

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Contract for Electric Street Lighting Awarded to the Hooser Company.

DEVERELL IS BUILDING INSPECTOR

Two Vetoes of the Mayor Dealt Harshly With—Immediate Grading of Jefferson Square for Market House is Ordered—Other Business Transacted.

Electric light was the all-absorbing topic at the meeting of the city council last evening, and the comminatory friends of the Tomson-Houston waged a bitter battle against the new concern that seeks a foothold in Omaha, but the opposition mustered the majority of votes, and after a stormy contest secured the report of the committee recommending the award of the contract for street lighting to the new company was adopted.

The report stated that the bid of the new company was the lowest, and recommended the award of the contract based on the filing of a suitable bond in the sum of $25,000 within three days for full compliance with the terms of the bid.

Hascall opened the ball with a motion to reject all bids, claiming that the new company had not met the conditions of the contract. He stated that nothing was known about it. He moved the committee for bringing in the report, and said that the bid was only made at the purpose of securing a subsidy franchise. He stated that it was impossible for the company to get a plant in operation in six months and the city would be left in darkness if any such work was made. He claimed to have a straight tip that the president of the company was now in New York in straightened circumstances, and that the representatives of the concern now in the city was "only a traveling man for an eastern electric light company that did not want the contract."

Jacobson, Wheeler, Saunders, Parker and Edwards also opposed the report, while Holmes, Howell and Ellsasser led the fight in its favor. Motions to lay the matter over for a week and two weeks were defeated by a vote of 7 to 3, and the report was finally adopted, after being amended so as to make it conditional on the granting of a franchise to the new company, by the following vote: Yeas—Bruner, Burdick, Cain, Edwards, Holmes, Lemly, McAndrews, Specht, Thomas, Mr. President—10. Nays—Pack, Bechtel, Edwards, Hascall, Jacobson, Parker, Saunders, Wheeler—8.

Wheeler questioned the correctness of the record of the meeting of February 13, relative to a motion made by him touching the reference of the electric light bids to a committee to ascertain the responsibility and financial standing of the new firm that has entered the field as a bidder. He stated that this was proper and that the record should be corrected, as a report of this kind should be required before the bids could be considered.

The gentleman from the Fourth could not muster sufficient sympathy, however, to carry his point, as the Wiley contingent did not seem to be able to force anything looking to delay in this matter.

SEVERAL VETOES HANDLED

The mayor vetoed the claim of C. F. Reinhold for balance of architect of the city hall for the reason that the claim was an unjust one, as the architect had already been largely overpaid; that there are several defects in the building due to the blunders of the architect, and that the city attorney and assistant city attorney were both of the opinion that the claim could be successfully resisted in court. The veto was overridden by the following vote: Yeas, Beck, Bechtel, Bruner, Edwards, Hascall, Holmes, Jacobson, McAndrews, Parker, Saunders, Thomas, Wheeler—11. Nays—Burdick, Cain, Ellsasser, Lemly, Specht, Mr. President—6.

Back first voted in the negative, but changed his vote in time to override the veto and secure Mr. Reinhold his money. The mayor's veto of an item in the appropriation ordinance being the January bill of the Tomson-Houston Electric Light Company for $2,611.62, was overridden by the following vote: Yeas—Beck, Bechtel, Edwards, Hascall, Holmes, Jacobson, McAndrews, Parker, Saunders, Specht, Thomas, Wheeler—12. Nays—Bruner, Burdick, Cain, Ellsasser, Lemly, McAndrews, Specht, Mr. President—6.

Next came a veto of the bill of W. S. Hutchinson for placing smoke consumers in the city hall. The mayor's reason was that the consumer was a failure. The veto was sustained by the vote of all the council, with the exception of Hascall, Jacobson, Specht, Wheeler and Mr. President.

Another veto was that of the Sun Vapor Lighting company because of a clerical error. The veto was not sustained, but the error was corrected.

A communication from the building inspector relative to the discharge of Sewer Inspector Morrison by the Board of Public Health when he was appointed by the mayor and council was referred to the city attorney to ascertain the legal status of the case and report an ordinance, if necessary, to establish the office as it existed at the time of the appointment.

