First Annual Exhibit of Iowa Chickens Comes to a Successful Close.

Chickens of Blue Blood that Have Been Thought Worthy of Being Put in the Highest Class - An Interesting Exhibit.

The first annual exhibit of the Western Iowa Poultry association came to an end last evening and the feathered pets who have been making their morning anthems crack the plastering until bed time have been taken back to their homes to wait for another year to roll by until they can have a chance to strut about their little cages for the admiration of the public. The exhibit has been a most successful one in every particular. People who were not supposed to know a good bird from a bad one unless it was well cooked and cut in silces, have been found to be engaged in the raising of blooded poultry, and an industry that was thought to be almost unknown in Council Bluffs and the immediate vicinity is shown o have obtained a decided foothold. Similar exhibits will be held every year hereafter, so much encouragement has been given those who had charge of this year's trial. The following is a list of the prizes that were awarded exhibitors yesterday:

Escaped Convict is Now on His Way to Des Moines to Serve His Sentence. The notorious Frank Snowden, formerly a Missouri Valley saloon keeper, has been run to cover, and is now on his way to Des Moines to serve out a sentence of ninety days in the Polk county jail, which was imposed on him by the late Judge Love of the federal court. He acquired an unenviable notoriety by reason of his big talk more than anything else, and he was regarded as an all-around desperado. He was finally run down by the United States officials, however, and was tried on the charge of bootlegging and sentenced to a term of ninety days in the Polk county jail and a fine of $100 or an extra thirty days in jail as he might choose. On the way to Des Moines he managed to slip away from Deputy Marshal Etheridge, from the train while it was going at a rapid rate of speed, and took so much leg bail that or three years nothing definite has been known as to where he might be found. Not long ago he stole back to Missouri Valley, but the old terror in which he was held was revived by the officers of that place, and not one of them could be found who had more courage than it took to go to the telegraph office and notify the United States authorities here that he was to be had by any one who thought he was big enough to tackle him. Deputy Marshal Richards went to Missouri Valley yester-day and nailed him without the slightest difficulty. Snowden claims to have been spending the last three years in Wyoming, where he has been working at anything he could get to do and has met with an entire change of heart.

Mr. N. M. He believes that some option law will be passed, by which the desired relief may be secured and the pledge of the republican party made good. "We don't want a mulct law at all. It's worse than getting nothing and I believe that the liberal republicans will refuse to support any such bill, and of course the democracs will vote against it, so there is no chance for a mulet law, and I'm glad of it. What we want is some form of local option and I believe that good common sense and justice will bring to us the relief to which we are entitled under the pledge of the republican platform."

SOME OF THE PRIZE WINNERS Valuable Pompelian Curiosity in the Possession of Mayor Lawrence. Mayor Lawrence is Looking forward with feelings of considerable interest to the European tour which he contemplates taking as soon as he is released from the duties of his official position about the middle of next month. Among the places he will visit is Pompeli, and his appetite for prying into the wonderful secrets of the buried city is only sharpened by the fact of his naving visited it twice before, once in 1877 and again in 1880. Since then the excavations have been going on at a rapid rate, so that he will be able to notice

People are not accustomed to think of Mayor Lawrence as a shoplifter, but it must be confessed that there is a little relic in his home on First avenue that would not have been there had he not been quicker with his fingers than one of the numerous Pompeiian guards was with his eyes. While watching the work o excavating a dwelling house on one of his former trips, he caught a sudden one of his former trips, he caught a sudue glimpse of what booked like the head of a statuette just peeping out at him through the dust at his feet. He offered his guide stealthily a gold piece to get it for him, but the guide, after looking around, withstood the itching of his fingers for American gold and pointed above at a guard, who stood on the alert for any one who tried to make off with the multitude of antiquated relics that were constantly being turned out by the shovels and picks of the workmen.

Dr. Lawrence watched his chance and dropped his handkerchief upon the spot where he had seen the head of the statuette. He then sat down on the ground and commenced to work away in an absent-minded-manner to free the statuette from its surroundings of 1,800 years. He finally got it loose, and concealing in it his handkerchief, succeeded in getting it to his hotel. It is a little image of a vestal virgin, done in bronze and hears hardly a sign of corrosion. Lawrence says he would not take $500 in cash for it, and those who share his veneration for the antique can readily understand how he places such a value upon it.

