MORMON HISTORY RECALLED original faith and doctrine of the church

Decision in the Case Regarding Ownership of the "Temple Lot,"

VICTORY FOR THE REORGANIZED CHURCH

Interesting Facts Concerning the Organization of the Church of Latter Day Saints, Together with Joe Emith's Prophecy and Brigham Young's Bequest.

KANSAS CITY, March 3 .- Temple lot, the sacred piece of Mormon soil in Independence. for which the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints and the Independence faction of the Mormon church have been fighting in the courts for four years, today was decided by Judge Phillips of the United States circuit court to be the property of the Reorganized church. The Independence faction of the Mormons is, by the opinion, enjoined from asserting title to the property, the cloud is removed and full possession allotted to the plaintiff. The succonstraint anotted to the plaintiff. The suc-cessful organization has its headquarters at Lamoni, Ia. Its following numbers 25,000 souls and its president is Joseph Smith, jr., son of prophet Joseph Smith, the founder of Mormonism Mormonism

Besides settling the title to the much prized temple lot, known among Mormons as the "Garden of Eden," the opinion inci-dentally finds from the evidence that the Reorganized Church of the Latter Day Saints is the real church which was founded in 1830 by Joseph Smith, and that the fac-tions of the Mormon church in Utah and in Independence are offshoots of the mother church and have departed from the teach-ings of the prophet.

Temple lot originally consisted of sixty-three acres of ground, but its area has been gradually reduced until now it comprises a block of property 300 feet square located on one of the highest emi-nences in Independence. It is surrounded by a barb-wire fence and in the northeast corner is a small frame church, which is used by the Hcdrickites.

The history of Temple lot dates back almost to the time of the inception of the Mormon faith, and is associated with the days when the saints were a power in Jack-son county. In 1832 it is claimed that an wary of claiming alliance with this Salt Lake church, is is evidently 'the power behind the throne' in the defense of this suit. 'There can be no question of the fact that Brigham Young's assumed presidency was a bold usurpation. The book of doctrine gave Joseph Smith authority to be presiding elder of the church and Brigham Young was but president over the twelve traveling compasie. The book touch angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph Smith, the prophet, in a vision and told him that Jackson county was the site of the original Garden of Eden and that Temple lot was the very spot where the fig tree grew from which our first parents obtained their ward-robe. Here, it was said, that on the last day when the earth is to crumble into glowing ashes and be swept away by the winds of the universe, the faithful Mormons were to congregate and ascend to heaven from the magnificent temple ordained to be erected. The truth of this prophecy is denied by some of the Mormons, who claim that the lot is simply a sacred piece of soil destined for a site for a Mormon temple.

JUDGE PHILLIPS' REVIEW.

Judge Phillips reviews the various phases case from the time the sixty-three t land were purchased in 1830 by an agent of the Mormon church for the purpos of creeting thereon a temple designed to be the new Jerusalem. For sixty-two years, he adds, it has been known as "Temple lot," or which, in the fullness of time and the ful fillment of the prophecy, was to be erected a splendid temple for the gathering of the believers for religious worship and exaltation. He follows the case through its many ramifications and the position of each parts through whose hands the property passed beginning with Bishop Partridge, who came to Independence in 1832 from Kirtland, O., to buy the land with $3,000 contributed by members of the church.

gram from Chief Pratt of the Mormon city He speaks of the persecution of Partridge and his flock in 1839, when they had to flee from Caldwell county, Missouri, because of military persecution. The deeds, receipts and other papers relating to the case are was handed to Detectives Dunn and Donahue with a description of Fishleigh. In less than thirty minutes the officers located the man wanted and had him locked up in the quoted from at length to show that the church of which Joseph Smith was the head was the true church, and was the city prison. Fishleigh is an attorney by profession and was considerably surprised at his arrest. He admitted that he had been in some trouble in Salt Lake, but he did not expect such a serious turn of affairs. He declined to say owner of the Temple lot. After the killing of Joseph Smith au Carthage, 111, in June, 1844, his violent death struck with dismay the hearts of his followers, and out of the confusion incident thereto was borne the schisms and am ship. Disintegration set in and the church split into factions, and under the lead of different heads scattered to various parts of the country. The true church, under Joseph Smith, was established at Lamoni, Ia., another branch under Brigham Young, who claimed to have received through revelation the leadership o' the Mormons, and a third, the Hedrickites, remained at Independence. In summing up Judge Phillips says: "In case of disorganization and factional di-vision of an ecclesiastical body the settled rule of the civil courts is that 'the title to church property is in that part which is acting in harmony with its own laws and the ecclesiastical laws and usages, customs and principles which were accepted among them before the dispute began and the standards for determining which party is in the right. the right. - "The right of ownership abides with that faction, great or small, which is 'in favor of the government of the church in opera-tion with which it was connected at the time the trust was declared.' The court will adjudge the property 'to the members, however few in number they may be, who adhere to the form of church government or ac-hnowledge the church connection for which the property was acquired." The decision of Justice Caton in the case of Ferraria et al against Van Concellos et al, 31 Illinois, pages 54, 55, is quoted where it is held "that where a church is erected for the use of a particular denomination or religious persuasion a majority of the members cannot abandon the tenets and doctrines of the denomination and retain the right to the use of the property, but such secession is to forfeit all rights to the property, even t but a single member adheres to the

It is hoped that there will be a large attendance, especially of those who have not hitherto been connected with the club. In addition to the election of officers and other routine business, such as the se-lection of a ground to play on, several pro-posals are to come up which are likely to prove of considerable interest. It is the wish of the club coteris to em-brace within the folds of that organization all the players in the city. There are quite a number of little bands of players who meet on private courts and show their abili-ties to one another. They have little chance of improving their style or their skill and when, perchance, they enter for one of the local tournaments, they find their opponents making use of strokes they never saw be-fore and which they know not how to deal with. Let them all join forces together for the relief being granted on the principle of quia timet. It is peculiarly its province in a case like this to vindicate the trust, to determine the real beneficiaries of the trust es-tate and to prevent its diversion. There is no need for the private clubs or gather-ings to be broken up, indeed this is not desired, but considerations of self-benefit as well as all instincts of patriot-ism and loyality to city and state should in-duce everyone with any knowledge of the game and any desire to improve at it to ally himself with others of his own kind in the city, nay the small subscription to the supcity, pay the small subscription to the sup port of the club and be present occasionally, if not frequently, on the club grounds for practice against all styles and weights.
