Benators from Wool Growing States Say it Will Ruin the Industry.

THREE NEW CIRCUIT JUDGES WANTED

Benator Perkins Defends Senator Stanford-Several Senators Want Information from the Treasury Department-More Wool Speeches for Today.

WASHINGTON, June 13 .- Mr. Perkins of California took occasion at the opening of the session of the senate today to briefly defend the memory of the late Leland Stanford from the charge made by Representative Geary a few days ago that he had founded the Stanford university out of a spirit of revenge and resentment because he had not been elected a trustee of the University of California. When he was governor of California he (Mr. Perkins) had appointed Mr. Stanford a regent of the university, but at Mr. Stanford's own request the legislature did not confirm the nomination. Governor Stoneman also would have made Mr. Stanford a regent but the honor was declined.

A recommendation offered by Mr. Morgan was passed calling on the secretary of the treasury for certain information: 1. What amount of gold coin has been received by the Treasury department since November 1, 1893?

2. How much was received from the sale of bonds and to what persons or banking institutions were such bonds sold? 3. What outstanding obligations have been redeemed in gold since that date?

Mr. Hoar offered a resolution calling upon the president to inform the senate what, if any, representations, written or oral, have been made to the government of the United States by the representatives of any foreign countries as to any contemplated retaliation on account of the proposed imposition of a discriminating duty on sugar aganist bounty giving countries, also the facts as to the probable exclusion of our agricultural prodacts from Germany or Guatemala and also any information in his possession relative to any proposed retaliatory legislation by the Cortes of Spain on account of the abro-gation of the reciprocity treaty under the tariff act of 1890. There was no objection and the resolution was adopted. On motion of Mr. Vilas, democrat of Wis-consin, three bills providing one additional circuit judge each for the Seventh, Eighth and Ninth judicial districts were passed. The tariff debate was resumed, the pending question being Mr. Peffer's amend-ment to restore 50 per cent of the duty on vigorous speech against free wool.

The question of free wool, Mr. Sherman said, particularly affected the people of Ohio.
He reiterated what he had said in a previous speech, that free wool was the culminating atrocity of this bill. He appealed to the democrats to put aside politics and withhold this destructive blow to this great industry. The sheep raisers and wool growing industry was common, in a greater or less extent, to every state and territory. It was certain, he said, that the United States could not com-pete in the production of wool with Australia, Argentine and other countries where sheep raising was a national industry. Unless some government aid was given, the farmers of the United States must abandon the field.
Mr. Dubois followed Mr. Sherman. When Mr. Dubois finished, Mr. Stewart of Nevada took the floor and made an argument against free wool. Mr. Hansbrough of North Dakota

Mr. Hansbrough was succeeded by Mr. Shoup of Idaho, who also opposed free wool as disastrous to one of the chief industries of his state. Mr. Shoup contended that the fall in the price of wool had been world wide for twenty years, and in the United States it ruled higher than elsewhere by the amount of the duty levied. The demonetization of silver had much to do with the fall of the price of wool in the world's market. He cited market quotations to show that the differ-ence between foreign and domestic prices had been coming closer together since the election of a democratic president. He analyzed the cost added to the price of a suit of clothes by the duty on wool to show how small a proportion of the finished product the duty is. Comparisons were also made to show the greater labor cost in the United States as compared with Australia. He contended that free wool would ruin the industry in the United States.

WOULD RUIN OREGON SHEEP MEN. Mr. Mitchell of Oregon also opposed free Mr. Mitchell of Oregon also opposed free wool. He argued the Pacific coast would be more injuriously affected by free wool than any other part of the country. Free wool meant absolute destruction to the woolgrowing industry of Oregon, an industry which had grown to be of vast importance to the state. A large portion of Oregon was more useful for sheep grazing than for any other purpose.

Mr. Frye declared Australia could produce enough wool to supply the entire consumpenough wool to supply the entire consump-tion of the United States. Australian wool, he said, could be laid down in New York for 5 cents a pound. Yet it was the deliberate intention of the democratic majority to subect every farmer in the United States, where he had fed his sheep six months of the year in Maine or allowed them to run wild all the year round in Texas, to such annihilatory competition from Australia. When this discussion ended, at 5:30, Mr.

Quay took his manuscript from his desk and began the eighth installment of his famous began the eighth installment of his famous speech, begun two months ago today.

After Mr. Quay had spoken fifteen minutes Mr. Harris, in charge of the tariff bill, asked him to yield to him (Harris). He called attention to the slow progress of the bill, two days already having been consumed in general debate on the wool schedule. He then made a request for unanimous consent that the wool schedule be proceeded with under the five-minute rule tomorrow after Mr. Aldrich, who desired to speak, had finished.

