Pilgrims to Imperial Council of Mystic Shrine in Omaha Yesterday.

TANGIER TEMPLE EXTENDS HOSPITALITY

Minneapolis Delegation Accompanied by a Quartet that Makes Things Hum-List of the Travelers Who Passed Through the City Yesterday.

The star and crescent were in position yesterday and since early morning until the sun went down Shriners from all over the United States, enroute to Denver, stopped at the oasis of Tangier temple, the Millard hotel, drank of the cooling waters that bubbled forth from under the palm trees and refreshed themselves with food provided by their Arabic brethren of Omaha.

At an early hour representatives of temples from El Riad, Sioux Falls, El Kahir, Cedar Rapids, and Omaha temple, St. Paul, came in over the Omaha road and pitched their camp high up into the cooling shades of Tangier.

El Riad temple was represented by E. W. Coughran, W. T. Doolittle, V. J. Wuest, W. R. Burkholder, A. Christopher, D. S. Giddon, J. T. Morrow, D. C. Fowler, Frank Davis, H. Leonard, a number of ladies also accompanying the party.

El Kahir temple sent the following from Sioux Falls: H. A. Chesley and wife, G. E. Loring, G. F. Sammons, F. P. Beck and wife, A. M. Coffman and wife, Miss Maimie Lawrence, M. O'Connor and wife, S. Schindler.

Omaha Temple—W. H. S. Wright, O. M. Metcalf, J. W. Chamberlain.

These travelers were taken in hand by the committee of Tangier temple, and entertained until the time came for their leaving over the Rock Island and Union Pacific for the west.

Syrian temple of Cincinnati came in at 2:15 on a special over the Northwestern, running west as the first section of No. 1 on the Union Pacific, the train having for its leaders and baggage car. On board the special were W. B. Melich, past imperial potentate of the order of Cincinnati, with ninety-four persons, and a number of Shriners journeying to the imperial council, and also representatives from Syria at Pittsburgh, Messrs. Kerr, Holmes and Brown, Saladin, and others.

Michigan temple, Washington, D. C., Messrs. Dingman and Wardle; Rajah temple, Reading, Pa., representative, H. P. Keyser. But Mr. Melich desires to go to Denver in good time, and having had dinner at Council Bluffs, decided to push on with his train to the Union City of the west, where he will assume command of his forces for the position of imperial potentate as a vindication.

Mr. Melich, talking about his chances of election, stated that the fight would be a hot one, but thought his chances of election were very bright. He laid claim to sixty-one delegates at against fifty-nine for Imperial Potentate Hudson, and with a possible delegate in the ranks of the California delegation, thought he would have a walkover. He was in excellent spirits and spoke of the Northwestern service in glowing terms.

But the day reached its zenith when the nobility of Zurich temple of the Flour City (Minneapolis) came in over the Rock Island. A large delegation of Tangier temple was present at the depot to escort the delegation to the Millard hotel, where quarters had been provided for them, and the parade put up by the Minneapolis delegation attracted great attention. All the members of Zurich were uniforms of white flannel, double breasted sack coats, white pants and with "Zurich" on the left breast, and red letters on front of the cap. They wore ties of the same color and carried canes of the same make, and the natives took to men ever seen on the streets of the Nebraska metropolis. And what a sensation they created in Denver, for they march like veterans and in fine style. They had in "Zu-Zu-Zu! Rah-Rah-Rah! Zu! Rah! Minneapolis!" The personnel of the delegation is as follows:

Drill Corps—Captain A. M. Shuey, commanding, E. Rossman, J. A. McIntosh, A. Keith, C. R. Cooley, A. Cunningham, Fred Davis, N. Dickson, C. H. Root, Ed Kittredge, H. M. Meyers, C. W. Drew, "Dr." R. S. Keeler, A. P. Abell, Owen Play, R. H. Hartley, P. B. Walker, Jr., G. W. Fry, L. Gilbert, W. B. Heath, J. R. Elliott, Fred Kees, John Seehoff, E. W. Goddard.

Bugle corps—F. P. Koehler, C. F. Poehler, E. Browning, George Jacobs, Drum corps—F. H. Forbes, H. W. Foote, J. M. Root.

