THEY MENACE THE REPUBLIC

Mr. Rush Describes Grave National Dangers that Must Be Dealt With.

HIS ADDRESS ON GOOD CITIZENSHIP

Impurity in Polities and Social Life-Tyranny of Those Who Employ Labor-Foreign Immigration Must Be Restricted and Religion Propagated.

Before the Young Women's Christian association John Rush delivered an address on 'American Citizenship" last evening. He

Let us learn from the republics of the past. Their overthrow was not due to external enemies, but to internal traitors. Are we loyal to this great republic, the perfection of man's effort for self-government? If so we must eliminate every danger that menaces us. That there are dangers cannot be denied. The abuses of the ballot box and the flagrant disregard of many voters for sacred responsibilities intrusted them are so palpable that reformation or ruin is inevitable.

reformation or ruin is inevitable. Men have obtained office by bribery, intimidation and illegal voting. The saloan, too, has been an omnipotent factor in politics. We must correct these evils at once. We must protect the purity of the ballot box and surround it by an atmosphere of righteousness and morality. Incumbents of public offices must realize that they are servants of the people. A public servant should be honest, conscientious, courteous and absolutely impartial. He should not be influenced by conscientious, courteous and absolutely im-partial. He should not be influenced by race, color, religion or nationality. Above all things, he should not be a bigot, for a bigot violates one of the most important fundamental principles of the constitution. Public records should be kept up to date, where such a thing is possible. The headlong pursuit of the almighty dollar must cease. Our desire to become rich has in many cases blunted our moral sensibilities. Too many are actuated by the latention to make money—honestly, if they can, but to make it anyhow. Has not this state of af-fairs been amply proved by the financial ruin brought upon our country in the last twelve

One great sin charged up against us is on account of a desire to get rich quickly. I refer particularly to the relations between employer and employe. To defraud the la-borer of his wages is a grievous sin. But how many of our railroads and factories are continually, perhaps unconsciously, guilty of this crime. Is there not something wrong in the labor market when 100,000 men volun-teer to tramp from all points of the compass and from the most distant parts of the con-tinent to Washington for the purpose of expressing a grievance? Harsh and heartless selfishness dominates the man who hires labor. Not only does he get his work done as cheaply as he can, but he takes every advantage of the laborer. It is with fear and trembling that I approach a subject which demands our atten-tion, and the attention of every good citizen in the land. Great cities of old were destroyed on account of the flagrant violation of one of God's commandments. From the creation God's commandments. From the creation of man down to the present day God's wrath has followed him who violated the sacred laws of purity. What is true of the individual is true of the nation. If a people disregard this solemn injunction it is only a question of time when they succumb. Ruin and chaos must surely come if our public morality be not improved. The hunting to death or despair of the un-The hunting to death or despair of the unfortunate victim of man's concupiscence is not a remedy for the evil that I complain of, an evil which is growing in proportion to our wealth and our extravagance. Instead of shutting our hearts to an un fortunate wall of woe we should do all in our power to transform the victim into a Magdalene and bid her go and sin no more. Laws should be framed to punish the man who drags a woman's purity into the dust. Mr. Rush here made a few comments on the Breckinridge case and declared emphatically that such a man was not fit to

After speaking about the present form of naturalizing a foreigner, Mr. Rush stated that many who had adopted this country's colors had proved better citizens than some born in this country. He said that an American citizen was a sovereign greater and mightler than any pope or potentate.
"I am a Catholic," said he, "but should the head of the Catholic church attempt to dic-tate to me as to my relations to this or any civil government in the world, or to abridge my civil rights in any way, I would spurn the unauthorized act with the same promptness that I would should the queen of Eng-land make such an absurd demand. The Christian church will never attempt to infringe upon the domain of the state.

