

out of harm's way, should the engagement take place.

The reply of President Pinheiro to the terms of surrender offered by Admiral da Gama was made known this afternoon. The president will accept no other terms than those of an unconditional surrender of all the rebel ships and forts in and about the bay of Rio de Janeiro. At the expiration of the forty-eight hours' notice given by President Pinheiro at various places covered by the government forces, as previously arranged, opened fire upon the rebel fleet. The insurgents did not reply, and as this dispatch is sent the surrender of the rebel fleet is looked upon as only a question of a few hours.

BEGUN THE BOMBARDMENT.

Today at 12 o'clock precisely, the harbor opened fire upon Fort Villegaignon. In a short time the government forces at Fort Armaco and Fort Grajalon joined in the bombardment. The fire was not returned by the insurgents. The bombardment was continued until 3 o'clock, when it ceased. Castillo, San Bento, Saude, Curvello and all the city batteries then opened a furious fire upon Fort Villegaignon and the insurgent warship Tamandare. The fire was also directed upon the insurgent works at Cobras Island and at other places. The forces at Enchada lowered the hospital flag and hoisted the insurgent ensign. The garrison at Governor's Island also took part in the attack on Fort Villegaignon, which was badly hammered by the government guns. The fort on Cobras Island took fire, but the flames were soon extinguished. The firing of the batteries lasted for an hour. No great damage was done. The insurgents did not fire a shot, husbanding their ammunition.

At 4 o'clock the government fleet appeared off the harbor. The forces at Enchada followed. The other vessels in the fleet were the Nietheroy, America, Itapan, Bahal, Tiridantes and Parahyba and two steamers and five torpedo boats.

Immediately upon the appearance of the squadron the rebels hauled down the white ensign from one of the ships and upon Fort Villegaignon was answered from shore. A launch containing an officer then went from one insurgent ship to another and each vessel lowered the rebel flag at Rio, has abandoned his rebellion and sought refuge on board the Portuguese corvette Mindelo. The commander of the Mindelo has called to the Portuguese government the facts in the case, asking for instructions. It is understood that the Portuguese commander has asked whether he should give his ship to the Portuguese government or whether he should remain on board the Mindelo and whether he should remain and order him to return on board his flagship.

INSTRUCTIONS FROM PORTUGAL.

LISBON, March 13.—Official telegrams received here from Rio de Janeiro confirm the report that Admiral da Gama, the commander of the rebel fleet at Rio, has abandoned his rebellion and sought refuge on board the Portuguese corvette Mindelo. The commander of the Mindelo has called to the Portuguese government the facts in the case, asking for instructions. It is understood that the Portuguese commander has asked whether he should give his ship to the Portuguese government or whether he should remain on board the Mindelo and whether he should remain and order him to return on board his flagship.

ARBITER CLARK IS READY

How He Expresses Himself with Respect to the Coming Conference.

WILL HEAR THE CASE IN ALL FAIRNESS

Will Defer Largely to Wishes of Employes as to the Manner of Procedure—As the Receivers Will Not Be Here.

President R. H. H. Clark arrived yesterday afternoon from St. Louis via the Missouri Pacific, accompanied by Attorney Frank P. Ireland, the Missouri Pacific legal representative in Nebraska. There was a healthier look about Mr. Clark than when he left for St. Louis and the east and a more elastic step observable as with grip in hand he walked toward a street car to take him to his hotel. Mr. Clark is democratic and would rather ride in a street car than patronize one of the four-wheelers which stood in waiting at the curb.

"While my health is better," said Mr. Clark, "I still have a touch of the grip, which I seem to be unable to shake off. However, I feel in fair condition and am ready for the conference to begin. I have you situated in the choice of officials who will aid you in conducting the conference?" asked the reporter.

"Beyond Mr. Dickinson, Mr. McConnell, Mr. Kory and General Collector Thurston if he is in the city. If not, then Mr. Kelly. I do not know of any other men who would be present at this time. None of the receivers will participate in the conference now, although some of them may come west later. As the representative of the court I am also of the company. I shall have the representatives of the various trades trust in all fairness. I recognize the importance of the trust which the federal court has placed in me and I hope to be able to justify the regard shown by Judges Caldwell and Sanborn in the appointment of myself as arbiter of the questions which may arise. You have thought of this of the manner in which the conference shall be conducted, whether to separate the trades or hear them together. I shall defer to the wishes of the men in that regard. Beyond this there is little to say regarding the conference. The Bee as I notice being quite as well acquainted with the situation as myself, I do not care to say more than that the situation is not overly pleasant to contemplate at this time."

