Decoration of Graves in the Morning-Exercises at Hanscom Park-Street Parade by Military Companies-Other Features.

It is the custom of the Grand Army of the Republic on the day preceding Memorial day to place on the graves of all the soldier dead tiny flags, to designate them for decoration, and yesterday morning several hundred of these pretty plants lent new beauty to the cemeteries of the city, even before the ar-rival of the wagons, whose profusion of bloom and fragrance was soon to cover the mounds thus marked from sight.

As in previous years a list of the dead had been carefully prepared and the graves diligently sought out, and if the resting place of a single hero was passed by it was only by melancholy accident. The rain of Tuesday night gave a freshness to the sunny air of the morning and washed those acres where the veterans sleep to a clean and livid green as a priming for their

floral investment,

At an early hour the committee from the Woman's Relief corps, escorted by a detail from the several Grand Army posts, repaired to the cemeteries and performed the work of decoration with an abundance of flowers contributed by the schools of the city and collected the day before. In Forest Lawn, after the decorating of the graves of the favored dead, a national salute was fired from the little eminence where the four cannon stand as silent guards of the soldiers' plot. In the other cemeteries there were no exercises, the program being simply to distribute the flowers and return to the THOUSANDS AT THE PARK.

Seldom has Hanscom park seen a large crowd than the one that turned out yester day afternoon to participate in the annual memorial services in honor of a nation's dead. While the green sward showed un-mistakable signs of suffering from the pro-tracted drouth, the park offered an inviting welcome to the thousands who sought its shade and refreshing breezes as a rellef from the oppressive rays of a summer sun and the dust and turmoil of the streets, and although it was an utter impossibility for any considerable part of the number to get close enough to the stand to hear the ad-firess of the day, or any of the oratorical part of the program, there was nothing to bar their enjoyment of the music. It was estimated that fully 11,000 people disported themselves on the gently sloping hillsides and took advantage to the fullest extent of the outing that the sacred holiday afforded

The program differed little from that of former years, and there was little said that has not been often said before, yet the unusually large turnout and the attention which was accorded bespoke most plainly the warm sentiment of the mass of the peo-ple and the growing interest in Memorial day. There seemed to be a deeper appre-ciation of the herioc deeds of those who yielded up their lives on liberty's altar in hour of the nation's trial, and the lesson of patriotism and unselfish devotion to the flag found lodgment in hearts more re-sponsive than ever before. The children were imbued to an unusual degree with the patriotic spirit the day inspired, but the sentiment was by no means confined to them, as those whose memories could run back to the times when the scenes of the civil war were enacted seemed to recall the dark days with a vividness not experienced for years, and drew from the recollection renewed inspiration for better citizenship and thankfulness that the republic still lives undivided and intact.

The plan followed in former years, of hav-Ing the veterans participate in the march from the business center to the park, was done away with on account of the increasing years of the members of the Grand Army more satisfactory one of having them meet the line at the entrance to the park was

The line moved shortly before 2 o'clock from the corner of Fifteenth and Douglas, headed by the Seventh Ward band of neaded by the Seventh ward band of twenty-six pieces. Next marched the Thurs-ton R.fles, proudly bearing the new flag presented them last Monday evening, and behind them the Omaha Guards, in dress uniforms with white duck trousers and Carriages following the military companies contained disabled members of the various posts. In one carriage, furnished by Comrado William Wallace, were General John Dennis, who is so much of a sufferer from heart dis-ease that he cannot walk; Captain Gardner, who is crippled in the legs, and Comrade Kettler, the patriarch of U. S. Grant post, who is 80 years of age and a veteran of more than sixty years standing. He was a soldier in the Prussian army in 1832, participated in the Texas revolution and is a veteran of the Mexican and civil wars. The line was followed by scores of private tarriages, which drew back at the corner of Park and Woolworth avenues to allow the Grand Army posts and Woman's Relief corps to join the column. The police had with difficulty kept avenue clear from the entrance to the park to the band stand, which was also speakers' rostrum, and thither Dr. W

Christie, acting officer of the day, directed the column. The Thurston Rifles executed a few evolutions in the somewhat cramped quarters in front of the stand, and a detail was sent to guard the spot whereon had been erected the mound and monument around which the ritual service of the Grand Army was to be conducted. EXERCISES AT THE STAND.

The band played Beyer's "Recollections of War" as the opening number of the pro-gram, followed by a fervent prayer by Rev. Frank W. Foster for continued peace, better citizenship, closer compliance with divine infunction and final rest in a country where warfare is unknown.

