VIGILANT WON AFTER A CLOSE RACE

Satanita Was a Few Seconds Ahead and Britannia a Short Distance Behind Until Close to the End-An Exciting Contest.

COWES, Aug. 6.-With prospects of a splendid day's racing the Vigilant, Britannia and Satanita started this morning in the big event of the regatta of the Royal London Yacht club. The weather was what the experts call Satanita weather. The course was around the Isle of Wright, starting eastward, once around, a total distance of about fifty-five miles. There were nearly 300 yachts of all sizes and descriptions lying in the roads. The American yachts, Atalanta, White Ladie and May, were conspicuous among those floating the stars and stripes. Conspicuous in the midst of the parade was a tall must from which the American flag was flying.

Over the gay spectacle a leaden sky frowned, threatening a showery day, but as a compensation a nice breeze was blowing and the white caps were dancing at a lively rate. During the early morning excursion steamers from Southampton, Bournemouth, Portsmouth, Southsea and other places steamed into the roads.

Larger numbers were assembled than were ever before gathered at an English regatta. Emperor William arrived at 3 o'clock on board the imperial yacht Hohenzellern, and was received with the usual salutes. the day advanced the wind increased in force, The Vigilant allows the Satanita fifty-five seconds owing to the reduction of the latter's sail area and the Vigilant allows the Britannla two minutes twenty-two seconds. The three rival yachts gave the spectators a pretty exhibition of smart seamanship before the start as they cruised up and down test-ing the wind from 9 o'clock until the starting gun was fired at 10 a.m. All three yachts started for the line carrying club top sails and balloon jibs. Their times were in crossing the line: Satanita (cutter) 10:01:00, Britannia (cutter) 10:01:05, Vigilant (sloop) 10:01:20. WALES' PECULIAR TACTICS.

At the outset there was an exciting contest between the Britannia and Vigilant. The former was holding the windward posi-tion and the latter tried to pass her. But the prince of Wales' cutter immediately luffed up and held the Vigilant. For a time both yachts made little forward progress. The Satanita, in the meanwhile, rapidly forged shead and an idea directly struck all the speciators that the Britannia's maneuver in holding the Vigilant was the result of an agreement between the two British captains to work in unison so that the winner of the cup would be a British vessel. This being a day of Satanita weather and the Britannia having but a small chance of winning the latter could well devote herself to harassing the American yacht. This maneuver so far succeeded that when the Vigilant ultimately got clear the Satanita was a long way

The times of the yachts in passing East Cowes point were: Satanita, 10:11:32; Vigilant, 10:13:31; Britannia, 10:14:15. Satanita, therefore, had a lead of one minute fifty-nine seconds at this early stage of the race on the Vigilant, while the latter was forty-four seconds ahead of the Britannia.

All three yachts got away in fine style and once past East Cowes point they were reaching along at steamboat speed with part of their starboard rails submerged and leaving a glistening wake behind them. The times of the three yachts at Ryde Pier were as follows: Satanita, 10:29:55; Vigilant, 10:31:35; Britannia, 10:32:26. Both Satanita and Vigilant were increasing their leads on the prince of Wales' cutter.

At the Warner lightship the Vigilant was pulling up on the Satanita, which led by only read with precision, but approximatel the boats passed as follows: Satanita, 12:05:00: Vigilant, 12:07:00; Britannia, 12:08:00. Ventner, Isle of Wight, was passed about as follows, the same uncertainty as to time and order of the two British yachts prevailing: Satanita, 12:25:25; Vigilant, 12:25:31; Britannia, 12:26:32.

Up to this stage it was a very pretty race. Nearly half the course had been covered, and yet only a little over a minute separated the first and third yachts. The time of the yachts at finish were:

Vigilant, 5:06:15; Britannia, 5:14.27; Satan-The Vigilant consequently won by eight inutes twelve seconds, without counting her time allowance of two minutes twenty-two

During a luffing match off Ventnor the Britannia and the Vigilant scraped the shore. The American yacht was rather severely scraped.

