Alfred A. Farland is astonishing the musical critics in our large cities by rendering such music as Beethoven's sonatas, the overture to William Tell, Mendelssohn's great concerto, op. 64 etc., on the banjo. Local parties are endeavoring to secure him for a date here. Music lovers in general and banjo enthusiasts in particular are hopeful that their efforts will meet with success. He has literally devoted his life to the banjo, having practiced from two to ten and at times twelve hours per day since he was 13 years of age. He is not yet 30, and judging by the press reports of his performhe has already accomplished more on his instrument than any one ever thought

One of the pleasing events of the season will be the appearance of that popular and genial comellan, Roland Reed, and his clever company, who will present their latest success, "Innocent As a Lamb," which has proven one of the greatest comedy hits of the year. Mr. Reed grows steadily in popular favor and today stands foremost among legitimate exponents of refined comedy. He has a style and method that is peculiar to himself which, coupled with a strong personality, makes him entirely dif-His present play is an eccentric comedy from the pen of W. Stokes Craven and Glen MacDonough, and has been pronounced superior to any of the recent German or French adaptations. It is written in a bright vein and tells an interesting story that increases in interest as the piece progresses. The complications are original and provoke no end of laughter. Mr. Reed has a character that is admirably suited to his peculiar methods, that of an eccentric stock broker, who has a strong passion for the game of whist, and it is in endeavoring to indulge in this, his fayorite pastime, that gets him into some of the wildest complica-tions imaginable. The play presents many tions imaginable. The play presents many clever situations, such as Plikington being mistaken for someone else and receiving two lovely black eyes, losing his overcoat, which is found by the man that thrashed him, who finds out his mistake and starts for New York to return it, gets into a rail-road wreck and is identified as Pilkington. The latter has been off to Paterson, where the trouble occurs, while his wife supposes he is in Boston. Mr. Reed and his excellent company will present "Innocent As a Lamb" at the Boyd on Thursday evening next. Plans for the Interstate Convention to Be Held in Omaha.

The second general convention of the Interstate Irrigation association, which will be held in Omaha on March 21 and 22, promises to bring together the largest body of men ever assembled at any meeting held for the consideration of irrigation. Mr. W. N. Nason, secretary of the local executive committee, is receiving letters by the score each lay giving lists of delegates appointed in different parts of the west. There will be an exhibit of machinery at Exposition hall during the convention.

A rate of one fare for the round trip from all points in Nebraska has been made by all railronds in the state.

The following circular letter has been is sued by the Commercial club to all people interested in the development and encouragement of irrigation in the west:
The Commercial club of Omaha cordially invites you to attend the second general convention of the interstate irrigation associa-tion, to be held at Omaha, Neb., March 21 and 22, 1894, and the club further requests that you appoint as many delegates to said convention as are hereinafter specified.

convention as are hereinafter specified.

The Interstate Irrigation association was organized at Salina, Kan., September 28, 1893, for the purpose of demonstrating the practicability of irrigation in that portion of the United States lying between the ninety-seventh meridian and the foothills of the Rocky mountains, and known as the semi-arid or plain region. The states represented in the formation of the association were Nebraska, Kansas, Wyoming and Colorado. In addition the states of North Dawere Nebraska, Kansas, Wyoming and Colorado. In addition the states of North Dakota, South Dakota, Oklahoma, Montana, Texas and New Mexico are equally interested in the problem which the association is endeavoring to solve, and these latter states are especially urged to send large delegations to this convention and join in the work before us

The greater portion of the semi-arid plains has absolutely no visible water sup-ply for irrigation, and the great work of this organization is to ascertain whether or this organization is to ascertain whether on not by means of raising subterranean waters, and the conservation of rainfall in reservoirs, a water supply can be developed to irrigate a part if not all the territory named. To that end the association has asked the United States to make an appropriation to carry on an irrigation survey and to de-termine the availability of such sources of supply. Bills are now pending before con-gress for this appropriation, and the principal work of the Omaha convention will be to set forth the necessities of this work in such a way that congress will be induced to accede to our request. It is therefore desirable that all the states above named be fully represented, in order that the association may be before congress. tion may go before congress as representing 'semi-arid America" in its entirety.