Standard bearers—George J. Shera, F. J. Kline; the representatives of the imperial council being Joseph L. Dobbin, Joseph B. Hudson, John P. Schenck, grand commander of the Knights Templar of Minnesota.

Upon their arrival at the oasis the water bottles, long used by the order, were opened, and the sojourners drank deep of the refreshing liquid. Then for those who desired deeper draughts there were punch bowls, provided over by some of the desert, and these went not begging, but were surrounded during the day by the thirty bedouins.

"SONG OF THE SHRINE." After moistening their throats the quartet of the delegation, Emmett Browning, first tenor; William H. Root, second tenor; F. H. Forbes, first bass, and J. M. Root, second bass, sang the songs of their native land to the admiration of hundreds who heard them, and one who sang the "Song of the Shrine," written by Mr. Browning, and composed by Captain Shuey, was a "corner."

You are earnestly requested, Now that you have been diverted, To be loyal to the staunchest craft afloat; And when you're reinvigorated, You become more interested, And stick tighter to the old Masonic goat.

At first you are suspicious, But you find it quite nutritious, And your appetite grows stronger all the time. You say it is delicious, And you're feeling quite felicitous, As up the ladder step by step you climb.

Refrain: Zip! let'er go! ha! ha! Hark! hear the signal fall, While you twang the doodie, doodie dum! The song the Shriners sing, And the song that is the thing, If I live to see another day, A Shrinier I will be.

But the audience was not satisfied with this effort, and for half an hour the best male quartet in Minnesota made the corridors of the hotel ring with their songs.

At 7 o'clock the boys from Minneapolis, together with the delegations from Sioux Falls and Sioux City, left over the Rock Island, and the special train of four sleepers, one combination car and one coach being in charge of Assistant General Passenger Agent S. F. Boyd and Traveling Passenger Agent E. P. Bringer, Mr. Charles Kennedy, northwestern passenger agent of the Rock Island, being at the depot to see the train go properly out of the yards, and it was one of the prettiest trains any of the roads have had out of Omaha this season.

Much of the success of the entertainment accorded the visiting delegation of Shriners during Saturday and yesterday is due to the committee of Tangier temple, headed by Gustave Anderson, the others being R. R. Ritchie, Richard Smith, A. J. Meyer, Edgar Allen, D. W. Van Cott, George E. Crosby, John N. Holberg, Ira O. Rhodes, M. O. Maul, D. C. Westness, Morris Meyer and W. S. Balduf.

Tangier temple will be represented in Denver by about forty of the nobility, quite a number of whom left Saturday, among those who have gone from Omaha are: H. C. Akin, H. Hardy, James Gilbert, Henry Gibson, P. M. Rose, D. W. Van Cott, Walter Newell, W. B. Apple, C. B. Horton, Walter Wood, W. S. Balduf, while large delegations have gone from Kearney and Grand Island.

FEW SHRINERS IN DENVER. Journey to Colorado's Capital Found to Be More Tiring Than Expected.

DENVER, Colo., July 22.—Although the great influx of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine was expected to take place today, there are not more than 250 visiting members of the order on the ground. More are expected tomorrow, and it is thought the number will be swelled greatly. But those who have braved the possibility of irregular train service have made their presence known by strolling through the streets with a fee for a head covering, reserving their forces for the locating of wells and the distribution of a certain tomorrow afternoon. Nothing will be permitted to interfere with the elaborate program that has been arranged, which means that a good time is in store for the visitors. The hall will be started rolling in earnest tomorrow night, when the ladies will be given a reception at the Brown Palace hotel. It is expected that sixty candidates will be introduced to the mysteries of the order. Many business places are handsomely decorated, most of them having Oriental scenes depicted in the show windows.

Sunday Police Tales. Henry Jensen reported to the police last night that some thief had stolen $40 or $50 worth of clothing from his room at Seventh and Marcy streets during his absence in the afternoon.

Mark Ferrall, a 15-year-old boy, was taken to the police station last night. He is quite sick and said that he ran away from home in Morris Street, near Sioux City, several days ago. The police will notify his parents of his whereabouts. Dr. Towns prescribed for the boy and he rested well last night.