DEVERELL IS BUILDING INSPECTOR. The mayor sent in the appointment of George Deverell as building inspector. Parker wanted it given to the committee on Judiciary and Jacobson insisted on immediate action on confirmation.

Saunders moved a recess of ten minutes, and it was so ordered. He did not take leave to reveal the fact that Deverell had votes to spare, and the parties who tried to work a hold-up game to capture the position in that office found little comfort in it.

The appointment was confirmed by the vote of all but Bruner, Cain, Wheeler, Hascall and McAndrews, the latter two absenting themselves from the chamber during the roll call.

The newly appointed inspector filed his bond, signed by H. B. Coryell, E. F. Sievers and C. D. Hutchinson, and it was approved without reference to the city attorney, to whom Wheeler was determined to send it.

Holmes introduced a concurrent resolution calling for the immediate grading of Jefferson square so as to put it in shape for the erection of a market house. It was opposed by Wheeler and Hascall, but carried by a vote of 10 to 6. Saunders stating that this would leave the matter in shape for anyone who so desired to take the matter into court.

The amended fire limits ordinance was passed, and the limits are now Nicholas from the river to Twenty-fourth, thence to Twelfth, thence to Pierce, thence to Sixth, thence to the Union Pacific right-of-way, thence to the river, and thence to the point of beginning.

Sweet breath, sweet stomach, sweet temper? Then use DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Charged with Grand Larceny. Against Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Johnson, arrested at Thompson & Belden's store Monday night for shoplifting, two complaints were filed yesterday.

On the first complaint the women pleaded guilty and were fined $5 and costs. The second complaint alleged the taking of $140 worth of goods and to this the women pleaded not guilty. The case was set for hearing this morning at 10 o'clock.

ender Violet, with President Cleveland and Secretary Gresham on board, passed this city this morning. She went through the canal on her way to North Carolina.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Today Last & Davis' company will close the present engagement at the Boyd by giving two performances of William Haworth's patriotic naval drama, "The English"—a matinee at 2:30 in the afternoon, at which the prices will be 25c, 50c and 75c, and the regular evening performance at 8 o'clock.

Lottie Collins and the Howard Atheneum company are filing the Fifteenth Street theater to its capacity at every performance. The famous Tantara dance, as executed by the originator, Miss Collins, is catching the audience and is quite as popular as when first introduced. The other specialties are brighter and never than ever.

Commencing tomorrow evening and for three nights, with Saturday matinee, at the Fifteenth Street theater comes Leader Theatrical company's melodrama, "Under the City Lamps," which has been so highly spoken of by eastern critics that there is a great deal of interest felt in it in advance.

The electric light bids to a committee, which shows all phases of existence in America's great Babylon. It has been written by a man thoroughly conversant with the subject, the treatise, and the local color is therefore to be depended upon for its truth as well as for its brilliancy.

The large stage of the Fifteenth Street theater will be taxed to its utmost to accommodate all the ponderous scenery and the large numbers of performers that will appear in some of the scenes, and everything will be cleared off to make room for the ponderous "sets" that are carried by the company, and that are said to have cost $30,000.

"Under the City Lamps" will be as carefully and elaborately produced here as it will be during the long run which is projected for it at the Fourteenth Street theater, New York, commencing next month. All the new, beautiful and intricate scenery will be used. The acting company comprises many stage favorites, among whom may be mentioned Mark Lyden, William Humphrey, Charles E. Bunnell, Mabel Craig, Marion P. Clifton and the remarkable child actress, Essie Graham, and thirty others.

Gentle loveliness and delicate tenderness are popularly esteemed to be the most striking characteristics of Miss Marlowe's art. Yet it has been aptly said that when she essays the part of arch and pert sauciness with a level tongue and a biting wit, her peer is to be found only in the past or future. Such roles she seems to fit and to do as if they were a part of her nature, and she her own. Sheridan Knowles' fine old comedy, "The Love Chase," is by no means a one-part play.

