that if the debate was extended one day his resolution might be embraced within the special order and a vote be had upon both resolutions at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday. This was agreed to, and at 5:35 the house adjourned.

Coinage of the Seigniorage.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.-The silver ques tion again presented itself to the house when Mr. Bland, chairman of the committee on coinage, weights and measures, made a favorable report on his bill to coin the silver seigniorage in the treasury. At the same time Mr. Charles W. Stone of Penn-sylvania presented an adverse report from the minority of the committee. Mr. Bland's proposition is advanged with a view to sup-plying the treasury with $56,000,000 of silver certificates to meet current extenses. It was originally intended that the coinage of this amount of silver reigniorage would pre vent Secretary Carliste from issuing bonds. The reports are voluminous and deal with the silver question broadly as well as its relation to the seigniorage and bonds.
