Weakness of Vanderbilt Shares Was the Feature Yesterday.

REDUCTION IN NEW YORK CENTRAL MEN

In the Final Trades Changes Were Rapid and Fluctuations Were Wide-Closing Deals Generally Were at a Reaction.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 .- A feature of today's dealings on the Stock exchange was the weakness of Vanderbilt shares, for which there did not appear to be especially good reason beyond a bear raid, encouraged by the discharge today of a large number of employes of the New York Central, and reports that the most severe economy was being practiced in all departments of the company. This stock was first attacked by putting out some seller lots at 1% per cent under the present price, in the hope of bringing out some long stock. Northwestern preferred lost 11/2 per cent, Northwestern common % per cent, Rock Island 11/2 per cent and Burlington & Quincy % per cent, all closing at the bottom figures except Burlington, which recovered 1/2 per cent. Sugar was only moderately active and fluctuated within a limit of % per cent, closing at the same price as on Saturday. A rumor of the coalition of sugar, coal and iron interests to secure favorable tariff legislation strengthened the speculation in Sugar.

Reading advanced % per cent in the early trading on Philadelphia buying, supplemented by purchases of the board traders, based on favorable reports concerning the progress of the company toward reorganiza-It was announced that application ould soon be made by the receivers to sell 5,000,000 of collateral trust notes, in order to pay off the floating debt, which would dis-pose of one obstacle to the rehabilitation of Western Union lost ½ per cent on the day, General Electric made a gain of ½ per cent on the the morning trading on buying in-duced by a report that the March statement would show that no floating debt or unpaid paper was outstanding. In the final trades the shares reacted % per cent. Chicago Gas, after a reaction of % per cent, rose % per cent and lost the improvement. The speculation in the rest of the list was small. At the opening the general market was firm, but intensely dull and inactive during the entire day. The railway and miscella-neous bond market was firm until late in the afternoon, when an unsettled tone prevalled, and the closing was at a reaction.

The Post says: Several influences com bined today to encourage speculators for the decline in the granger stocks. The con-tinued fall in wheat prices had its influences, the storm in the west was magnified as an adverse factor and of course the rumor mongers were busy with the rate and divi-dend gossip. New York Central yielded rather rapidly, some long stock apparently Minneapolis Wheat Market.

Minneapolis and dosed 4x below the opening price. This was caused by general unloading of long wheat, with the eash wheat market sympathizing. Receipts were 118 cars; shipments, 62 cars. May opened at 57c; July, 58%c, from which there was a slight reaction toward the market declined almost steadily from the first, until May ranged to 55%c and July, 58%c, from which there was a slight reaction toward the close. Trading was active most of the time, with shorts that did not cover Saturday buying today. The close was: February, 55%c; May, 55%c; July, 58%c The prices obtained today were the lowest ever reached in this market. The demand for cash wheat was pretty good from millers, who paid a little more than le above the May price. No. 2 sold rather better at the decline than it had sold for several days before. Track wheat closed at 58%c for No. 1 hard; No. 1 northern, 56%c; No. 2 northern, 56%c. Farmers were understood to be selling less than blust week and it is believed on account of bad roads and low prices their sales the present week will be as low as at any other time on the present crop. Considerable sales have been made for future delivery, and that wheat will be shipped in from interior elevators, and local receipts may hold up fairly during most of the week.

The flour mills are grinding about as much as last week and many of the millers report that sales of flour are a little latter than the yare a week ago. They are obtaining about the same prices, although some of them reported about 5c lower today to correspond with the gain in wheat. The shipments of flour for the last twenty-four hours were 18,319 bbls. The total shipments for the last week were 122,725 bids. First patents are quoted at $1.500.20 in bags.

