in connection with the episcopal ruling on which it is based.

During the last lecture season Rt. Rev.

one of the ardent temperance reformers of the Roman Catholic church addressed a let-ter to teh clergy of the diocese to be read before their several congregations. In the course of the pastorial letter, dealing with the question of temperance, Bishop Watterson said:

"I hereby withdraw my approbation from any and every Catholic society or branch of division thereof in this diocese that has a liquor dealer or saloon keeper at its head or anywhere among its officers, and I suspend every such society itself from the rank and rivileges as a Catholic society until it ceases declined to approve of new societies or new branches of old organizations in this diocese -- namely, That no one who is engaged either as principal or agent in the manufacture or sale of intoxicatnig liquors can be admitted to membership. You win make this rule known to the organizations in your parish and have it faithfully observed. It is sure, fying way, or sell on Sundays, either openly or under any sort of guise or disguise, in violation of civil law, and to the hurt of order and religion and the scandal of any part of the community, you will refuse them absolution, should they perchance come to receive the sacraments, unless they promise to cease offending in these or other ways and to conduct their business blamelessly if they can, or get out of it and keep out of it alto-

Too many of the people in the diocese of Columbus thought this attidude of Bishop

Watterson seemed arrogant and unjust, and one of the societies there laid the matter formally before Mgr. Satolli. After a time the apostolic delignity returned an answer unpholding the position of the bishop. But still the society was not satisfied, and it was said that the delegate did not understand the case or he surely would not sus-tain a ruling which they believed was in di-rect opposition to personal liberty.

The bishop heard of the expressed dis-content and asked abother society to take the

To this second hipbeal the apostolic delegate responded, reallirming his first judgment, sustaining the position of Bishop Watterson, as follows:

Of course the track was badly affected, although a force of men worked over it and kept it in passable shape. The program offered was by no means an attractive one. DRAWS FOR TENNIS SINGLES.

Contestants in the State Tournament Assigned Last Night.

Nothing could show the healthy condition of the game of lawn tennis in Nebraska more conclusively than the fact that no fewer than twenty players have anacounced their intention of competing for the state championship. The competition no fewer than twenty players have announced their intention of competing for the state championship. The competition opens today, and the draw was held open until last night in order to allow outsiders as much time as possible to make up their minds as to whether they would be able to spare the time to come down to Omaha for half a week or so on the chance of wresting the championship away from the city which has now held it for so long. The fact that Cullingham would most likely be unable to defend his right to the title gave other aspirants a better show than they have had for some time.

In the list of entries as shown by the result of the draw there are included nearly all of the "probables," but hardly any of the "possibles," as they appeared a few days ago. The only notable absentees from among those who were set down as certain and, perhaps, might even be claimed formidable aspirants, are the Lincoln set. Four men were expected from the capital city, but they all, with one excuse, or without it, have made up their minds to stay away. Three men from Hastings, two from Grand Island, where tennis has just commenced a very energetic life, and one from Bennington, besides fourteen from Omaha, make a very creditable showing, especially when it is considered that probably as many others would have come down from outside towns if they could by any manner of means have contrived to spare the time. Play opens up at 3 o'clock today, with three of the matches in the first round and the tie between Battin and Dungan, who get byes, in the second round. At 5 the remaining first round match and all the second round matches possible will be put into court just as fast as possible. No time will be lost, as it is most important that nothing should be left over after the end of the week. From the word "go" there will be no let-up in the excilement attending the championship contest until some one is proclaimed deal which the Omaha Tennis club has had prepared for the winner.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the American Labor union yesterday it was decided to admit militiamen as members of the new organization, which, the directors claim, will take the place of the Knights of

In the first leg of the second round the Britannia gained twelve seconds, but completing the round the Vigilant was 3 minutes 19 seconds ahead. From this time on the American boat gained steadily, leading at one one point 6 minutes 45 seconds.

In the last round of the race the Britannia pushed hard for the lead and cut down the Vigilant's advantage about half a minute. The latter won by 4 minutes 32 seconds, without counting time allowance, and by 3 minutes 22 seconds if estimated time allowance which she gives the Britannia (1 minute 10 seconds) is figured.

The schedule now stands nine to three in favor of the Britannia.

