The people at this juncture were willing to submit to the decision of a committee that should visit the jail. Frank Moores gave the crowd a talk on Bixteenth and Farnam, telling them that Payne was not in the Jail, and showing the receipt again for the prisoner at Lincoln. The crowd was not quite satisfied, and Moores then offered, at the suggestion of some one to take a committee through the jail. They eaught at that, and J. L. Campbell and Lucian Fry were appointed. Neither one of them was positive about knowing Payne, but Coleman said at last that he could identify him. After a talk with Seavey, in which the committee said its decision would be final, they were escorted to the jail by Drexel and Moore. Every cell and room was examined, and, al-though several negroes were soon, Payne was not found. The committee then returned to Sixteenth and Farnam streets, and the chairman reported thus: "We have gone to every cell in the jail and failed to find Sam Payne. w him." The speaker was greeted "How much did you get for that?"

and similar joers.

The chief said the committee's report must be final and ordered the crowd to disperse They were gradually scattered by the patrolmen and patrol wagons. At 2 o'clock the streets were practically deserted, except for occasional crowds of two or three. TO EASE HIS CONSCIENCE.

As Sam Payne was leaving the city last evening in charge of Sheriff Drexel and Deputies Umsted and Carroll, he was interviewed by a reporter for The Bee. Payne was taken direct to the depot in a hack in time to catch the 6:50 B. & M. train for Lincoln. When Payne as the research in Lincoln. Payne looked at the crowd on the platform, then at the police officers, and said: "There were several things that prompted me to tell what I knew. All of them I cannot tell just now, but will at the proper time. The first thing that occurred to me when arrested and brought back was that if I said nothing about it and remained silent the one who killed the girl would be forever unknown. Payne said he would engage an attorney. He sat next to the car window looking out upon the crowd that had gathered about the rtain. He held a small straw hat in his hand and was twirling it about on his finger. Payne was not shackled. Sheriff Drexel remarked: "You don't need any, do you, Sam?" The latter laughed and said he would go with the sheriff quietly.

There was some uneasiness displayed by the officers in whose charge he was regarding the arival of the train at South Omaha The talk of lynching started there, and it was feared there might be a crowd at the depot to take Payne from the train. There was no trouble.

BROWN WANTED AGAIN. Sheriff Drexel said when seen by a re-porter that the rumor that he had issued an order to rearrest Dr. Brown, who had been discharged, was true. He said that he took this step owing to a statement made by Payne to him on the train. The sheriff asked Payne where he first met Brown, and how long he had known the latter, Payne He then told Drexel that he met Dr. Brown on Monday morning after the girl's disappearance in front of the Windsor hotel. Brown asked him if he wanted a job. Payne replied he did. Then Brown told him he had been intimate with the girl and desired greatly to keep it from becom-ing public. He was afraid there was but one way to do it. He then said to Payne: "Can I trust you? If you will not play me (Continued on Third Page.)

Captain Cole had his hair cut yesterday norning, and when he marshaled his hosts at the Charles Street park yesterday afternoon to do battle with the Omahas he found himself as powerless as a once famous captain of scriptural fame who was shorn of his curls at an inopportune time. Captain Cole and his men strove mightily to increase their list of victories, but the effort was in vain.

It was a real game of ball from start to finish, and the large audience present had a feast of enjoyment. Boxendale was simply invincible, holding the St. Joe sluggers down to five scattering hits. He was given a support that made the victory dead easy. Dolan made his first appearance for Omaha. at third base. He fielded his position splendidly and helped cinch the game by timely batting.

Omaha opened the ball in the first inning. With two men out McVey rapped out a twobagger, Moran got first on Preston's wild throw to first and both scored on Kid Fear's two-bagger to center field. Another was added in the second. Boxendale got four wide ones, went to third on Munyan's single and home on McVey's sacrifice to mid-dle field. In the third Fear made his second two-bagger and Pedros' homer swelled the total to five. In the seventh Fear gave them another two-bagger, which was duplicated by Pedros, and Fear scored. Boyle got first on a missed third strike and scored with Pedros on Dolan's timely rap for two sacks. In the ninth, again with two men out