J. H. Patrick was arrested early last evening by Officer Clark on the charge of being drunk and insulting ladies who had to pass Fourteenth and Douglas streets.

Corra Smith and Georgia Flebbe were arrested at the corner of Tenth and Harney streets by Officer Sam Drummy early Sunday morning for being drunk and disorderly. The women had been visiting a neighboring beer garden and had become very noisy. When the officer arrested the women an old German lady named John Ebert interfered and tried to get a crowd of hoodlums to assist him in taking the women away from Drummy. Ebert was also taken up and had all day in jail yesterday to sober up. The women made the jail round with their vulgarity until daylight.

The feature was the congregational singing. Every train and board brings more students. The hotels and boarding houses are crowded.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Aplicants for Postmastership All Turn Up Over Late Rumors.

REPORT THAT MORTON HAS DECIDED IT

Significance of Delaying the Appointment Until After the Holding of the State Convention—A Husband Locked Up—Magie City Gossip.

The gentlemen who are applicants for the postoffice in South Omaha are of the opinion that something will drop pretty soon, when it will be definitely settled who shall have the office. All sorts of street rumors are about as to who will receive the plum, but there is one gentleman in town who is supposed to be near the throne who says that no man whatever will be made until after the convention is held and the state ticket named. This leaves all the candidates for the office in the dark as to what to do. An effort will be made to send a list of administration men to the convention and to shut out all democrats who have a kindly feeling for Mr. Bryan. Several efforts have been made to secure a quorum of the Democratic club of late, but no attendance has been so slim that no business was transacted. Each candidate for the postoffice is afraid to take a bold stand for the administration in the face of so much opposition until he is given the assurance that he is to get the postoffice.

Within the last twenty-four hours things have taken a turn which indicates that J. J. McMillan will get the office. Mr. McMillan is a Black H. E. Dood, Captain Cockerell, John Richart and one or two other good democrats have not given up their hopes, however, and say they are still in the race. There are four years will not be up for several weeks and the doctor has not signified any willingness to resign. It is a serious matter, however, that he has removed some time ago, but it appears that nothing of a serious nature was proved, as he still continues to draw his $2,000 a year.

The office is a good one and the democrats openly declare that one of their party should have been drawing the salary for the last year or more. Although there are no papers on file in Washington wherein the state committee endorses Mr. Dood. But the democratic state committee has no intention to endorse more than one man for the same office, and, figuring on this basis, the other candidates do not anticipate that the signature of Martin and Sheehan absolutely makes a man's appointment certain. The democrats down here seem to think that Morton controls all Nebraska politics when he wishes to interfere, and they are not sure when Morton has selected the South Omaha postmaster who will succeed Dr. Glasgow, and they say his name is McMillan.

Had Her Husband Locked Up. Mrs. John Hogan complained of her husband's treatment. She says that she and the family was locked up. Mrs. Hogan claims that whenever John gets drunk he uses her for a punching bag, and says she is tired of being so used. Hogan works for Messrs. Schindler and Co. on Saturdays evening while he was out doing the housework his wife went through his pockets and took all the money he had. He wanted some more money, and she refused to give him any more. He found he had been drained by his better half, who not only refused to give up any but locked him out, he took the ax and broke the door open.

Annexation Sentiment. The subject that has been discussed in South Omaha more than any other during the last week is annexation. The men who are opposing it in the strongest terms are the local politicians and the saloon keepers. There are, of course, a number of business men who are sincere in the belief that in case the proposition carried it would reduce their sales and for that reason they oppose the proposition. The majority, however, object, but it is the general belief that if the matter was submitted tomorrow it would carry by a big majority.

Magie City Gossip. Mrs. T. B. Whitley and daughter are visiting friends at Magie City, Mo.

Miss Maudine Laur is home from Fremont, where she has been attending the Chautauque.

Mrs. S. S. Tewksbury of Loan Oak, Ark., is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maxwell.

Mrs. D. L. Holmes has returned from a trip to Hot Springs, S. D., very much improved in health.

An elegant six-room cottage for rent on Twenty-fourth and F streets for $20 per month.