TO SECRETARY GILLAN THAT SHE HAD A COUNTY WARRANT FOR $45 WHICH HAD BEEN FOUND BY A LITTLE BOY IN THE STREET NEAR HER STORE.

She was instructed to turn the warrant over to the county treasurer. This is supposed to be the warrant that was stolen from Miss Edholm, the school mistress who was attacked and robbed by a young man after she was returning from her school last Friday night.

LARGE TEXAS TIME.

Live Experiences of Showmen in a Lone Star Town.

"I was down in Texas about four years ago," said John Turner, the banjoist, to the New York Herald man, "and I want to tell you that I had the liveliest as well as the most pleasing experience of my life. I forgot the name of the town we played at, but I know we made a jump from there to Fort Worth. "Well, we gave a show to the toughest audience I ever struck, all cowboys and the wildest kind. I came on to do my turn. I started in to play a march, when a big fellow stepped up to the front seats stood up and yelled: "Here, that don't go! Play us a jig!" "Jig, jig, jig," until they were all at it, and you could hear yourself talk. When they quieted down I played the same piece. I finished it up in good shape, and it seemed to hit 'em pretty hard, for when I started to play another tune the same big fellow stepped up and yelled: "Play us over again!" "I played it ten times before I got away from them. That wasn't the end of it, either. After the show we were told to catch the 3 o'clock train for Fort Worth. My side partner, good old Tom McGuire, and myself started for the depot, and incidentally we thought we would get a drink on the way. We stopped at a saloon and there was a gang drinking and waiting quietly up to us. "Give me a little whiskey," says I to the bartender. "Set 'em up for the boys!" broke in a voice behind me. "It was the big fellow who yelled at the time, and he was right. "Don't have so much to say," put in Tom, who was rather snooty. "Say, you're the fellow that sang that song at the show, ain't you?" asked the big fellow. "Yes, I am, and I never sang before such a mob in my life," said Tom. "I've got a $5 bill in my pocket for you, if you'll sing that song again."

SAID SANDOW WAS A LIAR

Champion Jim Uses Low Down Language in Referring to the Strong Man.

PROMISES TO PARALYZE THE PRUSSIAN

Sandow's Manager Undertakes to Explain a Report to Corbett When the Latter Said a Number of Very Unpleasant Things.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Champion Jim Corbett and Eugene Sandow, the strong man, are at loggerheads. Sandow was quoted as saying if he engaged in a contest with Corbett he could easily cripple the champion by simply parrying the latter's leads and rendering his arms useless. Sandow's manager yesterday told Corbett that Sandow wanted to deny that he ever said he could defeat him or that he could cripple him by parrying his blows. "Sandow's a liar," was Corbett's quick reply, "and you tell him that I'll bet $2,500 that I can knock him out with a punch. He's a big stiff, and please tell him that for me. "Whether that message was carried to Sandow is not known. At any rate he sent no answer. "Maritime Championship SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—One big event in the midwinter shooting festival was decided at Shellmound park and it was an important occurrence in the history of local military marksmanship. The championship of the Pacific states went to the Carson City guards of Nevada. Company C of the First Infantry regiment of the National guards of California, champion of this state, was defeated by four points. The Carson City's had ten men shooting, ten shots each, and made the high score of 443 out of a possible 450. Company C's team was close behind with 439 points. The rest of the ten teams had but slightly lower scores. O. Nolte of Company C made a score of 48 points out of a possible 50. Three others made 47. "Western League Meeting. MILWAUKEE, March 13.—Delegates to the spring meeting of the Western League began arriving this morning. William Sharsig, Indianapolis and John J. A number of minor questions will be disposed of when the schedule matter will be taken up. It is almost certain the championship season will open April 25, a majority of the delegates favoring that date. Each club will travel about 12,500 miles. "American Wheelmen's Deliberations. FORCED A DELAY.

Willie Contingent Prevented Business by the City Council Last Night.

The Willie contingent forced an adjournment of the council immediately after roll call last evening, and action on the electric lighting franchise was staved off for at least four days, while the mayor's veto of the ordinance abolishing the office of city electrician remains unacted on in the hands of City Clerk Wakeley, where it was placed just before the council was called to order. An unusual large crowd had assembled in the lobby to see the expected fun over the Corbett veto and the lighting franchise, and a number of ladies and gentlemen were present in the gallery. Parker moved an adjournment until Friday evening at 7 o'clock, and it was so ordered, over the protest of Saunders, who urged that so many matters of importance were pressing that the council should at least hold a session, vote on the Corbett veto and attend to certain ordinances.
