they discovered that the man they were looking for was in that city. When the of-ficers started out to find their man they were cautioned to use more than ordinary care in making the arrest. They found their man standing in one of the machine shops talking to a moulder. Willson was caught off his guard by the officers, and almost before he had any in-timation of danger he was in the hands of Detective Flynn, who grabbed him by the wrists. It was a wise move, for as quick as the officer seized him Wilson dived down into his pants pocket and attempted to shoot without drawing his gun. Ser-geant Mahaney saw the move and pulled Charles' hand out, taking the gun away from him. The prisoner tried to bite the men, but a hard blow in the mouth knocked ou several teeth and took the fight out of the murderer. He was locked up and the Syracuse officers notified. When Dink was told that the officers had succeeded in taking Charles alive and without any of them get ting hurt, he laughed and refused to believe the statement. Charles was so angry at being taken unawares by the officers that he fairly frothed at the mouth. He awore viontly and said that if he had half a chance that he would have killed the policeman of have been killed himself. The men in the machine shops did not know of the character of Wilson, and when he was roughly handled by the officers they were inclined to offer to assist him, but when they learned that was one of the murderers of Detective Harvey they were more than willing to render the officers any assistance.

The Wilson boys were raised in Omaha and are well but not favorably known in this city. When they were mere lads at school they gained a reputation for desperate daring which caused them to be feare and avoided by their play fellows. When they were going to school here they used to organize and lead gangs of boys into more or less serious mischief. They kept this up until their names began to appear on the police blotters, and the Omaha officers had to keep them under continual surveillance. From petty crimes they branched out into greater ones, and now their names, descriptions and photographs adorn nearly every rogue's gallery in the country.

THEIR FIRST SERIOUS SCRAPE. The first time these young men became prominently known in police circles was when they were arrested in Leavenworth. Kan., with a complete set of finely made burglar's tools. The fine finish of the tools nitracted the attention of the western police who at once began to regard the boys as being more than ordinary criminals. Durin their imprisonment in the Leavonworth jall they wrote to their sister Nettle in this city. The cirl was then a saleswoman in a stor-The girl was then a saleswoman in a store on Farnam street. forfeiting their ball.

The chief of police in Kansas City notified Chief Seavey of their escape and local officers were put at work to locate them.

"Dink" and Charles were soon located at Twenty-ninth and Cassius streets. When placed under arrest they made a desperate fight, but with much difficulty they were overpowered and locked up in the city jail. Then their photographs were placed in the Omaha rogues' gallery for the first time. The men resisted all efforts to get photo-graphs of them, but with the aid of a kodak Chief Seavey caught them off their guard and secured the identifying likenesses which were the means of their final capture for brutal murder of Detective Harvey. The boys were afterward ordered to the city, which they did. They went to St. Joseph, Mo., and fell in with Siye and Hedspeth, the train robbers, who were then ex convicts from the Missouri penitentiary. It was then that the notorious train robbing gang, whose daring robberles almost para lyzed railway officials, was organized. They sent to Omaha for three more crooks named Getche, Kellner and Hawkins. These three were all ex-convicts ready to do any kind of crooked work. The gang was organized when the recruits reached St. Joseph. A few days afterward they were joined by a burglar named McDermott, who had just finished serving a sentence in the Canon City, Colo, penitentiary. This McDermott was arrested once in Denver on suspicion of being the murderer of Officer John Phillips. who was shot by a burglar whom he caugh in the act of going through a house on his beat. Nothing could be proven against the man, and he turned up in Omaha shortly nfterward, where he was recognized and arrested by Sergeant Ormsby. The Denver police were notified, but as they did not have a case against him he was released and told to leave the city. He then went to St. Joseph and joined the now thoroughly or-ganized Wilson gang, of whom "Dink" and Charles were the leaders. They had enough men then to do daring work, and their plans were laid for the successful and thrilling

Then the gang went into Missouri. They made their headquarters in St. Louis, where they planned the famous Adams express car rebbery on the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, which took place near Pacific, Mo. They secured $15,000 by this haul. Up to this time the robbers had been extremely fortunate, and as they had stolen large sums of money it was agreed to divide the plunder and separate, for the officers all over the country were on the alert to effect capture and earn the big rewards that were

