MISS MADELINE'S PAST LIFE

Evidence Touching Its Character from the Standpoint of the Defendant.

SOME OF THE DEPOSITIONS ADMITTED

Several of the More Disgusting Were Suppressed-Judge Bradley Makes a Plea to the Press Not to Publish the Details.

WASHINGTON, March 26.-There was great interest today to learn the decision of Judge Bradley upon the admissability of depositions impeaching the character of Madeline Pollard, which the Breckinridge forces had offered and to which the plaintiff opposed numerous objections.

Regarding the sweeping denial of the right to take any depositions, de bene esse, under the act of congress creating the court, the judge said that the judiciary act of 1879 conferred the right in broad terms upon any party to any civil action in any court of the United States. It could not be disputed that this was a court of the United States, and the fact that the court had always maintained the right would justify him in continuing to enforce it until a higher court overruled the practice. There were other grounds upon which he sustained the irregularity of the depositions as a whole. Ob-Jections had been made to the deposition of one Brand because he refused to answer certain questions concerning a woman wh had introduced him to Miss Pollard, said that he did not want to "give away" a married woman and then persisted that he did not know her name.

LACKING IN A MORAL SENSE. The judge said that it appeared that instead of refusing to answer, the man did not know, or was lying. While the direct examination of the witness had brought out nothing derogatory to the plaintiff he had refused to answer a question whether he had taken liberties with her while riding. What object he could have had in refusing to answer, if the answer would have in-jured the plaintiff, the judge could not see since from his own testimony he was ut terly lacking in a moral sense, ad mitting that although he was a married man he was accustomed to visit houses of ill fame. The judge overruled this objection, saying that there was nothing reflecting on Miss Pollard in the testimony, unless It was that she had consented to associate with such a disreputable character as the vitness had admitted himself to be. Vitness had admitted himself to be.

The deposition of one Kaufman was also admitted, but the judge spoke very sharply of these has two, saying that they were utterly unfit to be read before the court, that he would gladly exclude them if he could and expressed the hope that the counsel would see fit to omit the disgracefully obscene matter in them.

He sustained the objections which had been made to the deposition of John Official been made to the deposition of John O'Toole Dr. Green and Dr. Lewis, that they were based on hearsay. Dr. Lewis is the physician who testified that Colonel Swope, th late republican candidate for congress in the Lexington district, had asked him to perform a criminal operation upon a Miss Pollard.

The deposition of a Mrs. Miller and of Roselle, who had been engaged to Miss Pollard while she was in the Wesleyan institute, were admitted, the judge com-menting that the plaintiff had placed her character and her maturity in a measure in question by that clause of the declaration which averred that she had been seduced weather is causing consternation among fruit and vegetable growers, who will be heavy losers therefrom. Early vegetables had well advanced and fruit trees in many places had put forth buds as a result of the recent warm spell, but now the prospects for a good crop have fallen flat. In some places in Illinois, Missouri and southern Iowa the temperature has fallen 10 degrees of 10 degrees above zero. Reports are coming in today from all directions of a complication of the damage previously done by the cold. The statement is now general that the crops of berries and fruits given an early start by the recent warm weather are now an absolute loss. Following are some of the districtes received feday by the Post-Dispatch ture dropped to 20 degrees above zero and ice was an inch and a quarter thick, Peaches are entirely killed and apples are damaged considerably. ST. JOSEPH, March 26.-Early this morning the thermometer registered 6 degrees above zero and the Missouri river is frozen from bank to bank. The mercury has been away below freezing for two days, but it is not believed the apple crop has been injured. The buds were not sufficiently open, it is claimed by those who have investigated the matter, to allow them to freeze.

POMEROY, O., March 26.—The temperature fell to 18 degrees above zero last night. Peaches which are in full bloom and other early fruit are probably killed in southern Ohio. The ground is white with snow. MOWEAQUA, Ill., March 26.—During yesterday the thermometer fell fifty degrees. All peaches and cherries in this section of cen-