A great deal of public interest has been awakened by the remarkable relief that has been afforded the little daughter of Robert Patton, 2620 North Nineteenth street, Omaha, an account of which appeared in The Ree several weeks ago. The child had become a mental and physical wreck from the awful effects of epilepsy, having suffered as many as forty severe attacks in a day. All the usual methods of treatment had been resorted to without beneficial results at any time, but with serious consequences at the end of the second year, when the parents of the child almost prayed that speedy leath might end the terrible blight that had fallen upon their bright little girl. effects of the Sweetland remedies and treatment were noted in the article referred to when but two spasms were noted after the commencement of the treatment. Since then many inquiries have been received by Sweetland's Specific Remedy com pany at their office, opposite the postoffice, Council Bluffs, and by Mr. and Mrs. Patton. Council Biuffs, and by Mr. and Mrs. Patton. These inquiries have come from half a dozen states. As an answer to all of them this statement of the case is made: So far as all outward conditions indicate little Louise Patton is practically cured. There has not been a symptom of a spasm, flushing or blanching of the countenance incident to any stages of the disease. No trace of nervousness has been discovered. The little girl is ness has been discovered. The little girl is going to school regularly, and is hearty, bright and rugged. During the past week the sleighing has been excellent, and at all hours of the evening the streets have been crowded with sleighing parties, to whom the moon was equally attentions of the streets. tractive with the snow. Among the parties that have been out were a number from the city schools. Miss Dale's pupils were out Friday night in a big bob sled, packed in until there was no room for any more. When they were passing the North-western depot on Broadway they were suddenly attacked by the gang above referred to, and were greeted with a volley of snowballs, chunks of ice and stones. Several of the occupants of the sleigh were struck and badly injured, a little girl named Rutledge being one of the most severely hurt. A stone struck her just above the eye and knocked her senseless. She did not recover consciousness for more than half an hour. Yesterday her face was horribly swollen, one of her eyes being completely closed. It is said that the miscreants have been in the hubit of treating sleighing parties in this way, and if caught they should be given a lesson which it will take them a long time to unlearn.

The Eagle Laundry's New Machinery. The Eagle laundry, at 724 Broadway, has just added a new brass washer to its already extensive plant. There may be some who have not yet dis-covered us, and if so you might tell them through the columns of your paper that we extend a cordial welcome to them to give us a trial, feeling sure that if they do so the result will prove to be mutually satisfactory. We will have a new, first-class roning machine here soon and expect to keep the capacity of our plant fully up to the demands of our business, and our work will be the best that can be done with firstclass machinery, help and material."

Resolutions Regarding the Death of George Willard.

Central Labor union at its last meeting appointed a committee consisting of Alfred Fawkner, K. S. Fisher and S. B. Smith, to draw up suitable resolutions expressing the great loss which organized labor has experienced in the death of its ex-president, George W. Willard.

The committee reported the following preamble and resolutions, which were adopted unanimously by a rising vote: Whereas Our dearly loved brother and co-vorker, George W. Willard, having been stricken lown by death in the very prime of his usefulss and manhood; and Whereas, Our departed brother was ever

Wilereas, Our departed brother was ever a whole-souled and consistent advocate of the equal rights of all men to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness as exemplified by the advanced thought of mature and conservative labor organization along trade lines; and Whereas, It has been the proud privilege of this Ormana Certral Labor union to have had for one of its presidents a man so self-sacrifieng and loved as our dead brother; therefore be it Recalvel, That the Ormana Central Labor union do officially express its enthusiastic appreciation of the devoted and tireless efforts of Brother Willard towards the betterment and uplifting of his fellow men; that this central body of representative trades and crafts of which our departed brother was for so many years an active member and honored leader does fully appreciate his lovable self-abnegation; his ever eager, active charity, his manly worth and stering integrity, and the gentle thoughtfulness for the epiressed and depressed of his fellow tollers in this vale of wrong conditions and oppression. Whilst his kindly smile and ready help can never again assist by word or deed the faint-hearted and halting ones in the struggle for a wider freedom and closer brotherhood, still we, his comrades through life to death, realize that the example of his pure and unselfish life will, ever be a stirring example and incentive for the best of us to hew close to the lime of his lived life, whose virtues command that we shall go still-do likewise. We, his comrades, who did love, but now rever him, do not begradge him immattality, but do reverently and fonly wish film the patriot's crown, if such things be, To the loved wife so suddenly beneaved, we, the gompanions and friends of him who has gone before, would extend our sad t things be. WILL PASS THE RIVER COUNTIES' BILL

Proposed Mulet Measure Regarded as Unconstitutional by Those Familiar with the Subject-Prohibitionists Still Making an Active Fight.