Invitations will be sent to the governors and other state officials, senators, congressmen and members of state legislatures of the aforenamed states, the mayors of all cities contained therein, clerks of all counties, presidents of boards of trade and com-mercial clubs, presidents and secretaries of all state and local irrigation associations, agricultural and horticultural societies, state, agricultural and denominational colleges, and the presidents of all irrigation pump, windmill and implement companies. In addition the above named officers are requested to ap-State governor will please appoint ten dele

COMMERCIAL CLUB AFFAIRS.

Decided to Maintain the Restaurant-Air

for Deadwood Fire Sufferers. The executive committee of the Commer cial club met in regular weekly session yes terday. After electing six applicants to club privileges and auditing several bills the committee listened to the reading of a communication from the Williams-Munson Hat company asking the club to interest Omaha capital in the enlargement of its factory. S. E. Smith of Beatrice submitted a letter with relation to the building of the proposed Rock Island cut-off from Beatrice to Herrington, Kan. He regarded it as a subject of vital importance to Omaha and the state and advised the club to encourage the project. Both communications were referred to the commissioner to investigate

The subject of the club restaurant, which seems to be an object of condemnation among keepers of public cafes, next came up. A committee consisting of C. Hartman, R. S. Wilcox, W. E. Clarke, D. Baumer and N. A. Kuhn reported as follows:
"We have looked into the question of the restaurant's using undue advantage in hidding for banquets and we find that in nearly every instance the guests have been mem-bers of the club. Members are privileged to bring their friends. The restaurant is a necessary feature for the successful management of the club, where the interests are of such diverse character. We there fore unanimously recommend that the res taurant be maintained and members are re quested to give it a hearty support, thereby creating a meeting place at noon time where their several business interests can be discussed, and bringing them into close relationship and in every way more fully carrying out the plans of this institution We also unanimously recommend that Fred Hartman be definitely employed as cateror for the balance of the year, provided he gives the same satisfaction and excellent service as he has given in the past."

Some discussion followed and several mem-bers took occasion to score some of the restaurant men of the city who were hostile o the club restaurant purely from selfish motives. The committee report was unani mously adopted.

Mr. W. A. Nason addressed the committee and called attention to the necessity of en-couraging the coming irrigation convention to be held in this city on the 22nd inst. It was decided to give every assistance pos-sible to the convention and entertain the delegates when they arrive. Upon motion of Mr. Rector the secretary was instructed to send a telegram of sym-pathy to the citizens of Deadwood and proffer aid to the sufferers from the recent fire. with reference to the necessity of encourag-ing immigration to Nebraska, but no definite action was taken on the subject. It was decided to hold the next monthly meeting on the 17th inst. in order to celebrate the first anniversary of the club's existence. LEFT HER BARY.

Queer Story of a Little One Deserted by Her Mother at Nice. NEW YORK, March 6 .- When Acting Mayor McClellan examined his mail yesterday he found a letter from Wilbur N. Hall, United States consul at Nice. It enclosed a copy of a letter received by the consul which read as follows: Sir-I have the honor to state that in December last, the 12th, a lady alighted at the Hotel du Heldar, Nice, accompanied by her daughter, born on the 28th of April, 1891, the name of the father being Charles E. Whitney, and I was engaged by the lady as a nurse. After a sojourn there of a few weeks Mrs. Whitney left, saying she was going to Genoa to get some money, and would return in a few days, leaving the child in my charge. As she did not come back, and did not even write, the landlord, after a few weeks, refused to keep us any longer, and put us out of the house, re-taining the luggage, even the effects of the little one. I was obliged to hire a furnished room, where we live both on the work of my husband, who is porter at the Hotel

In consequence I beg of you to have some inquiries made about the child's family, as I should be very sorry to hand her over to the French police, who would place her in a charity institution. I love her very and only wish her welfare. You not servant, FANNY BAYARD. bedient servant, Mrs. Whitney's father was a Mr. Withams, business man well known in this city about ten years ago. Now even his where-abouts cannot be learned. Mr. and Mrs. Whitney lived for a short time at 67 North Fifty-ninth street, where the baby was born. Two years ago the family went to Since then little has been known of their movements. Dr. H. D Nicol of 51 East Fifty-seventh street, who was the Whitney family physician, remembers little, he says, beyond the fact that they were well-to-do people, and at one time quite well known in society.