New York Dry Goods Market. New York Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The week opens with a favorable outlook in the dry goods district, owing to supplies throughout the country being kept down to the minimum and local stocks are held within equally conservative limits. A favorable feature of the general market is the promptness with which collections are made, particularly from the southwest. Print cloths are quiet; prints and printed goods and ginghams and woven wash fabrics are quite generally brisk on mail orders for spring and summer goods. Dress goods and foreign dry goods are quiet, but about steady. Woolens show some easiness. The Jobbing trade is fairly active at steady prices. Prices of bleached, cottons were reduced as follows: Lonstrade is fairly active at steady prices. Prices of bleached cottons were reduced as follows: Lons-dale 4-4 to 7c, net; Blackstone 4-4 to 64c, net; Hope 4-4, 6c, net; Fitchburg 4-4, 6c, net; Forgeme 4-4 to 54c, net. Excepting at the auction sales of 1885 these are the lowest prices ever reached and at that date Lonsdale and Hope sold at the above figures.

Fair Supply of Cattle Finds Ready Sale-Hogs Scarce and Up Fifteen Cents from Saturday-Sheep Sell Nearly Steady.

MONDAY, Feb. 12. The week starts out with comparatively light receipts of all kinds of stock. There were fewer cattle here than on Saturday or a week ago today, and while there were a few very good beeves here the bulk of the offerings were cows and common to only fair half fat and short fed steers. There was nothing encouraging in reports from the east and no outside demand, but as the offerings were limited and the inquiry from local houses indicated moderate requirements, sellers were generally enabled to realize steady prices for their holdings, although in some cases prices shaded lower. Some choice fat 1,518-lb. beeves brought $4, but fair to very good 1,000 to 1,400-lb. beeves sold very unevenly anywhere from $3.30 to $3.60, while fair to poor stuff and odds and ends went at from $3.25 down. It was not a particularly lively market, but a fair and reasonably early clearance was effected.

Cow stuff was in rather liberal supply and the trade was not slow, but prices were all of 'a dime lower than Saturday. Local houses had the field to themselves, and houses had the field to themselves, and they paid from $1.75 to $3.00 for poor to choice cows and helfers, the bulk of the fair to good butchers' cows selling at from $2.25 to $2.65. Calves went at from $2.90 to $5.50, or about steady prices, but rough stock was generally easier, com-mon to choice bulls, exen and stags selling at from $1.90 to $3.

Business in stockers and feeders was quiet, but prices were firmly held on all grades. There was not much outside demand, but regular dealers were all wanting supplies. Good to choice feeders are quoted at from $3 to $3.40, fair to good at from $2.70 to $3, and lighter, commoner grades at from $2.70

Buyers paid little attention to weight. They bought common to choice hogs of all weights as usual at a very nar row range, from $5 to $5.10. The marke rather strengthened as the morning ad vanced, and although several trains were late in arriving, the hogs sold about as fast as unloaded, the last hogs selling to the best advantage. Trading was largely at $5.05, the same as on last Monday trading was largely at $1.90 Representative sales:

Local Supply of Cattle and Eastern Shipments Were Delayed. CHICAGO, Feb. 12.-There was a large run cattle (about 17,009 head) and the eastern road were blockaded. Ordinarily under such a condi-tion of things there, would have been a big shrinkage in values, but the certainty of light receipts for tomorrow and Wednesday as a result of the prevailing storms saved the marks from collapse. Today's were reasonably promp but the storm will seriously delay all stock er but the storm will seriously delay all stock enroute and will also check the movement of stock from farms to the shipping station. If traffic on the castern roads was not similarly interrupted sellers might hope for a sharp advaline, but with local buyers alone in the field the course of prices is proteinatival. While early in the day the eastern roads were accepting stock for shipment there was no certainty that they would be able to move anything out. There was but a limited demand for shipment by reason of the uncertainty, and the market was were generally

"The seigniorage bill introduced, or rather, resurrected, by Mr. Bland will possibly pass congress," said Colonel H. M. Garver of Philadelphia at the Millard, "It may be amended to please the gold men, but the majority of the people seem to have fully realized that some compromise measure should be passed to appeare the demands of the silver men and stimulate business in the western mining states. There seems to be a tendency to revive silver interests in India and I think that the 'white metal' men in congress have calmly awaited this opportunity to spring the seigniorage measure, with considerable prospect of suc The repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman law has not restored that great solidity in financial circles which was generally anticipated. The silver men havbeen fighting with an energy born of despair and their perserverance and aggressive ac tivity calls for some recognition. Unless miss my reckoning greatly, they will get compromise of some kind before congress adjourns. Many anticipate a presidential veto of any legislation favorable to silver, but I believe that pressure will be brought to bear upon President Cleveland to sign the seigniorage bill if it passes congress."

