The council accepted an invitation to attend the session of the national conven-tion of the Ancient Order of Hibernians Maggie Cole, a little Irish girl whose home is in Nebraska City, left that place about next Wednesday evening. At this juncture Parker discovered that two months ago because her condition was such that she felt that she could not longer remain in a community where she was known and came to South Omaha, where she secured employment as a waitress in the recently burned Lee hotel. She stayed there but a short time, as her appearance was such as to excite comment, and Wednesday morn ing called on the county commissioners to ask that she he sent to the county hospital until after her confinement. None of the commissioners were about the office and it was after noon when she finally managed to admitting her to the hospital. She secured directions from Clerk Hoerner as to how to

The building was a frame shell, with a brick veneer, and as the thin brick wall be-came heated from the flames behind the veneer gave way and the firemen had to keep an eye out for falling bricks. It wa during the time of the failing walls that Jack Simpson, driver of hose company No 8, was hit with a brick and stunned. He fell and sprained his ankle and was taken home Insurance men say that the building was not worth more than $5,000, if that. Billow & Doup's loss will fall under this amoun and Gutting's less. The total loss will hardly reach $12,000, all fully insured except Gutting's stock. The property belongs to the Folsom estate.

Notwithstanding the fire the Sousa concert will take place in Exposition hall tonight. There was no damage done to the Exposi-tion hall or the Fifteenth Street theater. During the fire, sparks from the burning excelsior set fire to L. W. Denton's house, directly west and adjoining the annex on Davenport street. The entire rear part of this house was burned, and the loss or building and contents will amount to $500 The residence of William Jackson, colored, 1415 Davenport street, also caught fire and was damaged to the extent of $100. Fire Reporter Beard did good service in bringing persons who owned property or did business in the vicinity. Mr. Billow says that his firm will resume business as soon as new quarters can be cured. For several years prior to the fall of 1890 the annex was used as a city hall, the base-ment being used for the city jail, police barn and police court room, and the second floor for a number of city offices and council chamber.

Vacant House Burned.

A one-story frame house at the southwest corner of Forty-second avenue and Spaulding streets, formerly occupied as coal office, but which has been vacant for a year, was damaged to the extent of $700 last night by fire, which is said to have been of incendiary origin.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Tonight at Exposition hall, which was unharmed by the fire yesterday, a concert will be given by Sousa's grand band, the Apollo club chorus of 100 voices, and Miss Mey Mecusker, soprano.

Sousa's following is increasing very rapidly everywhere. No one is so well known as a march writer, and his writings alone would make him famous all over the world after two such successful marches as the "High School Cadets" and the "Wash-ington Post." These show a wonderful re-source of catching strains and bewitching melody, and also something of what Sousa can do with band arranging. He is almost un-precedentedly clever in this way, and almost can do with band arranging. He is almost in-precedentedly clever in this way, and almost every score is touched up and made more at-tractive by his pen. This is why some of the most familiar music sounds so nevel and attractive when played by Sousa's band. But beyond all of his fame as a composer is his greateness as a conjuctor. composer is his greatness as a conductor. This was demonstrated when he made so much of the United States Marine band And now that he has his own citizen band nposed of the cream of the soloists of Gilmore's, Cappa's, the United States Marine band and other bands, he is enabled to give his talents full sway, and there is no one to dispute that he has the finest military band ever organized and gives the finest concerts.

The two choruses to be sung by the Apollo club will be adjuncts of great in-terest. They will be conducted by Mr. Pen-nell and accompanied by the band. Sousa will play his new march, "Manbat-ton Beach." which many declars to be bis when the societies were called to order in the afternoon. Dr. Sherwin of Edgar was the first speaker, and he explained the workings of his saliva ejector, which has before been described. Dr. Dieffenbacher dilated on his favorite method for using an an-mesthetic, and gave a further description of the Hayes process. The feeling against the use of gas or narcotics in any form, except in the most painful cases, was plainly shown in the discussion of the subject by other members. Dr. Johnson of Chicago condemned the dentists who advertised the painless extraction of teeth in unsparing terms. He said that the so-called nostrums for enabling dentists to pull teetn without pain were frauds, and had caused the reputable dentists more trouble than any other one thing in their profession. He was greatly in favor of discarding the use of anaesthetics, and thus avoiding evil after effects on the patient. Dr. Miller of Grand Island spoke about his style of bridge and open-faced crown work.

J. J. Grout of Rock Rapids, Ia., read a paper on "The Care, Attention and Extraction of Deciduous Teeth." He was of the opinion that too little care was given to children's teeth, and said that if more attention was paid to the mouths and teeth by parents when the children were able to walk there would be less trouble for the little ones an they got older. He believed that the rules of health and a good health diet would make the teeth grow strong as well as other por tions of the anatomy. He said that i mothers exercised more care in raising their infants the teeth would not prove very troublesome in after years. He made his remarks very effective by the use of some large charts.

James E. Flerner of Oskaloosa, Ia., read an essay on: "Why Don't We Try?" He was followed by William H. Steele of Forest City, Ia., with a paper on "Useful Hints."

The meeting adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning, and today will be taken up in reading minutes, hearing reports from various committees and the installation of the newly elected officers, after which the convention will adjourn sine die and most of the mem hers will go home, although some of then hers will go home, although some of them have arranged to remain over for a short time to visit in Omaha and Council Bluffs. Yesterday two members of the Iowa Dental association, J. G. Hildebrand and S. P. Von Lackum of Waterloo, were expelled for violating professional ethics in doing extravagant advertising. Mr. Peter Walsh died at 10 o'clock Wednesday night at his home, Thirty-first and Leavenworth streets.

Mr. Welsh was born in Ireland and came with his parents to this country when very About twelve years ago he left Bosyoung. on and the east and traveled to Fargo, N. D., in which vicinity he invested a large amount of money about the time of the Jay Cook failure. He sold his Dakota interests about eight years ago and came to Omaha a year later, when the "boom" was at its height. He purchased a great deal of property in South Omaha and Omaha, and since that time has been one of the heavy taxpayers of the city. He was 65 years old and leaves four children, Mrs. Tim Sullivan, South Omaha: Edward and John*of Omaha and Peter of LaCrosse, Wis. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Peter's church. Interment at the cemetery of the Holy Sepulcher.

Charged with Embezzling.

A complaint was filed in police court yesterday morning by M. O. Maul alleging that one Charles M. Bachman is guilty of embezzling the sum of $49. Bachman was a collector in Maul's employ and collected money for which he gave receipts to the debtors, but never turned the amounts into the offic said Maul. It has been common talk for some days that Bachman had held out money collected and a check of the books was made with the above result. An officer went out at once to hunt up the offender.

Charles Bachman, for whom a warrant has been issued charging embezzlement, cannot be found. He was to have gone to Maul's yesterday morning at 9 o'clock to explain how his collections came to be short, but he did not go there. All the detectives and police officials are looking for him.

Some time ago a proposition was received from Spitzler & Co. of Toledo offering to place the refunded bonds at 4½ per cent instead of 6 per cent, which they now draw. The bonds amount to $119,000 and the Toledo amount. The bonds have been running thirteen years and have seven years longer to run, but the city has the option of paying them now at any time. The commissioners did not think favorably of the offer to re-fund until a supplemental proposition was received, making it a twenty-year bond with