In addressing the meeting, Mr. Howard said: "You all know the object of the clans gathering together. It is for the purpose of reviving the national sports of our ancestors. Dr. Coke, the archbishop of Cashel and Emly, was one of the first patriotic Irishmen to come to the rescue of our games fifteen years ago, when we saw our national sports falling away like our grand old Cellic lanfalling away like our gfand old Celtic lan-guage, and, through the exertions of that patriotic prelate, along with some other Irishmen, they had clubs formed throughout the old land, after which the games were taken up in several cities in this republic. There is as good material in Nebraska as anywhere to make the Gaelic Athletic asso-ciation a success." CORMICK'S CASE HANGS FIRE

Fire and Police Commissioners Still Defer a Decision in the Matter.

AFFIDAVITS IN HIS BEHALF REFUSED

Lack of Funds May Compel Discontinuance of Service at Certain Engine Houses-Order that Causes Chief Seavey to Besitate.

The Board of Fire and Police Commissioners concluded last night that some of its business ought to be conducted privately and voted against Strickler's resolution to abolish secret sessions.

It adopted the resolution instructing Chie Seavey to raid houses of ill-repute where liquor is being sold, as it is alleged, without a city license. A few years ago the chief at tempted to carry out instructions similar to those incorporated in Strickler's resolution and he not only got into a serious damage suit, but the proprietors of the houses beahim in every case he brought against then in the courts. The chief is now thinking of securing legal talent to protect him from having to enforce this order, or else he will ask the board to indemnify him in case he is mulcted for damages in the courts for carrying out the instructions which he has been given.

The attorneys for Captain Cormick appeared before the board and requested that body to decide one way or the other the case pending against their client at this meeting The board considered the matter for a couple of hours in secret session and then announced that it had adjourned without taking any action in the matter.

After the regular business of the board had been disposed of Attorney Ransom asked permission to introduce affidavits from Officers Vanous and Drummy regarding the lang age used by Captain Cormick during the quarrel between Sergeant Shoop and the former. These witnesses had been subpoenaed by Shoop, but they were not put on the stand. It is said that their testimony would have been a direct impeach-ment of Jailer Bebout, who was positive that the captain used vile and obscene language toward Shoop. The board con-tended that this would be a practical re-cpening of the case, and it did not feel disposed to do this. Then Cormick's attorneys said that they were willing to let the case go as it was, and all they wanted was to have the matter settled at once, as it seemed to them to be an injustice to the captain to be indefinitely suspended pending final action.

The board granted the policemen the privilege of holding their annual picnic at Blair on June 13. The commissioners will per-sonally inspect the force on the afternoon of May 30,

Chief Seavey repeated his request that he be given funds for special detective work in securing evidence against saloon keepers and gamblers, whom he claims are violating the statutes and ordinances with persistent reg-ularity. The matter was referred to a Mayor Bemis appointed Theodore Bennett as a special policeman for duty at the City Hotel beer hall. Bennett's bondsmen were I. S. Hascall and George W. McKinney. The mayor also appointed George O. Horn as special policeman at Prince's beer garden. His bondsmen were George A. Bennett and W. C. Timme. The appointments were confirmed by the board.

Chief Detective H. P. Haze was granted ten days leave of absence to visit his par-ents, Officer Godola was allowed three days, and Firemen Ellington fifteen days, Herald five and Hoffman ten days. William German, who resigned from fire ompany No. 4 about a year ago, made an application to be reinstated. Mrs. R. B. Peattie, leader, and Mrs. T. P. Cartwright, secretary, of the department of philanthropy and reform of the Woman's club, sent the board a communication a king that the patrol wagons be covered and that the board provide an ambulance for the conveyance of injured persons. The secretary of the board was ordered to acknowledge the receipt of the letter and place the epistle on Commissioner Coburn said that he desired to have a few fire captains' appointments confirmed. They were those of George Blake who has been acting as temporary captain since September, 1891; George C. Miller since July, 1892; J. J. Lank, since February, 1890, and M. J. Cuff, since January, 1893. The appointments of the men were

There was a little side talk had to the effect that unless the board could raise more funds it would have to discontinue service of the engine houses in the skirts of the city or else reduce the number

Chief Detective H. P. Haze filed a report of his investigations into the allegations that August Grube was running two saloons on one license. He reported that he had found Grube's wife in charge of a restaurant near the fort and that Grube was conducting a saloon at the corner of Thirtieth and Spauld ing streets. He informed the board that if he was allowed enough money to send a man out there to try to buy a bottle of beer at the restaurant he might possibly secure a case against the accused. One of the members remarked that he thought that was what they were paying Haze for.

