Miles W. The Santa Fe switchmen who refuse to handle Pullman cars, it is stated, are acting on their own responsi-bility, and purely in sympathy with the Banta Fe men who have been discharged in New Mexico.

The firemen on the Santa Fe road formally struck here at 3 o'clock. The delayed Cali-fornia train had the third Pullman attached here by the master mechanic and was or dered to go ahead. The fireman refused to go out. Other firemen were ordered to take his place, and after several had re-fused the strike order was issued, applying only to through trains with Pullman coaches The California and Mexico trains on the Santa Fe with about 250 passengers are tied up without prospect of getting out. Salsbury's Great Horse Does a Mile in 2:05 1-2 at Union Park.

NEW RECORD FOR THE WESTERN TRACKS

Judge Hurt Cuts a Fast Pace in the Youngsters Race but Loses-Dr. Sperry Wins a Great Victory Over Belle Acton.

The races at Union Park are rightly named the "Blue Ribbon Meeting," and if Clinton Briggs, the man who got up the meeting and provided the purses, had any misgivings as to its success he must have been more than satisfied with yesterday's results. Nearly 5,000 people witnessed some of the fastest racing 'that ever occurred on any track west of the Mississippi. In the pacing race for 2-year-olds Judge Hurt won a heat in 2:1414, and Flying Jib went an exhibition mile in 2:051/2, and could have done it quicker if he had been pushed to the limit, as he made the last quarter in 0:30, and finished as strong as if he had only been sent a quarter of a mile for exercise. Competent judges assert that the track was two seconds slow, and that if it had been specially prepared for the exhibition Flying

Jib could have covered the distance in 2:03. It was an ideal day for racing, and the managers did a wise thing when they postponed Wednesday's program because of the wind. And the crowd-there never was such another crowd in Union Park as there was on yesterday. Before the time for the first race the crowds began pouring in on cars and in carriages until both grand stands were filled up to the top. Seven hundred people came in on a Wabash special from southern Iowa and Missouri. The infield was filled with swell rigs from the three cities, and the quarter stretch was packed full of sweltering humanity, who wanted to see some good racing, and they did not go home disappointed. The betting booths were crowded with men anxious to back their opinions with their money, and the pool sellers reaped a harvest.

The first race put the crowd in a good humor and every horse that won a heat won a big round of applause. Every race was a horse race from the word go, and the of Colonel Loper, the so satisfactory that he won the good opinion of every turfman on the grounds. He started the horses promptly and gave every driver a fair show, and at the same time permitted no nonsense from the knights of the whip and ribbons.

Colonel Loper sounded the gong for the first race promptly at 2 o'clock. This was the 2-year-old pacing race for a purse of $500 and the following horses started: Carbonats, blk, c., Du Bois Bros., Denver; Directly, blk, c., M. Salsbury, Cal.; Judge Hurt, br. c., M. C. Hill, Dallas, Tex.; Princess, ch. m., W. H. Ewing, San Antonio FLIGHT OF THE YOUNGSTERS. The colts scored beautifully and were given the word on the first attempt. For bunched and then Judge Hurt began setting the pace, passing the quarter post in 0:34 a length ahead of Carbonate, who was coming like a whirlwind. The half was reached in 1:06½, and then the people began to realize that a horse race was going on. At the three-quarters the horses recorded 1:401/2 and then commenced a hot brush for first between Judge Hurt, Carbonate and Directly. Down the stretch they came in a procession, with neither horse gaining an inch on the other. The excitement became intense as the drivers drew their whips and urged their horses to their best efforts, and the crowds broke into prolonged cheering when Judge Hurt was whipped under the wire winner of the heat in the remarkable time of 2:14%, with Carbonate second, Directly third, and Princess jogging in fourth.

This is the fastest heat ever paced or trotted over any regulation course by horses of this age this early in the season. The Hill, on October 26, 1893, at Dallas, Tex., after a long season of hard campaigning. Judge Hurt is a full brother of Lena Hill, and his owner thinks he will lower the world's record before the end of the racing The time made greatly astonished old turfmen, and until the horses got within sixty feet of the wire it was any of the leaders' heat.

