Put a Bullet Through His Arm After Threatening to End His Existence—North Nebraska Citizens Declare for Irrigation.

TRENTON, Neb., Feb. 6.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—Last Saturday night at 11 o'clock Dr. J. F. Repass, a physician of Palisade, Neb., while enroute to his office, was stopped and shot through the left forearm by May Evans, a Palisade young woman. It seems that she and the doctor had kept company in the years gone by, but the physician began paying some attention to another young lady of Palisade, and this so incensed Miss Evans that she threatened both their lives and nearly executed her threat regarding the doctor. She will have her preliminary hearing February 20.

KILLED CATTLE FOR THEIR HIDES.

Work of Young Thieves at Kearney Liable to Cause Trouble

KEARNEY, Neb., Feb. 6.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—During the last few weeks Michael Kyne of Cherry Creek township has missed eight head of cattle and this morning found their hides in an old well. A neighbor's boy is now in jail here who acknowledges killing three of the cattle, and warrants are out for the arrest of parties who are supposed to have killed the others. The boys are known to have been selling dressed beef.

The elevator at Miller, a town on the Kearney & Black Hills road, twenty-six miles from here, was burned this morning, and is a total loss. The elevator and contents were owned by the Omaha Elevator company. It is supposed the fire caught from live coals falling from the stove, as the manager had started the fire and gone into another part of the building but a few minutes before. There was a large amount of grain on hand.

The Kearney Morning Call is the name of a new daily paper that made its appearance this morning. It is an eight-page, six-column paper and floats the name of Fred Shaffer as editor and proprietor.

A mass meeting, composed principally of workingmen, was held here tonight to agitate the question of paving Central avenue. Committees were appointed to secure the names of property owners along the avenue to a favorable petition and they will go to soliciting immediately. The object of paving now is to furnish work to the unemployed laboring men.

IRRIGATION DESIRED.

Dawes, Sioux, Butte and Sheridan County Citizens in Convention at Crawford.

CRAWFORD, Feb. Feb. 6.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—The irrigation convention called for the four counties of Dawes, Sioux, Butte and Sheridan met at Crawford today at 2 p. m. There were about 200 present. L. J. Simmons of the Sioux County Journal was chosen chairman and Colonel Sheldon of the Chadron Signal secretary. The general sentiment seemed to be that the state needs better laws to allow the full use of all streams for irrigation purposes and that the general government or the state should make appropriations for the purpose of sinking experimental wells, and to these ends a committee of three from each of the four counties was provided to urge legislation favorable to irrigation and to co-operate with like committees from the organized irrigation districts.

A permanent organization, known as the Northwest Nebraska Irrigation association was effected to meet annually at Crawford, and more frequently if deemed necessary by the officers of the organization. A great deal of zeal was shown. Provision was made for county organizations to co-operate with the district organizations. The first meeting will take place the first Tuesday in March.

Fremont G. A. R. Social.

FREMONT, Feb. 6.—(Special to the Bee.)—One of those pleasant events for which the Grand Army organization of this city is so justly famed, occurred last night at the Masonic temple in the shape of a basket social. About 300 took supper, and after that all who desired indulged in dancing. There were at least a score of the boys who bore arms for their country in 1861 on the ball room floor during the evening. The results were very satisfactory, and quite a sum was added to the relief fund of the society.

The net profits of the fair of the Philharmonic society are figured up at about $750.

GRAND ISLAND, Feb. 6.—(Special to The Bee.)—The Board of Education held a meeting yesterday, at which a report of the finance committee was received, which brought forth the statement that on March 4, 1891, E. C. Hockenberger, the secretary of the board, had received $5,700 from the county treasurer and on March 14 paid to the city treasurer $4,700; that on September 18, 1891, he received from the same source $3,000 and deposited on the same day with the city treasurer $2,000, making a shortage of $2,000 in addition to the shortage of $6,000 reported on his records as county treasurer. Mr. Hockenberger resigned as secretary of the school board, and H. C. Miller was elected in his place. The finance committee of the board was instructed to employ an attorney to collect the shortage. An adjourned meeting was held last night, at which Mr. Hockenberger was to have delivered his books to the board, but he failed to do so.