QUEENSTOWN, July 24.—It transpired after the race that the jaws of the Vigilant's gaft were carried away between Poor Head and Daunt's Rock on the final round. The remainder of the race was finished with the gaft lashed to the mast, and starboard tacking was risky business from that time on. The yacht had to be handled in the most delicate manner to the finish line. The gaff fell when the mainsail was being lowered upon the Vigilant's arrival at her moorings. The accident turns out to be a more serious affair than was expected, and it is extremely doubtful if the yacht will be able to race tomorrow. Labor. The declaration of principles says the directors have taken into consideration many obstacles that will be encountered. First, will be the testing of the characters of the prime movers by the so-called labor leaders, caused by the fear of our disrupting older organizations, and dethroning their leaders, who pull with politicians, corpora-tions and shysters of every description.

Second, will be the arduous task of convinc-ing the masses that it is necessary to their welfare that the so-called labor leaders are co numerous and are thriving on the hard earned wages of the toiling masses and that the time has arrived when only one organi zation of labor is sufficient A general head shorn of all power to pre-

TAKE CARE OF THE EYES. Forty-Three Diseases, and More Than Half

Are Contagious. Everybody should have his own bed, towel, sponge and scap, make his hand toilet in running water, live and sleep in well ven-tilated rooms, and come under the cleansing, refreshing influence of outdoor air and sun shine at least one hour every day of his life, for the health of his eyes. Roller Roller towels, family wash rags and the habit of using a bath or basin of water a second time produce more diseases of the ye and ear than all the fevers on the list f plagues. There are forty-three diseases of the eye, and more than half are conta-gious, says the New York Commercial. Fully 25 per cent of the sore eyes among babies and young children and 11 per cent among adults are preventable. The most common disease, granulation of the lids, is contagious, and should be quarantined. In the surgical wards of public and private insti-tutions towels are frequently burned, and bandages and dressings always the moment after use. Cataract patients are put in separate rooms in isolated wards. In all serious cases surgeons change their clothes and often wear enclosed spectacles. Considering the pricelessness of sight, too much care cannot taken of the eye.

The following simple method enables a patient to see a cataract in his own ey-and note its growth and development, probably better than any oculist can observe it for him. Cataract is said to be due to the gradual deposition of exalate of lime in the substance of the crystalline lens, at first in small spots and streaks, sometimes subject up and present it once more at Washington, agreeing thinkelf to sign the appeal from Archbishop SatoHi's decision, in order that the matter might be presented in the strongest light possibly and that there might in one part and sometimes in another. The deposit gradually decreases until it cenetrates the whole of the lens, causing blindness. The remedy, then, is to remove the lens, and after its removal the patient needs a substitute in the form of highly magnifying spectacles. All that is neces-sary to enable a patient to see his own terson, as follows: "File rights and duty to guard faith and morals within the limits of their diocese. They are the divinely appointed judges in such matters, and hence no mere society or individual layman has the right to set such decision at defiance. The mere fact that anyth discission may be the cataract for himself is a piece of card and a needle—a visiting card will do very well. Pierce a clean, round hole near the middle of the card and hold the card up to the light close to the eye, looking preferably in the direction of a piece of blue sky. With the card near to the eye the patient will not see the small hole pierced by the needle, but he will see a comparatively large, faintly illuminated field, with his cataract faintly illuminated field, with his cataract projected upon it. He is, in fact, observing the shadow cast by his cataract on the retina at the back of his eye. With a small puncture in the card the shadow so thrown is comparatively sharp. But with a normal eye an evenly illustrated field of clean disk will be seen. The patient may thus map down his cataract and rettle for himself whether it is extending and whether he will "2. The liquor traffic and especially as conducted here in the United States, is the source of much evil, hence the bishop was whether it is extending and whather he will have an operation or not. None of the oc-culists seen have known of the method, and there may, consequently, he some advantage in making it public.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 24.-War has Since 3 o'clock this afternoon, two deputy sheriffs have been killed, a third fatally wounded and a fourth badly hurt. Two desperate strikers did it all, and they are to-determined to take them dead or alive, and will close in on them as soon as more mili-tary reaches the scene. This afternoon

