Board of Health Must Have More Money or Discharge All Inspectors.

FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ASKED FOR

Special Committee Appointed to Investigate Action of Electricity on Underground Pipes-Opening of North Thirteenth Street-Other Matters.

A large accumulation of routine business was disposed of at a long and tedlous session of the city council last night.

The bill of the Barber Asphalt company for street repairs during 1891, which has hung fire ever since, was finally approved on the recommendation of the committee on judiciary. The bill amounts to $14,250.68, including interest, amounting to $1,049.17.

The electrolysis question was brought up by a communication from Maj r Furay, which was addressed to Councilman Wheeler. The facts were stated as published in last evening's Bee, and, in accordance with a resolution by Wheeler, President Howell appointed Wheeler, Burkley and Hascall as a special committee to investigate the matter in detail and report at a future meeting.

A communication from the Board of Health stated that unless some additional provision was made for the board it would be necessary to discharge all sanitary inspectors at the end of the month. A further appropriation of $5,324 was asked for to pay the running expenses of the board for the remainder of the year. The request was referred over the vehement protest of Has-call, who wanted it laid on the table.

L. M. Rheem was granted a four days leave of absence to visit Chicago in the interests of the city electrical department.

The official bond of Mr. Rheem, with W. N.
Nason, C. W. Thompson and C. W. Lytle as sureties, was approved.

The petition of the Schlitz Brewing company to be allowed to construct a roof gar-den on its prospective new building at Sixteenth and Harney streets was granted.

The date of the sitting of the council as a board of equalization on special taxes was changed to Friday, May 25.

The Water Works company was authorized to lay a water main on North Twenty-seventh street, between Burdette and Grant streets, at its own expense.

The appraisers' fees on the Southwest boulevard, amounting to $670, were ap-proved and ordered placed in the next appropriation ordinance. propriation ordinance.

On recommendation of the finance committee the suit of Matthewson T. Patrick against the city for the value of land occupied for street purposes near Twenty-fourth and Lake streets was ordered settled for $5,000, the amount to be credited to Mr. Detailed in resympt for taxes.

Patrick in payment for taxes.

The report of the committee recommending the passage of the ordinance opening North Thirteenth street from Nicholas to Ohio streets precipitated a sharp debate. Saunders wanted time to make a minority report, while Howell and Jacobsen wanted matter settled at once. The report was finally adopted.

Another discussion followed the adverse report of the committee on the ordinance requiring all persons engaged in bill posting or distributing any kind of advertising mat-ter to take out a license. Saunders objected to the views of the committee, contending that some regulation of this business was necessary. Cahn, Howell and Hascall supported the committee, on the ground that the ordinance created a monopoly. The ordinance was referred back to the committee, with instructions to draft a new ordinance.

The bill of the Thomson-Houston company for April, amounting to $2.646.23, was allowed. The deductions for lights not burning amounted to $2.10.

President Howell appointed Wheeler and Lemly to act with the committee on judi-clary in connection with the union depot After passing the regular appropriation the council adjourned.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Ruy Blas," Victor Hugo's powerful story of Spanish intrigue, heroism, love and utter baseness, was given a splendid interpretation last night by Alexander Salvini and his company of sterling players. Ruy Blas is one of Salvini's most ambitious efforts, for it showed him in the last act, which is powerful in its pent-up intensity, a consummate actor, endowed with gifts that cannot help but make this-young player doing his devoir one of the bright, lusterful lights of the modern stage. His performance showed the thely wrought versatility of the man and gave to the audience a new character, which, so far as the writer knows, has never been seen before on the local stage. A character beautiful in its fine sensibilities, its lovalty and its rugged honesty, though permitting the arch plotter, Don Saluste, to misrepresent the station of Ruy Blas, who was only a lackey, but with the heart of a god. Alongstile the Shylock of Booth, the Matthias of Irving and the Louis XI. of Sheridan this performance of Ruy Blas by young Salvini will stand, worthy of such an association. Mr. Salvini showed in his work last night much more repose than it was supposed this descendant of a magnificent line of Latins possessed, and he brought much more reason to the portraiture than was reflected in his D'Artagnan of the "Three Guardsmen."