BANCROFT, Neb., Feb. 6.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—At noon today as Mrs. John Singpiel was about to light a gasoline stove she noticed some of the fluid standing in the catch basin. She thoughtlessly touched a match to it, when it ignited and set fire to her clothing. She ran out at once and called for help. WILL RESUME.

Brandeis & Sons Will Erect a New Building —Temporary Quarters.

The disastrous fire which visited the Boston Store the other evening is not to keep the firm long out of the business world. Hardly had the fire ceased to burn when the Messrs. Brandeis began preparations for opening out in a new location. They have rented the building occupied by the Bell Department store and in a few days will be ready for business again. They have been using office room elsewhere, but today they will be found at their new location, and in the course of a few days will be opened up ready for customers. They have also begun the preparation of plans for the erection of a new building to take the place of the one destroyed. Just what the new building will be has not yet been decided, but it will be of a substantial character and large enough for the transaction of their business.

Workmen yesterday opened the safe taken from the ruins of the Boston Store and found the contents in good condition considering the terrible heat to which it had been subjected. The books were somewhat damaged, but the writing in all of them and the papers was perfectly legible.

ALLEN TAKES A NEW SEAT

Nebraska's Junior Senator Gets to the Front in a Geographical Way.

SECRETARY MORTON GIVES A DINNER

President and Cabinet, with the Ladies, Entertained by the Affable Head of the Agricultural Department—Omaha's Interests Being Watched.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE, 513 Fourteenth Street, WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.

Senator Allen is coming to the front. Since his arrival in the senate he has occupied a seat in the last row on the democratic side near the west door of the chamber, and consequently at the maximum distance from the vice president's chair, although there is really very little choice of seats in the senate owing to the small size of the chamber as compared with the house. Late comers in that august body nevertheless feel a great desire to get closer to the throne, as they have an idea that their recognition depends on their geographic relations with the wielder of the gavel. Senator Allen has yielded to the temptation to get a hold and has made a deal that has advanced him two rows of seats, and has placed him in almost the front row of the senate as far as furniture is concerned. On the resignation of General Walthall last month Senator Allen began negotiations for the seat thus vacated, which is in the second row counting from the front, four from the north end. Senator Turpie, however, who sat next to Walthall, expressed his desire to get further south, and Senator Allen gracefully submitted to Turpie's seniority of services of years, so Turpie moved one seat to the left and Allen came in from the backwoods of the last row and took his seat at the desk formerly occupied by Mr. Turpie. This gives the populist from Nebraska a much more commanding position for his numerous onslaughts against the administration, and for all the other parties in politics. He is right in it now.

It is stated by a republican senator that the postponement of action on the Peckham nomination till next Monday has behind it some smart politics. Certain democratic senators, notably those from New York, who desire the rejection of Peckham, have promised to vote for the Hale resolution compelling the finance committee to give hearings on the tariff bill. There is to be a vote on this resolution this week, and it remains to be seen whether certain democrats will support the resolution. If they do they will get more republican support in turning down Peckham than if they play the "cuckoo" and vote against the resolution.

LOOKING OUT FOR OMAHA.

Copies of resolutions passed by the Commercial club of Omaha requesting Senator Manderson to use his influence in having an Indian supply depot established at Omaha and guaranteeing lower prices for the government has been received and will be laid before the commissioner of Indian affairs and Hoke Smith, with a most cordial endorsement and urgent request for compliance. Senator Manderson and Representative Mercer believe that they may succeed in this effort and are determined to work together with all their energy for success. They have also received copies of resolutions adopted by the city council asking them to secure an appropriation with which to improve the banks of the Missouri at Omaha in the interest of navigation and will make an effort to have an amendment to this end when the sundry civil appropriations bill comes up for consideration. This bill makes the appropriations for river and harbor improvements. It has this year a provision giving three-quarters of a million dollars for improving the Missouri from its mouth to Sioux City, and it is barely possible that an amendment may be added to the bill directing an expenditure of the banks at Omaha sufficient to reach the desired end.

