Stood Off the Jailers but Surrendered to a Wagon Load of Patrolmen.

ESCAPED PRISONER BEHIND THE BARS John Wichelow, Who Broke Jail with Mur-derer Carleton, Walks Into the Lincoln Bastile and Surrenders After a Deflaut Resistance.

LINCOLN, March 21 .- (Special Telegram to The Bee.)-John Wichelow, one of the men who escaped from the Dodge county jail at Fremont with Murderer Carleton, was captured in this city at 11 o'clock this forenoon under circumstances nearly leading to a He walked to the county jail, rang the bell and was admitted to the jail office. None of the jailers recognized him, although he had been in their keeping for a couple of weeks. He inquired for one of the prisoners, but at that moment a trusty who happened to walk into the jail office recognized him and gave him away. The patrol wagon was called, but Wichelow drew a revolver and kept the jailers at bay. When the wagon arrived and the police burst into the room they witnessed a startling scene. Wichelow had the jail attendants cornered and was threatening to shoot if they made a move. Officer Green, one of the policemen who arrived in the wagon, walked toward Wichelow and demanded his gun. Wichelow suddenly gave it up, saying that he would surrender, but he would shoot the jailer besurrender, but he would shoot the jailer be-fore he would give up to him. Wichelow talked freely to The Bee reporter when he had been placed behind the bars in the city jail. He said that the bars to the cell in the Fremont jail were out with two saws furnished by himself. He had taken the two briar saws into the jail concealed in his long necktie, which is one of the ordinary made scarfs. The work one of the ordinary made scarfs. The work of cutting the bars consumed two days. The four men, himself, Blake, Duchane and Carleton, left the jail about 2:30 in the morning. After they got on the roof they slung a blanket around the lightning rod and slipped to the ground. As soon as they were free the party divided, Duchane and Carleton going in one direction and Wichelow and Blake in another. When ten miles from Fremont Wichelow and Blake separated. Wichelow had not seen Blake since, and knows nothing of the direction taken by Carleton. He says that if Carleton had any friends on the outside on the night of the escape he knew nothing of it.

PROSTITUTED HER OWN DAUGHTER. PROSTITUTED HER OWN DAUGHTER. A sad case of depravity was unearthed by the police last night shortly before 11 o'clock when they were called to Eighth and J streets to arrest Mrs. John Mc-Namara and her daughter on the charge of prestitution. The girl is but 17 years old. The woman's husband is in the state peni-tentiary serving out a twenty-year sentence for criminal assault, while the benevolent ladies of the city have already rescued a 13-year-old daughter who had been driven

LINCOLN'S CITY FINANCES. Councilman Webster, chairman of the finance committee, created a new subject for conversation at the meeting of the city ouncil last evening by presenting the fol-pear to testify against her mother.

The finance committee, to whom was referred the report of the city clerk showing the condition of the different funds up to and including the last meeting in February, begs leave to call the attention of the coun-cil to the fact that after deducting the $5.700 of claims left over from former years $5,700 of claims left over from former years and paid out of the general fund. We have this year been spending $2,145 per month more than the levy would justly allow, so that at the same rate the general fund would be exhausted by April 1, 1894, thus leaving the council that will be elected April next six months as fast as they have in the past six months, there would be a deficiency of $30,000 in the general fund alone, and it has been urged as a last expedient to ask the county commissioners to have the assessors raise the assessed valuation of this city fully 10 per cent, but it ought not to be necessary, as our duty should be to make our expenses every year correspond with the levy, and as fast as our assessed valuation decreases we should reduce our expenses accordingly.'

The report was filed. Accompanying it was the following resolution:

Whereas, The general fund will be exhausted by the 1st of April or sooner, therefore be it

Resolved, By the mayor and council, that we notify all parties who might have claims against said general fund that this council will not approve or allow any claim against said fund after said levy is exhausted. Some opposition was voiced by Mr. O'Shee and when a vote was taken Messrs. Parker, Roman, Smith, Moseley, Webster and Wood voted for the resolution and Messrs. Dailey O'Shee, Veith, Graham, Holyoke and Mey ers against. The mayor cast the deciding vote in the affirmative. MAY NOT BE SERIOUS.

Secretary Dilworth of the State Board of Transportation says he is not at all perturbed over the constitutional point raised by Judge Kelly of the Union Pacific in the transfer switch case at Schuyler. Mr Dilworth says that at first it looks as if the point raised by the Union Pacific is formidable, but after taking into considera-tion all phases of the question it will be difficult for the Union Pacific to escape the provisions of the transfer switch law if the Board of Transportation shall decide that the switch is needed and should be put in. The law requires the two roads to put in transfer switches at junction points unless the roads interested can prove to the antiess the roads interested can prove to the satisfaction of the Board of Transportation that the construction of the switch is an unnecessary burden. With this view of the case the Union Pacific's fine point loses its force. If the board decides that the switch is necessary at Schuyler there is nothing to prevent the B. & M. from going ahead in the exercise of the right of eminent domain. The B. & M. can con-demn the right of way if necessary up to the Union Pacific's right of way. The right of way once secured by the B. & M. the two companies can easily divide the expense. The law makes both roads deendants jointly in the event of a conroversy in the courts.