The division of the "swag" took place in a house in the heart of St. Louis. Sly and Hedspoth went to California and enjoyed life on the Pacific coast with their ill-gotten gains. The others of the gang went in various directions. William Desmond, chief of the St. Louis city detective force, put all his men at work to try and capture the daring robbers. He ame to Omaha with Detective McGrath and sought assistance from Chief Seavey, who gave the St. Louis officers all the help and information at his command. A systematic bunt was then begun for the members of the gang. Chief Desmond located the woman in St. Louis at whose house the gang had made their headquarters. and where they had divided the spoils. In order to save herself from prosecution for harboring criminals the woman told the thief all she knew about the men. Sly was arrested at Los Angeles, Cal. On is person was found the watch taken from he express messenger and a ring that known to have been in the express safe. He was taken back to Missouri, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to twenty years in the Jefferson City penitentiary. Later informa-tion was received that Hedspeth was receiving mail under an alias at San Francisco Cal. This information was communicated to the San Francisco police, who arrested Hedspeth a few days later as he was calling for his mail at the postoffice. Shortly after this two members of this gang attempted to hold up a train near Fort Scott, Ark., but were overpowered and killed. Hedspeth fought his case bitterly in the courts, but was finally convicted and sentenced to twenty-five years in the Missouri state orison. Dink Wilson escaped, went into the nountains near Utah and was in hiding for long time. This was the last trace the had of him until his arrest for the murder of Detective Harvey.

LONG LIST OF BURGLARIES. Since that time Charles Wilson and Mc Dermott were arrested in Council Bluffs for owing open a safe in a store on Broadway While in jail in Council Bluffs Nettie Wil son went over there from this city and again secured bail for both of them. They mediately forfeited their bonds and left he country. They were next heard of it Los Angeles, where they blew open several safes, making some rich hauls. The San Francisco police finally caught them and seured their conviction for one of the minor jobs they did and the men were sentenced to the San Quentin penitentiary for a term of five years each. On their way to the pententiary Charles Wilson effected his escape through the negligence of his guards. Me-Dermott was not so fortunate and he is now serving his sentence in the California prison.
Some time after this the safe in Julius Treitschke's saloon in this city on Thir-teenth and Howard streets was blown open by experts and $1,400 worth of money and lewelry stolen. Detectives Savage and Dempsey were of the opinion that this job was done by Getche, Kellner and Pete Haw-kins. The robbers must have left the city at once, for no trace of them could be found.

In a short time after the robbery Chief Seavey received information from sheriff of Carroll county, Iowa, that that two men, whom he described, had broken out of the county jail there. These men were cap-tured in the act of blowing open a safe in he city of Carroll and were locked up in the county jail, from which they made their es-cape. The Omaha police knew from the description of the burglars that they were Hawkins and Kellner. They were arrested a week later by Detectives Savage and Dempsey in a room over the New York chop house, on Fourteenth street, near Douglas. They still had on prison clothes, not hav-ing had time to make a change. As soon as they were locked up the Carroll county sheriff was notified and soon arrived in Omaha. He identified and claimed his prisoners, and after putting on the handcuffs and shackels he offered to wager that the men would not escape again. In twentyfour hours after he reached Carroll with the men Hawkins was again a free man, having cut his way through the bars with small

The Wilson boys, who were the heads of the gang and who planned and helped execute the most of these robberies, were lost track of until they were arrested for blowing open a safe in Syracuse by Detective Har-

Getche and Hawkins are the only ones of this dangerous gang who are now at large, and it is only a question of time until they are lodged behind the bars. This is the history of the Wilson gang. This crowd used to laugh to scorn the fancied security in any modern safe, and the public in general has reason to feel thankful that this gang has been so thoroughly broken up, with most of its members confined in the various prisons throughout the country.