Officer Mitchell reported that he saw several men going in and out of Peterson's saloon at Fifteenth and Webster streets last Sunday and he wanted the saloon keeper arrested for that.

Officer Edgehill reported that he saw a man come out of Fred Dahlman's saloon at Eighteenth and Leavenworth streets last Sunday with what appeared to him to be a can of beer, but he didn't know whether it was or not. He reported the matter to Acting Captain Sigwart, who wanted the city prosecutor to file charges against the accused. The prosecutor refused to do this on such evidence and the officers claim that they cannot enforce the laws under such conditions. Detectives Hayes and Savage secured enough evidence against Phil Snyder to cause his arrest, and the case is now pending in the police court. Shoop also reported a couple of violators, but his evidence was of such a nature that the city prosecutor refused to file complaints. Pacific School Memorial Exercises. Memorial day exercises at the Pacific school today will be according to this program:

There is a very pleasant attractiveness about "Erminie," Jacobowski's bright and pretty lyric story, that age cannot wither nor custom stale. It abounds in catchy choruses, like "A Soldier's Life," and dainty soli that have been sung and resung until they have grown to be old friends. 'Lullaby" which Etminie sings in the second act is one of the most graceful compo-sitions in the domain of comic opera, and the duo for the two thieves, "Jail Birds," and the solo for Cadeux are the heighth of clever versification as well musical notation. In addition to core, which is representative of the most advanced class of the modern opera, the book is splendidly written, Harry Paulton baying given a local environment to the foreign story which catches the fancy.

Last night "The Carletons" gave "Erminie," and, taken in its entirety, the performance was thoroughly satisfactory, notwithstanding that considerable of the music was cut for the purpose undoubtedly of the introduction of songs new to the opera and generally new to the stage, Miss Bell and Mr. Taylor interpolating two dainty ballads, while Mr. Carleton sang his piece de re-sistance, "Rose Marie." The opera was splendidly cast, Miss Vincent—and there is no more painstaking nor capable woman on the stage-singing Erminie with entire credit to herself, looking and acting the part splen-didly. Javotte lived in Miss Bell, who displayed in her work a wide range, singing the music as written with all the ease of a trained prima donna, although she is usually cast for soubrettes. Mr. Carleton was in excellent voice and played Ravenne with his old-time vigor, his confrere and fellow brigand, Cadeux, being well rendered by Tom Ricketts, who is growing greatly in the estimation of the audience, as he shows in each character strong individuality. Mr. Taylor made a very loyal Eugene, while Taylor made a very loyal Eugene, white Miss Wisdom as the marchioness was decidedly a strong acquisition to the ensemble The other parts were well played. Speaking about heroes made by fighting, we ought to be some sort of heroes ourselves. We fought our battle with those manufacturers east ever since early spring to secure what we are offering you this week and we got there-you bet.

How he compliments the Sinclair Double Cane Porch Rocker of which we carry a full line:

"OLD POINT COMFORT, Va., June 15th. F. A. SINCLAIR, Esq.: Dear Sir-The chairs ordered of you some time since arrived sev eral days ago, and are all that I expected and more too. I have invested money in other en-terprises which yielded a large profit on the nvestment, but I have never felt pleased with the result of any investment than I do with this. I have abandoned the hammock, the upholstered chairs and other adjuncts of rest and relaxation in order to sit in the "Old Point Comfort" rocker where I can read and write and rest at the same time These chairs possess all the elements that go to make a good chair-comfort, coolness and strength. Heaven indeed lies about us in our nfancy and our tombstones generally lie about us in later years, but you could be called benefactor without impairing the credit of your monument. Your chairs are a standing rebuke to the manufacturers of expensive and short lived goods. Yours sincerely, BILL NYE." Sinclair's famous Old Point Comfort Rockers and Gen. Grant Arm Chairs have a national reputation. They are the best goods made. We have a full line on exhibition today.
