Viewing the situation in its most con-	Bride of a Fortnight Finds Her Love Turns to Hate and Dreams of Happiness Rudely Broken by Fate's Cruel Hand.
	James Barker, general passenger and ticket agent of the "Katy" (Missouri, Kan- sas & Texas), with headquarters at St. Louis, came into Omaha yesterday with a portfolio of new railroad stories which he is exploiting on General Passenger Agents Francis and Lomax. Mr. Barker is a vet- eran in railroad work, having commenced his career away back in the 60's, when railroading was somewhat different from what it now is, less of a science, but still requiring a well balanced judgment. Talking of the troublous times which his road has experienced in Kansas by reason of hostile legislation, he stated that unless there was a disposition shown by Kansas authorities to treat his road fairly the shops	servative light it would seem that if the present differences are not speedily adjusted further rate complications will arise in the entire territory from the Gulf of Mexico to the British line. As an instance of what is being done, the present rates are being ap- plied from Omaha to California points through Texas, which naturally operates to put into effect reduced rates to such important points as Fort Worth, San Antonio, etc., and practically makes of no effect the recent tariffs gotten out at considerable expense covering the territory mentioned above. The reduced rates to these points will in turn affect the entire rate situation which will necessitate a meeting of interested lines to make revisions of the present tariffs. If it affects territory so remote from the seat of war, as these rates are doing to Texas points, it is pretty hard to say just where the present demonalization will end. Al- though the war has hardly commenced there is in evidence a determination to make it sharp and decisive and the transconti-	Four short weeks ago the present Mr Abraham Kopald was a single woman a was the reigning belle in her particul set, where she gathered suitors galore, en- one being auxious to bask in the smill- or win the hand of the individual wi- swapped the name of Minnie Kohn for th- of Kopald. 	the state law, but the time is coming when we will endeavor to break away from a state which has endeavored to sew the 'Katy' up like a pig in a poke. Legislation has been very hostile to us and we are ready to quit unless some concessions are made. The truth of the matter is, Kan- sas has not been for years a profitable railroad state, the earnings of the 'Katy' having fallen off considerably last year. In Texas, on the other hand, while they have very peculiar laws down there, business is very profitable, the total earnings of the road last year reaching about $11,000,000. The Texas laws, while unusual, are, I be- lieve, constitutional, at least we have so ascertained. The 'Katy' is one of the few roads that is entirely clear of a floating debt, our object being to pay as we go. The stock is largely owned by the Standard Offi company and foreign capitalists, the Gould	other of the $1,300 class. Assistant General Freight Agent A. B. Smith left yesterday for Sheridan in a pri- vate car, accompanied by a number of Omaha business men interested in the develop- ment of northwest Wyoming. Louis Swift, head of the Swift Packing company, and party, passed through Omaha yesterday enroute to San Francisco. Mr. Leroy Hough of the South Omaha plant joined Mr. Swift enroute and goes to South San Francisco, where the Swifts have large interests, to take charge of the plant at that point. J. H. McConnell, superintendent of ma- chinery and motive power of the Union Pacific, while on his recent trip west had the satisfaction of catching a trout in one of the tributaries of the Snake river near Pocatello that measured fourteen Inches, the catch being made from a bank of snow	signs of capitulating. This continued for few days, after which all of the young me drew off their forces and announced the intention of trying to watch and wa still having a lingering hope that ere if flowers bloomed in the spring the girl wou change her mind and revoke the vow th she was a man-hater, born and bred. A Minnie went out into the giddy whirl of s clety all of the young fellows who we ready to fall down and kiss the hem of h dress enviously watched the man who w fortunate enough to catch her for a whi over the waxed floor, and congratulated hi upon being a lucky dog. Whoever the fortunate man might be his attentions we spurned as soon as he had escorted the bel of the ball to her seat, for she dismiss him with a distant bow and a frigid "That you."

They are upon a large scale, easy of access and capable of handling an immense volume of business. /We use jointly the bridge at Bellefontaine, which is a magnificent structure, double tracked and modern in every particular." The close traffic arrangements at present existing between the Burlington and "Katy" suggests the idea that some of these days these two great systems will be united. For a week the two persons found that marriage possessed all of the alleged charms, though a few days later, they became aware marriage possessed all of the alleged charms, though a few days later, they became aware of the fact that the matrimonial voyage was beset with several realities, such as provid-ing food and fuel. They discovered that bill-ing and cooing would not keep the fire run-ming on the hearth and also that it took something more than love to fill a couple of empty atomachs. The wife discovered that the glaring diamond which had dazled her optics when she was a maiden was nothing but the poorest kind of window glass and that Abraham, instead of being a good man, like his namesake of ancient writ, was only human and liable to err, just the same as the balance of mankind. While the wife was discovering these things, Abraham was also making some dis-coveries, one of which was that Minnie was making the saddest bread in town and another was that while she had been taught to play on the piano, her education in the art of splitting kindling wood had been sadly neglected during the days of her early youth. When the two parties had com-pared notes, they concluded that they were never intended for each other and it was de-termined, then and there, to divide the fam-liv blaubet any will go right along mak-its of great importance and hotel and bath house and put Palmer, once a lisher of this city, was Gansas City today from the ave her hand in Germany, as long ago as 1874. Some years ago, so the plaintiff alleges, the and the defendant came to Amorica and then proceeded to this city, where they com-menced to accumulate a family and a for-time. In the former undertaking they suc-ceeded most admirably, but in the latter, all of their efforts were marked by the most dismal failures. Some years ago, according to the story of the plaintiff. Julius went wrong, first by taking to drink and then by going out into the dark to chase strange women who traveled about with doubtful and flexible reputations. Not only this, bat upon her bare back. The defendant admits the marriage, but devices all of the other charges, and for a counter claim, alleges that his wife was tho one that went to the ba dat such a rapid pace. He names one Henrick Peters as the Individual who traveled along with Hen-riette on the down grade, and tells of sev-oral escapades in which they were the star participants. Wants Haim for Brubses.

Wants Baim for Bruises. In Judge Ambroso's court the case of Charles W. Stevens against the Omaha Street Railway company is the drawing card. The plaintiff is one of the gentlemen who made the race for the legislature two years ago, but fell by the waynide. He lives out at the end of Leavenwerth street, eight miles from the city hell. Lass March, and during one of the darkest nights of the year, he was driving home. As he pro-ceeded on his way he was overtaken by a car and, according to his allegations, made an attempt to get off the track, upon which he was driving. He had been successful to the extent of pulling the iron wheels of the vehicle from the track when the motor caught up with him and assisted in elevating the wagon and driver into the ditch. Mr. Stevens was badly bruited, so much so that he has been of the opinion that the defendant should contribute the sum of $16,200 toward his future support. It is for the purpose of convincing the jury of this Street Railway company is the drawing card.
