HOGS PUZZLE DEALERS. While prices have averaged 5c to 10c lower

While prices have averaged 5c to 10c lower than last week, the close on hogs today was practically the same as on last Saturday. Nothing now has developed, and the trade is as much at sea as ever in regard to future supplies, prices, etc. Ceneral distrust and uncertainty have paralyzed the speculative element and packers continue to put away the hogs at a loss. On the basis of Chicago prices for product, hogs here should be selling at around 34.90 to $5, and apparently packers loss from 20c to 50c.

and apparently packers lose from 20c to 50c on every hog packed. The bulk of the killing now is for immediate consumption, and on this there is generally enough profit to counterbalues the other.

In accordance with its usual custom, the Cincinnati Price Current figures up the summer supply of hogs as follows: "Pursuing the usual investigations this season, and consolidating the returns as heretofore, the indications reached with reference to supply of hegs estimated to be available for marketing during the period from March 1 to November 1, are shown in the following.

Minnesota, 113; Wisconsin, 111; Michigan, 120; Kentucky, 107; Tennessee, 112. Applying these averages with reference to the morit of each of the several states, the general average reached is 112—or 13 per cent increase, in comparison with last year. The western packing during the eight summer months last year was 6.720,000 hogs. The information now submitted suggests approximately $75,000 as the sain to be lead to the sain to the sain to be lead to the sain to the 875,000 as the gain to be looked for, which quite likely may in fact be exceeded. The causes which have lad up to this prospective enlargement in supplies of hogs include the fact that the shaping of prices the past year and a half has given an impulse to interest in production of hogs, and the past winter season has been especially free from condi-tions adverse to breeding stock. It is there-fore reasonable, under continuance of fa-vorable conditions.

corable conditions, to look for a decided en-argement in the marketable supply. It is well understood by the trade, however, that the movement late in the season is hable to be affected in an important manner by

The week closes with a comparatively heavy run, fally twice as many as were here on last Saturday, the quality of the offerings, as usual, good, with light and light mixed stuff very largely predominating. The market averaged up about a nickel

ing. The market averaged up about a nickel lower than Friday. Heavy supplies and a light shipping demand more than counter-acted the favorable reports from Chicago, and buyers had little difficulty in making their purchases at a good 5c decline. The range of prices was as usual narrow. On the early market the popular price was $5.10, with a $5.12½ top, and the market weak-ening as the morning advanced, late trades were mostly at $5.05, with a low mark of $5. Business was tolerably brisk early, but closed up slow and mean, it being nearly noon before the last hogs sold. Trading was very largely at $5.05 and $5.10, as against $5.10 and $5.15 on Friday and $5.05

CONDITION OF OMAHA'S TRADE

April Closing on Good Business and Outlook for May Excellent,

Disturbances in Other Trade Centers Have Not Affected Omaha So Seriousiy-Evidence that the Business of the Gate City is Growing.

With the promise of settled weather the local lobbers are anticipating some improvement on the business of the last two weeks of April. Past experience has affirmed the influence of atmospherical conditions on the Omaha jobbing trade, and if any significance is to be attached to former precedents the first week of May ought to show slightly better results that the last week of April.

The close of April finds the wholesale business in better condition in Omaha than in almost any other city in the west. As was the case in March, the books of the local dry goods establishments show that they have done more business than during the corresponding month in last year. It is to be doubted whether there is any other jobbing center in the country where the same thing can be truthfully said. As it is well known that individual orders have not only explanation of the increase in business Is that the Omaha jobbers have made big inroads in the business that has in former years gone in part or altogether to rival

The large house trade that has been the feature of the past two months will not be as noticeable this month. Nearly all the retailers have visited the city and made their spring purchases, and the future trade will be largely in the way of filling up orders sent in through the traveling men. It is not to be expected under present conditions that fall samples will attract much notice until later in the season, although some of the boot and shoe establishments are beginning to show them through their trav-The feature of the dry goods trade is the large auction sales of fiannels, blankets and woolen goods which are being held in New York. So far it is apparent that the com-mission men are somewhat wary, not being fully satisfied as to the prospects for fall business. If satisfactory prices are realized at these sales they will probably constitute a basis for prices on these lines for the bal-ance of the season.