Supporting Mr. Salvini and almost dividing the honors with him last night is Mr. William Redmund, whose Don Caesar was inimitable; roystering, rollicking, full of a genuine flavor, it brought back memories of old Boston Museum stock days, when Redmund was in every bill and always playing with conscientious ability. Mr. Harris deserves a word for his Don Salluste, which showed very careful consideration. Miss Moretti as Marianne played most intelligently, her scene with Ruy Blas in the fifth act being a striking bit of good acting, quite worthy the growing fame of this young leading woman. The play was splendidly mounted. Tonight "Zamar" will be the bill. for it showed him in the last act, which is powerful in its pent-up intensity, a con-

HE TALKED TOO MUCH.

Matt Gering Made an Anti-Cleveland Speech

and Lost a Job. S. R. Rush of this city has been appointed assistant United States district attorney, under A. J. Sawyer, and was sworn in yesterday afternoon. The appointment was received Monday afternoon at Lincoln, and was forwarded by mail to Mr. Snell to the district attorney here. By the way, there is a little story of political uncertainty in connection with this appointment. It will be remembered that Matt Gering of Plattsmouth, who was the democratic nominea last year for attorney general, was a candidate later on for the district attorneyship, and when Mr. Sawyer harvested that plum, Mr. Gering concluded that he would take the place of assistant, provided he could get it. Everything looked levely, so much so, in fact, that it was given out that he was about to remove to this city. His candidacy was smiled on by Mr. Sawyer, who went so far as to endorse him for the position, and the recommendation was forwarded to Washington The appointment was about to be made but it so happened that during the recent municipal campaign at South Omaha Gering was induced to go down there one night and make a speech at a political raily. It was a sorry night for him, for under the subtle influences that sometimes turn up at a demo cratic pow-wow he jumped onto the adminis-tration at Washington and ripped it up the back until the sawdust stuffing flew in all directions. Mr. Sawyer was apprised of what had transpired and a telegram was hastily sped on its way to the national capital, revoking the endorsement and recommendation previously sent there. Other matters of a personal nature were brought to the attention of Gering's backers and it was concluded that he had infirmities as well as strong points. On these it was quietly given out that the change in position was based, but the speech at South Omaha was what did the business. Suffice it to say Mr. Gering didn't get the "yob," and Mr. Rush was speedily grabbed up as the

Both the captain and his first lieutenant are at pres-ent on detached duty and the command of the Indians devolves upon Lieutenant Seay This is a compliment to Seay because he went among the Yankton Indians and raised full company, and since the enlistment of these men Mr. Seay has taken great pains to teach them the drills and discipline of the army. Brayton and Donecken's Debts

The case of the Midland State bank against the school district of Omaha was on for hearing in Judge Ferguson's court yesterday where the creditors of Brayton & Donecken, the contractors on the Franklin and the Hartman school buildings, were proving up their claims. The bank people were on hand to try and establish the fact that the money which they loaned to the contractors went into the buildings and that therefore they should be allowed to come in as preferred creditors. They were also willing to prorate with the material men and take their ferred creditors. share of the money which is held back by the school district. The laborers and ma-terial men objected to the proposition and the afternoon was devoted to hearing arguments upon this feature of the case.

LUSTFUL ABUSE OF A BABY

DISGUSTING AND ATROCIOUS CRIME

Girl Three Years Old Lecherously Assaulted

by Two Old Men.

Officers with Difficulty Save One of the Brutes from the Hands of a Mob-The Other Escapes -The Child's Story. Lewis Crane was arrested yesterday by Detective Vaughn and Officer Reigleman for assaulting Pearl, the 3-year-old daughter of Mrs. Bovee, a widow residing at 1311 South Seventeenth street. Lewis is about 65 years of age, and for the past two years has been living in a little shanty, 1472 South Sixteenth street. He does not do any work, and lives by the charity of neighbors. The place in which he lives is recking with filth, and the only time that it receives any cleaning is when some one one goes there and does it. There is filth two inches deep on the floor, and the shanty is banked up on both sides by manure. There are two windows facing Sixteenth street, but only one entrance, in the rear.