The only point involved in uncertainty, cording to the views of Mr. Dilworth, is thether the state can compel the Union Pacific receivers to obey any order the board may see fit to make in the premises The receivers are created by the federa courts and may decline to acknowledge any responsibility to state courts. In such event the attorney general of Nebraska may file a petition in intervention with the federal court and ask to be made a party to the suit for the appointment of receivers

HER STORY OF HENRY REISER'S DEATH

Defendant Overcome While Telling of Her Relations; with Her Dead & Lover-Attorneys Have a Merry Time in Raising Fruitless Objections

That portion of the audience which assembled in Judge Scott's room yesterday in expectation of hearing something sensational was disappointed, for the prosecution, after the introduction of the testimony of several witnesses to establish the fact of the shooting and the death of Reiser in consequence, rested.

When the examination of witnesses for the defense began things took a little livelier turn and the spectators crowded closer to the railing. Over the admissibility of testimony there were continued tilts between the attorneys and on one or two occasions it looked as if Messrs. Mahoney and Estelle were about to come into collision

The defendant sets up self-defense, claiming to have been frequently threatened by Reiser, but all efforts to get at the history of the connection of the defendant and Reiser and the underlying reasons for the crime by the most adroitly worded questions have been stopped by objections of the state and rulings of the court, to the evident disappointment of a large portion of the lis-

Dr. Slabaugh, the first witness called for the state, testified that he had attended Henry Reiser while lying on the counter of the grocery store and without the usual technical expressions described the wound.

Captain James Austin of the police force of South Omaha produced the revolver as he had picked it up, and after extracting the remaining loads at the instance of Judge Scott, identified the weapon.

Dr. Jonas, who had attended Reiser at the Presbyterian hospital, with the aid of a pencil sketch gave the attorneys for the defense a lesson in anatomy, explaining that the bullet after penetrating to a depth of three inches, completely destroyed the spinal chord, and lodged in the body of the seventh vertabrae. The state rested. 1 3612

After a recess of ten minutes the defense asked to have Witness Snively recalled to testify on some matters which he had for-gotten in giving his testimony Tuesday. He was not in the court room, and James Moore was first called for the defense. He had seen Reiser on the evening of the shooting on the corner of Twenty-fourth and N streets, South Omaha. An objection was raised to the question as to what witness had seen Reiser do at that time, and the witness was temporarily excused.

A ripple of excitement was caused when the defendant took the stand. She testified that she was 24 years of age and married. On October 26 she had been living at the corner of N and Twoniy fourth streets in rooms over a store on the third floor, where she had lived for a month. Before that had lived in Omaha. Was in South Omaha had lived in Omaha. Was in South Omaha October 26 and saw Henry Reiser on the street from her window. Reiser stopped and drawing out his handkerchief beckoned her to come over, which she did. She over-took him in front of Otto Maurer's place. Was continually with him from that time until arrested. She wore a shawl over her head. They watked north on Twenty-fourth street. An objection headed off testimony as to the conversation held between them. Under new tactics of the attorneys the witness was allowed to state that she remembered the conversation. Mr. Slabaugh in making the objection was asked by the court if he was tired and to stand up. When the objection was admitted, Mr. Mahoney arose, and in his argument grew a little warm under the collar, that fact, and then after a little haggling ruled that he would admit all conversation held from the time they were seen together at Twenty-fourth and J streets up to the time of the shooting.

SHE TELLS THE STORY. "After passing Mr. Montgomery," said the defendant, "I told Reiser to take me back to my husband and explain how all the trouble arose—who was to blame, he or I. I asked him what he was going to do. He stamped his foot at me and asked me if I would do what he asked me to. Opposite the store he put his hand on his pocket and said he had six bullets and would let me have all of them. He had pushed me in the street, and when I dropped my revolver he had picked it up, counting the bullets, and saying that he could go me one better. He asked me what I had it for and I said for myself. He swore at me, calling me a vile name, and told me to go home. When he put his hand in his hip pocket I threw up my left hand and fired with my right hand without looking. I do not remember of firing more than two shots. The nex remember some one was picking me up from the sidewalk. "At four times previously Reiser had threatened to shoot me. Once on the Saturday before."

During the giving of her testimony the witness frequently had her hand to her eyes and could not go on with her testi-mony until Judge Scott finally said:

"Well, we will have to adjourn court until this person regains her composure. We cannot have outbreaks like these and tha night as well be understood now. Continuing her testimony after recess the defendant stated that on the Saturday visit Reiser had threatened to choke the life out of her, and on a prior visit had assaulted her and thrown her against a mantelpiece. There the defense rested and County At orney Kaley began his address. The arguments of the county attorney for the state and attorney Mahoney for the defense took up the entire afternoon. Mr. Kaley detailed the facts as brought out by the witnesses for the state and dwelt on the fact that because the shot was from be hind the defendant was pursuing him. Mr. Mahoney in defense made an eloquent argument, which lasted until court adjourned at 5 o'clock.