The youngsters had to score six times be fore they got the word for the second heat, and they left the scratch with a flying start. Princess set a terrific gait and nearly distanced the field in her wonderful flight up to the first quarter. But she had set a pace too fast for herself, and when they reached the half in 1:06 Judge Hurt began forging to the front until he let a streak of daylight between himself and Princess. They passed the three-quarters post in 1:41%, and swung into the stretch neck and neck. Then began one of the most sensational finishes ever seen on the racing course. The colts stood the "bud" like old-timers, and they came down the last eighth so evenly that it seemed as if it was a hub and hub race. Princess seemed to have fully recovered herself after her spurt in the first part of the race, and she almost imperceptibly drew to the front until she had the best of it by a neck, and they passed under the wire in that position in 2:1714 When Princess won people stood up and shouted until their voices pushed away the clouds above, and hats and coats were hurled into the air until it looked as if a cyclone had broken loose in a gents' furnishing establishment. Carbonate Directly came in leisurely after passing the distance flag.

After scoring a couple of times Colonel Loper sent the colts off evenly for the third time, and the favorite, Princess, led to the first quarter. Directly was crowding her, and Judge Hurt was bowling along at their heels. They bunched and lauded at the half in 1:06½. Directly then settled down to work and wrested first place from Princess. and then they strung out in single file. The pace had been too hot for Carbonate, who was very tired, and the distance flag fell in

Directly took the lead on a flying start in the fourth heat, with Princess gamely accepting the challenge. Princess soon raced the leader off his feet, and she gained a lead of two lengths, while Judge Hurt was right at her heels. They reached the half in 1:08, and Directly, who had settled down to hard works began coming after them ike a fast mail train. He took the lead in the stretch and won the heat and race in Summary: Directly, blk. colt, by Direct 3 3 1

Nellie Cobb, b. m., C. H. Briggs, Omaha;
Geneva, b. m., Reed, Guthrie Center, Ia.;
Altivolo, b. h., M. Salisbury, California;

Dunlap, Ia.; Helen Walker, unknown, G. G. Crossan, Bethany, Miss.
This race was a cinch for Clinton Briggs' bay mare, Nellie Cobb, and she was landed a winner in three straight heats. Nellie Cobb's work showed that she is a game racer, and, although she was pressed a couple of heats, she stuck to her work like a veteran and no amount of urging could force her to break. Salsbury's horse, Altivolo, came in second in all the heats, while Crysolite landed third successively and Almont Sherman took fourth money in a like manner. Helen Walker and Geneva ontested for last place. This race was a regular procession every heat. Summary: Nellie Cobb, b. m., by Charles Caf-

Time: 2:26, 2:24%, 2:23%. It took four hot heats to decide the 2:15 pacing race for a purse of $500, and five good horses contested for the prize, which was finally landed by Dr. Sperry. The en-tries were: Nannie E, b. m., W. H. Hill, Dallas, Tex.; Belle Acton, b. m., E. D. Gould, Fullerton, N-b.; Jimmy McCoy, b. m., Du-Bois Bros., Denver; Dr. Sperry, b. g., M. FOUR HEATS IN THE RACE. The horses had to score six times for the first heat on account of the ugly inclinations of Zelpha Burns, who could not be scored in of Zeipha Burns, who could not be scored in decent shape. After a tiresome wait, dur-ing which Colonel Loper threatened to send off the field and leave Zelpha at the post, the horses got away in a bunch and Zelpha, who is a speedy as well as erratic animal, took the lead up to the half, with Dr. Sperry and Belle Acton close behind. They passed the middle peg in 1:04½, but Dr. Sperry took the lead from Zelpha. The Doctor came into the stretch with a clear lead, but Rocky P passed the others with a rush and Dr. Sperry had a lively brush with Rocky for the first place. They came under the string in 2:15%, with Nannie E, Zelpha Burns and telle Acton following.