Last winter Mrs. Bovee was in the habit of going to this place and occasionally, as did others of the neighbors, taking eatables to the old man. No other person was ever seen about except Crane until two weeks ago, when a fellow who went by the name of Alvie Chambers made his appearance. He lived with the old man, and once or twice brought some food to him. Chambers the police are now looking for. He is also accused of committing an assault on the child previous to Crane.

The facts in the matter, as nearly as can be ascertained, are that Mrs. Bovee, about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, went to the residence of Mrs. Kelley, at 1321 South Seventeenth street, to make a visit. While she was there her daughter went to her and asked permission to go down the street to play with some children. Permission was OFFERED HER CANDY.

On the way she met this Alvie Chambers. She knew him through Crane, and in a childish way said "Hello," and went about her play. There was nothing seen of Chamfor a few moments, and when he came back he had five pennies. He took a 5-cent back he had hive pennies. He took a 5-cent piece and went to a grocery store and got it changed into pennies. He called the child to him and gave her the pennies, saying "Go and get some candy." The child took the change and was soon off to get the candy, and started north on Seventeenth street. She was followed by Chambers, and after they had gone a block or two he picked her up in his arms and took her back to her home. The door was locked, and he broke it open. The bed is in the front room, and he took from it a quilt, and, wrapping the child in it, ran from the house with her. The child did not suspect anything wrong, and was laughing that she should be thus carried about. He retraced the steps the child took in going for the candy. At Fourteenth in going for the candy. At Fourteenth street, near the viaduct, there is a vacant barn, and straightway to this place he took the child. Even then the little thing did not suspect what was going to be done when he went and securely fastened the door she began to scream. He soon stopped this by placing his hand over her mouth The quilt was spread upon the floor and the child most cruelly assaulted. He then wrapped the child in the quilt and left the barn, but soon released the girl and disappeared.

Going to Crane's shanty to inquire about her mother, the girl says that there she was assaulted by Crane. Two boys, Eddie Stegeman and Charley O'Meara, who happened to be passing about this time, looekd in at the window and saw Crane washing the blood from the little girl. Her screams attracted the attention of Mrs O'Meara, who went and took her home.

To her the child said that Crane "hurt her," and Mrs. O'Meara saw that the child had been bleeding. She called Dalton, who lives next door, and they made an examination of the child. They were horrified. The blood streamed from the child's wounds and they at once saw what had been done when the child said Crane

"hurt her," Mrs. O'Meara and Mrs. Dalton at once notified the police. Officer Reigleman and Detective Vaughn were soon on hand. They were told where to go to find Crane. A rap at the shanty door brought no response. They broke it in and there they found the old man lying on a heap of rotten straw. There were blood stains on the straw and other eyi-dences of what had been done. The old man denied all knowledge of the crime. He said it was an outrage to arrest him, as he was old and had been suffering from disease for three weeks. He was taken from the shanty

however, to the sidewalk. The news of the crime spread like wildfire about the neighborhood. Men, women and children flocked to the shanty in hundreds. The old man was caught sight of and one among the crowd was heard to say: "There is the man." Instantly a break was made for him, old and feeble though he was, and shouts of "hang him" were heard on every hand. The old man trembled with fear. The women that were mingled with the crowd were as much aroused as the men, and one, a Swedish lady, who has long known the little girl on whom the assault was committed, came out with a kettle of boiling water and threw it at Grane. None of it reached him, how-

CROWD WANTED HIM. A rush was made upon the two officers and one man got a good hold on Crane. He was assisted by others and the officers were was assisted by others and the omcers were alarmed. Detective Vaughn knocked down the man who had taken hold of Crane, and Officer Reigleman followed it up. The patrol wagon was then in sight, and as it was filled with officers no further violence was offered to Crane. He was then taken to jail. He was asked what he knew about the case, but denied all knowledge of it. He said he did not even know the girl, nor had he ever seen her. But≋this is contradicted by people living in the vicinity. Chambers, who it is alleged perpetrated the first assault, has not been found. Mr. Saunders says that he knows Chambers, that he is a worthless fellow who hangs about the saloons in the neighborhood and never does anything for a living. This is substantiated by others and by the mother

the child had been assaulted by Crane, the latter was taken to the child's home, and as soon as she got her eyes upon him she said: "That is the man who hurt me a while ago," and she drew away in

Mrs. Bovee earns her living by washing. This is the only child she has. She bears an excellent reputation in the neighborhood, and as soon as the assault became known the little house was jammed by people anxious to learn the particulars.