MR. MORTON GIVES A DINNER.

The secretary of agriculture and Miss Morton entertained President and Mrs. Cleveland last night at dinner. The table was laid in one of the large dining rooms at the Portland, and tastefully decorated with red and green. The room was set with fine palms massed in the corner. In the center of the cloth, resting on a stand of maidenhair fern, was a great cornucopia of red carnations, from which fruits spilled out. When the ices came on they were in the shape of small vegetables, potatoes, corn, beets, tomatoes, etc. Besides the president and Mrs. Cleveland, there were present the secretary of state and Mrs. Gresham, the secretary of the treasury and Mrs. Carlisle, the secretary of the interior and Mrs. Smith, the secretary of the navy and Miss Herbert, the secretary of war and Mrs. Lamont, assistant secretary of the treasury and Miss Hamlin, General Bristow, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morton of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. William D. Morton of Detroit.

Secretary and Miss Morton have with them for a ten days' visit their brother, Mr. W. D. Morton of Detroit and wife, and the two sons of the secretary and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Morton and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morton of Chicago.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

S. A. Sherwood of Desmet, S. D., has copyrighted a valuable form of report for school teachers.

The State university at Lincoln has sent a letter here to Senator Manderson notifying him that it will confer the degree of L.L.D. upon him if he will appear at the university proceedings on the 15th instant. The senator and Mrs. Manderson are at New Orleans, and the letter has been forwarded to him. He expects to return here by the first of this week, and it is hardly possible that he will be able to visit Nebraska at the time mentioned.

Juan Boyle of Kearney is at 1716 N street, visiting friends.

The Western Art association of Omaha has, through Senator Manderson, applied to the minister of art, Paris, for plaster casts to be placed in its galleries at Omaha.

Captain Payton of Iowa, a republican clerk of the $1,200 grade in the pension office, was dismissed today. The vacancy will probably be filled by a democrat.

Captain R. O. Phillips of Lincoln is in the city for a few days.

Henry Hartman was today appointed postmaster at Saltillo, Lancaster county, vice J. H. Kincle, resigned.

T. O'Meara is at the Oxford and T. O. Doolittle of Oxford is at the St. James.

PERRY S. HEATH.

Funds for United States Courts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—A deficiency appropriation of $400,000 for the expenses of United States courts which has been asked by the attorney general is being considered by the house appropriation committee and will probably be granted. It is not customary to appropriate in the sundry civil bill the full sum estimated as necessary for the United States courts, because it is impossible to estimate in advance the witness fees and other expenses for the year. The committee thinks it will tend more to enforce economy upon the judicial department to allow it to create a deficiency than to give it a large sum to draw upon. Whenever money is appropriated, say the congressmen, officials manage to use it.

TO FIGHT CHOLERA.

Large Amount Left Over from Last Year's Fund Held for the Same Purpose.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Recognizing the possibility that the cholera wave which has been making progress around the world from Asiatic sources the past two years may reach the United States next summer, provision is made in the sundry civil bill reported to the house last week. No direct appropriation for fighting the cholera is made, but one clause of the bill provides for the use of the large unexpended balance remaining from last year's appropriations for this purpose. In the sundry civil bill passed last March the sum of $900,000 was provided for fighting the cholera and other epidemic diseases, as there was thought to be at that time imminent danger of an invasion of the plague.

While the good and the eminent officers of the Marine hospital service were employed through most of the summer in efforts to ward off the cholera, which had gained so strong a foothold in Europe, and then the yellow fever in Georgia, which demanded their attention, but $200,000 of the appropriation was used, and the balance, $700,000, remains untouched in the treasury.