"The indictments against other men who were held on the same charge which con-fronts me have been quashed," said Dell Akin of Holt county at the Merchants. "Talk about cannibals, they are not in i with a man who is now an inmate of the Colorado state penitentiary at Canon City, said M. L. Sperry of Denver at the Paxtor 'This man is named Packer, and he is serv ing a forty years sentence behind the big stone walls of that institution. The charge is murder. He is always pointed out to visitors, who have a sort of morbid curiosity to see the 'man-eater.' In appearance he is the last person on earth who would be sus-pected of chewing human flesh and munching the bones of comrades on a mountain top, but a second glance at the man's eyer reveals an expression which denotes treach ery and a peculiar glitter. Packer small mustache and goatee. His blue eve are deeply set in a small, somewhat peaked face. He talks but little. Strange to say, his assignment at the prison is to attend to the flowers. His favorite pet is a cat, which he never allows to leave his side, except as meals. The crime for which Packer is in-carcerated, and which gave him the sobriquet of 'man-eater,' occurred about eight ago in the San Juan country. Packer and four comrades started over the moun tains on a prospecting tour. Weeks passed and nothing was heard of them until one of them; weak and emaciated crawled into Ouray with the startling intelligence the party had run short of rations and al most perished with cold and hunger in the mountains. Packer and three of the party had retired for the night. The fourth, wh brought the news, had gone out in search of game and was late in reaching camp. He did not return until the following da and the sight he saw made his blood curdle His comrades, with the exception of Packer were prostrate on the ground—murdered. A peculiar odor near the campfire led him investigate. It was the remnants cooked flesh. A hurried glance at sides of the murdered men revealed the horrifying fact that some one had deliberately cut steaks from the tenderest portions of their bodies. Their pocketbooks were gone and so was Packer. The horrible thought of murder and cannibalism rushed through the surviving prospector's head, and he plunged through the snow to the nearest town. Otto Means and other citizens be-came interested in the apprehension of the murderer. Packer finally turned up alive and hearty with a flush roll of greenbacks and a wallet that belonged to one of the was arrested and convicted. Later he admitted the horrible crime and said that he first killed his comrades while they slept, because he was suffering with a mental aberration and the fiendish impulse hunger. He then robbed them, and antici pating the return of the other prospector made his escape. He was headed for Salt Lake when apprehended. Recently an effort was made to secure his pardon, but to "The victory of the Commercial club at the Murray. "Water is struck after digimpossible to bury the people in the soil unless they want a watery grave. The cometery at New Orleans is quite a novel one, and causes many classificus of surprice from and causes many elaculations of surprite ir in visitors. The custom of burying the dead above ground, however, is not original with Louisianans. The Indians and Eskimo have for years followed this practice. But the Louisiana style is a little more civilized, because vaults are in vogue and the custom. is prompted by necessity. You will find very few, if any, deep foundations of buildings in New Orleans and a great scarcity of under ground burials for the reasons above quoted.

"In New Orleans and the marshy portions of Louisiana the dead are all buried above

ARMY OFFICERS COMPLAIN. Colonel Graham of the 'Frisco Military

Headquarters Said to Be a Tyrant.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12, -The Chronicle prints a story of a bitter war among army men at the Presidio military headquarters adjoining this city. The scandal directly involves Colonel Graham, commander of the forces there, and Lieutenant C. M. Young. Young is under arrest at the Presidio. All army men implicated refuse to talk, but the story is that Young had prepared charges against his superior, Colonel Graham, alleging capricious and tyrannical conduct against his subordinates, and that the charges, in accordance with army regulations, were presented to Colonel Graham, the complainant's immediate superior, to be laid before General Ruger, commanding the department. Gra-ham, it is said, immediately ordered the ar-rest of the complainant. Both men are old in the service, being veterans of the civil war, during which both attained the rank of brevet brigadier general. Young's friends intimate that if General Ruger does not order a court martial the matter will be carried before the secretary of war.

