Some weeks ago Mayor Bemis named a man for the position of city electrician and sent the appointment into the council. That body refused to confirm. This moved along for some time, and until Councilman Dan H.

Wheeler sprung a surprise by nominating L. H. Rheem for the position, doing this by introducing a resolution, which was adopted.

When the resolution was sent to the mayor for his approval the executive vetoed the same and sent it back to the council, giving as a reason that the council, as a council, had no authority to appoint an official, in the event that the appointive power was vested solely in the executive. At that time hot speeches were made by Wheeler and Ike Hascall and the veto was rejected. This left Rheem in power and he at once com-menced to exercise the duties and functions pertaining to the office. In fact, he worked a month, and then his friends in the council managed to place the bill for his May salary into the appropriation sheet. This amounted to $106, and although many objections were made, the item was allowed and the sheet

The Stevenson divorce continues to be the star attraction in the equity court presided over by Judge Ferguson. There is any amount of filthy testimony, and yesterday it became so rotten that the attorney for the plaintiff grew sick and had to ask for a con-tinuance until today.

Will Leave Over the Elkhorn This Morning

-Who Will Go. At 7 o'clock this morning a special train bearing a number of leading Omaha tobbers will leave the Elkhorn depot for a three days' visit with their customers along this line of road as far west as Hastings. The train will be composed of four coaches and stops will be made at every town on the read. The jobbers will step over night at Seward and Hastings and will return home early Saturday evening. The following is a list of the merchants who had agreed to go yesterday afternoon, but it is thought several others who have been undecided will join the party at the depot this morning: Elkhorn Officials—Charles C. Messrs. Crowder and Simeral were loaded down with authorities and were prepared to make some lengthy arguments, but were cut short by Judge Walton, who said he had heard enough upon that subject. Referring to the parties on the other side of the house, he asked, "What have you to say?"

Ike Hasca'l started in and talked for an hour, trying to show that the resolution was valid and that the council had a perfect right to fill the office to which Mr. Rheem had been appointed. After he had concluded attorneys for the plaintiff were preparing to reply, when Judge Walton told them that it was not necessary, as the law was clear upon the subject which had been brought to his consideration. There was nothing to do, he said, but to make the injunction perpetual, as it was clear that the council had no more right to appoint executives of the city.

Delegates to the National Meeting-Features of Closing Session. Nebraska State Homeopathic Medical society was adjourned yesterday after a three days' session, which was well attended and highly interesting from a professional standpoint. At the morning's session Dr. A. A. Foots of this city read a very interesting paper on "Atresia Vaginae," and Dr. J. West Hingston of Cheyenne, Wyo., discussed "Orificial Dilatation." These were followed by the usual discussions and the convention closed with the report of the committees and the chairmen of bureaus.

At the afternoon session papers were read on "Gynecology" by Dr. F. B. Righter of Linceln, and on "Nosa and Throat Discases of Children" by Dr. C. Gurnee Fellows of Chicago. As usual these were well discussed Just before adjorning the following were elected delegates to the American Institute of Homeopathy: Drs. Amelia Burroughs, W.