After the singing of the memorial hymn by the Glee club, under the direction of Prof. Lee G. Kratz, who, by the way, composed the music, the orator of the day, Cap-tain C. E. Adams of Superior, senior vice commander of the Nebraska department of the Grand Army of the Republic, was intro-duced. The address was somewhat lengthy. but was full of interest and patriotic senti-ment. The application of the lesson of the occasion was varied with reminiscent historial sketches of events on the Mississippi in the Wilderness, before Richmond, Lookout Mountain, and of the march to the sea. The utterances of the speaker were frequently applauded, and all who were able to get within hearing of his voice remained re until the completion of the old story told anew.

Following another selection by the band, the Glee club sang "The Vacant Chair" in a highly acceptable manner. The posts then reformed their lines and proceeded with the band to the burial plot, where the ritual service was conducted under direction of J.

A. Gillespie, officer of the gaurd. The impressive rites were witnessed by thousands who groupled points of vantage on the bill. told anew. who occupied points of vantage on the hill-sides to the west and southward. The placing of flowers on the mound was done by a number of children, both boys and girls. The salute was fired by the entire company of Omaha Guards, instead of by a platoon of eight, as heretofore, and the deafening volleys rang far out over the city.

The Glee club sang "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," after which the vast concourse swelled the familiar strains of "America," and Rev. D. K. Tindall pronounced the benediction. At the conclusion of the memorial services

There were eight platoons, commanded by Captain Mostyn, Sergeant Sigwart, Sergeant Captain Mostyn, Sergeant Sigwart, Sergeant Whalen, Sergeant Ormsby, Sergenat Shoop and Officers Tyrell, Flynn and Poole.

Both patrol wagons were out and looked bright and clean.

The commissioners, accompanied by the chief, walked up and down the line of men and inspected their clothing and arms and the general makeup of the force. After the inspection the policemen were marched round town for a few blocks and then the arade was dismissed.

The commissioners expressed themselves as being well pleased with the discipline and bearing of the men, and complimented Chief Seavey on their fine appearance,

Prospect Hill Improved Prospect Hill, a silent city which is the home of 10,000 tenements of clay has the appearance of being better kept this season than ever before and in addition to the grounds having been mowed and watered, Superintendent D. C. Callahan, acting under instructions of the management, has marked more than 2,000 of the unknown graves. those over which no headstones give the names of the persons lying beneath. The people who visit this place daily are loud in denouncing the action of the street rall-way company in not supplying some means of transportation for reaching the place. In speaking of the matter Superintendent Cal-laban said that he had made a careful estimate and felt safe in saying that during the summer months at least 1,500 persons visited the cemetery daily. The nearest street car line is a mile away, which compels the greater portion of the visitors to walk, they are not able to hire carriages He s that there was scarcely a day that some poor widow or orphan did not become pros-trated by climbing the long hill between the cemetery and the car line, as they made the long journey to pay tribute to their beloved

Lost in the Shuffle. The Sale is Changed. It has been decided by the management to start that big sale of clothing Thursday May 31. Remember that bankrupt manufacturers forced to the wall on account of the stringency of the times had to make enormous sacrifices. When you get clothing down to 60c on the dollar of manufacturers' cost you ought to be getting them cheap enough. We only quote a few of our prices. Strong men's pants, extra well made, and very neat desirable pattern, only 39c. Men's full suits for $1.75. The cloth by the piece is worth more than double. Men's wool cheviot pants, 75c. You will positively pronounce this the biggest snap you ever saw. All wool blue suits, $4.75. Light weight spring vercoats $2.00. Finer goods in proportion still cheaper. This is a chance of a life time. Now a word of caution: All our competitors, if they would be candid, would have to acknowledge that during this sale we can sell for less than they can buy, but that would drive the trade away from their respective stores, so they'll have to try (?) and compete with us, and they will probably try all kinds of tricks. Some of them we understand, will go so far as to make sales similar. Don't be misled. The only genuine bankrupt manufacturers positively opens Thursday, May 31, at a. m. at 115 South Sixteenth street, near Douglas, opposite where they are now rebuilding the Boston Store. Be sure you

FIGURES FROM THE LAST CENSUS

No Reason Why the Eastern States Should Have a Monopoly of Manufacturing .-West is Gaining and Nebraska Should Have Her Share,

The enthusiastic citizens of the state, who have been working during the past two years to stimulate and encourage manufacturing in Nebraska, have been frequently met with the assertion that it would be impossible to make a manufacturing state of Nebraska. It has been urged that the manufacturing industries were so deeply rooted in the east that it would be impossible to move them westward, and that any efforts put forth in that direction would be time and energy

