LUCIUS	WELLS	AIRS	HIS	OPINION
	usion is F	orced or	the C	onvention

Some of the most prominent democrats of the city are not taking very kindly to the idea of nominating General James B. Weaver as their candidate for congress, and they promise to do as much work against him in the next few weeks as the advocates of the fusion plan have done for him in the past. Altogether the democrats seem to be hopelessly divided, and even if it turns out, as is commonly understood, that Weaver owns all the delegates to the democratic congressional convention, his election is by no means sure. Lucius Wells, one of the best known of the local democrats, gave his views in no uncertain manner yesterday in conversation with a Bee reporter. "I have a good deal of respect for a republican who honestly belleves in republican principles and does his best to make them win, but I haven't a particle for a man who gives up all his political principles for the sake of voting for a winning candidate. I don't believe Weaver is the right man for the place, and the democrats have no business to nominate him. If he is nominated I shall not have

him. If he is nominated I shall not have any candidate to vote for, that's all." Mr. Wells is not the only prominent demo Mr. Wells is not the only prominent deno-crat who talks in that strain. The scheme is now understood to be to have the demo-crat, endorse Weaver, and then the popu-lists in return will support all the demoratic candidates on the county ticket. this way the democrats hope to overcome the majority of 2,500 which Congressman Hager had in the district on his first election. One thing that the democrats have failed calculate upon, however, is the disaffee tion which the nomination of a man like Weaver, who has belonged at one time or another to every party, would cause among their influential party men.

The crazy woman from South Omaha, whose disappearance was chronicled in these columns about ten days ago, has been found. Ever since her attempt to kill herself at the LaFord residence, near Parks' mill, by means of strychnine, the neighbors have been looking for her, but without success until Tuesday afternoon, when A. Ed Williamson is the name of the culprit and his intended victim was a "farmer" at Indianola. He proposed that the farmer pay him $500 for $5,000 worth of green goods, and his offer was accepted. The swindling transaction was carried on so far that William-son got the $500 in his possession, when Richards suddenly appeared on the scene and arrested him. The "farmer," who bad been subsidized for the occasion, has disappeared, but Richards says he will be on hand at the right time to see that evidence is brought in that will send Williamson acros the state. Grahl, White and Brewick and City Engl neer Etnyre paid a visit to a plat of ground just east of Krettich's place on East Broad way yesterday forenoon for the purpose of looking over a natural reservoir, which, by a little excavating and the construction of a dam, it is claimed, will keep in a large amount of water and allow it to pass off more gradually, so as not to overflow the city. To make that plan work, however, it will probably be necessary to allow a good share of the water to fill up the valley around the proposed reservoir, and that is right where the aldermen are perplexed. Some of the farmers living near claim that this would work great damage to them by overflowing some of their best land and perhaps ruining their crops. It has been suggested that the ity make arrangements for the payment of rental to them, with the understanding that they are to waive all damages in case of a flood.

Itself. LOVEVILLE, St. Mary's Co., Md., June 15, 1894.-I have handled Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for the past year. It gives the best of satisfaction to my customers. I received an order last week for four bottles of the remedy from a man residing sixteen miles from my place Today I received a letter from him, stating that it has saved the lives of two members of his family. An old gentleman here who has suffered two years with diarrhoea, was permanently cured by this remedy. He can now do as much work as any man of hi age. I could mention other remarkable cures, but the Remedy will show for itstelf äge.

opinion which has become current of late that the western roads would unite in an association for the conservation of revenue and maintenance of rates. At the same time the advocates of the general associa tion are by no means discouraged by the attitude of the Atchison, and when Chairman Sebastian of the transcontinental committee of the Western Passenger association is prepared to call the meeting with the object of forming the association he will not hesitate on account of the Atchison. That road has acted in so conservative a manner and avoided making war on any line so long as its interests are not encroached upon that the other lines feel confident they now will have the co-operation of Atchison in any plan which is reasonable and promises to decrease expenses and increase receipts in a legitimate manner.

To Confer with Receiver McNeill.

J. G. Woodworth of the Iowa Central, general freight agent of that system, arrived in Omaha last night in response to a telegram from Receiver E. McNeill of the Oregon Railway & Navigation company. Mr. Woolworth, who was formerly as istant gen eral freight agent of the Union Pacific rather expects to link his fortunes with Mr. McNeill of the Oregon company. Talking to a reporter last night he stated that it was impossible to state just what would happen until he had a talk with Mr. McNeill. He was here, he said, simply in response to a telegram.

In reply to a question whether the Oregor company had formed an alliance with the Great Northern, he said he thought the rumor was premature, for the reason that the Oregon company would undoubtedly be lance for a time at least, taking free freight from every road that had freight to offer

As to the policy of the Oregon company he stated he knew nothing, but looked forward to its being one of the great systems of the country. It is thought that Mr. Woodworth will made assistant general manager and have virtually the charge of the operation of the oad.

Late in the evening Receiver McNeill arrived from the west on a Union Pacific train four hours late. Concerning the aptrain four hours late. Concerning pointment of Mr. Woodworth as assistant general manager of the Oregon Railway and Navigation company's lines, Receiver and Navigation company's lines, Receiver McNeill said that all such talk was mere gossip

Mr. McNeill states that the relations tween his lines and the Union Pacific are most intimate necessarily, and no doub will continue so. A part of his errand here is to have a conference, with the Union Pa-cific receivers concerning common interests. Speaking about the damage done to his lines by the recent flood. Receiver McNelll said that the total cost of repairing the tracks and road bed would amount to about $200,000 Passengers for Portland are now handled with only one transfer and it is expected that by August 1 the repairs will be and through cars run. 'As far as the strike is concerned," said

Mr. McNeill, "everything is quiet. When I passed through there was no disturbance and I anticipate an early settlement of the difficulty.