The request developed the fact that

The request developed the fact that Messrs. Lodge, Chandler, Platt and others desired to address the senate on the general subject of the schedule, and Mr. Harris, with reluctance, said he was compelled to respect the requests of these senators, and would therefore, postpone his request to proceed under the five-minute rule until tomorrow. The senate, at 5:50, went into executive session and shortly afterwards adjourned.

NEW CURRENCY BILL IN EMBRYO.

Committee on Currency About to Prepare Comprehensive Measure. WASHINGTON, June 13 .- Representative Walker of Massachusetts, a veteran member of the committee on banking and the senior republican member of the committee, says that in his opinion the question of banking and currency about to be matured into a comprehensive system by a select commit tee of five members, under a recent vote of the banking committee, is the most important subject before congress, not second to the tariff. Sealed ballots are now being filed tariff. Sealed ballots are now being filed for the purpose of selecting the committee of five. Each member of the banking committee has a vote and names five of his associates on the committee. The seals will be broken Friday, and the members having the largest number of votes will constitute the select committee. Mr. Walker has urged that no votes be given to himself or to Measrs. Springer, Warner or Sperry, as each of them has a banking bill to which they naturally would be inclined. The entire purpose of forming the select committee tire purpose of forming the select committee is to break away from the present bills and to get up a broad banking system with such good features of all the bills as may recommend themselves.

The committee of five will sit continuously, said Mr. Walker, with a view of reporting their work to the house by the 27th first to insure positive results. Recent discussion in the house and in committee has made the substantial feature of the system reasonably certain. It will be in the direction of na-tional currency and national banking, and away from the state banking, and based on away from the state banking, and based on gold and sliver instead of bonds. The gen-eral desire is to create a system of national banks which shall proceed along lines par-allel to the present national banks. The lat-ter will be merged gradually into and absorbed by the new system. As the charters of the old banks expire they will be given

Thus the old and new systems can proceed in parallel lines without any disarrangement of either system.

Mr. Walker was asked what the new system of banks would have to do with the issuance of money. "The bill undoubtedly will provide for doing away with the various forms of currency now issued and the substitution therefor of a uniform paper money issued by the government through the banks. At present the government circulates treasury notes, greenbacks, silver certificates and various kinds of currency and the government undertakes to make good this money. But the purpose will be to make the national ban's the sole source of issuing currency under government supervision and direction. The government thus will be relieved of the burden of issuing, circulating and currently burden of issuing, circulating and currently redeeming these various forms of currency and the entire responsibility will be placed on the banks. This national bank currency would be surrounded with all the safeguards of the present law and such other safeguards as would insure proper redemption. In short, the federal government will be relieved of direct attention to the issuance of money and all responsibility for keeping it 'good money' and yet will insure the public that every dollar issued by the national banks is good and redeemable the country over."

good and redeemable the country over."

"Can such a measure be passed at the present session?" Mr. Walker was asked.

"Possibly not," said he, "but it will serve a valuable purpose to business. The mere fact that such a comprehensive measure for a nationalized currency can be reported and put on the calendar will have a salutary effect in business and banking circles. It will be in shape also, to be taken up at will be in shape, also, to be taken up at the next session of congress. The recent de-bate on state banks has been one of the most beneficial from an educational point of view we have had in twenty years. It has cleared the way for a safe, sound and conservative system of nationalized banks and currency.

Amending the Income Tax Feature. WASHINGTON, June 13.-Senator Vest today gave notice of an amendment to the inme tax section of the tariff bill which would exempt from the operations of the income tax all fraternal and benevolent organiza-tions. He said he believed the bill as it now stood would do that, but in order to make it perfectly plain this amendment would be added,

LABOR'S PARLIAMENT.

All Was Harmony at the St. Louis Congress -Resolutions Adopted. ST. LOUIS, June 13.-Before adjourning last night the conference of the leaders of the American Federation of Labor, Knights of Labor, the three railway brotherhoods and the Farmers alliance adopted resolutions to the effect that a conference of representatives of organized labor of North America shall be held semi-annually, the first conference to be held February 22 next Washington; declaring against dual organization in any trade or calling and that in all matters of trade conflicts, boycotts and trade labels the union particularly interested shall have absolute authority and autonomy; and also urging the working mass to throw off the yoke of political par-tizanship and vote independently.

It was also decided that each organization submit the proceedings of the conven-tion to their respective organization for action later, to report to a provisional committee of three to publish proceedings and arrange for the next conference. Messrs. Sargent of the Firemen, Maguire of the Federation and Hays of the Knights of Labor were chosen as this committee.