The Wilson family is now said to be living on a farm near Paterson, N. J. Since the trial of "Dink" every move the family has made has been known to the detectives. Nettic Wilson, who has assumed an alias, is said to have acted as treasurer for her brothers, and during the trial she was present in Syracuse. She did all in her power to save her brother, but the evidence was too strong against him. Charles Wilson will be put on trial for his life some time this summer. HOW DINK WAS DISPOSED OF. A few years ago the general assembly of ew York adopted electricity for the execution of criminals, and so far it has proven quite successful. While death by this means must necessarily be violent, it is argued that it is instantaneous, and is more hu-mane than any other means which has yet been tried. The means adopted to kill "Dink" Wilson were the same as those used in the execution of several other men. The apparatus consisted of a stationary engine, an alternating-current dynamo and exciter. Cardew voltmeter, with extra resistance coil, calibrated for a range of from thirty to 2,000 volts; an ammeter for alternating currents from 0.1 to 3 ampheres, a Wheatstone bridge, rheostat, switches, the death chair, etc. The dynamo was an alternatingcurrent machine, capable of generating a maximum electro-motive pressure of 2,376 volts. After the apparatus had been carefully tested the condemned man was strapped to the electric chair with his head reclining against an electrode. The poil of the electrode was firmly bound to the base of the brain, and the hair covering that part of the skull had been shaven off in order to permit a close contact of the in-strument. The bands were placed in a solution of warm salt water containing electrodes and alternating currents were applied on the calves of the legs. As soon as the current was turned on with there was a sudden stiffening of the whole muscular system, and the deadly current rapidly dissolved the tissues of life. In an instant after the turning of the current all signs of life were extinct, Yesterday's Game Between Omaha and Quincy Was Decide: ly Old-Fashioned.

SUCKERS SMOTHERED AT THE OUTSET

Home Team Made Enough in the First Two to Win Three or Four Close Games St. Joe and Lincoln Hold On.

Omaha, 20; Quincy, 10, Lincoln, 7; Peoria, 6, St. Joseph. 22; Jacksonville, 6, Rock Island, 8; Des Moines, 5, Pittsburg, 6; Chicago, 3, Cieveland, 7; St. Louis, 3, Cincinnati, 12; Louisville, 7, Brooklyn, 14; Washington, 7, Philadelphia, 5; New York, 4, Baltimore, 16; Boston, 5, Toledo, 4; Indianapolis, 3, Grand Rapids, 19; Detroit, 5.

Well, we won the first one anyway. Quincy's aggregation of ball tossers made heir first appearance at the Omaha grounds resterday, and your Uncle Bill's pennant winners jumped onto them with their No. 10 shoes and fairly stamped the life out of them. It wasn't even close enough to be interesting, and the only fault that your uncle had to find was that the visitors always hopped in with an error just when an earned run was in sight. Thirty big, succulent runs and only four of them earned.

While the game was too one-sided to arouse much enthusiasm, it included one or two of the prettiest plays that have been seen here this season. Double plays were as numerous as dandelions on a sunny hillside and DuShane's one-handed catch of Jami sen's fly to the center field fence in the Munyun made a couple of grand stand Munyun made a couple of grain stand pick ups of what were meant for clean hits, and Wood cut Mr. Krehmeyer off at the plate by as pretty a stop and throw as was ever seen on a diamond.