Dr. Sperry took the lead in the get away in the second heat, but he was crowded too hard and broke badly at the eighth mile. Zelpha Burns went to the front, followed by Belle Acton, who headed Zeipha at the half and came home a winner from Dr. Sperry, who had recovered his lost ground and was setting a merry clip for all of them except Belle, who led him by a length under the wire in 2:16%. Zeipha Burns was distanced.

In the third heat Dr. Sperry set a 1:08 pace for the rest to follow up to the half mile post, and the horses were pretty well bunched when they swung into the stretch Belle Acton and Sperry had a flerce dispute for first place, which was finally won by the Doctor in 2:15½, and the talent, backing Belle heavily, was badly dumped, as it was considered almost a sure thing for the speedy

The horses got a flying start in the las heat, and Nannie E, who was in the lead broke badly. Dr. Sperry went to the front with Belle Acton close behind and pacing like a winner. She forced Dr. Sperry out of his position at the half in 1:05%, and they faced the judges' stand almost neck and neck. Dr. Sperry's driver wanted to win this heat and the race, as he was somewhat afraid to give the speedy Belle an-other chance. It was a whipping finish, but Sperry was too strong for Belle, who was winded, and he was landed a winner by a small margin in 2:15½. ALIX ON EXHIBITION. Between the heats of the last race Alix halter on in response to the repeated demands for her by the many admirers of the fine little mare. She was taken in front of the grand stands, where she held a sort of a levee with the ladies who were present, and she was petted by every one who could get near her. Alix will be sent a fast mile today between the heats of the 2:10 pacing race.

During the wait between the second and third heats of the last race Flying Jib was brought out to go a mile against time. This is Monroe Salisbury's record beater, and he was driven by the veteran driver Andy McDowell. Kinney Bros.' prompter, Red Light, was used as pacemaker, and he started just after Jib passed the first six-

While the hostler was harnessing Jib he remarked that some of the colts in the first race had made a good record and that Jit would have to spin off a lively mile in order to make a good showing. If Jib could have talked he would probably have said: "Oh, dem kids make me tired, dey hain't learned de rudiments of dis game yet. See? Jest you wait till de jedge calls me out an' I'll show 'em how we thererbreds can make de watches stan' still while we hit de turf. See? When me an' ol' Mae goes out ter show de people how ter go we jest sets de group', on fire?

was driven back to allow the driver to dis mount he was given a perfect ovation. Colonel Loper announced that this was the fastest mile ever trotted or paced west of the Mississippi river, and was the fastest mile ever made by any horse living this early in the season. Jib was hardly breathing hard, when he completed the performance and looked fit to go another mile just like the one he had gone. McDowell said afterward that he could have reduced the time more than one second, but did not want to push the horse too hard so early in the racing season. TODAY'S PROGRAM. Today will wind up the meeting and the managers have arranged a splendid program for the last day. Flying Jib will go another exhibition mile and Alix will trot one of her fast miles to show her admirers what she is capable of. Then there are the 2:20 trot and the 2:10 pace, in which some rec-cords are likely to be broken. Newsboy and Online, famous Nebraska horses, will start in this last event, and those who go to Union park today are promised an afternoon of rare racing events. Today's program consists of the following events.

Fate of a Balky Horse Settled by Starter Rowe at Sheepshead. NEW YORK, June 28.—At Sheepshead Bay today a number of well contested races were seen, the best being the Long Island handicap, in which six were sent to go the mile and a furlong, and a very close finish resulted. Rowe tried four times to send them away, and they got away peautifully, with the exception of Lowlander, who refused to budge from his position. When they got in line for the fifth time the starter told them to "come on." sition. When they got in line for the fifth time the starter told them to "come on." which they promptly did, and Lowlander was left standing, amid the applause of the spectators. Fred Douglass took up the running, followed by St. Michael, with the others trailing. As they turned into the stretch Sir Walter, Roche and Don Alonzo set sail for the leaders, and soon had them at the whip, and it was hammer and tongs all the way down the stretch. Roche tried in vain to overcome the lead of a nose which Sir Walter had, and all Simms' desperate riding could not get Don Alonzo any nearer than the third, and they fittished thus. Results:

YALE WON BOTH RACES.

