

NEBRASKA MILITARY BOARD

Orders of Importance Issued to the State National Guards.

ESCAPEE OF AN ALLEGED OMAHA WOMAN

Said to Have Been Enticed Into a Lincoln Den and Robbed—Secured a Jag in Return for Her Valuables.

LINCOLN, Feb. 8.—(Special to The Bee.)—The military board governing the Nebraska National guards in session at the state house today, there being present Adjutant General Gage, Colonel J. P. Pratt of the First regiment and Colonel C. J. Hills of the Second. The business was of a purely routine nature. The following general orders were issued by Governor Crouse today:

Headquarters Nebraska National Guards, Lincoln, February 8.—General Order No. 15: The company of the Nebraska National guards known as the Omaha guard, Captain H. B. Mulford, mustered into the state service on October 13, 1892, at Omaha, was assigned on February 7 to the second regiment, Nebraska National guard, to be company G.

The company of the Nebraska National guard known as the Cody guards, Captain C. H. Schramm, mustered into the state service on November 21, 1892, at North Platte, was assigned to the second regiment, Nebraska National guard, to be company E.

The company of Nebraska National guards known as the Bartley guard, Captain J. H. Meredith, at O'Neill, mustered into service on January 17, 1894, was assigned on February 7 to the second regiment, to be company F.

The company of Nebraska National guards known as the Moore rifles, Captain E. H. Tracy, at Norfolk, mustered into service on January 18, 1894, was assigned February 7, 1894, to the second regiment, to be company L.

By command of LORENZO CROUSE, Governor.

JAMES E. GAGE, Adjutant General.

OMAHA, Feb. 8.—(Special to The Bee.)—An Omaha woman giving her name as Edna M. Koehler told the chief of police a story this morning that bears all the marks of a sensation. At noon yesterday she was conveyed to the police station in a hack. She claims to have arrived in Lincoln Tuesday night from Omaha on her way to Ulisses. At the depot she got into a hack and requested the driver to take her to a lodging house. The hackman was accommodating and drove her to the Hall-Lansing block, where he secured a room for her and also a companion, who assisted her to while away the tedious hours of the night.

When her "friend" left her she was highly intoxicated, and when she recovered she claimed that she had been robbed of $30 in cash and a gold watch and chain. She was elegantly dressed in expensive tailor-made clothing and wore a long pearl chain of late specification. The police judge was not visibly impressed with her story, however, and he fined her $1 and costs for drunkenness.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT.

D. W. Smith, postmaster at the little town of Lyons, was arrested and brought before Judge Dundy today on the charge of embezzlement. Smith has been postmaster for five years and has always borne an excellent reputation. He is a hopeless cripple, having been almost totally out of human shape by rheumatic spinal meningitis. It was during his long and serious illness, covering a period of five months, that the irregularities occurred. He had failed to deposit the money coming into his possession, as required by the federal statutes. During his illness a postoffice inspector visited Lyons and, discovering the state of affairs, reported him. Smith is short in his accounts $491. His condition has excited a great deal of pity.

LINCOLN IN BRIEF.

Governor Crouse today made a requisition for the return of D. S. Conley, who is under arrest in Texas. Conley was formerly sheriff of Phelps county and about a year ago he deserted his family and left town with another woman, taking with him $1,100 of money belonging to the county. He was recently arrested at Denver, Colo. The new aerial water tower for the city fire department arrived this morning and is ready for use.

Wm. Perry & Co. today obtained an injunction restraining Louie Meyer from collecting a Mr. Shedy and also restraining Meyer from paying it. DeWitt Perry & Co. hold an unsettled claim against Meyer amounting to $844.

In the federal court this afternoon the jury gave the Coldwater National bank of Coldwater, Mich., judgment for $5,104 against C. W. Mosher, R. C. Outcalt and Ed Hurlbut, on one of the bogus Western Manufacturing company notes.

Bank Cashier Sued.

