MILK MEN MUST SETTLE UP

Their Fight Against City Ordinance Brought to an End.

COURT DECIDES THE LICENSE IS VALID. Complete and Thorough Inspection to Be Made—Sued the Water Company—Must Return the Chickens—Fireman Down's Claim—Minor Court Matters.

The district court has held that the milkmen must come to time and pay a license in accordance with the terms of the ordinance passed last December, at which time the city council ordained that each dealer was liable to the extent of $10 for each wagon that operated on the streets.

Some weeks ago, at a meeting of the association, Louis Littlefield, the president, agreed to allow himself to stand as a martyr, after which an arrest was made in the person of the plaintiff. There he argued before the district court of the criminal section, who has handed down his opinion, which is in favor of the ordinance.

Health Commissioner Saville in speaking of the case said that in his opinion the decision would result in the securing of food that was free from adulteration. The health commissioner said that in his opinion the decision would result in the securing of food that was free from adulteration.

The motion for the new trial on the part of the plaintiff in the case of Thomas Downs against J. B. Kitchen has been overruled and the execution awarded for costs. In the case of the plaintiff, the plaintiff, who was a member of the city fire department, was injured by the falling walls of the factory building.

The case of Strabacker against Constable Clark, which was on trial before Judge Ferguson for a couple of days, was decided yesterday. The plaintiff, who was a member of the city fire department, was injured by the falling walls of the factory building.

John Kennealy has sued the Omaha Street Railway for the recovery of $25,000, which he claims he lost by reason of an accident which cost him the loss of a leg. In his petition he avers that on May 9, 1934, he was walking on Leavenworth street at a point where it intersects Thirtieth street.

Suit for the sum of $1,775 has been brought against the old Metropolitan Street Railway company by C. W. Slattery, who at one time was the superintendent of the lines that were owned and operated by Omaha and South Omaha. The plaintiff alleges that in the year 1931 he entered the employ of the company and continued in the service for some months.

The case of Martha Sorenson against Ira Van Camp, tried before Judge Hill last week, and in which a verdict for $100 damages was returned in favor of the plaintiff, awarding her damages in the sum of $2,000. The plaintiff asks for the new order of things, alleging that as she sued for $5,000 and got but $100 the jury did not allow her a fair compensation for the pain and misery which she suffered.
