

A TALK WITH LI HUNG CHANG

How "The Bismarck of China" Looks, Acts and Talks.

LASTING FRIENDSHIP FOR GENERAL GRANT

Expresses an Opinion of the New Treaty with America—A Word About the Future of China—Insider Stories of the Great Viceroy.

(Copyright 1891 by Frank G. Carpenter.)

TIENTSIN, China, June 1.—[Special Correspondence of The Bee.]—I have just returned from the palace of the greatest man in China, Li Hung Chang.

Li Hung Chang is the most progressive Chinaman of today. General Grant spent some time with him here during his tour of the world and the two talked over the future of China together.

He was acting as such during the Tai Ping rebellion, and it was he who, in connection with the American adventurer, Ward, and Chinese Gordon, put down this rebellion.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

But let me describe the interview I had with this great statesman in his palace here today. It was arranged for me through our country secretary, Mr. J. H. Read, and the secretary of the Chinese navy, Hon. Lo Feng Loh.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

We went past mountains of merchandise stored in long and winding alleys along the Pei-Ho and out our way through the narrow streets of Tien-Tsin.

I was first led into two reception rooms and was given a seat in the more honored one. In Europe, with, perhaps, the single exception of the czar, and he almost the sole representative of the government in its dealings with foreign nations.

After a time the word came that the viceroy was ready to receive us. We rose and walked out behind a gorgeous but simple carriage.

He is by no means an old looking man today. There are few wrinkles in his cream-colored face, and his eyes are black, bright and piercing.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

him and he rides in a chair with officials riding in front of him and behind him.

BETTER THAN NOTHING. The conversation here turned to other matters, and after referring to the treatment of the Chinese in the United States the viceroy spoke rather sarcastically of the treaty which has lately been concluded between the two countries.

From further inquiries I learned something of the habits of this wonderful man. He is, you know, the Gladstone of the Orient—the grand old man of almond-eyed humanity.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

PATRIOTISM'S BUGLE CALL

Real Significance of Independence Day to the Youth of the Nation.

VIEWS OF SOLDIERS AND STATESMEN

Patriotic Rhapsody from a Southerner—Senator Ingalls Draws Striking Inferences—Gen. Miles Writes of Patriotism—Views of Fred Douglas.

Patriotism, like chivalry, is said by many to be dying out of the world. But this is pessimistic and untrue. Patriotism, like chivalry, is merely shedding its old coat, and assuming more modern, convenient and practical apparel.

One of the marked characteristics of patriotism, as once understood, was hatred—hatred of the people or nation, that might stand in the way of each man's private interests. That fierce tendency to destroy its neighbor, to look with sullen jealousy upon his property, to shrink from intercourse that might be profitable to both, was a marked feature of that old-fashioned love of country.

From further inquiries I learned something of the habits of this wonderful man. He is, you know, the Gladstone of the Orient—the grand old man of almond-eyed humanity.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

after a period of prolonged peace, when the dangers are greatest. If the experiment of free government, attempted by our republic, is a grander and more comprehensive success than ever before, it is to fail, it will not be from any outward force.

At times like these we are apt to indulge in so much praise and exultation as to forget the fact that the people who afford leadership by citizenship in this, the greatest of all nations. The wonderful resources of our country cannot be wasted without injury to the people.

From further inquiries I learned something of the habits of this wonderful man. He is, you know, the Gladstone of the Orient—the grand old man of almond-eyed humanity.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

through ordeals of the fiercest character, and almost of every description, but she has come out of them more vigorous, from the very strain placed upon her by those struggles.

With governments as with individuals, there is no such thing as a free lunch. With ships, and nothing is enjoyed save that which is won through them.

From further inquiries I learned something of the habits of this wonderful man. He is, you know, the Gladstone of the Orient—the grand old man of almond-eyed humanity.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

CO-OPERATIVE HOME BUILDING

Result of the Official Examination of Omaha Associations.

OPINIONS OF THE STATE INSPECTORS

Second Annual Convention of the United States League at Buffalo—A Syracusean Evolves a Plan—Various Assocations.

State Bank Examiners McGrew and Kling have completed an examination of the business of building the exact, but owing to the increased labors due to the financial panic last year the work was unavoidably delayed.

From further inquiries I learned something of the habits of this wonderful man. He is, you know, the Gladstone of the Orient—the grand old man of almond-eyed humanity.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.

He is a pure Chinaman, but he has adopted many of the habits of the West. He is a great official force much like one of our western executives, and he has a staff of interpreters who keep him posted on all that is going on in the world.