FOUL TACTICS OF THE BRITANNIA. To an Associated press reporter, after the ace Captain Haff of the Vigilant said: quite true that the Britannia tried to hold us at the start, evidently in order to allow the Satanita to get ahead. In fact that was their tactics throughout. When one got slightly ahead the other tried to hold us, and this led to our running into the shore more than once. The Satanita only led on the run to Bembridge. Directly we turned the point and started the reach for St. Catherine's point we began to gain, and soon passed her. The Britannia also came up and then commenced a series of luffing matches. The Britannia was to windward and prevented us from passing, continually bearing down on us and keeping us in shere. Ultimately, when we had just passed Ventnor we tried to pass the Britannia on leeward, but failed. Then we decided to pass her to windward, whatever the risk might be. We succeeded, and the Britannia was pressed in shore and her bottom rubbed. Later on the Britannia again tried the same game when we were close together. We were termined not to be jockeyed in this fashion nd as both were game it was simply a case of which would go the farthest in shore. As than the Vigilant, she went on the rocks. The Vigilant also bumped, being nearer the shore, but I do not thing she suffered seri-ously. Nevertheless, we intend to dock her errow to ascertain if her keel is injured The B-itannia's position, however, appeared to us momentarily as serious. Her stern rose three feet out of water, and her men were sent forward. She then, without actually stopping, bumped along into deeper water. Captain Haff concluded significantly: "If Britannia continues these tricks there will be a yacht or two less to race these Captain Carier of the Britannia told the correspondent that his boat grazed the rocks three times during the race. A diver has since examined her bottom and reports a part of her keel and copper has been torn away. Nevertheless she will race tomorrow.

Charge the Piague to Foreigners. WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 .- Some idea of the feeling entertained by the Chinese toward fore gners, which has caused anxiety for the safety of American missionaries, is given in the report of the Canton plague received today at the Marine hospital bureau. Consul Charles Seymour, writing under date of June 23, says: "Natives are trying to blame foreigners for the plague and bave gotten up riots in Canton and the surround ing country." The consul reports that the plague does not seem to yield to medical treatment, that the mortality is 50 per cent of the cases and the deaths since March 1 number at least 40,000. Cholera has made its appearance in Canton in an epidemic form, but is not yet so threatening as the plague.

Strikers Plainly Told They Could Not Interfere with Men at Work.

DISCRETION THE BETTER PART OF VALOR

Preparations Made at Peru for the Recep tion and Massacre of the Invading Strikers Had a Terrifying Effeet on the Invaders.

PERU. III., Aug. 6 .- The expected invasion of 500 sirikers from Spring Valley, Seatonville and Ladd, which was planned at the mars meeting of Saturday, failed to materialize. They were to prevent by persuasion or violence the men from going to work in the Carbon Coal company's shaft this morning and under the leadership of Vice President Murray of the Mine Workers union expected an easy task. Sheriff Taylor brought down fifty deputies and the Ottawa militia. The Law and Order league of this city was called out Sunday evening, pickets were placed on every road with orders not to allow strikers to cross the line between La Sille and Bureau counties and preparations made which would have resulted in wholesale slaughter if they had persisted in attempting to carry out their plans. Murray, their leader, was offi-cially informed of the reception they would meet and their discretion overpowered their valor. Only a few scattering gangs appeared along the county line and were turned back without trouble. The militia met the strikers from the mines south of the river and a short but lively experience with the bayonets convinced the invaders that they had no particular business on this side of the river. Meantime 100 men went down into the mine and are working at the Columbus scale. union shaft, owned by the same company, will commence work tomorrow and plenty of men to operate it have already applied for

There was a small fight between the militia and a mob of Oglesby miners on the Illinois Central railsead bridge, who attempted to force their way into the city. They were repulsed by bayonets, several of the mob eing wounded. There was no firing.

PARTICULAR ABOUT MESSMATES.

