

SENATORS AND THE TARIFF

Republican Members of the Upper House Are in a Delicate Position.

DUTY NOW POINTS IN TWO DIRECTIONS

Allegiance to Party Opposed to the Welfare of the People in the Matter of the Wilson Bill—Washington Tropic.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE, FEBRUARY 10, 1917.

The republicans in the senate are placed in a peculiar position upon the tariff question at this time. They know that it would be the best part of politics for them to follow the lead of the republicans in the house and refuse to assist democrats in doubtful states to perfect the Wilson bill, and to permit it to become a party issue.

This is what Senator Allison of Iowa, one of the most prominent republican members of the finance committee, said in reply to a question by the republican majority in the senate. He declared that the McKinley tariff law was not acceptable to them; that the policy of the republican administration and the work of a republican congress were in the interests, and they wished affairs to be turned over to a democratic outfit from beginning to end.

It is different with the republicans in the senate from what it was in the house during the consideration of the Wilson bill by the latter body.

At the banquet to be given by the Republican club of New York on Monday night, the speaker declared that the Wilson bill was a piece of sarcasm intended to show that the anti-protection policy of this administration is based on a false premise.

At the banquet to be given by the Republican club of New York on Monday night, the speaker declared that the Wilson bill was a piece of sarcasm intended to show that the anti-protection policy of this administration is based on a false premise.

When the vote was taken to amend to effect beet sugar producing countries such as we intended to develop this industry by the same fostering influence which had developed it in other countries, and they began to give extra inducements to its producers.

It has been a great burden upon the minds of free trade democrats in this country to see the federal government paying out the annual bounty of $8,000,000 or $10,000,000 during the past two years for the encouragement of sugar industries, and about the first thing that they thought into their heads was that they had been deceived.

An interesting point has been raised here in connection with the recent decision and order of Judge Dundy at Omaha, affecting railroad employees.

ALMOST READY TO REPORT

CHANGES MADE IN THE WILSON BILL

Tariff Tinkering by the Senate Subcommittee Now Nearly Completed.

How the Measure Will Probably Look When It is Reported from the Full Committee—Whisky Men on the Anxious Seat.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The senate subcommittee engaged upon the tariff bill closed a very busy week yesterday, and when the work of the day was concluded found it had made sufficient progress to "begin to see daylight in the distance," as one of them expressed it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The senate subcommittee engaged upon the tariff bill closed a very busy week yesterday, and when the work of the day was concluded found it had made sufficient progress to "begin to see daylight in the distance," as one of them expressed it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The senate subcommittee engaged upon the tariff bill closed a very busy week yesterday, and when the work of the day was concluded found it had made sufficient progress to "begin to see daylight in the distance," as one of them expressed it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The senate subcommittee engaged upon the tariff bill closed a very busy week yesterday, and when the work of the day was concluded found it had made sufficient progress to "begin to see daylight in the distance," as one of them expressed it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The senate subcommittee engaged upon the tariff bill closed a very busy week yesterday, and when the work of the day was concluded found it had made sufficient progress to "begin to see daylight in the distance," as one of them expressed it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The senate subcommittee engaged upon the tariff bill closed a very busy week yesterday, and when the work of the day was concluded found it had made sufficient progress to "begin to see daylight in the distance," as one of them expressed it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The senate subcommittee engaged upon the tariff bill closed a very busy week yesterday, and when the work of the day was concluded found it had made sufficient progress to "begin to see daylight in the distance," as one of them expressed it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The senate subcommittee engaged upon the tariff bill closed a very busy week yesterday, and when the work of the day was concluded found it had made sufficient progress to "begin to see daylight in the distance," as one of them expressed it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The senate subcommittee engaged upon the tariff bill closed a very busy week yesterday, and when the work of the day was concluded found it had made sufficient progress to "begin to see daylight in the distance," as one of them expressed it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The senate subcommittee engaged upon the tariff bill closed a very busy week yesterday, and when the work of the day was concluded found it had made sufficient progress to "begin to see daylight in the distance," as one of them expressed it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The senate subcommittee engaged upon the tariff bill closed a very busy week yesterday, and when the work of the day was concluded found it had made sufficient progress to "begin to see daylight in the distance," as one of them expressed it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The senate subcommittee engaged upon the tariff bill closed a very busy week yesterday, and when the work of the day was concluded found it had made sufficient progress to "begin to see daylight in the distance," as one of them expressed it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The senate subcommittee engaged upon the tariff bill closed a very busy week yesterday, and when the work of the day was concluded found it had made sufficient progress to "begin to see daylight in the distance," as one of them expressed it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The senate subcommittee engaged upon the tariff bill closed a very busy week yesterday, and when the work of the day was concluded found it had made sufficient progress to "begin to see daylight in the distance," as one of them expressed it.

ON SEIGNIORAGE AND BONDS

Testimony Taken During Secret Hearings Given to the Public.