In the local trade is noticed an increasing call for summer wash goods of all sorts. Fayal crepe is a leading fabric, and a corded cotton fabric with moire effect is also very popular with the buyers. Moire silks and ribbons are used to a considerable extent for trimming summer weight woolen dress

The grocery trade has continued to improve, but with the exception of a further advance on some lines of dried fruits and a decline of ½ cent on package coffees the trade has been without feature. In hardware and boots and shoes business has been only fair. Hats and caps have not been in active demand, but buyers will probably show more confidence as the weather becomes as

AS DUN SEES IT. Screnity and Sense the Need of the Country at Present. W. H. Roberson, manager of the mercantile agency of R. G. Dun & Co., talking of trade, says: "Conditions are anomalous. Something like 150,000 men deliberately quit work during the past week. As many more in the same localities are crying aloud because they cannot find work. Hundreds of men who claim that idleness is forced upon them are tramping and stealing rides to the capital for the purpose of inducing congress to provide them and perhaps 1,000,000 others with employment and wages. Seven hundred men in Montana stole a train and started to Washington to aid in forcing congress to give them work. Another railroad is calling for 2,000 men to go into state and build a railway. Twelve hundred men are tramping across Iowa, following 'living petition' idea, and could all be absorbed as farm laborers in the great state at this season, if it were their present necessities only they seek to relieve. Unrest, discontent and political vagaries are doing the country more damage than actual enforced idleness. It is true, too true, that many worthy men need em-ployment and are suffering for want of it, but their fellow men are not aiding them in securing work and wages by disturbing the business of the country with strikes and crusades. Congress, capital and corporations are not wholly responsible for the present condition, nor are they in any lawful sense to blame for a situation so un-usual, so critical and so complicated.

"What we need most now is serenity and sense. This is no time to try experiments in legislation or experiments in social and political economy. Men of brawn and mus cle must stand by men of brain and exeprience at this juncture, and jointly they must work out their own and the country's salva-tion. Talk of revolution and acts of anarchistic tendency make a bad matter worse and promise neither present nor future prosperity to either prince or pauper. If the men of discretion in all walks of life will exercise sense the present difficulties will pass without reaching the dignity of a crisis incendiary speeches are met by too much show of brute force trouble may come, and come very suddenly, but if calm discussion and official patience are the rule we shall emerge from the dust and discomfiture of a year's disaster and discouragements stronger and better than ever.

But this is preaching and prophesying. The fact is that business for the week has been dull and trade is spiritless. Money is slowly accumulating in the banks and lethargy prevails lamong the speculators. Nothing has been done during the week of arouse either enthusiasm or hope. Our several proposed enterprises are no nearer realization than a week ago except in the matter of time. The canal scheme has as much life as ever, but less talk is heard. promotors now say that the canal will be nething more than talk in three m if two leading bankers make good their promises of encouragement.

"The warm weather has braced up retail trade quite a good deal, and even real es-tate has felt the rejuvenating effect of the Teturn of spring. "At South Omaha the week has been quiet and featureless. Receipts have been light and prices slow."

SNOW CHURCH & CO.'S VIEW.

Labor Troubles and Tariff Uncertainty Responsible for the Delay in Business. Albert Adriona, local superintendent of Snow, Church & Co.'s mercantile agency,

"The great strikes and generally unsettled condition of affairs throughout the east have. of course, affected business to a greater or less extent. Omaha, however, has more than held its own, and in Nebraska the outlook seems as bright as ever. The abundant rains have put the soil in good condition, and country merchants and farmers alike are jubilant over the prospects for a good crop. "Traveling salesmen report a fair condi-tion of trade in the country, and farmers are busy at work. In groceries business is fair, and the same may be said of dry goods. Implement men report a large trade in repairs, an indication that farmers are using heir old machines wherever possible. Col-ections are only fair and generally small. otwithstanding these facts, the improvement in trade is slow and rather unsatis-actory. This is attributed largely to the acting on the tariff measure. now stated that the bill will be ready by the

"The passage of the Kelly army and other similar bodies of men across the continent has brought home to the business public a sense of the deplorable conditions that exist in some parts of the country. While it may be true, as stated, that many of these men do not care to work, and many of them are cranks, nevertheless it must be admitted that the mere fact that they are securing the sympathy of the best citizens of this vicinity is proof of the deep-seated conviction that their cause is not entirely injust. Adding to this the fact that many of those composing the army which passed through Omaha were ap-parently very respectable tradesmen, and the importance of this move will be more movement, in many instances freely ex-pressed by the most successful and prominent business men, which is convincing proof that in a relative degree these same men, in many instances men of large means and un-impeachable integrity, are bearing their share of the general business depression. While it is not certain what this aggregation of unemployed may accomplish in their visit to the national capital, it is to be hoped that their protests and personal petitions may succeed in accelerating the actions of congress,

"The situation at present may be summed up about as follows: The country is in a fair condition, financial affairs on a reasonably well established basis, the prospects of a successful harvest exceedingly good. Every favorable indication of returning activity in business is apparent, and it seems that the only obstacle to a favorable reaction in trade is the doubt as to the ultimate outcome of tariff legislation. If the present favorable conditions continue to prevail and the tariff matter is promptly decided, there is no reason why the usual fall business, and in fact a fair summer business, may not accrue."