It would take a page to tell how the runs were gained. The home team just batted around in the first inning to get their hand in and in the second they batted around twice, something that is rarely seen on a ball field. They had eighteen men at bat in that inning and three home runs helped to swell the total. Sherwood found life too hard in that inning and he was retired in favor of Harkness, who was also touched up enough to last him a week. Munyan led at the bat with two home runs, two two-baggers and a single, and Wood and Fear have five hits each to their credit. It was simply a slaughter, but the Quincy lads say they will do better today, and it is to be hoped that they will. Lucas umpired with much better success than previ-ously, and there was but very little dissatisfaction with his decisions. H He has man that kicks, and this seems to have salutary effect on the players. This tells the story of the game: OMAHA. AB. R. 1B. SH. SB. PO. A. E. BENTUCKY DERBY CANDIDATES. Youngsters at Churchill Downs Getting Ready for the Long Journey. LOUISVILLE, May 14.-The derby candidates here, Pearl Song, Pat Sigurd and Tom Elmore, were all given exercise this morning. Chant and Spinistand are expected to arrive from Lexington today. Pearl Song, Sigurd and Tom Elmore looked none the sirvive from Lexifiction today. Pearl Song, Sigurd and Tom Elmore looked none the worse for the punishment of Saturday, and promise to be been Tuesday for the test. Little that is Lexificatory is heard of Springland, the Longfellow-Aconite colt, but many Lexingletiflurfmen say that he will do. Chant, possibly, has the strongest following, the objects being that actual racing has prepared him better than other entries for staying and fighting the distance. Pearl Song, however, presses Chant close on the score of favoritism. He is regarded as a game, faithful runner, that will stand whip and steel. Sigurd might add to the list of Derby surprises, but on account of their showing Saturday, he and Tom Elmore are thought to be lacking in ability to stay the route. Al Boyer and Rhett Good are still eligible, but there is no indication that either will be a starter. As many as five are confidently expected to be at the post. The horse that goes the distance in 2:42 will, in the opinion of some good judges, be the winner, but some of the slowest racers have been the successful and most interesting to watch.

With a cloudless sky it is expected fully 15,000 or 20,000 people will pass through the grates at Churchill Downs tomorrow. The track is in fine condition, and when the Lexington contingent arrives early tomorrow morning there will be 700 horses at the track. The list of probable starters has now narrowed to six, and at least two of these are liable to be scratched at the last moment. These are Tom Elmore and Sigurd, leaving Chant, Pearl Song, Pat and Alboyer to start, each carrying 122 pounds. Chant sold as the favorite too night in the pools, with Pearl Song and Alboyer second and third choices. Pearl Song and Chfint each had an equal number of friends, and they will probably go to the post at about 8 to 5 each. The others should taper from 3 to 8 to 1. At the Turf Exchange tonight pools on the Kentucky Derby sold as follows: Alboyer, $10; Sigurd, $8; Tom Elmore, $5; Chant, $80; Pat, $10; Pearl Song, $56. Field, even money against Chant.

Brooklyn handicap were not worked today, as they have had their final preparation, and they will rest until tomorrow. Ajax was out early for a short canter at a low rate of speed, and now and again one of the others appeared for a few minutes, cantering enough to keep their blood in circulation. Sir Walter was expected from Jerome Park, but at 10 o'clock he had not put in an appearance. His work has been done, however, and he will get nothing more than a warming up canter after his journey hither.

The crowd at the track was larger than is usual on Monday morning, for they thought that they would have a chance to see the great son of Midlothian try the course. It was the general opinion that it was a mistake on the part of Walter Rollins to delay so long in sending his charge to the place where the race is to be run, and the change from the saddlebags track at Jerome Park may effect his race. All of the other candidates have been tried on the track, and the favorite of the eastern turfmen has not.

The wiseacres at the track were this morning discussing Banquet's chances, and all think that he has a good chance to win. Leonawell was out and showed signs of lameness, which did not wear off as he was cantered slowly. It has not yet been fully decided whether he will be sent to the post, but the chances are against it. Don Alonzo may be sent as a pacemaker for Banquet, but he is not considered in favor by his owner. All sorts of rumors are affoat, as is the case generally before the race, and it was said that Clifford had gone amiss in one of his legs, but no credence was placed in it by those who had seen the horse. Dr. Rice gets to be a stronger fayorite as the time of the race draws near, and from all that could be learned he did well yesterday, as his rider had his hands full to keep the colt within bounds, when he went the distance in 2:12. Trainers and horsemen have the race narrowed down to Sir Walter, Dr. Rice, Clifford, Henry of Navarre, Banquet, Sport and Ajax. The horses are named above in the order of

be learned he did well yesterday, as his rider had his hands full to keep the colt within bounds, when he went the distance in 2:12. Trainers and horsemen have the race narrowed down to Sir Walter, Dr. Ribe, Clifford, Henry of Navarre, Banquet, Sport and Ajax. The horses are named above in the order of their preference. Sir Walter has the largest following, but Dr. Rice is a close second to him.