There was some discussion in the meetings of the subcommittee which drew the sundry civil bill as to whether this large sum should be covered back into the treasury or left at the disposal of the Marine hospitals or whether an entirely new appropriation, under different conditions, should be recommended. It was decided to leave the balance of $700,000 as an emergency fund, to be drawn upon in case of need and to place it at the disposal of the president, as had been done last year. The president is empowered to draw upon it in case of actual or threatened epidemic of cholera, yellow fever or smallpox, for the federal authorities to enforce the quarantine laws, or in aid of state or local boards of health, which may have to handle epidemics. Surgeon General Wyman of the Marine hospital service, under whose supervision the rigid enforcement of the quarantine laws was carried out last summer, says that he considers this an ample safeguard so far as financial precautions can go against the cholera. Although he asked the committee for a district appropriation of sufficient money to start the fiscal year with the same sum, $900,000, which was at his command last year, he is well satisfied with the action taken.

OVER LAND LEGISLATION.

Contest Between the House and the Senate Already Begun.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The action of the house committee on public lands yesterday in refusing to report favorably a bill sent over from the senate granting a certain amount of the proceeds of the sale of public lands for the school of mines will probably be the beginning of a contest between the house and senate in the matter of land legislation.

The senate committee on public lands is made up of western men. In the house a great many western men are on the committee, but they do not come from the mining states or from those states where the great bulk of public lands is now located. There have been several measures proposed by these senators and approved by the senate committee which will probably not receive favorable consideration by the house. The scheme of the senators will be to attach this legislation to some of the appropriation bills which will appropriate on their subjects, and then will come the real contest between the house and senate over land legislation. It is probable that the western senators will try to get through several bills in this way which they think will be of importance to their constituents.

REGARDED AS KICKERS.

Indians Who Visit Washington to Make Complaints Are Not Listened To.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Several members of the Sac and Fox and Kickapoo Indian tribes in Oklahoma, and the Pottawattamies in Kansas, are in the city. They called upon Commissioner of Indian Affairs Browning and Assistant Commissioner Armstrong at the Indian bureau yesterday to make various complaints about reservation matters. The Pottawattamies who were in the delegation urged the removal of Indian Agent Joseph A. Scott of the Pottawattamie agency and the Great Nemaha agencies in Kansas, and a general complaint of being forced to allot lands in severalty was made.

The department has refused to recognize them as the representatives of their tribes and regards them as "kickers" whose object in making the trip was only to see Washington. It is probable that they will accept the advice of the bureau officials by leaving for their reservation in a few days.

HAS THE UNION PACIFIC IN VIEW.

Senator Gray's Bill Relating to the Purchasers of Railroads.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Senator Gray has introduced a bill to enable purchasers at judicial sales of railroads organized under the laws of the United States to organize a new corporation. The bill has in view the possibility of a reorganization of the Union Pacific. The bill provides that the purchasers of such a road under a decree of a court of the United States shall file a copy of the deed conveying the property, together with a certificate by a majority of the purchasers setting forth the name, the amount of capital stock and the plans of organization, with the secretary of the interior, which act shall vest them with the ownership of the property. The bill provides for the continuation of the five government directors until the government lien is discharged.

The bill also grants the new organization the right to acquire any property of the old corporation or of any company since joined with it.

OPTION DEALING A CRIME.

Senator George's Bill on This Subject May Pass the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—There is a possibility that the senate will pass the George anti-option bill, which was introduced only a short time ago and seeks to prevent dealings in options and futures by making it a crime instead of taxing them out of existence, as provided for in the Washburn bill of the last congress. Several senators have announced that they are willing to give the George plan a trial, even if they prefer the other. The principal objection made to the George bill is that the dealers will either evade it or it will be declared unconstitutional. It is expected that Mr. Hatch will have a fight on his hands to secure the reference of his bill to the committee on agriculture, of which he is chairman, instead of the ways and means committee, where his opponents will try to send it.