NEW YORK, April 28.—There was a good request for a moderate quantity of seasonable stufts of all miscellaneous complexion, which is the accumulation of orders during the auction sales. Other than this, trade was quiet, and the market descried at an early hour. There was something done in fancy dress goods for immediate wants, but much more was laid out for autumn. Printing cloths were very dull and quotations nominal, at 2%c and outside sales at 2 11-18c. This means that the factories usually busy turning out orders at this filme of the year are idle, awaiting the course of events. In other words, there is a general stagnation in manufacturing, and incidently in wholesale affairs, pending the decision of this important measure. the decision of this important measure. It is not now only a question of whether the Wilson bill will pass, or whether the high protective tariff will obtain; the main Weakness in Other Markets Influenced Oats to Some Extent-Fear of Labor Troubles Kept Provisions Down to Bottom Prices.

> CHICAGO, April 28.-Speculation was in a waiting mood today in the wheat market. Compared with closing prices of the day before there was a 14c decline. Corn was limp and lost half of the previous day's advance value. Provisions could not stand the amount of short selling which was done and closed lower. Trading in May wheat was relegated to a > secondary position, such business as was done in it being confined entirely to buying in or selling out of provious contracts. The market was without feature and the fluctuations were limited to %c in both May and July.

Dullness was again coupled with weakness in the corn pit. The favorable conditions prevailing, together with the prospect of increasing receipts, caused the weakness. Scarcity of new business and the disinclination of traders to change their positions accounted for the duliness. The lowest point of the day prevailed at the close.

The weakness in the other markets in-fluenced oats to some extent. Hess took quite a fair amount of May as well as July. Bids for the latter month were free during most of the session and a comparatively steady feeling existed, showing a net decline of only 1/2c at the close, while the other de-liveries were from 1/2c to 3/2c off. Provisions were again weak on fear of labor troubles. Compared with yesterday's losing quotations, losses are shown of 12½c o 15c in pork, 7½c in lard and 2½c in ribs. Estimated receipts for Monday: Wheat, 112 cars; corn, 456 cars; oats, 350 cars; hogs, 24,-

London Wheat Market.

London Wheat Market.

LONDON, April 28.—The weather during the past week has been favorable and rain has proved beneficial to the crops. The wheat market has been dull and depressed at 3d to 5d down for red. In Russian wheat heavy shipments are imminent. Of La Plata wheat the quantitles afloat are large. Red American was easy and white was barely steady, owing to the rain. California cargo business was slow, California afloat being quoted at 28s. Parcels were dull. Hard Manitoba, May and June deliveries, were quoted at 25s 6d. The country markets were quiet. Flour is a turn easier. American shippers were in easy demand and quiet. Cotton Market.

It is confidently asserted that refined sugar is to be fully protected, that the bonded period is to be fixed to suit the distillers and that the duty on lead is to be increased 14c per pound. The trading on the Stock exchange was mainly in Sugar, Lead, Distilling and Chicago Gas, with only small trading in the railway list, chiefly in St. Paul, Burlington & Quincy and Reading-Sugar monopolized almost one-half of the transactions and was in good buying detransactions and was in good buying de-mand, making an advance of 3½ per cent to 104% and closing within ¼ per cent of the highest price touched. The preferred stock made a gain of 1¼ per cent. Lead rose 2% per cent for the common and 2½ per cent for the preferred, closing at the top per cent for the preferred, closing at the top figures. Distilling fluctuated between 25 and 25%, the last sale being at 25%. Chicago Gas rose ½ per cent, the last being the best price of the day. The trading in the rail-way list was dull and uninteresting, the near futures somed to be that there is some uncertainty as to the effect that May deliveries will have upon the cash wheat market and upon the near futures, as the premium for the latter has been too high to compaire with most other years. Last year July was to higher than May, while now the spread ranges from he to be. The market closed: April, 60 cc, May, 60 16 16 out; way list was dull and uninteresting, the only changes on the day's transactions in excess of a fraction being declines of 1 per cent in New Jersey Central, Louisville & New Albany and Oregon Short Line. St. Paul was sold in small lots by London