Omaha Jobbers Being Royalty Treated as Their Train Proceeds. The jobbers' excursion, which left Omaha at 7:15 a. m. yesterday, covered the towns of Cedar Bluffs, Colon, Swedeburg, Ceresco, Davey, Wahco, Morse Bluffs, Linwood, Able Brune, Brainard, Dwight, Bee and Seward according to schedule. At each place the excursionists visited the business men, and passed twenty minutes to half an hour in introductions and conversation. At Wahoo the Business Men's club met the party, and, after escorting them through the city in carriages, the jobbers were taken to the Commercial and Merchants hotels and an elegant dinner was served. The party comprising the trip has voted the excursion a howling success in every respect.

The merchants visited seemed very much gratified and felt complimented with the visit of the wholesalers of Omaha. The chief incident of this morning's jour-Messrs. At Linwood, Able and Brainard short stops were made. At Bruno the citizens, with a brass band, wel-comed the jobbers. The band and business men joined the excursionists, and at other points several merchants were taken aboard and accompanied the train to Seward. Here we were met by carriages and escorted to the Windsor hotel. In the evening the visitors were driven over the city and en-tertained at the hotels with music by man-delin and string bands. Mayor Holland addressed the guests and was responded to by W. A. L. Gibbon. Other speeches were made by Hon. Alvin Saunders, J. R. Buchanan, George M. Tibbs, Dan Farrell and R. S. Norwal and S. C. ALL THREE EVENTS ARE NOW UNDER WAY

Play of the Ladles Was the Attraction Last Night-Their Style and Prowess-Eight More Days of Tennis Stiff in Sight.

It begins to appear that the managers of the local lawn tennis tournament will have to make up their minds to play the remaining ties single file. That is to say they cannot hope any longer to be able to get any one competitor to go through more than one match in the course of an evening. Last night it was hoped that several of the competitors would get through a single and a double or a double and a mixed double, but it did not pan out that way. Cullingham, for instance, hoped to play his mixed and then be able to finish the doubles game that was left unfinished the previous night. The mixed was only two sets, long ones it is true, but it was almost dark when it was over. And Naudain, who was also engaged in this event, was prevented for the same reason from playing off his first tie in the doubles, where he was pitted, with Tilden for a partner, against Horton and Gates. All told, only one single, two doubles and two mixed doubles were played off last night. At this rate it will take at the least eight more days to wind up everything, and yet it does not appear that any one is to blame for not pushing matters any more. The trouble is with the daylight. interest was manifested last night in the mixed doubles game, in which Cul-lingham and Miss Chase met Naudain and Miss Skinner, than in anything else. It was two years since ladies had figured in tournsment play in Omaha. The spectators, or but few of them, had seldom, if ever, had the opportunity of seeing a mixed doubles match. It was a novelty to them. Add to this that they were justly expecting a clos game, and that no one was any too sure rhich side would come out victorious, and it will readily be seen why the other events that were in progress at the same time in other courts failed to attract the same at-There was the interest of curiosity to see how the ladies would compare with the cracks of the other gender.

As to the character of the play, it can be said that it was influenced largely by the eagerness of the losers to come out ahead. This was a laudable enough object, but it is a matter of doubt whether this very eagerness did not lose them the match. It cer-tainly detracted very largely from the beauty and evenness of the tennis. The game was a broken one from start to finish. It is, of course, a very open question how much a man is justified in taking his partner's balls in a mixed double, but it cer-tainly would appear that where the lady is comparatively strong and the gentleman comparatively weak it would be, to say the least, good policy to let the lady have at least an equal share in the game. As the rubber was played, Cullingham and Miss Chase could, if they had so minded, have won with less trouble than they did. Cullingham seldom sent a really difficult ball to either of his opponents, but whatever he sent came, almost invariably, right back to him. He rarely reached for a ball that would go to his partner, and what went to her she Naudain was serving Miss Skinner had an excellent chance to show what she do at the net, and she showed it well. This was the one feature of the match more than any other that elicited the applanse of the crowd. To see a hady stand close up to the net and withstand, and frequently successfully, too, a hot series of volleys from so old and experienced a player as C. S. Cullingham was a sight that not more than one or two on that ground had had the opportunity of witnessing before. Of the other games but little need be said. The Gardner brothers made a strong fight against C. H. Young and Austin and cap-tured a set from them. The stronger pair were placed 15 behind on the handicap or of course they could not have done it, bu they were justly given great credit for what beyond doubt a brilliant achievement. W. Gardner especially put up an unexpectedly brilliant game and fully bore out the predictions that are being made of a close struggle when he meets Cullingham in the singles, Cullingham owing 15 to him.