Members of the Illinois Militia Refuse to Eat with Nonunion Men. CHICAGO, Aug. 6 .- The sensation of the day at Pullman was the refusal of company M of the First infantry to eat at the same table with nonunion workmen. At 1:30 o'clock Lieutenant Bowere marched his company up to the big mess tent that stands on the lawn behind the Hotel Florence. There the company was left in command of Sergeant Cook. When the company came to break ranks at the tent entrance they were indignant to see two tables within filled with nonunion employes of the Pullman company. The workmen were a part of the new force hired today. They had been smuggled in with the soldier boys on the apology that they were afraid to go home for dinner. As the practice had been tried on a smaller way last week to the distaste of the company, the soldiers were prepared for decisive action. William Byrnes, a member of the company, stepped into the entrance and said: "As volunteer soldiers the men of company M are here to see that the laws of lilinois are obeyed. I am not aware that it is soldierly, or that discipline compels us to do what we feel is unpatriotic and not worthy of gentlemen. My scruples demand that I shall not associate with scabs. I refuse to sit with them at the same table."

There was an outburst of applause from

Byrnes' comrades, and Sergeant Cook marched the company across the street and broke ranks. "We will not enter a tent," a dozen privates said, "till we are assured all nonunion workmen are to be kept out." The workmen were finally marched out and the company marched in, receiving the assurance that they will hereafter have the mess tent to themselves.

CAN'T GET THEIR JOBS NOW.

Railroad and Stock Yards Men in Chicag Find Their Places Filled. CHICAGO, Aug. 6 .- The train yards of the Lake Shore and Wabash ratiroad companies at Root street were filled today with switchmen and engineers who were ready to return to work. Few of them were reinstated, their places having been taken during the strike by new men. Considerable surprise was shown by the men at the delay of the companies in accepting their services, About 2,000 men who applied for work at the stock yards were sent away. The switch-men's association took charge of the switch engines in use about the yards and the old men were placed over the new ones to give them instructions.

The repair shops opened today at Pullman with 150 additional men at work. This increase makes the force now employed num-ber 800 in all and it is expected by the company that by tomorrow there will be at least .000 men at work.

Discharging Union Pacific Operators. CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 6 .- (Special to The Bee.)-Several station agents at points west of Chevenne have been relieved from duty on account of their conduct during the recent strike. D. C. Copely, agent at Aurora, and D. G. Carnegie and W. H. Rice, telegraph operators at Medicine Bow, are among the number. Night Operator James Smith at Granite Canon has been appointed agent at Aurora.

PROSPECT NOT PLEASING FEEDING A DELICATE BABY

Words of a Famous Physician That Should be Written on the Wall of Every Nunsery -How to Supplement Mother's Milk.

"One-half of the deaths of infants are caused by improper feeding," should be written on the walls of every nursery. It is known to all doctors that there is no food for an infant equal to the milk of a robust woman. But there are hosts of mothers who cannot nurse their children during the entire year, and many others who ought not to as the nutriment which they furnish steadily loses in richness and power to make firm flesh and bone and to keep baby well. This is especially true in summer, "How shall I feed my baby," is then the question of these mothers who cannot nurse their bables.

"Feed the little one on lactated food." says the more experienced mother.

Years and years of splendid results in the rearing of delicate children on inctated food have given it its brilliant reputation among mothers and physicians. As a nutriment and preventive of disease it has been subjected to the most trying tests, and has brought thousands of bables safely through the hot summer, sustaining their strength in the exhausting diseases peculiar to childhood.

Here is the experience of the sweet baby boy whose portrait is given above. His mother, Mrs. W. H. P. Caron, who resides
30 North First St., Meriden, Conn., writes:

"I take pleasure in sending you the pic-ture of our little Walter. He was a very sick baby and would not nurse. We tried every thing we could, but he never got well until a friend recommended lactated food to us. We gave it to him and he improved rapidly. This is his second summer and is very trying to him, as he is cutting teeth, but in spite of that he is larger than a good many as old. He will eat nothing but lactated food I hope that I may have many chances to re-commend it, for I know of nothing else that deserves so much praise as lactated food."
