He caught himself up with an exclamatory but the senate had already caught the point, and embarrassed the punctilious Tennesseean with its laughter. As the roll call proceeded the senate became very serious, and Mr. Pasco of Florida, in charge of pairs, bustled about the floor. The announcement of the result-yeas, 32; nays, 32—caused a sensation, as it meant a failure motion to lay Mr. Washburn's appeal on the table, and prospectively a vote on his motion to recede from the one-eighth of a cent differential. The vote on the motion to lay on the table was in detail as fol-

Stewart did not vote. The pairs were as follows, the first men-tioned in each pair favoring the motion and those last mentioned opposing it: Gordon with Wilson, Harris with Sherman, McPher-son with Morrill, Jarvis with Hoar, Butler with Cameron, Morgan with Quay, Smith with Irby (both the latter democrats), Camden with Pettigrew, Voorhees with Wolcott and Caffery with Power.

Senator Stewart was the only senator who was absent and not paired. He was in the republican cloak room while the votes were being taken and came out into the senate chamber immediately after the final result was announced. The motion to lay on the table having been lost on the fie vote, reverted on the main question—that of sustain ing the decision of the chair. The roll was called amid the most intense excitement It also resulted 32 to 32, and, according to parliamentary usage, was declared lost. This vote was identical with its predecessor. The decision of the chair was therefore not sus tained, and the motion of Mr. Washburn to instruct the conferees to recede from the senate amendment was in order. There were loud cries of "Vote," "Vote," from Mr. Aldrich and other republicans. Consternation was written on the faces of many democrats.

VILAS EVEN VOTED NO. Without further ado the clerk obeyed the instructions of Mr. Harris and began calling the roll. The democrats, under the caucus agreement, stood manfully to their guns, and with the exception of Mr. Hill, voted against the motion. Even Mr. Vilas, who made the terrific arraignment of the Sugar trust on Monday, voted "No" with The senators and the crowd of members in the rear of the chamber eagerly craned their heads while the clerk was recapitulating the vote. Mr. Brice, Mr. Aldrich and Mr. Cockrell kept tally.

"Another tie." was the word that went hurriedly about while the clerk was footing up the totals. Deep silence reigned as Mr. Harris arose to announce the vote.

"Upon this question," said the presiding officer, with a ring of jubilation in his voice, "thirty-two have voted in the affirmative and thirty-two in the negative, and the motion is lost."

The faces of the democrats lightened with smiles. Mr. Gorman immediately called for a vote on the resolution to agree to the re-quest of the house for a further conference, but it was agreed to without division.

Then a scene of inextricable confusion The democrats wrung each others hands enthusiastically. Their colleagues from the other end of the capitol rushed down the aisle and congratulated them on the victory. The spectators in the galleries, realizing that the tension was over, drew a long breath and filed out. From press gallery it looked as if the senate adjourned. Mr. Harris vacated the chair to go down on the floor to shake hands

After order was restored Mr. Quay of Pennsylvania secured recognition. He drew a huge pile of manuscript from his desk and said he desired to make some observations on the metal schedule for the benefit of the conferees. The prospect of another in-stallment of Mr. Quay's speech appalled the senate, and leave to print was hurriedly granted to him. The sonate then proceeded to consider and pass some unobjectionable bills on the calendar.

Then, at 3:46 p. m., the senate, on motion of Mr. Gorman, adjourned until Monday.

M'MILEIN CALLED TO WHITE HOUSE.

Declined to Give Any Report of Bis Visit to the President.

WASHINGTON, July 27 .- A messenger from the executive mansion reached the house of representatives half an hour after the senate had voted to send the tariff bill back to conference with a note for Representative McMillin, the ranking house conferce in the absence of Mr. Wilson, asking him to call at the white house. This, fol-lowing the conference between the president and Speaker Crisp earlier in the day, was taken to indicate the solicitude the president felt on the outcome of the second conference. Mr. McMillin declined to talk of his call on the fresident. Messrs. Mc-Millin and Turner are the only house conferees in town, but Speaker Crisp has word that Mr. Monigomery will arrive tonight and Chairman Wilson will be here tomor-The democratic conferees will hold an informal meeting tomorrow and Senator Jones said late today the full conference, including republican members, would probably be called together on Monday.

The general impression about the senate that the conference now agreed upon will not be as prolonged as the former ones. Some senators are of the opinion the com-mittee either will agree on a report within two or three days after the sittings within that time decide to report another disagreement. The preponderance of opinion, however, is that there will not be another report of disagreement. In fact, the demoeratic conferees assert another disagreement means the defeat of the bill.

The indications all point to the proba-bility that the sugar schedule again wil be the principal point of contention, and that but for the differences on this point an agreeient would be reached after a very brief sitting. The democratic members of the conference went through the bill very carefully during their former sitting and agreed on a vast amount of the items in it, so they will not need to consider these points again very fully. It is probable, however, that the republican members of the committee will ask for an explanation for the many changes, and this action, of course, would have the effect of delaying the conference

Senator Blanchard has an entirely new sugar proposition to submit to the conference, but it is not regarded as likely it will be adopted.

Hoar Lottery Bill Likely to Pass. WASHINGTON, July 27.-There is a strong probability that Senator Hoar's ironclad anti-lottery bill, which passed the senate, will become a law if its supporters can secure recognition for it this session. The bill is now in the hands of a subcommittee composed of Representatives Broderick of Kansas, Bailey of Texas and Goodnight of Kentucky, who will endeavor to report it to the judiciary committee tomorrow. It applies to express companies as well as to the mails and makes it criminal for any one to cause lottery tickets to be brought into the United States. There is some opposition to the bill from republicans, who point out the infringement of personal rights. Mr. Broderick is particularly interested in the matter because a lottery company, doing mainly by express, is gaining a hold in Kan-

The exportations of gold since the February bond issue aggregate about $78,-350,000, while the importations amount to about $11,350,000, making the net loss of gold during the last six months about $67,-

Anti-Option Hill About in Shape. WASHINGTON, July 27.- The senate committee on agriculture today held a meeting for the purpose of considering the house anti-option bill, but the subcommittee having it in charge was not prepared to report and action was deferred. FRANK PASKELL'S VERY GOOD SHOWING

Although Defeated by Austin. He Put Up a Game that Proved Him a Dangerous Competitor-Good Tennis. Before a Good Crowd.