Colpetzer and Haverstick also deserve a word for their victory over Hart and Battin. The contest was a hot one from start to finish and it took no less than thirty-six games to settle it. Scores:

MEN'S SINGLES. Second round: J. W. Battin beat R. R. Young, 6-4, 2-6, MEN'S DOUBLES.

First round:
G. E. Haverstick and M. Colpetzer beat
E. Hart and J. W. Battin, 9-7, 6-3, 6-4.

After darkness put a stop to play for the day a meeting of some of the members of the state association was held at the Bachelors Quarters to settle on the place and date for the state championship tournament. Hastings had been promised the doubles, and there had been an idea that there might be some advantage in holding the singles in one of the other towns, Omaha or Lincoln. Mr. Hicks was present to represent Lincoln, and, although he ad-mitted that he had come without any definite. instructions from his club, he declared that Lincoln was anxious for the event, and Mr. Dungan, who represented Hastings, announced that he was instructed to vote in accordance with Lincoln's wishes in the matter. Omaha, on the other hand, was extremely anxious to have it in this city, and represented the advantages that a larger city could offer in the way of better courts and more interest in the game among the people of the town. After an hour or more of talk, turning largely on the constitution of the executive committee and of the as-sociation itself, it was finally discovered that the Young Mon's Christian association club of this city, having paid its dues of $1, was a qualified member of the association, and should have received a notice of the meeting, which; not having been done, the meeting was not legal. It was then agreed that as no decisions reached could be binding on any one it would be as well to adjourn the maeting and call another as soon as the absent club could have had sufficient notice. DORIAN EASILY BEATS SIR WALTER. Candidate for the Chicago Derby Shows

Wonderful Speed After a Long Journey. NEW YORK, June 14 .- The chief interst at Morris Park today was in the muc and a half race, in which Dorian, Sport and Sir Walter started at ten pounds off and Sir Walter started at ten pounds off weight for age, and Sir Walter was a prohibitive favorite, with Sport second choice and the 3-year-old inches not wanted by anybody but the punters. The flag fell to a good start, and hone of the jockeys seemed inclined to make the running. The consequence was the race degenerated into a mile gallop and a sprint of half a mile down the hill. In a short time Sir Walter had enough of ft, and then Griffin sent Dorian out for the lead. He took it easily in the last fourth and the Sport got enough, leaving the 3-year-old to gallop in a winner in the slow time of 2:42. The last half mile was run in 47 seconds, however, which showed conclusively that Dorian has a lot of speed. He will run in the American Derby at Chicago and is thought to have a royal chance. Outsiders Day Again at Latonia.

CINCINNATI, O., June 14.—The bright sunshiny weather brought a big crowd of betters to Latonia today. The track was fast. It was outsiders' day, the only favorite to win being Lehman, in the last race. The principal event was the Sensation stake, worth $3,220 to the winner, and was taken by Corrigan's geiding, Leo Lake, in a nose finish. A novel feature in the race was the use of Ezekiel's numbered saddle cloths with the horse's number in figures large enough to be plainly seen across the track. Results:

First race, six furlongs: Miss Knott (7 to 1) won, Advocate (3 to 1) second, Mrs. Morgan (6 to 1) third. Time: 1:14%.

Second race, one mile: Resplendent (10 to 1) won, Master Fred (10 to 1) second, Lindolette (even) third. Time: 1:142%.

The curtain arose upon a beautiful pic-ure. The girls, arrayed in white and pink dresses, occupied the greater part of the high tier of seats, while the boys, in black, were seated on the right. The scene was enlivened by the fluttering of a thousand fans of different bues. It had the appearance of a flowering garden with myriads of many colored butterflies flitting among the flowers. The singing was ex-cellent and well timed. The accord to the piano accompaniment was remarkable