Besides affording Miss Marlowe brilliant artistic opportunities it draws upon the full strength of her admirable support, which includes Rose Elyking, most happily and charmingly followed by Miss Marlowe's repertoire at the Boyd will be as follows: Thursday night, "The Love Chase"; Friday night and Saturday matinee, "Tomoko and Juliet"; and Saturday night, "Twelfth Night." The sale of seats will open this (Wednesday) morning at 9 o'clock.

Parties of twenty or more will be provided with programs of unique designs inscribed with the names of hosts and guests. Lists should be left at the box office two or three days in advance.

Robert Drouet, the author of "Doris," the drama in which Effie Elbster makes her appearance, is the youngest of the youngest American play-writers, the merit of whose recent work is attracting much attention. "Fra Diavolo," produced by Joseph Haworth some seasons ago first called public attention to the writer, and gave evidence of his superior qualities. "Doris" is his latest and most extensive production. It is his most successful. During her forthcoming engagement at the Boyd, Miss Elbster will present "Doris" Monday and Tuesday evenings and at the Wednesday matinee.

The engagement concluding Wednesday night with "Hazel Kirke," C. W. Coudock, back first voted in the negative, but changed his vote in time to override the veto and secure Mr. Reinhold his money. The mayor's veto of an item in the appropriation ordinance being the January bill of the Tomson-Houston Electric Light Company for $2,611.62, was overridden by the following vote: Yeas—Beck, Bechtel, Edwards, Hascall, Holmes, Jacobson, McAndrews, Parker, Saunders, Specht, Thomas, Wheeler—12. Nays—Bruner, Burdick, Cain, Ellsasser, Lemly, Specht, Mr. President—6.

DEVERELL IS BUILDING INSPECTOR. The mayor sent in the appointment of George Deverell as building inspector. Parker wanted it given to the committee on Judiciary and Jacobson insisted on immediate action on confirmation.

Saunders moved a recess of ten minutes, and it was so ordered. He did not take leave to reveal the fact that Deverell had votes to spare, and the parties who tried to work a hold-up game to capture the position in that office found little comfort in it.

The appointment was confirmed by the vote of all but Bruner, Cain, Wheeler, Hascall and McAndrews, the latter two absenting themselves from the chamber during the roll call.

The newly appointed inspector filed his bond, signed by H. B. Coryell, E. F. Sievers and C. D. Hutchinson, and it was approved without reference to the city attorney, to whom Wheeler was determined to send it.

Holmes introduced a concurrent resolution calling for the immediate grading of Jefferson square so as to put it in shape for the erection of a market house. It was opposed by Wheeler and Hascall, but carried by a vote of 10 to 6. Saunders stating that this would leave the matter in shape for anyone who so desired to take the matter into court.

The amended fire limits ordinance was passed, and the limits are now Nicholas from the river to Twenty-fourth, thence to Twelfth, thence to Pierce, thence to Sixth, thence to the Union Pacific right-of-way, thence to the river, and thence to the point of beginning.

Sweet breath, sweet stomach, sweet temper? Then use DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Charged with Grand Larceny. Against Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Johnson, arrested at Thompson & Belden's store Monday night for shoplifting, two complaints were filed yesterday.

On the first complaint the women pleaded guilty and were fined $5 and costs. The second complaint alleged the taking of $140 worth of goods and to this the women pleaded not guilty. The case was set for hearing this morning at 10 o'clock.

"Mrs. Brown's" real name is Lauden, and her husband and baby were in court yesterday during the trial. When "Mrs. Brown" was taken below to await trial she cried bitterly and seemed to feel very sorry for what she had done.

HIS WIFE IS AFTER HIM

An Interesting Domestic Drama in a West Harney Street Home.

GETTING VERY HOT FOR THE HUSBAND

His First Spouse Follows Him to Omaha and Chases Him and Second Choice from House and Home and Takes Undisputed Possession.

Love laughs at locksmiths but does not indulge in many giggles when a wronged wife suddenly appears on the scene, accompanied by her trunk and a temper. F. A. Pierce, a traveling man who resides, or rather did reside, at 4211 Harney street, will endorse this assertion.