PERSONS & WILCOX. At a special meeting of the school board an estimate of $1,200 was awarded Parks for the purchase of a new building to be around the High school building.

P. H. Conroy, the husband, and Warren S. Winslow, the father, of Mrs. Maude M. Conroy, deceased, wish to return thanks to their friends and especially to the members of St. Agnes' Altar society for their kindness to Mrs. Conroy during her illness and the respect shown by the members of the attendance at her funeral, as well as the sympathy extended to the bereaved family.

Board Will Not Intervene. The Board of Fire and Police Commissioners has not yet confirmed the temporary appointments made by Chief Seavey after the dismissal of a number of officers some time ago. The positions to be filled are captain and two sergeants. Sigwart, Cook and King are the temporary appointees, but there has been some lively hustling by others for the appointments and it is not known what the commissioners are correct no appointments will be made or confirmed for some time.

The majority of the board are believed to be in favor of appointing some outside man, not now connected with the force, to fill the vacant positions.

Oregon Kidney Tea cures all kidney troubles. Trial size, 25 cents. All druggists.

Complaint of a Priest. The priest of the Sheely station Catholic church complained to an officer last night that two of his parishioners had collected $200 from the other parishioners without proper authority. He understood that the money was going to leave the city and was afraid that they were going to appropriate the money to their own use, and he wanted the matter investigated by the police.

MATTRESS MAKERS' PICNIC. Small Crowd but Enjoyable Time—Winners in the Games.

Owing probably to hard times there was not a very large attendance yesterday at the Mattress Makers' picnic, given by the Mattress Makers assembly No. 274. Although the crowd was small, those who did attend were very well pleased with their diversion.

Several of the picnic party were entertained with boating, fishing, dancing and other pleasant amusements and the ball games played as hard as if they were being watched by thousands. The ball game was between the Herolds and the Johnsons, and the score stood 30 to 10 in favor of the Herolds.

The girls' race Carrie Hart won; Katie Long, second. Men's race, O. C. Brown, first; A. Adams, second. Boy's race, Lou Tierney, first; William Myers, second. Married ladies' race, Mrs. Hinkle, first; Mrs. Jones, second. Sack race, C. D. Woodruff, first; E. Engelmann, second. Ladies' egg race, Mrs. Smith, first; Mrs. Huntington, second. Messrs. Thomas B. McGuire and Henry B. Martin of the general executive board of the Knights of Labor were present by invitation to speak on the smallness of the crowd they made no extended address. The members of the picnic committee say they will join a committee from the district assembly to get up a public meeting this week where these two gentlemen may speak.

Drew Fraternal Blood. Fred Fisher and his brother John engaged in a game of cards at their home at the corner of Tenth and Douglas streets yesterday afternoon. They soon quarreled and then fought. Fred sank his teeth in John's arm and then cut him in the hand with a knife. John managed to get hold of a sharp cornered stone and proceeded to freck Fred's head with numerous bruises and gashes until he sank to the ground unconscious. Officer Kiser arrested both of the young men, and Dr. Towne sewed up their cuts at the station. There are two tough young fellows who are accused of holding up William Dax last fall.

Choosing a Board. At Jefferson square this evening Dr. Rodolf will make an address, giving reason why he is a populist.

It is alleged in certain circles that Chief Detective Haze is a candidate for the position made vacant by the dismissal of ex-Captain Crichton.

The nimrods of the police force, among whom are Captain Mostyn, Detective Dunn, Sergeant Cook, Chief Seavey and others, are making arrangements for a fall hunt as soon as prairie chickens are ripe.

Some boys were playing around Ed Wittig's barn, near Twenty-first and Leavenworth streets, yesterday afternoon and one of them threw a burning "cat tail" under the structure. They became frightened and ran away. A neighbor saw smoke coming from the place and turned in a fire alarm. The fire was soon put out and no damage was done.

The police court room has at last been fixed up in good shape. Judge Berka's desk has been placed on a raised platform, and Court Officer Boyle has a desk enclosed by a railing at the judge's left, while Clerk Michael has the partition to the right of the judge. A high wire screen prevents prisoners and their friends from holding too close communication. The floor has been laid with Hudsonian carpeting, while the interior has been repainted.
