ET	Adolph	Rachwitz Sentenced to Three Years in the Pen.
ight	MOTION	FOR A NEW TRIAL OVERFULED
-	The second second second	ceiving His Sentence the Prisoner rges the Judge with Having Been Paid to Impose a Severe Penalty.

Adolph Rachwitz will spend the next three years doing something for the state of Iowa. The motion for a new trial was argued at the morning session of the district court, his attorney contending that the judge erred in allowing the evidence of Ben Marks' private mark in the stolen goods to be introduced in rebuttal, when it had been neglected on direct examination. The court overruled the motion and Rachwitz was brought in to receive his sentence. He came in gracefully sucking a cigarette and took his seat in front of Judge Lewis, who asked him if he had anything to say why he should not be sentenced, and received a negative reply. He thereupon told him that the law allowed a term of ten years to be imposed for rimes of the kind he had been convicted of, but it was the desire of the court to give him a chance to reform, and he would be lenient and only give him three. While the sentence was being passed Rachwitz glared at the court, and when he was taken out by the sheriff he turned to the judge and mut-tered, "I hope that $1,000 that Ben Marks gave you to do this will give you a h-l of a lot of good." The remark was made in a tone loud enough to be heard by all who stood near, but fortunately the judge did not hear it, or Rachwitz might have had a chance to spend five years in the penitentiary instead f three. Another dose of grief was prepared by the grand jury, which reported another in-dictment against him on the charge of burglary. This grows out of the robbery of several freight cars on the Wabash, Rock Island and Milwaukee railroads by Rach-witz, James Harris, W. H. Hall, William Kerns and Bob Limerick. All five were indicted, Harris, who turned state's evidence, coming in for his share of medicine along with the rest. It is evident from Rachwitz's actions that does not mean to go to the penitentlary If there is such a thing as getting away. Yesterday forenoon as he was standing in the corridor of the county jail he dropped a small object out of his pocket, which fell upon the floor of the jull with a ringing sound. When picked up it proved to be a small saw, about three inches in length, made of the best quality of steel and with one edge notched in a way that would have made it a very formidable antagonist for any prison bar that ever robbed a thief of sweet liberty. A thorough search was made of the jail by Sheriff Hazen, but no other saws were found. At the afternoon session O'Mara and Wilon were given a jail sentence of forty-five days for larceny. The trial of Bill Criss on the charge of stealing a valise full of clothing from Ora McAdoe at Mrs. Pralor's was taken up, but Miss McAdoe's maidenly modesty came to the rescue of the thief, and she refused to allow the clothing to be aired in court, saying, "Ef you shows dem clothes t'all dese people I'll run out o' dis court room, suah. From her testimony it seemed that the value of the stolen property was less than $20, and Criss finally decided to plead guilty to the charge of petit larceny and was sentenced to thirty days in the kitchen at he county jail washing dishes.

Charles Kenodle, allas Charles Wilson, who stole J. W. Templeton's horse and several others, pleaded guilty and will be sen tenced next Thursday.

Where theiChecks Go The park commission and city council, who have been having Twenty-first street filled in order to provide work for the unemployed, had their faith shaken in human nature yesterday when the checks were pre-sented at the office of the city clerk for pay-ment. It has been represented all along that a large portion of the day laboring population of Council Bluffs is in a half-starving con-dition. The checks presented yesterday for redemutica with each expresented only about redemption with cash aggregated only about $190, and of that amount $16 worth were presented by a single saloon keeper, whose establishment is not far from the scene of the operations. The checks are considered better even than city warrants, for there is no discount, and they are accepted by saloon keepers, as well as other merchants, the same as cash in payment for groceries, either wet or dry.

INSTRUCTIVE STATISTICS.

Expenditures of National, State and Municipal Governments.

The last bulletin issued by the census office deals with the receipts and expanditures of national, state and municipal governments for the year 1890. The entire receipts by the national, state, county, township and municipal governments of the United States. combined, including schools and postal servcombined, including schools and postal serv-ice and all forms of taxation, reached in 1890 an aggregate of $1,040,473,013. The total expenditures for the government of the people, from the support of the district school to the payment of the expenses of congress and the interest on the public debt in the same year, amounted to $915.954.055, leaving a balance of $124.518,958 in the trensuries of the various states, cities and counties. The revenues are made up from various sources, the largest being local taxation upon real and personal property, which was $443,-096,574. The liquor dealers of the United States contributed to the support of government the sum of $24,786,496. The list of disburgements shows some feresting items and demonstrates that the largest expenditures of the people of the United States are for charitles, amounting In 1890 to $146,895,671. The second largest sum is paid for education, $145,583,115. Omitting interest on the public debt, the next item in amount is for roads, sewers and bridges, $72,262,023. The postal service cost $66,000,000, the army and militin $35. 509,000, and $15,174,403 was paid for the sup-port of the navy. The cost of sustaining the police in all the cities and towns of the United States aggregated $24,000,000, and the fire departments $16,500,000. The judiciary system of the country cost $23,000,000; $12,-000,000 was paid for the support of prisons and reformatories, $11,000,000 for lighting the streets of the towns and cities of the United States; $2,280,294 was paid for protecting the public health, $2,962,697 for sus-taining parks and public resorts. It costs the United States government $6,608,647 to support the Indians, and $11,737,738 for the improvement of rivers and harbors. The detailed reports from the several cities fur-nish some very interesting comparisons. It cost every man, woman and child in the United States the sum of $13.15 to maintain the national, state and local governments the national, state and local governments in the year 1890. It is a curious fact that the city of Chicago comes very close to the average, the expenditure there for main-taining the municipal government being $13.83 per capita of population. The city government of New York costs nearly twice as much to maintain as that of Chicago, the per capita being $24.56. The following table shows the principal cities of the United States arranged in the order of the expenditure per capita for the maintenance of their city governments:

Family of Preachers.

A noteworthy family gathering of the Armstrongs is arranged for the Second Presbyterian church today. This morning Rev. W. L. Armitrong of Blair, Neb., the pa-triarch of the tribe, will preach. He is 71 years of age, and has devoted a lifetime to combination of the two professions, medi a combination of the two professions, medi-cinal and ministerial, caring for both body and soul. Among his hearers will be five ministers of his own family, three of his sons, a son-in-law and a daughter-im-inw, all duly ordained. One of these is Rev. C.

A small boy was found lying fast asleep yesterday morning on the front doorstep of a man named McCreary He had spent the entire night out of doors and when awakened from his improvised couch said he was an inmate of the Chris-tian home. He ran away the afternoon before and spent the first part of the night, until 2 o'clock in the morning, on the lawn of the government building. He then got up and wandered about until he found Mr. McCreary's place, where he settled down for the rest of the night. He begged not to be taken back to the Home, saying he did not like it there. His name, he said, was Seth Wold. He was only 11 years of age, and unable to look after himself, so he was taken in by Mr. McCreary until something better could be done with him.