NEBRASKA CITY, Feb. 8.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—Suit was commenced in district court today by the directors of the defunct Farmers and Merchants bank of Talmage against the bondsmen of Cashier Henry Renken for $100,000. The suit alleges that certain sums of money belonging to the bank remain unaccounted for and that Renken will make no attempt to clear matters up. The bank suspended on January 21, and it is said, criminal action may yet be taken.

Mrs. Lathrop Ellis, wife of one of the most prominent farmers of Otoe county, died today, aged 60. Her death was very sudden, being in apparently good health an hour before.

Mrs. F. E. Gerhardt, who was badly burned a few nights ago, is in a dangerous condition and can scarcely recover. In making her escape she inhaled the flames.

Ashland's Ice Harvest.

ASHLAND, Neb., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Bee.)—Swift & Co. finished their ice harvest here yesterday after a run of twelve days. They have put up during that time over 75,000 tons of ice. They had over 200 men at work and paid out over $3,000 to the people of Ashland. This is a great benefit to the Ashland laboring men.

Last evening Dr. and Mrs. Lamoreaux gave a party at their beautiful home to about thirty guests. Card playing and dancing was the chief feature of the evening. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Potter of Omaha.

Revival services are still being conducted at the Methodist church by Rev. Mr. Lemon, and much good is being done for the church.

Very Profitable Fair.

FREMONT, Feb. 8.—(Special to The Bee.)—The committee on the management of the Philharmonic Guild fair reports that net receipts were $725. J. J. Kennedy received the foot ball, J. J. Mitchell the dogs, Mike Golliver the grand pipe, J. Bierbach the watch, Miss Proctor the album, Miss Cawley the quilt, Frank Fowler the $20 gold piece, M. Gory the case, Conductor Nealon the lamp and Miss Bohm will the ring.

The action of the city council in closing all meat markets on Sunday has created a storm of indignation in certain quarters and it will likely be revoked after warm weather sets in.

The next Chautauqua assembly will convene July 4 and continue until the 19th.

To Erect a Creamery.

HENDERSON, Neb., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Bee.)—Twenty-four hundred dollars has been subscribed by the business men of this place and farmers of the vicinity for the erection of a creamery. Thirty-five hundred dollars is the requisite amount for the erection of the plant, and it is believed this amount will be raised.

WAS EAGER TO UTILIZE GOOD FRIDAY

His Plan to Smash the Sugar Trust is Meeting General Approval Among His Colleagues—For a Heavier Tax on Beer.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.

The laugh was on Senator Voorhees around the capitol today. Shortly after the senate convened he entered a motion that the senate adjourn to be next Monday, in explanation of his motion the Hoosier senator observed that he thought it best to adjourn over until Monday, because "tomorrow is Good Friday." No one questioned the statement, but shortly after the motion was adopted the fact precalculated through the minds of senators that Good Friday comes just before Easter Sunday. Mr. Voorhees was probably thinking of the work of the finance committee on the tariff bill and thought Good Friday would be a good time to finish up that economic measure so that it could be reported to the full committee early next week, as it is the intention to make the contents of the senate tariff bill public within the next six or eight days.

It would seem that Chairman Voorhees meant what he said a few days ago when he declared that he intended to do everything he could to smash the Sugar Trust. The senator has a program in mind which if carried out may succeed in effectually strangling the trust. It is to propose to the full finance committee when the bill comes up for final disposition an amendment to the sugar schedule, providing that raw sugar shall pay 1 1/2 cents per pound and refined sugar 1 cent per pound, making a discrimination of a quarter of a cent against the refiners. The senator says that if members of both political parties are really in earnest there are many who believe that the trust will vote for this proposition and the trust will have to go out of business as soon as the bill becomes law.

LEAD WILL BE FOLLOWED.

There is no doubt that the republicans in the senate will cheerfully follow Chairman Voorhees in his efforts to destroy the Sugar Trust, and it might be added that they will quite as cheerfully follow him in any effort to destroy the Whisky trust, but they will not join him in his proposition to extend the bonded period of whisky or to increase the tax upon whisky to make making that in bond pay the increase.

Horse Thief Captured.