GOVERNOR TILLMAN LOSES.

Judge Bradley's Decision on the Trade Mark Case Reversed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The court of appeals of the district has reversed the decision of Judge Bradley in the Palmetto trade mark liquor case and Commissioner of Patents Seymour this time has scored a point on Governor Tillman of South Carolina. After the commissioner had refused to register the trade mark sought by Governor Tillman for the South Carolina state brand of liquor, Judge Bradley, on application of the state of South Carolina, issued a mandamus requiring the commissioner of patents to register the trade mark. From this decision the commissioner appealed and the court of appeals has reversed the action of Judge Bradley.

SENATOR ALLEN'S BILL.

He Would Make the Issue of Injunctions Against Would-Be Strikers Illegal.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Senator Allen of Nebraska has introduced a bill "to prevent the abuse of the writ of injunction." It provides that it shall be unlawful for any United States court to issue a writ of injunction, mandate or restraining order against any labor organization, its officers or members, in any manner affecting their full freedom to peacefully and quietly quit the service of any person or corporation at any time they may see fit to do so.

HE DIFFERS WITH HIS WIFE

Another Day of Excitement in the Celebrated Cronin Murder Case.

ANDREW FOY'S SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE

Called by the Defense in the Coughlin Trial He Denies Many of the Woman's Allegations — Judge Wing's Objectionable Remark.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—The presence of Andrew Foy in Judge Tuthill's chambers today indicated an interesting session of the Coughlin case. There was little doubt of a bold purpose by the defense to put one of the alleged conspirators, Foy, on the stand, in the attack on the testimony of the witness for the prosecution, his wife, Mrs. Foy. As soon as it became generally known that he was in the witness room there was an excited movement of spectators in the court room, and the news being communicated to the corridor, a dense mass of people was soon clamoring for admission to the court room.

Mrs. Bertha Harvey, the wife of a bricklayer, was the first witness of the day. She testified to having seen Mrs. Susie Horton, a state witness, sitting in the front yard, in a sadly intoxicated condition. This was on the day on which, according to the testimony of Mrs. Horton, the latter saw Coughlin, Cooney and Foy meet near her home.

H. C. Clay, ticket agent at Edgewater, testified that the first morning train from his station to Chicago in 1889 was at 9 o'clock. Bardeen, the witness, had testified that he had taken a train at 7.10 on the morning after he claimed to have seen Coughlin by searchlight.

"Call Andrew Foy now," said Judge Wing.

A tall, gray-haired man, with light gray mustache came to the stand. Every one leaned forward so as to not lose a word of the examination. After preliminary questions, Judge Wing asked: "Did you ever know Dr. Cronin?"

"Yes sir."

"Did you ever know Daniel Coughlin?"

"Yes, I have known him several years. I used to see him during the spring election of 1889. He came to my house and asked me to use all my influence for Thomas Cratty, the republican candidate for judge of the circuit court."

"Did you work for Cratty?"

"I did."

"State whether or not you and Coughlin ever held whispered conversations."

"We did not."

"Did you ever say anything about Dr. Cronin in your meetings at that time?"

"No, sir; nothing whatever."

This caused a sensation in the court room, as it squarely contradicted the testimony of Mrs. Foy, who had told of overhearing the two men talking of the removal of Dr. Cronin and said she had heard them reading a letter which instructed them "to remove him at all hazards."

Foy then told of Mrs. Horton's condition on Sunday, May 12. He said she was not sober. He denied having met Coughlin that night, thus contradicting Mrs. Horton's story. The witness told of his wife having called him an anarchist and of accusing him of throwing the Haymarket bomb.

"Were you arrested and locked up in connection with the Cronin case, like every other Irishman in the city?" asked Judge Wing.

"Yes, sir," replied Foy.