Mr. Pierce is on the road now selling fire-proof vaults for a certain eastern firm. Things are growing exceedingly warm around Omaha for Mr. Pierce. If it grows much hotter he may be compelled to don a suit of asbestos cloth, crawl into one of his salamander retreats and forget the combination in order to escape the scorching that is in store for him if he does not overcome certain domestic eccentricities.

The old home on West Harney street is not what it used to be. The fern leafed motto of "Welcome" is now facing the wall paper. The original Mrs. Pierce is "at home." Mr. Pierce and a tall and interesting brunette, who formerly resided there, are sojourning in Iowa. Mrs. Pierce is holding the fort and is prepared to go into a state of siege to retain possession.

HOW THE STORY GOES. According to the story the gay and festive traveling man had the degree of husband conferred upon him in a New England town. He led a blushing blue-eyed bride to the altar and lived with her for seven years. She still has the experience of a marriage certificate. About a year ago Mrs. Pierce left her husband. Later, it is alleged, he became infatuated with a tall young woman named Miss Mary Adams, who was born in the famous blue grass regions of old Kentucky. Mr. Pierce, in height, was six feet two, and Miss Adams was six feet, too. Pierce travels through Iowa. Miss Adams removed to Centerville from Keokuk. They met in Iowa, and a handsome man-ideal of physical development. Somewhat lonesome in his grass wide-woodland he wooed Miss Adams. The couple came to Omaha six months ago and resided on West Farnam street. Mrs. Pierce, the original, was in the meantime living in Chicago. Pierce kept up an occasional correspondence with her, but said nothing about the fact that he was residing with another woman. But she found it out and immediately vowed vengeance. For four long months the plucky wife searched in vain to locate the house in which the couple were residing. Notwithstanding her domestic entanglement from Mr. Pierce, she could not bear the thought of another woman presiding over her household, without the formality of securing a divorce from the original object of her affections. With relentless energy and grim determination she scamped on the trail of the traveling man. Her perseverance was rewarded in Omaha last Tuesday morning, when she located the pair at 4211 Harney street and gave them a surprise party. Without announcing the fact on the bill boards or any of the halls of formality, she swooped down upon the domicile and struck terror to the hearts of the inmates. She upbraided her husband roundly, and withered her rival with looks of silent contempt. Closely following the arrival of the intruder, she came a trunk of liberal dimensions. She had come to stay and maintain her rights. Mr. Pierce wore a sort of I-wish-I-were-a-bird look.

BEAT A RETREAT. The sequel of the arrival of No. 1 was the hasty departure of Mr. Pierce and No. 2 the same day. He went on to Centerville, where the original claim on Mr. Pierce's heart, took the original object of his affections. With all she surveys, she found it in the neighborhood. Sentiment is largely with the present commandant of "Fort Pierce."

A Bee reporter braved the moving sidewalks and sweeping currents in the vicinity of Forty-second and Harney streets yesterday and found Mrs. Pierce in the same adverse to giving full details of the affair, stating that she preferred to await the return of Mr. Pierce to the city. Mrs. Pierce is a good looking, specially noteworthy woman, in the prime of life. She has the mannerisms of a refined woman, and as a diplomatist she is entitled to a cushioned seat in the front row.

Speaking of the affair yesterday she said: "I am the lawful wife of F. A. Pierce. We have not separated since she would demand. I left for cause. He and this other woman got up a case shortly after I left my husband. I was apprised of the fact and determined to stop it. He was gone for five months I have followed up a clew and finally located them in Omaha. They moved several times while residing in this city, but finally I located them in this house. I propose to hold the fort and I am prepared to do it. If my husband attempts to disguise me he will regret it. In his hurried departure last week, he left a revolver behind. It is loaded. He may think I cannot defend myself, but I will shoot him down if he attempts to take possession of this place."

