INSULTING HONEST WOMEN Visits of Officers More Dreaded Than Visits of Busylers of Burglars. DESPICABLE WORK OF HAZE AND SHOOP They Visit the Home of a Highly Respectable Wife and Grossly Insult Her-Police Aid Furnished Czar Martin of the District. Haze and Shoop have, without the least shadow of authority, forcibly entered the house of a respectable lady, who is the wife of one of the well known firemen employed at engine house No. 3, on two different occasions and the weman's indignant protests were ignored with the remark that they would come into her house whenever they pleased. Mrs. Maggie McKray, wife of Fireman George McKray, has suffered from this latest outrage. She is a respectable woman who is well connected with some of the best people in Omaha, and her reputation has always been above suspicion by those who know her best. Mr. and Mrs. McKray live at 1817 Leavenworth street, where they have furnished a number of rooms which are rented to respectable people who have lived with them for several months and some of the roomers have been with Mr. and Mrs. McKray for three or four years. The rent of the rooms assists in defraying

the family household expenses and they have been enabled to furnish their home in a comfortable and substantial manner. But either Mr. or Mrs. McKray has incurred be discovered of the substantial manner. the displeasure of these august individuals, Haze and Shoop, and they seem to be seek-ing to persecute the woman in every concelvable manner.

These officers went to Mrs. McKray's home on the evening of May 31 and ringing the bell didn't wait for a response, but walked right in and demanded to know if she had right in and demanded to know it she had any girls rooming with her. Without a search warrant or through any other legal process they made a search of the premises, after which Haze took out a book, remarking that he would have to take Mrs. McKrav's name down. She was in ignorance as to what they meant or were there for and earnestly protested against such action. She says that Haze made a move as if he way going to erase her name when Shoop spoke up and said: "No, you can't do that; we must give her name to Chief Seavey, and then decide whether or not she can live here any longer." The officers then left and as soon as Mrs. McKray could inform her husband of what happened the matter was laid before Chief Seavey, who requested the parties to make affidavit to the facts, which was done. Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. McKray learned that Haze had gone to one of their friends, who is the wife of a Fifteenth street saloon keeper, and slandered her reputation in a scandalous manner, and saying that she was not only running a house of assignation, but was a street-walker. Prepara-tions were made to lay the case before the commissioners, and Mr. McKray consulted an attorney last night.

But the matter did not end here. Wednesday night about 11 o'clock these worthies, Haze and Shoop, went to Mrs. McKray's residence again. They rang the door, bell and as soon as she opened the door they pushed in past her, and in spite of her telling them that their actions were unlawful and unwar-ranted, they again searched the house, going through each room. Mrs. McKray told them that they had no right to do this, but one of the officers said that they would come there as often as they pleased, and would go through her house whether she l.ked it or Yesterday Mr. McKray could hardly be restrained in his actions when he realized the disgrace these officers were trying to put upon himself and family, but he accepted wiser counsel, and with some in-fluential friends laid the matter before Commissioner Hartman, who assured them that the matter would receive immediate consid-eration from the board, and he thought that the officers should be immediately sus-it is all different now. Martin wants more tenants, and Haze and Shoop have been busy for several days serving notice on all lewd women living outside the pale to at once remove to the district. It is somewhat astonishing to see how the business has grown outside of the district in so short a time. Chief Detective Haze is authority for the statement that he and his co-laborer Shoop have already served notice upon fifty women to move into Martin's game preserv women to move into Martin's game preserve at once, and they will not be through with their work for several days. This is, of course, good news to Martin. Fifty new ten-ants will enable him to dispense with some of his unruly renters, will enable him to restore his former scale of high prices, and will place him under increased obligations to his friends, the police. The police have neglected some very im

The police nave neglected some very nut portant matters in their hasts to carry out Mr. Martin's wishes in the matter of in-creasing the population of the district. When the dead body of Maud Rubel was found under the Tenth street viaduct Thursday the matter was at once reported to the police. Haze, as chief of detectives, and Sergeant Shoop, in charge of the patrolmen in that end of the city, at once reported at the scene of the murder. Neither of the officers took any charge of the case, however, Neither of them gave any direction to men under them or outlined any plan to be pur-sued in searching for the perpetrator of the crime. After the officers had viewed the body of the dead girl, and found it would not be necessary to serve a notice upon her to remove to the district, they went out on their other work. A murder or two did not count with them. They were out after new tenants for Martin.

New Round Trip Rates to Denver May Cpen a Lively Railroad Fight.

VIOLATION OF SIDE TRIP AGREEMENT Union Pacific Official States the Position of that Company-Helen and Frank

Gould Inspecting Missouri Pacific Lines.

Western passenger rate troubles grow apace, and if the Rock Island should carry out its threat to put a $15 round trip rate from Chicago to Denver and $11 from the Missouri river, the prettiest kind of rate war would result.

When the last meeting of the Western Passenger association was held the roads having made contracts through the influence of side trips were compelled to show up-these contracts and asked to protect them with a money consideration, which they agreed to do. But it appears that since that time other roads have entered the side trip feature of a visit to Denver and are advertising the same to the everlasting disgust of the trunk lines making an effort to play fair. All of this has a tendency to unsettle business, and the wiseacres predict that should the Rock Island be "brash" enough to name a rate of $11 from the Missouri river to Denver and return it would cause such a shaking up among the dry bones as the west has never seen.