Deputy Sheriffs Charley Cole and James

When Daylight Comes Will Make an

The year in government accounts kept in Washington does not begin on January 1 but on the lat of July, and the balancing of treasury accounts is made on that day when it falls on a week day, which was not the case this year. The debt account is kept separate, and in such a manner that the actual balance can be stated with very little figuring.
According to the bulletin which has been issued by the department, the present in-terest bearing debt is $635,000,000. The non-interest-bearing debt (bank or treasury notes and not bonds) is $380,000,000, and there is oo, another item of $1,800,000 which for the bonds which have matured and upon which the interest has stopped, but which have not been redeemed. The aggregate have not been redeemed. amount of the whole debt on July 3 was $1,016,000,000. The increase of the debt during the year has been $50,009,000. Compared with other nations, says the New York Sun, the United States has had what may be called a fluctuating debt, this country being the only one, practically, which pays off or has paid off a material portion of its indebtedness, the debts of European countries steadily increasing year by year in acceptance of the axiom that "i national debt is a national blessing. At the present time the United States stands eighth of the list of countries in the amount of its obligations outstanding, the order being as follows: France, England, Russia, Austria, Italy, Germany and Spain. The finances of no country have fluctuated as violently in different directions as those of the United States. At the close of the revo-lutionary war the outstanding debt of the republic was $75,000,000, and fifteen years later it was almost exactly the same. From that time until the beginning of the war of 1812 there was a steady reduction, brought the figure to $45,000,000 It went up again in consequence of the expenditures incident to the war until it reached $127,000,000, and then it declined again, as the mercury goes down in a thermometer on a cold afternoon in winter, until 1829. It was in that year $58,000,000. The next year $10,000,000 was knocked off, the year following $9,000,000, the year following that $15,000,000, the year following that $17,000,000, bringing down the lebt in 1833 to $7,000,000.

In 1834 it got down to $4,700,000 and in 1835, the red letter year in American finance, to $37,000, Uncle Sam having on that occasion, to use a popular and current phrase, "money to burn." There was indeed more money in the treasury than debt outstanding, and the holders of the $37,000 withstood an offer of cash payment.

But just as the debt had gone down it ook a start up again, reaching $336,000 in 1837, $3,300,00 in 1838, and $10,400,000 in 1839. From that time on until 1860 it fluctuated rapidly, reaching $64,000,000 in the

Then the colossal increases caused by the war began to make themselves shown-$50,000,000 in 1861, $524,000,000 in 1862, $1, 19,000,000 in 1863, $1,815,000,000 in 1864, $2, 680,000,000 in 1865, and $2,773,000,000, top figure, in 1866. The interest ch top figure, in 1866. The interest charge upon the debt at that time was $140,000,000 year, and it was not until several years fterwards that there was any material re-fuction to this burden, which amounted to $105,000,000 in 1878.

Since then, by the payment of the debt and the reduction of interest, it has been brought down to the present figure of about $25,000,-000, nearly two thirds of the debt having been in the meanwhile paid off in an almost in redibly short period of time for a country ravaged by a protracted civil war.

much light for the same amount of gas a the ordinary burner. The efficiency of the burner decreases with age, however, failing

About the year 1880, Carl Auer, then a pupil under Prof. Bunien, at My little girl had very sore eyes. I tried everything, but nothing did any good. I took her to a dector in Atlanta, who treated her for a year, but she kept getting worse. I brought her home; was almost out of heart; I just felt sure she would go blind. An old lady told me to try CUTICURA REMEDIES. I had no faith in them, as I had tried everything. I commenced on Saturday and before the next Saturday her eyes were sound and well as any child's. She was almost blind and had been kept in a derk room for more than a year; could not see to feed herself; and they have never been as yet the least particle sore or even looked red from that Heidelberg, became interested in the sub-ject of illumination. Bunses particularly impressed upon his pupil's mind the idea that the method of obtaining illumination from the combustion of gas in the ordinary way, in which the separated carbon particles are the combustion of the gas, was from being economical, the amount of ligh inasmuch was but a small percentage of that herself; and they have never been as yet the least particle sore or even holded red from that day until this, and it will be three years the first of May. They certainly cured her, and I think they are the greatest remedies out. I only used half a box of CUTICURA, one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT; so you see what wonders they did for my little girl. I have read of all of these most wonderful cases, but never before thought that they might theoretically possible of production. Bunsen held that the light of the future would be obtained by burning the gas in the form of a burner bearing his name, and applying the heat so produced in such a way as to bring to incandescence some refractory ma-terial.