"In all this trouble I have fought my battles alone. No one has assisted me and I did my own detective work. Mr. Pierce is now on the road. He left at Mount Ayr, Ia., and I have written him to come to Omaha at once. If he knows what is good for him he will do so. We are not divorced. He has only sent me to get and report me in six months. When I found his money was keeping another household I naturally got after him. He is 52 years old. He has been a traveling man for eighteen years and is known all over the country. His folks reside in New Bedford, Mass. The woman whom I routed out of the house is Mary Adams of Centerville, Ia. I do not know whether she is married to him or not."

"I have got the cinch on Mr. Pierce any way you may take it. If he is married to her and has no divorce he is a bigamist. If not he is guilty of adultery. In the meantime I will retain possession of this place."

"Head's Pills are mild and pleasant to take and perform their work perfectly." Miss Lulu Ricketts, Gilmore, Neb.

NEBRASKA PHOTOGRAPHERS.

State Association in Session in Omaha—Those Who Are Here.

The State Photographers Association convened in its third annual session at the Max Meyer hall yesterday afternoon. There were present a large number of the guild from outside the city, both from the east and from western Iowa.

The forenoon was taken up in placing in position the displays of the various photographers and of the manufacturers of photographic supplies. The latter, especially, make a very attractive show, those who have not attended one of these gatherings have very little idea of the perfection which the photographic art has attained. The showing made by the manufacturers does not comprise work done by themselves, but a collection of the finest specimens obtainable in all parts of the country from the most celebrated artists. The displays made by local artists demonstrate that they are in no wise behind their brethren in other cities.

At noon the members of the association met at a local gallery and had their pictures taken in a group. In the afternoon the first business session was held. After hearing the report of the treasurer, showing the association to be in a flourishing condition financially, the question of prices was brought up and almost the entire afternoon was consumed in discussing it. The opinion of the majority was that members of the association should not engage in cutting prices, even if it was commensured by a competitor, but by doing superior work command the patronage of the public.

A short time was then spent in discussing the merits of the various pictures exhibited and in explanations as to how some of the work was done, after which the meeting adjourned until 9:30 this morning.

It is thought that the exhibition accepted the invitation of the Hays Photographic Supply company to attend the Boyd and later in the evening sat down to a banquet provided for them by the agents of the various manufacturers of photographic goods.

The following are those present from out of town who had registered up to last evening: P. D. Parker, Aurora, Neb.; W. D. Kilbourn, Lincoln, Neb.; J. Youngblood, Lincoln, Neb.; H. McCullough, Schuyler, Neb.; William L. Lee, York, Neb.; Sam Armstrong, Chicago, Ill.; L. Matheson, Tekamah, Neb.; W. W. P. Fritsch, Ia.; W. C. Ahlman, Norfolk, Neb.; Anna R. Ferguson, Superior, Neb.; D. D. McKee, Anderson, Ind.; J. H. Woods, Beatrice, Neb.; E. J. Edson, Ashland, Neb.; T. W. Tolman, Nebraska City; Sam Hutchings, St. Louis; Charles Matthews, Rochester, N. Y.; N. C. Edinger, Des Moines, Ia.; J. S. Fisher, Superior, Neb.; Gus Robinson, Holdrege, Neb.; Paul Soderberg, Sutton, Neb.; A. Simf, Crete, Neb.; J. A. Pattison, Minden, Neb.; O. B. Cornett, O'Neill, Neb.; Sioux City, Ia.

Handsome Photographs. J. F. Entwistle, representing Cramer's Dry Plate works of St. Louis, has on exhibition in the convention hall an unusually fine collection of photographs. They show the quality of the work done by the Cramer dry plate process, and the praise bestowed upon them by the best artists in the convention is a conclusive proof of the merit of the work. A large number of the variety of subjects, Dana of New York, Stei; of Milwaukee and Landey of Cincinnati are among the artists whose work is shown. It is especially noteworthy piece is a photograph taken on the race track. The subject is the horse stretch at the finish of a 2:24 trotting heat. The three horses were nearly perfect as they through they were not in motion.

Musical Treat Promised. One of the finest musical programs ever arranged for a local entertainment will be presented at the First Congregational church on Thursday evening for the benefit of the music fund.