It is alleged that the Union Pacific is one of the roads which has never paid any attention to the agreement and continues to advertise free side trips from Denver over its Georgetown line. This statement is em-phatically denied by the passenger depart-ment of the Union Pacific, Assistant General Passenger Agent Payne stating that the only advertisements now in circulation are the itineraries and printed matter of various or ganizations which show side trips, and which were made before the agreement was reached that no side trips should be included in the fare. "These contracts we will be compelled to protect with a money consideration, for the reason that they were made prior to any agreement, but being anxious to withdraw anything that might tend to demoral-ization we agreed to protect our contracts. Since the agreement the Union Pacific has not advertised a single side trip as a feature to get business. What organizations are ig is something we cannot help in view of the fact that contracts were made at a time when there was little likelihood of an agree-ment being reached. If all the roads would live as closely up to their agreements we would have little trouble in the passenger

Agreement Will Be Smashed. CHICAGO, June 7 .- Trouble is coming again upon the Western Passenger association, and the chances are that it will have a large amount of it this time. The Atchison has made a demand upon the lines which it suspects of violating the excursion agree ment to at once inform it whether they propose to abide by the agreement or not, and if so, when they will begin to observe it. Unless a satisfactory answer is returned at once the Atchison will at once give notice of withdrawal from the excursion agreement and begin business on its own account. The lines which were requested to give an ac-count of themesives are the Burlington, the Alton and the Union Pacific.

The notice of the Atchison means substantally that the entire excursion agreement of the association will be thrown overboard and a general scamble for excursion business will result, with a wholesale demoralization of rates as the result. Chairman Caldwell is doing his utmost to keep the trouble from becoming serious, but there is small chance of his success, as several of the roads have made contracts in direct violaton of the agreement and have no intention of letting them go.

In the veto message to the council he set out the provisions of the city charter, showing that the legislative body of cities of the metropolitan class had no authority to make appointments and that in doing so all of the members who voted for the adop tion of the resolution acted in direct viola-tion of the law. # INTO MARTIN'S HANDS.

Haze and Shoop Doing Good Work for the T nderloin Czar.

Mr. M. F. Martin, in his prosecution of the women in the burnt district, has had the very active and enthusiastic co-operation of Instances without number have the police. been reported where the machinery of the police department has been set in motion apparently for no other purpose than to aid Martin in his warfare against the women who have protested against his manner of robbing them. Whatever virtue may rest in Martin's claim of a pull with the police chief there is no question of the excellent assistance of some of the members of the police department.

Martin has for a long time practiced a plan for getting rid of tenants who have become unruly. Some of the women have become rebellious against Martin's rent exactions and czarish methods and have made efforts to get out from his clutches. Then the fine work of his system has been shown. If the woman tries to start a business in any place outside of Martin's preserve she is at once harassed by the police until she is compelled to leave 'he city or retarn to Martin's clutches. Birdle Mann had an experience of this kind. When she signted a hotel in the Elkhorn Valley house she was a hotel in the Elkhorn Valley house she was at once told by Martin that she could not do business at that place as he owned the street, had a pull with the chief of police and he wanted her back in the district. Miss Mann did not propose to move. Sto had been through trouble enough with Martin. But she had to return to the district just the same. Martin called upon his friends in the police desartment and the call was promptly answered. An officer was stationed on the beat near the Elkhorn Valley house and his chief duty seemed to be to warn prospective patrons of the house that they had not better go in there as the nation of the pulled that night. Another instance of the efficacy of a pull properly worked. It soon became evident to Miss Mann that the combination agains. was too strong and she is now back down her was too strong and site is now back down in the district paying tribute to Martin. But the police have favored Martin in more ways than warning patrons against visiting the houses of people who are not in the favor of Czar Martin. Inmates of the houses of ill repute who have rebelled against Martin have been forced to leave the other by the police. Numerous instances the city by the police. Numerous instances have occurred of arrests that have been made by the police on the most trivial charges simply to carry out Martin's plan of ridding the district of people who were objectionable to Martin. A girl was ar-rested a few nights ago for refusing to pay a cab driver $1 to take her to the telegraph a cab driver $1 to take her to the telegraph office and return. The fare was exorbitant and the girl offered to pay the driver the regular fare of 50 cents. The driver called one of Martin's policemen and he promptly arrested the girl for refusing to pay the extortion. She paid the $1 and was dis-missed. Another girl, who did not belong to Martin's favored circle, was arrested because she stepped out of the door with a friend who had called. She was taken to the police station, but was dismissed by the judge. Another girl only opened the door indge. Another girl only opened the door to allow a caller to depart, but she was not quick enough in closing it. An officer made a break for the door, which was closed in his face. He forced the door and had the girl arrested for resisting officer. She was finally compelled to leave the city to make room for a more tractable subject who would consent to be robbed by Martin and bled by cab drivers and police without protest. The women of the police without protest. The women of the district have no rights where they conflict with the gread of Martin or the pleasure or profit of his favored coppers. But the greatest service that the police have rendered Martin is being performed new. His revenues, he asserts, have been running low on account of the hard times and many of the best paying tenants have gone out of business, and he found it necesary to de something to again put his busi-ness on a highly profitable basis. The action of the police in ordering all women of loose character to take up residence in the district could not have been more to his purpose if he had planned the order