A fair crowd witnessed the semi-finals in the tennis tournament last night. The expectation of seeing good tennis brought out more people than usual, and they were not disappointed. Both matches were good, and both the winners had at times to hustle to pull out victories. Of the two the Haskell-Austin match was the more interesting, and was probably the best match of the tournament. The one between R. R. Young and C. H. Young was very one-sided, the latter very often plainly outclassing his brother. Dick Young, however, took a spurt in the second set and made his brother tremble. but he could not keep up the gait. In accordance with expectation, C. H. Young and Austin were the winners.

In the morning the unfinished match be tween R. R. Young and O. Gates was played off. The match had been postponed the night before on account of Gates' sudden attack of sickness. Gates had won one set at 6-love, and had taken four straight games in ond set when the game was When they resumed this morning Gates was still feeling the effects of his sickness and although he made strong spurts at times he was unable to keep up his efforts long enough to win a match. Young won by 1-6, 7-5, 6-4, 8-6. He maintained asteady game throughout, but when his opponent hit his hardest he was outclassed.

The semi-finals were held at 6 o'clock. Austin won from Haskell by the score Austin won from Haskell by the score of 6-3, 6-4, 7-5. The score by points was 23-18, 35-28, 43-37. The latter score shows better the interest of the game. It can be seen that Austin had by no means a walkaway. His victory was won by placing and net work. In returning lobs, he oned" the balls beautifully over the Another feature of his play was the placing of swift low balls along the side lines, very many of which Haskell could not reach. Haskell, however, put up a very stiff game. He was not as proficient as his opponent in placing balls, and played too much of a back line game. He is a very active player, and returned many lobs by jumping in the air.

C. H. Young won from R. R. Young by the score of 6-1, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1. With the exception of the second set, C. H. Young had no difficulty in defeating his brother. In fact, it appeared too one-sided for the semifinals. In the last two sets R. R. Young evidently was discouraged and nervous. His placing was at times very poor and unfortunate, and he frequently sent the ball outside the lines. He often reached difficult balls, but his strokes sent them out of the court. His brother, on the other hand, appeared confident and played a very steady, although hardly a brilliant, game. His placing was good and timely. During the match much net play was indulged in, and C. H. Young had almost invariably the better of it. The score by points was 27-15, 33-35, 31-22, Tonight at 6:15 the finals will be played off between Austin and Young. A good match can be confidently looked for, although Austin is choice for winner. He has played a stronger and more brilliant game than Young, and his placing so far has been better. A whole host of umpires have been selected, so that no bad decisions are probable. They are as follows: For the lines, J. F. R. Gosney, Fred Lake and F. J. Haskell; for the net, John Brown. price of admission has been placed at 25 cents.

Infants Are Fast Dying of Cholera Infantum.

Be Prevented -

Lactated Food the Best Diet in July.

Mothers and Physicians Recommend It.

One can hardly take a walk these days, says the Beston Globe, without encountering a funeral.

Half the deaths in July are those of children under 5 years. Year in and year out a third of all who die are infants. The effect of the summer heat upon the health of the baby is fearful.

Yet the intestinal disturbances, which are attributed to the weather, actually arise from errors in diet, from lack of absolute purity in food-perfectly preventable causes. "If all the babies were fed on a diet sufficiently nutritions and absolutely pure," says a member of the board of health, there would be no such thing as cholera infantum." The weekly returns which physicians are obliged by law to make at this office show no infant deaths from summer diarrhea among bables who have been fed on a diet of pure lactated food. Healthy mother's milk is unequalled, but he mothers who are capable of nursing their children throughout the entire summer are rare, not only in Boston, New York and the other cities but also in the country. When this natural food is insufficient, or the mother not well, or when recourse must be had to nothing but cow's milk, without personal knowledge of its fitness for the baby, trouble occurs. When the breast is insufficient the baby should be put at once upon lactated food.

Mothers of large families, and physicians of experience everywhere, say that for perfect security against summer complaints, cholera infantum and intestinal disorders, there is one diet that never fails; Feed the baby on lactated food during the hot months. attend carefully to its regular feeding, and keep all dishes clean and thoroughly scalded. Mothers may in this way dismiss all anxiety, as lactated food itself is free from any possibility of contagion, and will nourish the little one as nothing else can. Thousands of infants whose mothers bave been sickly have thrived and grown to be strong children upon lactated food, which is as pure and healthy as the air among the Vermont hills where it is made. Many a mother too, has been strengthened by using It. The principle element of mother's milk is sugar of milk. This is the basis of factated food. With it is combined the nutritious elements of the great cereals, wheat, oats and barley, so prepared as to be readily digested and assimilated. The addition of the salts found in the mother's milk makes lactated food a perfect substitute. Many mothers find that nothing else agrees with their children. Lactated food works marvels with the lit-tle ones who are puny and pale.

A week or two suffices to show its spien-did effect in brighter eyes, fairer skin, live-Her manner and a steady gain in weight Lactated food saves babies' lives. It is the surest preventive in the world for cholera infantum. It is within every one's reach, and is so inexpensive that no mother ever had a real excuse for not using it.