Clifford's fall in estimation is due to the way he worked on Saturday, which horsemen think indicated that the great son of Bramble has trained off a little.

The odds tonight are: Clifford and Sir Walter, 3 to 1; Banquet, 19 to 1; Don Alonzo, 8 to 1; Ajax, 8 to 1; Sport, 12 to 1; Diablo, 20 to 1; Bansetlaw, 59 to 1; Lowlander, 25 to 1; Loantaka, 50 to 1; Blitzen, 50 to 1; Copyright, 50 to 1; Hermitage, 100 to 1; Herald, 50 to 1; Herny of Navarre, 8 to 1; Up to midnight no warrants had been issued at the instance of Peter DeLacey or his representatives for the stoppage of the races at Gravesend.

Rights of Teachers in the Appointment of Substitutes and Other Striking Topics -General News from the Capital City of the State.

LINCOLN, May 14 .- (Special to The Bee.) -State Superintendent of Public Instruction Goudy today officially promulgated a number of important decisions affecting school interests in Nebraska. The following is a synopsis of each decision:

1. There is no statute requiring the payment of school district orders in the order in which they are drawn.

2. A contract signed by two members of the school district board, without a meeting of which all members have had due notice is the individual contract of the members signing such contract. The contract with a teacher is made an exception to this. See 4 Neb. 254, and 13 Neb. 70.

3. When a board employs a man to teach the school he has no right, except by the consent of the board, to put a substitute in his place, and not even with the consent of the board, unless such substitute is a legally qualified teacher.

4. The minimum amount of school required must be taught by a legally qualified teacher in order to entitle the district to its share in the state apportionment.

5. In connection with the new attendance law it is held that children have free school privileges in one school district only at one time. If they elect under the new act to attend outside of their own district they carry their share of the state funds with them and forfeit for that school year all their rights to free school privileges in their own district. They may not, under this act. alternate between two districts and claim rights in both.

6. The Nebraska statute authorizes the drawing of interests upon "all warrants issued by the proper authorities of the state, county, city, town or other municipal subdivisions less than a county.' supreme court has held that the school dis-trict "is not strictly a municipality," and that school district officers are not municipal officers, thus making it clear that the does not authorize the payment of interest on school district orders.
7. The action of the voters at an an nual meeting as to the amount of school to be held the coming year is final, and may not be reconsidered at a special meeting. The board should make provision for the holding of school in accordance with said action, but in case the voters at said meeting fail to make provision for carrying on said amount of school, and there is no district money for this purpose, the board is not personally liable for any loss of state apportionment which may result to the district because of failure to hold the required minimum amount of school. In case such loss occurs because of neglect upon the part of the district board the members of the board become personally liable to the dis-trict for the amount of said loss.

8. In measuring a district under the provisions of the new attendance law the measurements should follow air lines, not section lines necessarily. 9. The district text books are in the care of the district board the same as other school district property, and are subject to the regulations of the board as to their use by the pupils at home and during vacations.

10. In regard to the disposition of a name which appears upon a petition for change of school district boundary, when the person so named has changed his mind and does not wish to appear upon the petition or remon-strance, it is held that the person has entire right to remove or give authority for the re-moval of his name from the petition. It is held that all interested parties shall have opportunity to express th in this matter at any time previous to the aking of action upon the petition. GOSSIP AT THE STATE HOUSE. The Omaha Loan and Trust company brings its case against Lars Hansen and others to the supreme court. The trust company secured a judgment against Hanse upon a note for $500; due November 1, 1893; The note bore 6 per cent interest until ma turity and was to bear interest at the rate of 10 per cent if not paid at maturity. The note was not paid when it became due and the company brought suit and Judge Walton gave judgment, but decreed that the note should bear interest only at the rate of per cent after maturity. The company asks the supreme court for the odd 4 per cent. Emil Lindner against the Adams County bank is the title of an Adams county case filed with the clerk of the supreme court today. It involves a judgment of $1,295. The case of Mary Shaffer against Eugens Hostetler reached the supreme court today from Kearney county. A copy of the constitution and by-laws of the Equitable Building and Loan association of Seward was filed with the secretary of state today.

