DANIEL'S DEFENSE OF THE PRESIDENT

His Speech in Support of the Administration's Course in the Hawaiian Matter—Oklahoma Bill Agreed to—In the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The chief event in the senate today occurred in executive session, and was the promulgation of the confirmation of the supreme court nomination of the president, without referring it to a committee.

The haste of the senators to show courtesy to their colleague would not even permit Senator Daniel of Virginia to finish his speech on the Hawaiian resolution.

When Senator Caffery, the colleague of Senator White, appeared in the chamber on his return from lunch he was apprised of the nomination of his colleague to be justice of the supreme court, and without waiting for any initiative on the part of Senator Caffery, Senator Daniel, after an interchange of glances with the following senators, announced that he would conclude his speech later, and Senator Caffery moved that the senate proceed to the consideration of executive business.

The doors were closed, but the representatives of the press outside needed no special message from the senate to know that the proceedings were in marked contrast to the scenes that attended the last two supreme court nominations.

The opening session of the senate was unusually devoid of interest. Senator Hale presented a resolution to investigate certain printing contracts, but the matter was not even taken into consideration, although the resolution was adopted.

Senator Daniel opened his argument in support of the Hawaiian matter and will conclude tomorrow.

Mr. Sherman, republican, of Ohio, who has been ill for several days, was again in his seat.

A memorial from citizens of Maine, protesting against putting lumber on the free list, was presented by Senator Hale, republican, of Maine, who requested that it be printed as a senate document.

Senator McPherson, democrat, of New Jersey protested, saying that if every petition on tariff subjects should be printed the printing office would be kept busy for the next three months.

CAPTURED AT LAST

California's Famous Outlaws in the Custody of Officers.

EVANS AND MORREL CAUGHT IN A TRAP

Bold Daring of the Brigands Results Disastrously to Them.

SURROUNDED IN THE HOUSE OF EVANS

All of Visalia's Citizens Aid in Seizing the Desperadoes.

THEY GAVE IN WITHOUT A STRUGGLE

Time Ending of a Career of Crime—No Resistance Offered to the Agents of the Law—Evans' Brutality Checked by His Partner.

VISALIA, Cal., Feb. 19.—Chris Evans, the train robber and outlaw who escaped from Fresno just a month ago, is again in custody. It was discovered last night that he had come into Visalia from the mountains with his partner, Edward Morrel, who assisted him to escape from jail, and that the two men were hiding in Evans' house here.

Officers surrounded the house early in the morning and a few hours later practically all the inhabitants were present. Evans recognized the fact that escape was impossible and after a brief negotiation with Sheriff Kay surrendered.

The bandits had arrived in town from their mountain retreat Saturday night on foot. So soon as Sheriff Kay was informed of this a posse of determined men was gathered and proceeded quietly to Evans' house, which they surrounded and guarded until daylight.

Men were stationed around the house so as to command it on all sides. The townspeople, many of whom were armed, came to the scene, and when daylight broke a large portion of the population of the place were on the ground of the expected battle.

The news which caused this excitement was brought in by a man named Brighton, who is in the employ of Marshal Gard, who cared for Evans' house and children, was formerly a deputy marshal in Arizona. He and Gard arrived here at 3 o'clock this morning and immediately set to work to capture the outlaws. As the outlines of the house within which the desperadoes were known to be become visible in the dawn, the law-abiding citizens were excited crowd, but no one evinced a disposition to approach the house.

It was concluded that an attempt to capture the desperadoes would result in the death of several of the posse. It was concluded, also, that if the attempt should be made to storm the house the desperadoes would be sure to put an end to the lawless career of these men.

At 11 o'clock this morning a messenger was sent to the house with a note from Sheriff Kay advising the men to surrender peacefully, and telling them they would be certainly pardoned if they did so. This messenger, whose name is Benson, was compelled to enter the house and was held as a hostage. Evans said to him when he entered: "All right, you take great chances. Now you take these pistols and walk ahead of us when we get ready to go."

Benson, who is a young man, Evans saw armed men around the house. He attacked Mr. Brighton, who was in the house, knocking him down and kicking him and telling him to come out. Evans then ordered Benson to come out. Evans then ordered Benson to come out.