Kleybote Makes Nine Thousand in Ten Days on Douglas County Bonds. After advertising three times and receiving bids as many times the Board of County Commissioners sold the issue of $150,-000 of county road bonds to Rudolph Kleybote of Cincinnati, O. His bid was the accrued interest, $590 premium and the cost of printing the bonds. The accrued interest amounted to $1,007.10, the cost of printing the bonds was $75, which items with the premium amounted to a total of $151, 582.10. Out of this amount the county had Out of this amount the county had to pay in express and exchange the sum of $169.55, making the net proceeds to the county $151,412.55.

As might be supposed, the Ohio gentleman did not invest this amount of money without some hope of pecuniary gain, and he certainly could not have hoped for a more fortunate termination of his investment than he actually realized. The bonds were delivered to him just about one week ago, and the interest that has accreed since that time. the interest that has accrued since that time is about $140. Monday State Treasurer Bartley bought these bonds of the Cincinnati party for the sum of $160,893.75 and they are now the property of the permanent school fund of the state. This transaction thus netted the Cincinnati party the nice little sum of a little over $9,000 as interest for about ten days on his investment. Commissioner Stenberg says that when he was in Lincoln for the purpose of having the bonds registered he made an effort to the bonds registered he made an effort to sell them to the state, but was unsuccessful, and as the offer on which they were sold was the best they had been able to get after advertising three times the board concluded to accept it, though it was less than the bonds of Douglas county had sold for in years, but they thought the condition of the money market was such they could not expect to do any better.

AGAINST THE WATER WORKS. Foreclosure Proceedings Commenced by

Farmers Loan and Trust Company. The Farmers Loan and Trust Company of New York filed a bill in the federal court yesterday for the foreclosure of the $4,000,000 mortgage on the American water works plant of this city.

The plaintiff, as trustee for the eastern bondholders, desires to sell the property or reorganize the company. Howard Turner of New York and R. S. Hall of this city appeared for the Farmers Loan and Trust company, while John L. Webster looked after the interests of the water works company.

Mr. Webster made a motion to set aside he service of the summons on the plea that the federal court had no jurisdiction. He based his assertion on the question of citizenship of the plaintiffs, who, as citizens of New York, Illinois and New Jersey, could not bring suit against citizens of Nebraska in Judge Dundy's court. He contended that this was an original suit and not arising from the action heretofore pending between the Denver and Omaha water works plants, in which Messrs. Bierbower and Hunt were appointed receivers. Mr. Webster arguer that foreclosure could only be made in fed eral court either when diverse citizenship was the original action pending, of same name, to-wit, to determine the liens upon property and when the court was in posses sion of property. Leave was given to file memoranda and briefs and Judge Dundy took the matter under advisement. Merchants Carnival. The managers of the Merchants carnival report the preparations all complete except the arrangement of display by the merchants

CRIME IN HIGH PLACES! IN IT not strange that some people do wrong through ignorance, others from a failure to investigate as to the right or wrong of a matter. But it is strange, that individuals and firms, who are fully aware of the rights of others, will per-sist in perpetrating frauls upon them. High-toned, weathy manufreturing firms will offer and sell to retail merchants, articles which they know to be infringements on the rights of proprie tors, and imitations of well known goods. XVIIITH CENTURY.

Here is one of those fascinating sofas of Eighteenth Century France, characterized by all the interesting features of the schools of the three Louis.

The frame is of solid dark West India Mahogany, stained to give it the appearance of great age, with a dull final finish.

The engraving gives but a faint idea of the splendor of the carving; the ordinary legs are omitted, and the sofa rests upon the completely carved legs and feet of a life-size lion. The lines are exceedingly graceful. There are two pillowed rolls,