TECUMSEH, Neb., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Bee.)—Word was received here last night that the thief who stole the valuable driving horse from Jacob Peters, residing near here, Monday, had been captured by the authorities at Pawnee City. Sheriff Woolsey has gone after his man and the property, which was also secured with the thief. A reward of $50 was offered for the capture.

E. A. Perkins, a young attorney of this city, announces that he will establish a daily paper. It will be an evening journal, and the first number will be printed about the 15th inst.

Were Not Guilty.

CENTRAL CITY, Neb., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Bee.)—District court convened here Monday, with Judge Sullivan on the bench. One of the most important cases for trial was that of the state against Persons, Miller and the two Flints, charged with robbing a Union Pacific car November 3, 1893. Although the evidence was strong of their guilt (one of the men turning state's evidence) the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. This is the case Detective Hanson was engaged on before going to Wahoo.

His topic was the "Objects and Principles of the Order." It has a membership of nearly 100 in this county. The lecture was well received and great enthusiasm manifested by the members of the order. After the address a banquet was served by the local lodge.

Seward Merchant Falls.

SEWARD, Neb., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Bee.)—The dry goods establishment of J. H. Stockton was closed yesterday. He has filed twenty-nine chattel mortgages with the county clerk, aggregating $15,824.39, while the stock of goods will not invoice over $10,000. Some of these mortgages were filed the 6th, and were given to relatives, while those filed the 7th were executed to wholesale dealers in ABB Stockton is indebted. The failure is a bad one.

Aged Woman Drops Dead.

ELKHORN, Neb., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Bee.)—Grandmother Fry, the aged mother of the Fry brothers, well-known residents here, dropped dead this morning. Mrs. Fry was visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin at their home eight miles north of this place when stricken. Heart failure was the cause.

Married at Lawrence.

LAWRENCE, Neb., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Bee.)—Matthew Friend, furniture dealer, was married yesterday in the Catholic church to Miss Kate Wiebeler, daughter of the late Frank Wiebeler. The Methodist are registering their church, and will make various other improvements.

AFTER COWGILL'S SCALP.

Hascall Wants to Legislate the City Electrician Out of Office.

The Wiley contingent in the council seems to have concluded that the mayor has made up his mind to keep Mr. Cowgill in the office of city electrician, notwithstanding the refusal of the council to confirm his appointment for another two years, and in order to prevent anything of the kind has determined to legislate the electrician out of a job.

Hascall has taken the matter in hand and has prepared an ordinance repealing the ordinance creating the office of city electrician, which, if it passes, will leave the photometer and other costly instruments in that department without anyone to exercise them. He will then be no one to officially declare that the electric lighting company is not living up to its contract, and the monthly bills for lighting can be slipped through with the aid of a little talk of volts, amperes, watts, ohms and other fine de sales commodities, while the question of whether or not the meter may be obtrusively advanced to annoy Mr. Wiley or make anybody afraid.

WRECKED ON RONCADO REEF

LOSS OF THE OLD WARSHIP KEARSARGE

On Her Way from Haiti to Nicaragua She Struck on a Dangerous Rock in the Caribbean Sea—Officers and Crew All Saved.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The old United States ship Kearsarge is a wreck on Roncadero reef. She struck there February 2. Lieutenant Brainerd managed in some way to reach Colon today and a cable message from him this morning announced to the Navy department that the officers and crew were all saved.

The Kearsarge sailed from Port-au-Prince, Haiti, on January 29, for Bluefield, Nicaragua, to protect American interests there. She was wrecked three days out.

Roncadero reef is a little over 200 miles from the Mosquito coast of Central America. Between the coast and the reef lies Old Providence island, seventy-five or eighty miles to leeward of the reef. It is believed at the Navy department that the officers and crew would be able to reach Old Providence without difficulty in case they were in danger of their lives on the reef, but it is believed that they would be safe on the reef except in event of very rough weather. It is the impression also at the department that the Kearsarge has not gone to pieces and may not do so for some time unless rough weather comes up, although the tide and currents about the reef are always swift and dangerous.

