AN EASTERN MANUFACTURER HARD UP

Hard Times Force a Manufacturer to Sell-Everybody Has a Chance-All F.ne Clothing-No Shoddy Stuff-Sale Begins Friday.

It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good. Now comes one of the largest manu-facturers of fine, all-round clothing in the world, who is going to occupy the store at 1512 Douglas street, opposite Falconer's.
In consequence of the hard times they find themzelves with more clothing than they can dispose of to the retailers, and with a view to reducing the surplus they propose to sell clothing for the next ten days oflowing next Friday at about 60 cents on the dollar of the cost of making, which means less than a third of the usual retail

They are putting the e stores in nearly all the large western cities, and are making the greatest kind of a sensation on account of the prices they quote. The store at 1512 Douglas street is too small to hold the en-tire stock shipped to Omaha, but as fast as it is sold out it will be replaced from the storage house already engaged.

These goods are not of the 'shoddy' order, nor is the sale to be classed with the "fakes" that come to Omaha every once in a while These are as fine goods as any clothing man-ufacturers in the world can make. Study over these prices till Friday, June

"The Maltese Cross Special." The above is the title of a full train of 30 cars which arrived in this city yesterday over the Northwestern. It was the first of two solid trains of the Milwaukee binders and mowers sent from the factory at Milwankee to the company's general agent at Omaha, G. S. Carnes. The two shipments contain 1,230 machines, which is a splendid endorsement of these celebrated machines on the part of Nebraska farmers. In the past 6 years the sales have nearly doubled each year, until now'it is one of the most ex-tensively used in Nebraska, where the farmers have the reputation of selecting the best.

The train was covered with banners, and it attracted much attention along the route.

This year the place selected is Plair, and inasmuch as it has been decided to give it on the glorious Fourth of July it is antici-pated that a very large gathering will be there. The citizens of Blair are sparing neither time nor money for the enjoyment of the Omaha people that day, and Mayor Stewart, who paid the committee a visit last week, assured them that so far as Blair was concerned there would be no cause for dissatisfaction. The greatest difficulty to overcome was the securing of transportation for the Fourth of July, but through the exertions of Mr. Mitchell. agent of the Northwestern here, two spe-cial trains were engaged for that date, to leave Omaha at $:30 and it a. m., return-ing from Blair at 6 and 9 p. m.

Grand Army Mission Suggests Week of Prayer Following Memorial Day.

ITS ADDRESS TO THE OLD SOLDIERS

Sermons in Many of the Churches Today Will Be Addressed to Veterans-"The Church of Truth"-Trance speaking.

The Grand Army mission department of evangelistic work in Grand Army of the Republic posts suggests to Christian veterans and pastors that Memorial day week be observed as a week of prayer and evangelistic services for veterans, and that as far as practicable the Grand Army of the Republic posts shall conduct these meetings, or if not practicable, that all veterans be urged to attend. The following address has been issued:

"We are no longer 'boys,' but veterans. Our fraternity is not a mere club, but a grand army—a nation's pride. We are not ashamed of our badge. We love the old flag which we followed through hardship and fatigue, amidst whizzing bulle and bursting shell, on to glorious victory The sword has slept in its scabbard and th white-robed sentry of peace has been stand-ing guard over our encampment. But that other warfare which ends only with life has gone forward. No flag of truce ever flies between these opposing forces of the right and the wrong.

"Comrade, when you die your body will be folded in your country's stars, the sol-emn dirge, the drum-roll and the volley-fire will be heard at your burial, and every springtime the grateful hands of new gen-erations will strew the fragrant flowers over your grave. But what about your soul We are not saved by deeds of heroism, no panegyrics, but only by faith in Christ.

Rededication of St. Cecelia's.

