FALCONER 1505-1507-1509 DOUGLAS ST. FALCONER

Slaver of Charlie Thomas Found Guilty of Manslaughter.

COURT REQUESTED TO BE SEVERE

Regarded as a Desperate Character and the Jury Thought Ten Years at Hard Labor a Proper Sentence.

LINCOLN. May 12 .- (Special to The Bee. -The jury in the case in winch Green S Graveley was charged with the murder of Charlie Thomas brought in its verdict this forenoon, after being out for nearly fortyeight hours. The verdict was that Graveley was guilty of manslaughter and the jury recommended to the court the heaviest sentence permitted by the statutes, which is ten years at hard labor. The verdict is considered extremely fortunate for the accused, for a formidable number of the jurors held out for conviction of murder in the first degree. The evidence was thoroughly discussed in the jury room and those in favor of the lighter sentence finally prevailed. While a great many who have followed the case believe that Graveley killed his adversary in self-defense, the proof was not strong enough to convince the jury. Graveley has already served a term in the Ne braska penitentiary for manslaughter, hav-ing killed a man at Sidney in a saloon fight a number of years ago. He was at one time trooper in the Ninth United States cavalry and bears the scars of a great many encounters with the Indians. He is a desper ate character, however, and a great many people feel that the community will be safe;

while he is making barrels in the state penitentiary. STATE UNIVERSITY NOTES.

Mr. Weidensall was the first man to sugmpanies contribute $116,000 per year. first work in this line was on the Union Pacific. He suggested the organization of the states into counties to better superintend and develop associations in cities and preserve organizations in small cities which were not able to support a secretary.

At the twenty-first anniversary of the llinois state committee, held in Elgin, October 15, Mr. Weidensall was presented with a gold watch as a token of their esteem and appreciation. He suggested, encouraged and fostered the organization of associations in There are now 455 college associations, with a membership of over 39,000 of the strongest men of our colleges, and 24,000 men have been reported to have become Christians through its influence since its or-ganization. This has been one of the great-est works of the association. He suggested the organization of schools for the training of secretaries; now there are two schools e at Chicago and one at Springfield, both loing excellent work.