Dr. Saville was called and made an ex-amination of the child's injuries. He said she had been assaulted, but said as the child was of very strong constitution she would in all liklihood recover from her injuries. All the surrounding town have been and the surrounding town have been notified of the crime and to be on the look-out for Chambers. He is described as about 45 years of age, five feet in height, weight 140 pounds, gray mustache, bald headed, slightly stoop shouldered, black suit, sack coat, black soft hat. For the past few days he has been marching with the local contingent of the industrial army. Crane has two children, one a daughter who is a nurse is an ineane asylum, but where he did set know, and a son whom he has not heard from for some time.

At I o'clock this morning the house of Louis Crane was set afire it is supposed by friends of the girl who was assaulted. All the furniture was destroyed, but the house was not much damaged. At midnight the people in the vicinity were on the streets in large numbers and the talk of lynching is stronger than ever,

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA.

More Western Meat Started for European Markets-Other Magic City News. The G. H. Hammond company yesterday sent out export orders to the extent of wenty-five cars. It was mostly cured meat and was consigned to Liverpool, Glasgow, Hamburg and Amsterdam. The South Omaha packing houses are all building up an ex-tensive export trade and a train load shipment of stuff is not such an uncommon oc-currence as it was one year ago.

Looking for Kinney. Martin Kinney, a Lincoln man, disappeared from his home Monday night, leaving his wife and children behind. His sister heard that he had followed Lemen Bros. circus to South Omaha and the young lady arrived here last evening in the hope of finding her brother and inducing him to return to his family. Captain Van Wie ac-companied Miss Kinney to the circus grounds, but the man who employs the men said no such person was with the show. One of the canvasmen later on told an officer Kinney was with the circus and his sister will not give up until she locates the runaway brother.

A Brace of Suspects. The police arrested two suspicious charac ters yesterday giving the names of Robert Smith and William McKee. Both men claim to hall from San Francisco. Smith had in his possession two skeleton keys and McKee had several drills and other suspicious look-ing tools. The police are of the opinion that both men are crooks, and Judge Christmann will hold them until their cases can be thoroughly investigated. Kept Busy Adjourning.

The city council met at 8 o'clock last evening as a board of equalization, but as there were no complaints the meeting was promptly adjourned. The adjourned meetng of the council was then convened. The license board was not ready to report and an adjournment was taken till Thursday evening.

Magic City Gossip. Effie Mitchell, a girl 12 years of age, is reported as having run away from her home in Albright. More or less complaints have come to the police from the Mitchell family. Joseph Meagher, the general janitor at St. Agnes' church, will cause many a female heart in South Omaha to ache when the ladies learn that the gentleman leaves for Ireland in a few days for the purpose of getting married. Al Hunter wishes to have it distinctly understood that he was not one of the Hunters who mixed up in the baseball scrap last Sunday. Dan Condon also states that ne was merely a spectator and took no part in the melee. James Donnelly is under arrest at Lexington, Neb. charged with larceny. He told the sheriff he was in jail in South Omaha on the night the alleged robbery took place and Chief Brennan was asked to verify Donnelly's statement. The police records do not show that Donnelly was arrested here on the date given.

Young Girl Chopped to Pieces in the B. &

Yesterday morning about 7 o'clock Barbara Zarobski, a 13-year-old girl, was run down by a B. & M. switch engine at Fifth and ts and killed. From statements of eye witnesses it seems hat the girl had just crossed the bridge over Pierce street and was walking on the track. The switch engine came rushing around the curve and struck the girl before she had time to ge out of the way. Engineer Fred Miller reversed his engine as soon as he saw the girl but he could not stop soon enough The remains were removed to the morgue where an inquest will be held. The girl was nearly cut to pieces. Her left hand was torn off, her skull and forehead crushed, teeth knocked out and the right arm and leg broken.
