NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

J. J. Shea Declines the Nomination for Supreme Court Reporter.

HAD NOT SOUGHT THE NOMINATION

Says He Could Not Afford to Take the Office, but Prominent Politicians State the Democracy Have No Hopes of Carrying the Election.

J. J. Shea of this city has sent Chairman Fletcher Howard of the democratic state central committee a letter in which he positively declines to make the race for the office of supreme court reporter, to which he was nominated by this week's convention. In the letter he says the nomination was given him without his knowledge or consent and that he was in no way consulted about it. His private business is in such shape that he could not serve if elected and he cannot spend the time to make such a canvass of the state as he thinks should be made by a man who accepted the honor and the responsibility of a nomination, so that he will under no circumstances allow his name to be used.

The nomination of Mr. Shea was a great surprise to the people of this city, because no one had ever heard that he was making any effort to secure a nomination, or that he even had a remote desire for it. Since the convention is over, however, the fact has been developed that a number of the nominations were made on very short notice. A prominent democrat was talking to some republican friends shortly after his return from Des Moines and he let the cat out of the bag in this wise: "The fact is, nobody was looking for a nomination on the democratic ticket this year, it wasn't a question of who should have the honor, but of whom we could get to take it."

POLICE COURT NOTES.

The two Shoemaker boys, who were arrested with a boy named Davis for assaulting Burt Clark, were discharged in police court yesterday morning. According to the story told by the Shoemaker boys the four met on the street and the Shoemakers demanded that Clark take back something he had said about them and Davis. He agreed to take it back so far as they were concerned, but refused to take it back as to Davis. This sort of compromise stand did not satisfy them and they struck out after Clark and chased him up to the police station, where he stayed all night. They went to police court for two counts of assault, but Clark did not show up either time, and Judge McGee finally discharged all three yesterday morning.

Mrs. H. B. Parkinson had a hearing on the charge of committing an assault and battery on Dwight Corlies, the 14-year-old son of a neighbor. All the parties live on Benton street. Frank McGee testified that Corlies had been in the habit of abusing the 8-year-old boy of Mrs. Parkinson and the latter put a stop to it temporarily the other day by beating the boy. The evidence of a school teacher who was expected to testify that it always took four teachers to administer corporal punishment to him, was shut out. Judge McGee thought Mrs. Parkinson had considerable reason for taking the law into her own hands and discharged her. About 100 witnesses were present at the trial as witnesses on one side or the other.

Fired the Pavement Again. The good story that was published to the world as an illustration of the fearful heat here a week ago last Thursday, to the effect that the block paving in front of the Grand hotel caught fire from the sun's rays, was backed up a little, though not entirely knocked out, by the inconsiderate action of the elements yesterday. Although the temperature was very comfortable all day long, the paving caught fire in two places, the fire of the hotel instead of only one. A little investigation showed that the convex windows of the Grand hotel reflected the sun's rays, reflecting the sun's rays on the pavement in such a way as to act like a large sun glass and the pavement lay smoldering away until it finally got hot enough to break into flames. As a remedy for the block paving nuisance it has been suggested that the adjacent property owners get their paving in against fire and that they put circular windows in their houses.

Battle Flag Day. At Des Moines August 10. The rate from points in Iowa are one fare for the round trip. Tickets sold August 8, 9 and 10, good to return August 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, and 1st of Sept.

Owens Had $900. J. W. Owens, who married one of Garner township's fair daughters a short time ago and deserted her the next morning, has not been heard from since his first letter to his wife, which was dated at Denver and in which he told her to get a divorce. Rev. H. P. Dudley, who performed the ceremony, states that among the wedding gifts was $200 in currency, contributed by the young man's parents. When he was asked to look the money with him. In the letter he wrote he informed the young lady that his wife was now blasted, but he neglected to state just how it got that way.

Disguised Himself. Sam Haworth, the Indiana man charged with passing counterfeit coins at Creston last month, was brought before Commissioner Steadman yesterday for a preliminary examination, but the state failed to make a case. When the coin was passed Haworth wore a very heavy mustache and a wig. He was cutting witnesses confronted him yesterday he showed so broad an expanse of smooth and shining cuticle in its place that they were puzzled and could not identify him. He was turned loose.

heavy rain yesterday. It was followed by hail, but not heavy enough to damage crops. Corn in the northern part of Antelope county looks well and will go from thirty-five to forty bushels to the acre. The late rains have been a blessing to corn in this section, and with an occasional local shower, the Antelope county will have as good a crop as it has had for years. The southern part of the county, however, is almost parched and corn stalks are being cut for fodder.

A Cure for Chronic Diarrhoea. I had been troubled with chronic diarrhoea for over a year when I received a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used and it gave me great relief. I then procured a 50-cent bottle and took about two-thirds of it, and was cured. I have taken some twice since, and had a looseness come on and it stopped it at once. I hope it will help others as it helped me. I feel very thankful to Mr. Stearns, the druggist, for telling me of this remedy and shall be glad to have this letter published. S. C. Weeks, Melrose, Mass. For sale by druggists.

The game of ball between the Hastings and home Young Men's Christian association clubs yesterday was rather soft. The home boys were distinctly the last moment by the nonappearance of their battery, Kimmel and Palmer, and after selecting the best from their ranks went in with an entirely inexperienced battery and were defeated by a score of 27 to 5. Marquette and Traill of Omaha will constitute the battery for today and a much better game is expected.

Mrs. Annie Braemel of the normal school faculty entertained her elocutionary class at her residence last evening. After a pleasant hour or so at various games and refreshments she was presented with an elegant copy of Tennyson's poems by her class as a token of appreciation for her faithful labor in their behalf.

Bob Would Not Shake. Louis Faust, who has been acting as a United States deputy marshal and assisting in guarding the Commonwealers at Fort Snider, returned yesterday and while going down the street met "Bob" Newberry and offered to shake hands with him. "Bob" is alleged to have refused to notice the extended signal of friendship and coolly remarked that he thought that any one who would serve as a deputy marshal was a pretty bad name. Then they clinched and for a few moments the vicinity of Sixteenth and Davenport streets was filled with pieces of clothing, arms and legs and bad words. Officer Clark arrested the combatants and they were charged with disturbing the peace.