DES MOINES, Feb. 17.-(Special Telegram to The Bec.) -The rumor in circulation at a late hour last evening that a majority of the republican members of the senate committee on the suppression of intemperance had abandoned the mulct tax measures as being clearly unconstitutional has been verified today. Senator Harsh reluctantly apandoned his mulet bill in obedience to the vote of the majority, and with Harmon and Boardman, both pronounced prohibitionists, gave his consent to a local option bill drafted by the representatives from the river cities. The measure is in the hands of a special committee consisting of Carpenter, Waterman, Ellis and Harmon. who will perfect some of its details, and it will be formally presented to the senate with the endorsements of Senators Funk, Ellis, Carpenter, Harsh, Harmon, Boardman, Upton and Waterman, being eight of the eleven repubiican members and a clear majority of the entire committee. Three republicans, Conaway, Jamieson and Turner, will probably file a minority report. The action of the four democratic members is uncertain. To offset this movement the prohibitionists in the lower house have entered into an renelad agreement to pass a mulet bill and esist local option to the bitter end. They claim fifty-two members, with four doubtand defiant. The fight will open in carnest early in the week. ROUTINE PROCEEDINGS.

The senate met at 8 o'clock and transacted a large amount of routine business. A bill was introduced by Waterman making taxes a lien on stocks of goods owned by mer-chants as against subsequent purchasers in bulk. The house bill prohibiting the sale of cigars, cigarettes and tobacco in all its forms to minors under 16 was passed without amendment. Senator Brower, from the committee on railroads, reported favorably on the bill authorizing railroad companies to purchase securities of another and to mortgage their property and franchises.

A bill was introduced by Andrews authorizing the addition of costs of serving notice and of publication to the expense account in the redemption of lands sold for taxes. A bill, was introduced in the house by Walters, empowering the attorney general to enforce the prohibitory law at the expense of the state in all counties where the ocal authorities fair or refuse to do their duty, and one by Chassell, investing aliens with the right to dispose of real estate to foreigners.

The resolution providing for the resubmission of the prohibitory amendment to a vote of the people was reported for passage, but after a warm discussion was referred back again by the solid vote of the friends

INJURED IN A WRECK. Four Men Crushed in a Collision Near Valley Junction.
DES MOINES, Feb. 17,--(Special Telegram to The Bee.) -A freight train and a passenger engine collided near Valley Junction this morning at 6:20. As a result four men are seriously injured, as follows: George Laird, engineer, injured knee and face, head and arms seriously bruised. James Wolfe, engineer, serious injuries of the head.

John Myers, fireman, head and arms seriously injured; may die.

A. P. Alcott, injuries of the head.

The passenger engine was backing into Des Moines from Valley Junction. It usually comes into Des Moines on the south track, but this morning received orders to come in on the north track, but is said to have received these orders after the freight train had started for Valley Junction. As the freight was within 150 yards of a switch, rounding a curve east of Valley Junction, it collided with the passenger engine, which had just started. The two engines were very much demolished. Seven box cars were ditched. The track was soon cleared and that portion of the freight train which remained on the track was taken to Vailey Junction, having on board the injured men. They were all brought back to Des Moines but John Myers, whose injuries are such as would not warrant his removal. Jackson's Appointees Confirmed. DES MOINES, Feb. 17 .- (Special Telegram to The Bee.) - Governor Jackson submitted five appointments to the senate today, which are the same as given in these dispatches last night, with the exception that W. E. Obleness is named for labor commissioner in place of Greenbow, as anticipated. The senate confirmed the nomina-tions of Metzgar for custodian, and Mer chant for oil inspector, and others not requiring confirmation except by the executive council. Today general Greene gave up his office as adjutant general for the state of lowa and Major J. R. Prime assumed the position according to appointment of Governor Jackson. Greene will return to Cedar Rapids. W. L. Alexander, who was for several terms lowa's adjutant general, but who has been in the office of the commissary general at Washing-ton for the past six months, has been appointed to the office of purchasing commis-sary of subsistence with headquarters at Denver. The order was issued February 11, and the general will assume full charge of the office March 1. Progress of the A. O. U. W. Fight. DUBUQUE, Feb. 17 .- (Special Telegram to The Bee.) - Grand Master Graham of the Ancient Order of United Workmen (loyal) pleading to the seceders' petition to enjoin the loyalists from doing business in lowa today filed motions to substitute the supreme lodge as defendant and to strike out the reference to the supreme court's decision in 1890 that the Workmen was an insurance society and the secences' grand lodge the legal one. Graham explains that the question in this case is the supreme lodge's right to maintain a subordinate branch in Iowa with voluntary obligations, and that the su-preme lodge will spend $50,000 to vindicate this right. The seceders, he declares, have $40,000 debt, are losing ground and five-sevenths of their 7,000 members are over 50 years old, while the loyalists, from 140, have grown to 8,600 members.