About 800 workingmen gathered later at the Grand opera house to listen to addresses by prominent leaders. Among them was Samuel Gompers of the Federation of Labor, who alluded to the successful termination of the miners' troubles, which, he said, will have a salutary effect on all these mination of the miners' troubles, which, he said, will have a salutary effect on all labor organizations. "The opportunity for workers is nearer today than ever before. In a short time you will see a movement that will surprise not only our enemies but our most sanguine friends. The purpose of this conference was to force the issue and demand that these rival organizations shall come together and unite for concerted action. The session was harmonious and the delegates seemed to be unanimous for the concerted action. unanimous for one organization, but it did

"Buchanan wanted immediate action, and he was opposed by the more conservative element, and the conference ended in a resolution being passed that the Knights of Labor and the American Federation of Labor meet and devise some plan whereby all labor organizations could be placed under one head. This meeting is the result of that resolution. Another resolution was adopted that if these two organizations failed to act in this matter before July 2, the chair-

"So you can see even if they do not decide to consolidate now, it is not improbable that such a thing will take place before the summer is over. I think that if such a meeting were called and an organization effected, the American Federation would join in a body. This now organization would in a body. This new organization would unite all the railway employes who at present are not affiliated with either of these two bodies. Besides the bricklayers and other large organizations would come in you can readily see what a powerful organization there would be for a starter. From the way things look I think something of this kind will be done. I have every reason to believe that the result of these meetings will be one grand, mighty labor organiza-

PROF. HERRON'S ANARCHISTIC ADDRESS

Governor Crounse Compelled to Vigorously Except to the Sentiments of the Iowa Collegian on the Subject of "A New Political Vision."

LINCOLN, June 13 .- (Special to The Bee.) The twenty-third annual commencement of the Nebraska State university took place at the Lansing theatre this forenoon. The exercises were to commence at 10 o'clock, but every seat in the large auditorium was taken long before that time and standing room was at a high premium. Never before in the history of the institution has popular interest been so manifest. There were a great many interested visitors from all over the state and the stage was filled with distinguished guests. The musical numbers on the program were well rendered and highly appreciated, but the feature of the forenoon was the address of Prof. George Herron of Iowa college at Grinnell. Prof. Herron's oration was upon the subject of "A New Political Vision," and during the course of his ad-dress he took an advanced position upon the economics of the day. So radical were his views that those of his audience who followed him closely were almost breathless with astonishment. Speaking of the effort this afternoon one of the members of the Nebraska supreme court said that Prof. Herron was the most polished anarchist who has visited Lincoln for some time; that the address was a piea for socialism in its most radical form, and although couched in the polished tones of the orator the principles enunciated were none the less anarchistic, and therefore all the more dangerous. At the close of Prof. Herron's address Governor Crounse took the stage and in a brief, vigorous style registered his exceptions to the sentiments expressed by the Iowa collegian. A brief and unsatisfactory summary of Prof. Herron's remarkable address is as follows:
"The people today are looking for new political conditions. Civilization is a vast, political conditions. Civilization is a vast, undisciplined army, yet conscious of a universal change. The people are not angry, but are disturbed by sorrow and anxiety. The world is full of discontent and moving toward revolution. The race is learning that it is not an aggregation of individuals, but a union into one body. The association of men in justice is now the aim of politics. The whole trouble is due to the want of common unity of aim. We must have polities which bring universal harmony and "The state must be the invisible incarna tion of an invisible power. Liberty is but a means to an end. If liberty means no more than to fight each other for individ-ual gain it is a failure. It must be an association of men with each other. There are not two kinds of right, one for the state and the other for the indivadual. If there is a the other for the indivadual. If there is a principle of right in the universe it is always right. The most significant fact in society today is that it turns to Christ as the ideal for humanity. If this ideal could be attained it would bring unity of the masses. The living Christ is the King of America, and the Christian state will be the only organized democracy.

America, and the Christian state will be the only organized democracy.

"Americans are not democratic either socially or politically. In a pure democracy the people will be their own representatives. The Christian state will be the organized economy of the people. The great trouble with our system of government is the over production of middle men. The system of wages is a system of slavary. There can wages is a system of slavery. There can be no equality until there are no more hire-lings. The aim of the law is the education of men in those questions which unite them in the right. At no time since the age of the Roman state has law received so much attention as today, and yet all know there is no justice in the courts. If there is anarchy everywhere it has its origin in the courts.

"God sent this American nation to be an example to all other nations of the earth. We have failed. We have forsaken our trust. We are a fallen nation. Except the nation repent it cannot survive. We must prepare the way for the Christian state and for the kingship of God."