Carsity and Freshmen Crews Defeat Harvard and Columbia Handily. NEW LONDON, Conn., June 28.—It was o'clock this evening when the tug Manhasset, with all available space on board crowded with newspaper men, started up the river to see the beginning of the great ontest between the Yale and Harvard crews. The boats arrived at the starting point at 6:19, andwlays there waiting for the racing shells to put in an appearance. The track had been dragged in order to fill up the cuppy places. Jib was jogged down the track and then McDowell scored him, but did not think the start a good one, so he scored the second time with better success, and with a nod at the timers he was given the word to go. The swift side wheeler seemed to stretch out until he appeared to be a long, dark bay streak, and with a whirring of sulky wheels he set off to make the fastest mile ever recorded in this part of the country.

At the first quarter the watches showed 0:32½, and then the pacemaker came up alongside of Jib. He covered the second quarter in 0:30¼, reaching the half mile in 1:02¾. He was traveling easy and under a strong pull and went around to the three quarter post in 1:35 flat. Then McDowell told the pacemaker to get to work and Jib was let out a notch. He came down the last quarter with a terrific burst of speed and seemed to fairly fly over the ground. At the fifteen-sixteenth mark McDowell sent him along for all he was worth and he went under the wire in 2:05½. The crowd went wild when given the record, and when Jib was diven back to allow the driver to dismonthed the was given a perfect ovation. The crew rallied bravely from the shock, but after that were never in the race for a moment. They put on a spasmodic spurt, but their stroke soon dropped back from thirty-six to thirty-two, and they were horribly beaten. Yale crossed the line in 23:47, almost a minute in advance, Harvard's time being 24:40. The official time by miles:

While it had been agreed that Yale should have the center course, with Harvard on the west and Columbia on the east, the boys got confused in taking positions and the boats were placed with Harvard in the center, Yale to the east and Columbia to the west. The boats carried no flags or distinguishing colors, and their change of position caused much confusion to the spectators, nearly everybody believing that Columbia had won. Yale took the water first without a splash, while Columbia and Harvard simultaneously started on their two-mile course up the river, each doing considerable air and water fanning on the first two strokes. By the time the half-mile flag was reached Harvard was fully a length and a half astern of Yale and the Columbia oarsmen had passed Yale one-half a length. In this manner they rowed for three-quarters of a mile, when Yale took a triffe faster stroke. At the mile Yale and Columbia were having as pretty a race as could be witnessed. At the mile and a half Yale was well in the lead, and from that to the finish the Columbias knew they were beaten, but still fought well. Harvard was out of the race from the starf. Yale won by two lengths. The winner's time was 11:15; Columbia's; 11:27.

Omaha Lets the Last Game of the Series Go to Peoria.

KID FEAR'S WORK AT THIRD THE CAUSE Balls Shirked by Him Gave the Distillers

Bases-Umpire Cline Helps Out-St. Joe, Lincoln and Des Moines Win.

The Omahas dumped another game to Peoria yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large and fashionable crowd, but the least said about the contest the better for Kid Fear and Umpire Cline. Fear deliberately shirked ball after ball until his rotten work became so exasperating Captain McVey sent for Dolan, had him jump into a uniform and take the Kid's place at third, while the latter went to right field, Manager Rourke retiring on account of sickness.

McMackin was injured in the fourth inning and gave way to Whitehill, who pitched well the remainder of the game, holding the Distillers down to two hits.

While on the subject of the miserable work of Fear and Cline, who is about as fit to fill an umpire's position as he is that of a model for a sculptor, there were others on the Omaha team who played as if they were pall bearers at a funeral. Not a man save McVey and Moran, and I might add Boyle, tried to put the least life in the game, but the result may be better ascertained from the score:

GOOD HOUSEKEEPERS.

And This Refers to Men as Well as Women.

THOUGHTLESS NEGLECT.

The Great Danger of Borning Down the Human House-Bow the Fire Starts.

"Bernard Palissy has gone mad," said everybody; "he is burning up his house to bake his pots."