Charged with Forgery. CRESTON, Ia., Feb. 17 .- (Special Telegram to The Bee.)-Last evening W. A. Tuttle was arrested for forgery. It seems that Tuttle borrowed a large sum of money from Dr. Reynolds of this city and gave a promissory note signed by W. H. Bowman, E. Petrie and W. Millen as securities. The note was due several days ago and the three men were notified to call and settle. They at once pronounced the note a forgery and swore out a warrant for Tuttle's arrest. He entered a plea of not guilty and was released upon $1.000 bond. Tuttle is an old resident of the county and was at one time worth quite a sum of money. He is greatly worried over his arrest but will make no

CRESTON, Ia., Feb. 17.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)-E. Goldsmith was relieved of a valuable scarf pin this afternoon near the depot. A well dressed young man stepped up to him and asked for 25 cents. stating that he was in hard luck and wanted money to get a place to sleep. Mr. Gold-smith gave him the money asked for and the man turned and walked away. The pin was not missed for some time and a search for the thief was unsuccessful.

Mills County Farmers Meet. MALVERN, Ia., Feb. 17 .- (Special to The Bee.) -The sixth annual session of the Mills county farmers institute has been in session in the opera house during the past two days. The proceedings have been both pleasant and profitable to those who attended. The principal address was made by John Cownie of Iowa county. Two excellent papers were read Friday, one, "Feeding Cattle for Profit," by John Honeyman of Emerson.

"Before I went to Dr. Shepard for a short course of treatment, which resulted so inappliy, my system had been under some slow catarrhal poisoning for several years. I had the usual symptoms of common catarrh. That is, I suffered habitually from pain in the back, of the head and over the eyes. The light dawned my eyes and gave me pain. My nose was stopped up as you would stuff up the windows and drain plies of a house. There was the discomfort of feeling my head to be in a plugged up, airtisht condition. About twice a week my nose blad freely, and at night I had to get out of bed and enurious east-water to get air through my nose. I had to do this in order to sleep.

"I have been trying the admirable system of mail treatment for a severe asthma, from which I harl suffered from infrarey, and I must say that I have been thoroughly deligated with the results. It has brought me absolute relief from the agonies of a lifetime, and the cure seems to be radical and lasting, as I mee now been exempt from all symptoms of the malady for over three bounts, whereas I had previously seldom passed a week without a prostrating attack. I have gained twenty pounds in weight since receiving my first package of medicines, and all my friends have been remarking the wonderful improvement in my health. I wish that all sufferers from asthma could be induced to write for a symptom blank and begin treatment at once."

Cass County Bank Failure Said to Be Grow-

Many Peculiar Transactions in Connection with the Case Coming to the Surof the Affair.

ATLANTIC, Ia., Feb. 17 .- (Special to The Bee.)-The Cass County bank faiture becomes more muddled and intricate in detail as developments are made in the settlement of the case. The number and variety of law suits, petitions and attachments and legal points contained therein are almost beyond comprehension. The receiver of the bank has asked for a receiver of the hardware firm of J. C. Yetzer & Co., as Yetzer had turned over his interests of the company to the bank, and the settlement of this has become a block in the way of speedy settlement or report. W. P. Cresty of the firm of J. C. Yetzer & now claims that notes to the amount of $10,000 given by him to Yetzer last August were accommodation notes and did not indi-cate a genuine indebtedness, but were to help out in the great stringency in the bank at that time. A petition to that effect and asking a compromise of the same, has been the notes over to the bank and received credit for the same. If the petition holds this will add $10,000 more to Yetzer's $100,-000 indebtedness to the bank and cut down any time since the failure. Matters seem to grow worse daily, and the receiver's report is awaited with great eagerness. The judge has called for the report of the receiver

The second petition for a receiver as a private panking institution has been flied and may add many new features to the case. While it is the opinion of most people that Receiver Stemke has been true to his duty others have become excited and claim that he is withholding the report to enable stockhe is withholding the report to change shoulders to get property out of their hands and cite Judge Loofboro of Salt Lake as an instance. The indebtedness of the officers and stockholders to the bank in the way of notes and overdrafts is said to reach over 8240,000. No indictments have yet been re-turned, but the grand jury is hard at work on the case. Auditor of State McCarthy was before the jury to teil all he knew about he institution closing up business as a state

The receiver's report may probably be delayed until Tuesday. It is expected the grand jury will return indictments against some of the officers early next week.