ORDERED STRICKEN OUT

The court ordered the last question stricken out. There was a heated dispute among the attorneys over Judge Wing's remark before the examination was resumed.

"Did Daniel Coughlin have anything to do with it?" asked Judge Wing.

"Not to my knowledge."

"Did men ever come to your house and conspire to kill Dr. Cronin?"

"No sir."

"Did your wife ever call you the murderer of Dr. Cronin and say that Michael Kennedy drove the wagon that carried his body away?"

"She did."

"I will ask you if you lived with your wife up to the time she testified in this case. That is until they put detectives into your house?"

"I did," replied Foy, and turning to the court he said: "They put detectives in my own house, your honor."

"Did you ever see Martin Burke at your house?"

"No sir."

"Did you ever read aloud a letter to Coughlin in your house?"

"No sir."

Foy said he never knew Burke, Cooney, O'Sullivan and the other suspected camp 20 men.

On cross-examination Foy said he had had fifteen children, and that Mrs. Foy is the mother of all of them. After several questions, Assistant State's Attorney Bottum sprung a sensational query.

"Did you tell your son, Thomas Foy," he asked, "that your testimony concerning John Boyle in the defense of Coughlin was perjury—that you had him give it to save yourself? That something desperate had to be done? Did you not say that?"

"No, sir, I did not," replied Foy.

Foy said he was at a meeting of camp 20 on the night of May 3, 1889, and might have seen Coughlin, Burke and Cooney there. He did not remember. The night of May 4 he was home and in bed.

"Do you know anything about events which took place in the Carlson cottage the night of May 4?" asked Attorney Bottum.

"Only what I have read in the newspapers."

"Then you have no personal knowledge?"

"No sir."

"Did you not send a letter to the Chicago Times, written in the presence of your wife, purporting to be the dying statement of a doctor and describing the events of May 4 in the Carlson cottage, by which events this doctor came to his death?"

The question was a startling one, but had no visible effect on the witness.

"I did not," he replied.

The letter was shown to Foy, who again said he had not written it.

The defendant's lawyers moved to have the letter incident stricken out, but the motion was overruled by the court.

The letter which Mrs. Foy says was written in her presence purports to be the account in a dying physician's words of his own murder in the Carlson cottage. The matter was printed at the time. It mentioned a criminal operation on a young girl and a brother's revenge. No name was signed.

Mr. Bottum asked Foy if he had not offered his wife $100 and a pledge to stop drinking if she would not testify. The witness denied this. The cross-examination continued throughout the afternoon.

Montreal Snow Shoe Club.

MONTREAL, Feb. 6.—On next Saturday the Montreal Snow Shoe club will hold its annual flat races. In conjunction with these, Johnson and Norsing will skate two or three match races for suitable trophies, starting from opposite sides of the rink. This is one of the styles of skating in Europe, and Norsing claims he can defeat either Johnson or Donoghue. In such a race there is no loafing. It is go from the start, as it is pretty hard for the skaters to know just how they stand; the man making the best time wins. It is probable there will be a professional race between McCormick and Bren of St. John, N. B., and Oaf Nortwedt of Minneapolis.

THE Groundhog saw his shadow and the story goes that six weeks of winter weather will be our portion. Personally, we don't believe the "Woodchuck" knows any more about the weather than Congress does about making laws for the good of the people, but we do look for plenty of winter weather yet, because it is the rule. If you will bear with us about an hour we shall not use the Book Agents' subterfuge and tell you that Grover Cleveland or Governor McKinley, Mary Lease, or some less celebrated man or woman sent us to you to get your order, but we will tell you the old, old story of Meyer Co., 20, New Jerseys 20 and 12, Amazons 20, 12 and 12, and Excelsiors 45, straight stars, "dirt cheap" and that our stock of Rubber Boots, Sandals, Tennis Shoes, Mackintoshes, Slickers and Rubber Clothing is large.