CARLISLE'S FINANCIAL VIEWS SET FORTH

Report of His Talk Before the Judiciary Committee Given Out—Interesting Conversations That Show His Ideas on the Subject.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Secretary Carlisle's exact views and policy on financial matters, including silver seigniorage, bonds and finance in general, are set forth and amplified in an important document which reached the house committee on judiciary today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Secretary Carlisle's exact views and policy on financial matters, including silver seigniorage, bonds and finance in general, are set forth and amplified in an important document which reached the house committee on judiciary today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Secretary Carlisle's exact views and policy on financial matters, including silver seigniorage, bonds and finance in general, are set forth and amplified in an important document which reached the house committee on judiciary today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Secretary Carlisle's exact views and policy on financial matters, including silver seigniorage, bonds and finance in general, are set forth and amplified in an important document which reached the house committee on judiciary today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Secretary Carlisle's exact views and policy on financial matters, including silver seigniorage, bonds and finance in general, are set forth and amplified in an important document which reached the house committee on judiciary today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Secretary Carlisle's exact views and policy on financial matters, including silver seigniorage, bonds and finance in general, are set forth and amplified in an important document which reached the house committee on judiciary today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Secretary Carlisle's exact views and policy on financial matters, including silver seigniorage, bonds and finance in general, are set forth and amplified in an important document which reached the house committee on judiciary today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Secretary Carlisle's exact views and policy on financial matters, including silver seigniorage, bonds and finance in general, are set forth and amplified in an important document which reached the house committee on judiciary today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Secretary Carlisle's exact views and policy on financial matters, including silver seigniorage, bonds and finance in general, are set forth and amplified in an important document which reached the house committee on judiciary today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Secretary Carlisle's exact views and policy on financial matters, including silver seigniorage, bonds and finance in general, are set forth and amplified in an important document which reached the house committee on judiciary today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Secretary Carlisle's exact views and policy on financial matters, including silver seigniorage, bonds and finance in general, are set forth and amplified in an important document which reached the house committee on judiciary today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Secretary Carlisle's exact views and policy on financial matters, including silver seigniorage, bonds and finance in general, are set forth and amplified in an important document which reached the house committee on judiciary today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Secretary Carlisle's exact views and policy on financial matters, including silver seigniorage, bonds and finance in general, are set forth and amplified in an important document which reached the house committee on judiciary today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Secretary Carlisle's exact views and policy on financial matters, including silver seigniorage, bonds and finance in general, are set forth and amplified in an important document which reached the house committee on judiciary today.

TO DEFINE THEIR POWERS

Congress Asked to Interfere in a Matter of Grave Importance.

UNITED STATES COURTS AND RAILROADS

Friendly Reciprocity System Causing Many Complications Which the House Judiciary Committee is Asked to Investigate—Judges Dundy and Jenkins.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—There is a movement in the house to urge on the judiciary committee an investigation of the management of railroad receiver receivers appointed by the federal courts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—There is a movement in the house to urge on the judiciary committee an investigation of the management of railroad receiver receivers appointed by the federal courts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—There is a movement in the house to urge on the judiciary committee an investigation of the management of railroad receiver receivers appointed by the federal courts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—There is a movement in the house to urge on the judiciary committee an investigation of the management of railroad receiver receivers appointed by the federal courts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—There is a movement in the house to urge on the judiciary committee an investigation of the management of railroad receiver receivers appointed by the federal courts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—There is a movement in the house to urge on the judiciary committee an investigation of the management of railroad receiver receivers appointed by the federal courts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—There is a movement in the house to urge on the judiciary committee an investigation of the management of railroad receiver receivers appointed by the federal courts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—There is a movement in the house to urge on the judiciary committee an investigation of the management of railroad receiver receivers appointed by the federal courts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—There is a movement in the house to urge on the judiciary committee an investigation of the management of railroad receiver receivers appointed by the federal courts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—There is a movement in the house to urge on the judiciary committee an investigation of the management of railroad receiver receivers appointed by the federal courts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—There is a movement in the house to urge on the judiciary committee an investigation of the management of railroad receiver receivers appointed by the federal courts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—There is a movement in the house to urge on the judiciary committee an investigation of the management of railroad receiver receivers appointed by the federal courts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—There is a movement in the house to urge on the judiciary committee an investigation of the management of railroad receiver receivers appointed by the federal courts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—There is a movement in the house to urge on the judiciary committee an investigation of the management of railroad receiver receivers appointed by the federal courts.

WANTS ALL THE BONDS

H. C. Riker of Chicago Will Endeavor to Force Their Sale to Him.

INTERESTED SPECTATORS WITH A DIFFICULT AND DELICATE PIECE OF WORK.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—A difficult and delicate piece of work was performed at the gunshop in the navy yard today. It consisted in fitting the tube to one of the new thirteen-inch guns for the navy.

WENT INTO IT DEEPLY.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

WANTS ALL THE BONDS

H. C. Riker of Chicago Will Endeavor to Force Their Sale to Him.

INTERESTED SPECTATORS WITH A DIFFICULT AND DELICATE PIECE OF WORK.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—A difficult and delicate piece of work was performed at the gunshop in the navy yard today. It consisted in fitting the tube to one of the new thirteen-inch guns for the navy.

WENT INTO IT DEEPLY.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

The bond question was treated very elaborately by Mr. Carlisle. His purpose was to use the proceeds of the sale of bonds to supply the navy with a very large quantity of money.

Advertisement for CUTCURA SOAP, featuring an illustration of a woman and child. Text includes 'From the Moment of Birth use CUTCURA SOAP', 'It is not only the purest, sweetest and most refreshing of nursery soaps, but it contains delicate emollient properties, which purify and beautify the skin, and prevent skin blemishes occasioned by imperfect cleansing at birth and use of impure soap.', and 'Mothers To know that a single application of the CUTCURA REMEDIES will afford instant relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy and economical cure of nursing infants, is to fall in your duty. Cuticura made in childhood are permanent.'