The service at St. Cecelia's church, Wal nut Hill, today, will be of unusual interest. This little gem of a church has just been renovated and an extension built on to accommodate the growing parish. Four years ago the church was first opened, Rt Rev. Bishop O'Connor officiating, Rev. Dr O'Callaghan, now of Little Rock, Ark., being first pastor. The parish consisted of thirty families. Rev. Father Smith of Sacre-Heart parish took charge after Dr. O'Cal-laghan left Omaha, but was soon called to establish a parish in the north part of the Rev. Father Carroll, now paster St. Philomena's cathedral, was next placed in charge, and for three years this zealou priest worked early, late and hard, and suc eeded in placing the church in financial prosperity, and saw the parish grow from thirty families to 120 families. Rev. J. J. Callaghan, the present pastor, a young, stirring priest, recognized the incapacity church, and at once set about er larging it. The work is completed, and wil be blessed and dedicated today. Very Rev. Father Jeannette will bless the church assisted by Very Rev. Father Kelley, A solemn high mass will follow, Rev. Father Carroll being celebrant; Rev. Father Walsh, deacon; Rev. Father Colenari, sub-deacon Very Rev. Father Kelly, deacon of honor and Rev. Father Callaghan, master of cere monies. Rev. Dr. McDevitt of South Omah will preach the sermon. The music will be Arrangements have been made to accomme date the large congregation that will be present from all parts of the city.

Harry Was Ready to Die.

Harry Thornton was arrested yesterday by Officer Heelan charged with vagrancy. For several weeks Thornton has been hanging about the corner of Tenth and Dodge streets and vesterday the officer asked him what his business was. He replied he was a glass eater, a human pin cushion, contortionist, a "hot iron man," and a few other things that will appear later on. Down in his pants leg the officer noticed a bunch that appeared suspicious and asked what it was. He was told nothing and made a little investigation. He found the package was of some sort of powder and then the young man yielded and told the officer his troubles. He said he was thrown out of employment in St. Joseph and came here. He had some friends in South Omaha and made his home with them since coming here. He said that about the first week he came he fell in with a woman who told him her name was Lizzie Ross. He fell in love with her and he supposed she was quite infatuated with him. All went well for a few days when some one told him she was not true to him and was keeping company not true to him and was keeping company with others. This made him feel bad. He called the girl to account last Wednesday evening, saying: "If you are going to carry on in this way I'll not have anything to do with you and will fix myself." The climax was to come yesterday. He had an engagement with her yesterday, and he says he intended to take this powder if she did not keep it, and he was waiting for her when his suspicious actions caused his ar-

LIFE INSURANCE TAXATION.

Senator Vest's Proposed Amendment to the Tariff Bill Causes Anxiety. Local insurance men, along with their brothers all over the country, have been made anxious by the report that the tariff bill pending in the United States senate has been so shaped as to impose an exceptionally severe tax upon the income of life insurance companies. One of the general agents of Omaha, speaking of the matter,

'When a few men agree together that whichever of them shall die prematurely his family shall be protected from want by the others, it does not seem reasonable that so prudent and benevolent a contract should subject to taxation. It is in no sonsa a form of wealth nor a means of profit, but is solely an expense to all concerned as long as they continue to live, while it is an immense benefit to society at large by fostering habits of prudence and preventing pauperism. Charles Sumner was wish pauperism. Charles Sumner was wise when, in the debate on the original income tax, he declared that a tax on life in-surance in unjustifiable, even in time of war, for such insurance is in itself of the nature of a tax, and any burden imposed upon it by government would be a tax upon a tax. This principle seems not to be un-derstood by some of the senators engaged in framing the present bill, for they have gone so far, in the pending amendment proposed by Senator Vest of Missauri, as to propose a tax of 2 per cent upon all the income re-ceived by life insurance companies above fit of posterity. It would be fairly parallel to a tax of 2 per cent upon all deposits made in savings banks, and would be an exceptional burden of the greatest severity. There is real danger that the fair and reasonable claims of men who have insured their lives may be overlooked. or forgotten in the haste to arrive at a speedy solution of the revenue difficulty. Hitherto they have always been recognized in laws imposing or modifying an income tax. Thus the last act of the kind passed by congress was in 1870, and it expressly provided that 'nothing herein contained shall apply to moneys paid by mutual life insurance companies to their policy holders.' In England, where life insurance is an older institution than it is here, Parlia-ment has gone further and exempts from income tax in individual hands moneys paid as premiums to life insurance companies."