The work of beautifying the state house grounds was commenced today under the direction of a landscape gardener from Plattsmouth. The supreme court sits in its regular bi-monthly session tomorrow.

WENT TO THE WRONG SCHUYLER. How a Nebraska School District Lost Two

Hundred Dollars. SCHUYLER, Neb., May 14 .- (Special to The Bee.)-The school district of Schuyler is $208 out of pocket because of an error of some mail clerk. Early this week there was received by the school board a letter containing a bid on bonds recently sold, the bid being $208 more than they were sold for. Originally the letter was addressed "J. E. Arnold, Schuyler, Neb.," Mr. Arnold being secretary of the school board. The letter went to Schuyler, N. Y., from where it was returned by the postmaster to the writer, who immediately started it a second time to Schuyler, Neb., but it arrived a week too

THREE RUNAWAYS AT FREMONT.

Lots of Excitement for a Sunday, but Little Real Damage Done

FREMONT, Neb., May 14 .- (Special to The Bee.)-There were three runaways in Fremont yesterday afternoon. A horse driven by County School Superintendent J. A. Collins opened the ball by dumping Mrs. Collins and son, who were riding with the professor, over a barbed wire fence into a vacant lot, and then hurled the buggy and the professor at breakneck speed around the streets for an hour or so. A few slight cuts received by the wife and boy as they went over the fence and the general demolishing of the buggy was all the damage done.

Soon after this a horse belonging to Charles Dengler started with an empty buggy on Sixth street and ran down Main street and back to the park, where it ran into a car-riage in which were seated Mrs. Larson and three children. A slight scalp wound on one of the children and the smashing of both the carriage and buggy was the only damage A spirited team belonging to C. Helm tore up Broad street in the evening, and, after making several corners in a graceful manner, succeeded in kicking themselves clear from what was left of the carriage. Considering the large number of people and teams the atreets, it seems miraculous that no one should be seriously burt. Horace E. Griswold returned yesterday from Baltimore, where he dispatched a ship-load of cattle to Liverpool. Fred Delamatyr shipped a carload of fine horses to Boston this morning. The Turners enjoyed a pleasant picnic in a suburban grove yesterday. Rev. Father O'Hara of Blair conducted service in the Roman Catholic church yesterday.

SHOT AND KILLED A THIEF.

Charles Haller, a Nebraska Farmer, Puts a Bullet Through a Sneak's Heart. FALLS CITY, Neb., May 14 .- Charles Haller, a farmer near Barada, shot and killed a man named Curtis at an early hour yesterday morning. Haller was watching by the bedside of a sick daughter, when he heard somebody try the kitchen door. As there had been many thefts in the neighbor-hood, Haller took his shotgun and went out. Seeing a man walking rapidly away from he house toward the road he followed after. When close to the road the man apparently disappeared. Seeing a dark object under a tree Haller ordered it to get up. It proved to be r grain sack full of clothing, but a mar, got up out of a deep ditch, and to Haller's demand as to what his business was there gave the response, "None of your business." Haller then ordered him to move on. He responded with an oath and advanced on Haller, who warned him to keep back or he would shoot him.

This did not stop him, but saying, "I can cut your heart out twice while you shoot once," kept on advancing, and when almost to the muzzle of the gun Haller fired. The load took effect in the upper part of the breast and killed the man almost instantly. Haller immediately came to town and notified Sheriff Fergus and Coroner Stavers. When they arrived on the ground Sheriff Fergus recognized the dead man as a pris-oner he had released from jail Monday noon. He had served a term for a small theft committed near Dawson. He was a half-witted sort of a fellow who ought to have been confined in the asylum. He had no wea-pons of any kind on his person. An old case knife was in the grain sack and he was not dangerous at all, but the community thinks Haller blameless in the matter. Scarlet Fever at Nelson. NELSON, Neb., May 14 .- (Special to The Bee.)-Scarlet fever is still prevailing in this town. Three small children have died within a few days. Owing to the prevalence of the disease church services, Sunday schools and meetings of all kinds have been dispensed with for the present.