It is apparent at Presidio that the sympathy of officers and men is with Colonel Young. In an interview in the Call a high army officer, whose name is withheld, says: "It is a grand climax that had to come sooner or later. If Colonel Young had not taken it up someone else would.

The commanding officer at this post, since assuming his charge, has been despotic. Ninety per cent of the officers at the post will testify and gladly to Colonel Graham's tyrannical, overbearing, suspicious and capricious manner. No one will deny his in-tegrity and bravery, but since he has been here he has been a tyrant. I do not know the specific charges brought by Colonel Young, but, generally speaking, they are for rude and ungentlemanly conduct toward him. What the outcome will be no one can tell. I know that Colonel Young courts trial that he may vindicate himself of any charges that may be brought against him. He has an untarnished record of thirty years service, and it is lamentable that he should now be subjected to humiliation. If this trouble had been between two captains it would be summarily disposed of, but the higher the official the greater the scandal and expense of trial. It costs money to try such cases, and if they are tried, a jury of their superior officers cannot enforce a sentence. That power is vested with the president of the United States, and unless in cases of very serious character the matter is never taken that far."

It is stated that General Ruger has not yet received notice of the charges against Colonel Graham or those against the officer under arrest, Colonel Young,

NOTORIOUS BLACK SLOOP IS CAPTURED

For Six Months Her Crew Has Been Plundering the Neighboring Shores-Only One of the Robbers Caught-Promised Confession.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.- The black boat which has figured so prominently in the many robberies along the shores of the sound is at last in the grasp of the law. So is one of the crew and a large amount of plunder. The boat first began to be heard of late last summer. Those who saw her described her as a sloop of about twenty tens. Her hull was painted black and she carried more sail than most boats of her size and rig. There were usually seven or eight men on her, and when seen she was usually drifting slowly along. Once or twice attempts were made to overtake her to obtain a closer view, but the erew would hoist sail and slip away from any sailing craft.

Stories about the boat came from almost every point from City islands east to New, London. Rye, Port Chester and the other villages in Westchester county reported the doings of her crew. Then she would be heard from along the Connecticut shores, first at Saybrook, then at Stamford, then back to New London. For a long time she was not connected with the robberies, but at last a farmer whose hen roost had suffered laid the blame of the loss to the black sloop, which dropped anchor off his farm at sundown on the night of the robbery. A reign of ter-ror was inaugurated, and people having homes close to the water were on the alert at all times to repel the robbers. Since the advent of the cold weather the visits of the craft have not been so frequent, but hardly a week passed without two or three burglaries. On Friday last the general store plundered of the greater part of the stock. How the thieves carried the stuff away no one could tell. The soft country roads showed no sign of wagon tracks and it was surmised a boat was used to carry the goods

Last night the black sloop anchored off Militen's Point, at Rye. Two men went ashore and after hauling their rowboat upon the beach they went to the depot. They had with them two bags which they shipped for New York. Then they disappeared. Some men and boys living at Milton's Point became curious about the strange craft and put off to investigate. There was a varied lot of stuff aboard, which would have stocked a fair sized country store. This was reported to the local police, who at once started to find the men.
One of them was taken into custody. The other had started for New York. The two bags of stuff were seized by the police, acting under orders from Justice Baruch. The bags were found to contain boots and shoes, clothes, speels of cetten and silk and many such articles. These corresponded with the goods stolen from Fort Salonga. The prisoner promised to make a full confession to-day. He admits that the craft is the one which has been seen so often along the