It was so. Wood happened to be wanting while a batch was in the oven. But the fire must not go out. He began on the garden fence; he ripped it to pieces and threw it in the furnace; then the furniture of his house; then the floors.

at last. After sixteen years of toil, study, experiment and poverty he had discovered the secret of making earthenware-previously an Italian monopoly. You have heard that story before? Very likely. Yes, yes; but there is another sort of house worth a million cottages like Palissy's. You live in one yourself. And mul-

sys. You live in one yoursell. And inti-titudes of them are burning up, some slowly, some fast, but burning, burning, tumbling into cinders, dust, ashes. You don't see the point? Well, you will, presently. A blind man can't miss it. will, presently. A blind man can't miss it.
Read what this man says: "I was discharged from the United States army at Washington Barracks, D. C., on the 11th day of last month, on the post surgeon's certificate of disability; disease, progressive emaciation; weight at that time, 138 pounds; emacration; weight at that time, 138 pounds; former weight, 166 pounds. I had been under treatment five months, taking maitine, emulsion of cod liver oil, etc. Soeing Paskola recommended for such cases as mine,

I tried it, and in a short time gained eleven pounds. Yours, Henry tia, D. C., April 10, 1894." Yours, Henry Chilton, Anacostia, D. C., April 19,
And this one; "My daughter had suffered several months from less of and general debility. She had appetite and general months from loss of appetite and general debility. She had wasted away, and at the time she began taking Paskola weighed only 112 pounds. after using it for two weeks she had gained eight pounds. She is gaining in health and strength daily and can eat and digest hearty food. As a flesh forming food Paskola is necessarily and the strength of th

she is gaining in health and strength daily and can eat and digest hearty food. As a flesh forming food Paskola is superior to cod liver oil or other preparations for the like purpose.—William T. Ross, Bridgeton, N. J., April 11, 1894."

Another example: "For twenty-six years I have been unable to eat any fish or meat and scarcely any vegetables. I could not retain them. I have tried many doctors and patent medicines without end. Nothing availed until I took Paskola. Five bottles of that have worked wonders, I can eat anything now. Eating is no longer a eat anything now. Eating is no longer a torture; it is a pleasure, as nature means it be. In four weeks I have gained five ounds.—Charles E. Isaacs, 413 Main street, Worcester, Mass., March 9, 1894."

Now we see the point. These houses, their bodies, were burning. These peoples' houses, their bodies, were burning. This is no metaphor, no figure of speech; they were actually burning. Ask your doctor, read your physiology. Life is combustion—fire.

The fuel is food—what is not consumed is the ashes. The stomach is the furnace. Indigestion, dyspep-ia, all disease, is either a lack of food or—with food in plenty—it is the clogging of the furnace.

But shall the fire go out? If it does you die. Nature knows this and makes a fight to save you. She proceeds (like Pallissy) to burn the least necessary parts of the house. The fat goes first, then the muscles. Presently you are nothing but skin and bone. If help doesn't come by this time nature burn's the important organs. No help yet? Alas! No fuel remains. The chill of death creeps on apace; frost settles on the hearth; the house is uninhabr, salvation like not in deans. table. You die of hunger.
Salvation lies not in drugs. Drugs are only pokers to stir up the expiring embers. They don't make heat, they won't burn, they won't build. Can we feed the body? Can we support the digestive system (through rest and nature's agency) is once more in order? Yes, by the use of Paskola, as the above asses prove. Paskola, a food, full of nourishing qualities, pre-digested by a new pro-cess, enters the blood stream without dis-turbing the stomach (now helpless and cold) and is at once assimilated by the worn and wasted frame. Fresh energy, new flesh, nervous power, in creased strength immediately result. Ap-petite succeeds, other foods digest, and the petite succeeds, other foods digest, and petite succeeds, other foods digest, and threatened life building again stands firm. Will the wan, tired, weak emaciated, conof the United States try to understand the value and rationale of this discovery and consent to be helped by it?

A pamphlet giving full particulars respecting Paskola will be sent on application to the Pre-Digested Food Co., 30 Reads street, New York City.