Figures based on the last census are now at hand to prove that Nebraska has made rapid strides in the development of her manufacturing interests during the past. Dividing up the states of the union into groups it is found that from 1880 to 1890 the great est increase in manufacturing took place in the northwestern states. The increase in the capital employed in manufacturing in these states was 252.7 per cent, while the increase in the product was 161 per cent. During the same period the New England states gained only 88.7 per cent in capital and 54 per cent in product, the middle Atlantic states 117.3 and 64.2 per cent and the central northern states 175.5 and 93.5 per cent. These three groups of states have in the past produced the great bulk of all the manufactured goods turned out in the United States, but the above figures would seem to indicate that the northwestern states must om come into prominence as a manufactur ing district, if the ratio of increase shown by the last census is maintained.

The following will show the increase in both capital and product as shown by the census of 1890 over 1880 in the different sections of the country:

The states included under the head of northwestern are Nebraska, Iowa, Minne-sota, Wyoming, Montana and North and South Dakota. While these states as a whole have shown the greatest increase of any section of the country, Nebraska has any section of the country, Nebraska has led all the northwestern states. None of the older states have made anything like the increase in percentage of gain that Ne-braska has. While Nebraska has made such rapid strides in the past ten years, she still, as a matter of fact, ranks low in the list of manufacturing states. These figures do not tend to show that this state has already become a great manufacturing state, but only the possibilities of the future. They will serve, however, to refute the statement made, even by some business men, that Ne-braska cannot hope for any great growth along the line of manufacturing.

The following, showing the amount of capital invested in manufacturing and the value of the product for 1890, will give an oppor-tunity for comparisons between the states:

An eastern writer observes that the progress of the northwest and the southwest may be accepted as evidence that those two resourceful sections have industrial ambitions which are likely to make them conspicuous in our future manufacturing development. With their rich supplies of minerals and other raw materials, and with rapidly augmenting populations, it is not surprising that these sections should have increased their combined manufactures from $404,000,000 in 1880 to $1,000,-300,000 in 1890.

A number of people in Cedar Rapids, Ia., would also like to learn Mr. Dent's present postoffice

Dent is a very pleasant young man, who has a rendy way of making friends. He is the son of a wealthy English gentleman and says he is a brother of State Senator Dent of Lemars, Ia. His last place of business was at Marion and Cedar Rapids, Ia. It is alleged that his unpaid bills at Cedar Rapids amount to almost $1,000. Mr. Dent was in Omaha last week and visited his friends as though there was nothing wrong, but he was very anxious to keep his name out of the papers. While here he asked an officer to assist him in regaining a $150 diamond ring which he alleged was taken from him one night when he was drunk by a saloon keeper. He told the officer that the saloon keeper had refused to give him back his property and he wanted to regain it without any trouble if he could but he was going to recover it, as it had been a present to him from his wife. During Dent's presence in the city the saloon keeper was conspicuous by his absence. ON RECORD ON THE BANK TAX

Probabilities of the Fulfillment of the Platform's Pledge Discounted.

CONGRESSMEN WHOSE VIEWS ARE KNOWN

Friends of Repeal Expecting One Hundred and Forty Votes-Debate Gaining in Energy Like a Snowball-Ten More Days Expected.

WASHINGTON, May 30 .- The debate in he house on resurrecting state banks gathers energy as it proceeds. It had been the purpose to get a vote this week, but the demand for time to speak has been so great that the debate is expected to run through the next ten days. The number of speeches scheduled is almost as great as that in the tariff discussion. The state bank leaders have reached the conclusion since the debate began that they will command about 140 votes for one of the various plans of repeal, but that it will carry in an average attendance.

These 140 votes represent a rapid growth of state banks' strength since the last congress, when the bill of Representative Richardson of Tennessee for the unconditional repeal of this tax secured only eighty four votes, with 118 against and 127 not vot ing. This vote of two years ago is now being recalled, as it puts on record many members of the present house. It shows that of the present members fifty-eight are committed for repeal and that fifty-six are Those on record for repeal are: Messrs. Abbott, Anderson, Alexander, Bailey, Bank-head, Bland, Boatner, Branch, Bunn, Cami-netti, Capehart, Caruth, Catchings, Clarke netti, Capehart, Caruth, Catchings, Clarke of Alabama, Cobb of Alabama, Cox, Crawford, Culbertson, de Armond, Edmunds, English of New Jersey, Enloe, Fithian, Geary, Goodnight, Grady, Harter, Henderson of North Carolina, Jones, Kilgore, Kribbs, Kyle, Lane, Layton, Lester, Livingston, Mallory, McCreary, McMillin, McRae, Meredith, Meyer, Montgomery, Moses, Oates, Patterson, Price, Richardson of Tennesse, Robertson of Louisiana, Sayers, Snodgrass, Stone of Kentucky, Terry, Tracey, Snodgrass, Stone of Kentucky, Terry, Tracey, Warner, Williams of Illinois, Wilson of West Virginia, Wise.