44 per cent. Burlington & Quincy moved within a limit of 14 per cent. Comstock Tunnel declined 1 per cent. The market was in better tone in the late dealings than earlier in the day and closed fairly strong. The result of the week's trading has been in the main a depreciation in values. The bond market today was generally heavy and closed easier in tone. The Evening Post says: Today's bank statement was pretty much what ought to have been expected; for interior demand for money will hardly revive while strikes in important industries are so numerous. Moreover, the plain meaning of this week's ex-tremely disappointing auction sales in th dry goods market is that Jobbers and re-tailers alike are decidedly unwilling to stock up with merchandise until they know the future of the fariff. With production on the checked throughout the country, an increase this week of $4,314,700 in bank deposits and of $2,488,800 in average bank cash holdings, despite the specie exports, was not in the least unnatural. And, of course, in the present state of home and foreign money markets, every additional million of idle cash heaped up in New York City adds to the presumption that new and large money equirements abroad will be satisfied by withdrawals of gold from here.

Receipts for the Week Were Much Lighter Than for the Week Preceding.

CATTLE TRADE IS MUCH DEPRESSED

Consumptive Demand Cut Off and Business Generally Disturbed by the Numerous Labor Troubles-Hogs Promise a Good Summer's Packing.

SATURDAY, April 28. This has been a week of very unevenly distributed receipts. Compared with last week, there has been a decrease all around, while compared with a year ago cattle show a decrease and hogs and sheep an increase. With an average run of stock Monday, the four months receipts, compared with supplies for the corresponding period a year ago, will show a decrease of about 41,000 cattle and 24,000 sheep, while the increase In hog receipts will amount to nearly 130,000 head. Receipts for the week with comparisons are shown in the following table;

Receipts this week... 15.115 23.573 2.999 Receipts last week... 18.152 24.256 7.846 Same week last year, 19.030 32.449 4.701 Fluctuations in cattle values have been frequent and at times violent, but the close of the week finds values 15c to 25c lower than six days ago on an average. In general there has been no marked change in the conditions surrounding the trade. Two factors enter largely into the market at present, one the matter of receipts and the other the state of European markets, and the consequent nature of the demand for export cattle. When the demand for cattle across the water is capable of absorbing all our surplus of fatted beeves and the home demand is normal, prices are bound to be favorable to the producer no matter whether receipts at the trading market centers are heavy or not. But when, as has been the case for nearly a fortnight, the demand both at home and abroad falls below the average, even comparatively light receipts fall to stimulate prices.

The consumptive demand for beef has been and continues to be very mercurial. Two weeks ago trade appeared to be picking up nicely, but of late strikes, lock-outs and labor troubles all over the country have had a very disastrous effect, and the dressed beef men again complain of full coolers and no market. It is not so much a matter of surprise that prices have declined as that they have declined so little, but this is probably because values are so low that much more of a decline would shut off supplies entirely. The present condition of affairs entirely. is certainly decidedly unfavorable, as much so to the slaughterer as to the producer. SATURDAY SCORES A SLUMP.

Receipts today were somewhat larger than anticipated and resulted in a further softening of values. There was nothing in the situation east to encourage speculative activity, and buyers for local houses were decidedly indifferent, while exporters were inclined to await developments next week. In consequence it was another case of hunt-ing for the good, light cattle, and neglecting the heavier grades. Prices averaged fully a dime lower than Friday, the decline being felt most on the heavier cattle. Early trading was decidedly slow, but it looked as if the low prices later proved attractive to all classes of buyers, and by noon a very decent clearance had been effected. The market for cow stuff has shown very little change all week. This class of stock continues to constitute a very small proportion of the total receipts, and as buyers are all after it trade is generally lively and soon over. There were not over eighteen loads on sale today all told. The good fat stock sold quickly at strong prices, while the common grades ruled slow and weak. Calves were freely offered, and while there was a very fair demand, prices shaded lower on all grades. Bulls, oxen and stags were in fair supply and demand. Prices quotably un-Early in the week the stocker and feeder market was rather dull, with the supply liberal and the demand light. For the past wo or three days, however, conditions have been exactly reversed, and offerings have been kept well cleaned up from day to day. The demand has been most active for the light stock cattle to go on grass, but all grades have been wanted, and prices in general are quotably 15c to 25c higher than a week ago. Good to choice feeders are quoted at from $3.25 to $3.85, fair to good at from

$3 to $3.25, and lighter, commoner g from $3 down.	56 5 5 10 75 5 10