Immediately upon receipt of the news of the wreck the Navy department sent a cable dispatch to Lieutenant Brainerd at Colon ordering him to charter a steamer and proceed at once to the relief of the shipwrecked crew. The Roncadero reef is well known to the Navy department as a dangerous impediment to navigation. Efforts have been recently made to secure the erection of a lighthouse on this point. Some time ago when the officers of the Kearsarge were en route to Nicaragua canal were on their way to Nicaragua they were wrecked on this same point.

When the New York and Detroit were dispatched to Rio she was made the flagship of the North Atlantic squadron and Admiral Stanion, then the secretary of the navy, acted on his report of the salute of Mello in Rio Bay, was ordered to proceed to Port-au-Prince and there transfer his flag to the Kearsarge and assume command of the station.

It is conjectured that the Kearsarge went aground on the reef at night and foundered. Lieutenant Brainerd seems to have got aboard a small boat and succeeded in getting to Colon in six days. The relief can reach the wrecked ship in less time than that.

The officers aboard the Kearsarge were: Admiral Oscar F. Stanton, Lieutenants Charles A. Poole, Charles H. Lyman, E. W. Walling, Lieutenants (junior grade) John Hood and P. R. Brainerd, Ensigns Herbert G. Gattaway, Thomas P. McGruder, Naval Cadets (line division) Leon S. Thompson, Thomas L. Stitt, Thomas I. Borden, B. J. McCormick, Walter Ball and David A. Mail, Paiva Stanton was from command of the South Atlantic station. The insurgent admiral, and ordered to Washington. His explanation of his act caused Secretary Herbert to detach him from command of the South Atlantic by placing him in command of the home station. He sailed from New York January 10 and joined the Kearsarge at Port au Prince the latter part of the month.

As soon as the ship's company has been transported to a place of safety and the Kearsarge's condition is definitely known, a court of inquiry will be appointed to investigate the circumstances and fix the responsibility. The officers say the ship's company are in no danger. They will be able to get along all right until the arrival of relief.

The navigation of a naval vessel rests entirely with her commander and his assistants, and the admiral never interferes with the matter. He directs the general movements of the flagship from place to place, leaves the details of the route entirely to the commanding officer. Therefore it would appear that Commander Heyman would be held responsible for the loss of the vessel. He will look to the officers of the deck at the time of the wreck for a complete explanation of the circumstances. Exactly who was at fault will not be known here until full details are received.

TO RESCUE THE CREW.

The chief of the bureau of navigation has instructed Lieutenant Brainerd at Colon to either charter a steamer or secure one of the regular mail steamers to New York, if one of the latter was to start immediately on his regular trip to secure her to touch at Roncadero and take up the crew.

The wreck adds another to the misfortunes which have of late befallen Rear Admiral Stanton. He was summarily relieved from command of the South Atlantic station for saluting Mello, the insurgent admiral, and ordered to Washington. His explanation of his act caused Secretary Herbert to detach him from command of the South Atlantic by placing him in command of the home station. He sailed from New York January 10 and joined the Kearsarge at Port au Prince the latter part of the month.

Trade in Breadstuffs with England.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—George F. Parker, consul at Birmingham, England, has reported to the State department an exhaustive report on the American wheat and flour trade in English midlands. He estimates the increase in the amount of flour received from the United States in four years at 79.01 per cent. He says: "Nothing seems more completely established than the dependence of Great Britain on the United States for a considerable amount of breadstuffs and this dependence is far more likely to increase than diminish."

Signed the Repeal Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—President Cleveland this afternoon signed the federal election repeal bill and it is now a law. Representative Tucker of Virginia brought with him to the white house a gold pen, recently purchased for signing the bill. It had already been used by the vice president and Speaker Crisp in signing the bill, and after the president had used it it became the property of the representative. The repeal of Ohio carried the bill from the capitol.

Art Journals as Second Class Matter.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Art journals will hereafter be considered periodicals, according to a ruling made by the third assistant postmaster general. As periodicals they are entitled to pass through the mails as second class matter, provided they have a legitimate list of subscribers.