Those of the present house on record against repeal of the bank tax are: Messrs. Arnold, Bretz, Brookshire, Brown, Cobb of Missouri, Cooper of Indiana, Covert, Cummings, Davis, Dingley, Dockery, Durborow, Gorman, Grout, Hare, Hatch, Hayes, Hen-derson of Illinois, Henderson of Iowa, Herderson of Illinois, Henderson of Iowa, Her-mann, Holman, Hopkins of Iilinois, Hopkins of Pennsylvania, Johnson of Ohio, Kem, Lapham, Lockwood, Loud, Lynch, Martin, McAleer, McGann, McKeighan, O'Neil of Massachusetts, O'Neil of Missouri, Payne, Paynter, Pearson, Post, Ray, Rayner, Reilly, Reyburn, Robinson of Pennsylvania, Shell, Simpson, Smith, C. Knights of Pythias Making Ready. WASHINGTON, May 30 .- Th Knights of Pythias of Washington are actively engaged in preparing for the biennial meeting of the supreme lodge and encampment of the uniform rank, to be held here in the latter part of August. A camp to accommo-date 15,000 people of the uniform rank will be laid out in the grounds around the Washington monument, and it is expected that from 16,000 to 20,000 men will appear in the grand parade. Already between twenty and thirty divisions have entered for the prize drill. General Carnahan, who commands the uniform rank, is expected here this week. The committees here are negotiating with the trunk lines and expect to be able to announce reduced rates soon. According to the expectation of the Knights of Pythian from 150,000 to 200,000 visitors will be in Washington during the week of the parade

Physicians' Congress in Session. WASHINGTON, May 30 .- The Congress of Physicians and Surgeons convened here Dr. L. C. Gray of New York, chairman of the executive committee, making the opening address. Dr. Loomis, president of the congress, also made a short speech, and then the floor was yielded to the Association of American Anatomists for a discussion of morphology as a factor in the study of disease. This occupied the remainder of the day's session.

Columbia Clothing Company Closed On account of the fire in the printing office in rear of their store, 13th and Farnam, early yesterday morning. While the damage to the Columbia Clothing Co. is mostly by smoke and water, it is quite heavy, being about $12,000.00, and they will have to re-main closed until the loss is adjusted by the insurance companies. This, they expect, will be done in a few days.

Inexpensive Beauty. It is hard to pick a single flaw in this Hall Stand. It has every virtue of style, worknanship and equipment. It has not one of the minor defects, some of which are nearly always present in an inex-

In general appearance it is easily recgnizable as a new pattern of this year. The proportions are admirable, the framing is unisually heavy, and the outlines are as graceful as one could desire.

The seat is deep and low to the floor; the lid lifts, and there is a large storage chest for overshoes, gloves, etc. The mirror is nearly two feet in diameter, and French beveled plate. The umbrella Rack is of brass, with a rustless bowl; the hooks are of antique pattern, with branching arms, the top and cross framing are superbly quartered and hand-

For an inexpensive Hall Stand it would be hard to surpass this in a years search ..

STUPENDOUS SUIT VALUE HERDED UP FOR DECORATION WEEK.

'Tis patriotic and noble to celebrate Decoration Day.

Let those who sacrificed life for future peace, find a corner in the hearts of every true American, Let us worship their memory. Let us keep their graves green; because they were heroes-because they fought for us, and paid for it with every drop of blood.

Speaking about heroes made by fighting, we ought to be some sort of heroes ourselves. We fought our battle with those manufacturers east ever since early spring to secure what we are offering you this week and we got there-you bet.

CHOCOLAT MENTER Wise says

Chocolat = Menier.

Tea and Coffee create nervousness with a people too nervous already;
Bitter Chocolates are not fit to make a cup of chocolate; cheap (sweet) chocolates are impure, hence injurious;

COCOA is no more like CHOCOLATE than Skimmed Milk is like Cream. Chocolat-Menier is an exquisite Vanilla Chocolate, as nourishing as meat, as low priced as other beverages, and far superior. Ask for yellow wrapper. Your grocer has it.
