Jobbing Situation Shows Comparatively Little Change.

BANK CLEARINGS MORE ENCOURAGING

Midsummer Quiet Prevailing in Every Branch of Business Collections Slow in All Sections of the State-Country Produce and Live Stock,

The continuation of the drouth for several days after serious damage had already been reported has caused even the most sanguine business men to about give up all hope of there being anything like a corn crop in this section of the country. At the time of the last failure of the crops the damage was not so general and the jobbers were enabled to make up for their losses of business in Nebraska, to some extent, by extending their trade in Iowa. This season there will be no chance for anything of that kind, as the reports would seem to Indicate that Iowa is suffering fully as much from the drouth as this state. The seriousness of the situation has naturally set business men to thinking. At first some were considerably discouraged that a crop failure should follow immediately after such a hard year, and were inclined to argue that if a failure of the crops caused such a depression in business in the season of 1890-91 the present tailure would have still more disistrous results coming when the business of the country was already greatly de-

Some, however, are commencing to take a different view of the subject. They point out that in 1890 every one was anticipating a large and prosperous business, and the merchants had all laid in large stocks of goods and had gone recklessly into debt, there being no hesitancy about assuming obligations when there was every pros pect of money being plenty and trade good. The shelves of every store in the country were piled with goods that had been bough in advance of the demand and on credit. This was in brief the situation when the business men of the state were brought face to face with a crop failure. The result was that the demand for merchandise of all kinds fell off enormously, and the demand which was expected to clear the large stocks was not forthcoming. In the meantime bills commenced to fall due and there was no money to meet obligations—the goods were still on the shelves. A great many merchants were forced out of business and it was a season of general disaster to the business interests of the state. The situation at the present time is entirely different. For the past year or more business has been in such shape that merchants of all classes have been feeling their way cautiously, and no one has been dis-posed to take any risks of any character whatever. The jobbers have been very conservative in buying and have only laid in stocks as they were sure that there would be a demand for the goods, and country retail merchants have for months pursued the hand to mouth policy of buying. They have ordered goods only as their trade demanded and have allowed stocks to run down to the lowest point possible. There is no surplus merchandise in any portion of the country. Owing to the uncertainty of the times col-lections have been kept up pretty close and indebtedness generally reduced, while there has been a decided disinclination to create new obligations. The expenses incident to business operations have been cut down to the lowest point.

Under these conditions many are of the opinion that the business interests of the country are in better shape to put up with a loss of the corn crop than they were in They claim that it will be a hard year in the sense that there will be little oppor-tunity for making profits, but they do not look for such disastrous results. With ex-penses reduced to the minimum and stocks on the same basis, merchants can get along even if they do not have much business. BANK CLEARINGS.

While there have been no new features of importance in the jobbing district of the city, there has been a change in the matter of hank clearings that may be worthy of many months, Omaha at last is able to show an increase in the clearings, as compared with the previous year, this increase for the past week amounting to 24 per cent. While this gain is not so large as that shown by some other cities, it is still better than the average for the whole country, which shows a decrease of 3.4 per cent.

Had it not been for the strike at South Omaha the showing would, without doubt, have been still better. As it is, Omaha does not compare quite so favorably with other cities as a week ago. The following are the clearings for the past week at a few of the cities in this part of the country:

Denver 2,912,061
Duluth 2,424,701
St. Joseph 1,514,114 THE MANUFACTURERS.

While the business of the manufacturers is affected by the same conditions and in about the same degree as the jobbing trade the manufacturers of the state are very active and are doing everything possible to keep themselves before the people. Quite a number of the manufacturers are remarking that it was during the dull times following the loss of the corn crop in 1890 that the attention of the people was called to the necessity for increasing the manufacturing interests of the state, which gave rise to th home patronage campaign that did so much to encourage the factory people of the state. It is said that when times are good people do not so fully realize the necessity of having diversified interests, but when the corn crop fails then every one is aware of the importance of introducing manufacturing ludustries which will give employment to working people, thus creating a population that will help sustain business when other things fail.

During the past week the manufacturers have been arranging for their banquet at Beatrice, which will take place on the evening of August 16. The banquet is given by the Manufacturers and Consumers' association to the business men of Nebraska. Arrangements have been made for 300 guests. All members of the association are expected to be present, in addition to the business men of Beatrice. An interesting program has been prepared, consisting of "An Address of welcome" by Mayor Schultz of Beatrice, response by the secretary of the association, "Nobraska's Raw Material Products," by Hon. John M. Thurston; "Beatrice as a Manufacturing City," by Colonel W. H. Edgar of Beatrice; "The Press," by L. L. H. Austin of Lincoln; "The Past and Future of Nepaska" by Hon. R. S. Bibb of Fastrice, for brasks," by Hon. R. S. Bibb of Beatrice, after which there will be general speaking by the

Another important enterprise which the manufacturers have in hand is the annual exposition of the association at the state fair. The fair takes place on September 7 to 14 and the management has placed one of the best buildings at the disposal of the manufacturers, who will endeavor to make the best showing of Nebraska industries possible. Already fifty manufacturing firms have signified their intention of making exhibits. A number of these exhibits will be of machinery in operation, showing the actual work

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Owing to the strike at the packing houses at South Omaha there has not been a very active live stock market during the past ten days, and business has been hampered to a great extent. The cattle market has not amounted to much. The receipts have been fair on most days, but the demand has been wanting. This is especially true of the trade in dressed beef cattle. The shippers have not been operating to any extent, and the local packers have not been in condition to handle many cattle. in condition to handle many cattle. The country demand for stockers and feeders has been very light, owing, apparently, to the continued drouth in the country, which is not only destroying the corn crop, but is not only destroying the corn crop, but has made the pasturage so short that there is very little feed for cattle in many sections of the state. As to the prices on cattle, there has been very little change from day to day during the period under review but a considerable proportion of the arrivals is made up of the trash that is being ship-ped out of some sections of the state, and

CONDITION OF OMAHA'S TRADE | for which there is very little demand at any price. These common light and underweight hogs have been almost unsalable on some days of the week, and a good many have been held over from day to day with-out a buyer being found. The local packers have not done much during the week, being entirely absent from the market on some days and buying only a few hogs on other days. This has left the trade entirely in the hands of the shippers.

AS DUN SEES IT.

Small Ray of Light Peeps Through the Clouds of Drouth and Laber Disturbance. R. G. Dun & Co.'s manager, speaking of trade for Omaha and Nebraska, says:

"The conditions do not improve either generally or locally. It is hardly possible that there can be such a recovery from the disaster to the crops as shall stimulate business between now and fall. Nothing can be hoped for in the way of a corn crop, even if rain should now fall in sufficient quantities to revive the dead vegetation. "It is a gloomy outlook, and business men are adjusting their affairs for the "It is a gloomy outlook, and business men are adjusting their affairs for the worst senson ever experienced in this country. Fortunately for Omaha, her location with reference to western trade will enable her jobbers to do fairly well. The small orders will be numerous, and their aggregate will keep up the volume very near, if not quite, to that of past years. The lack of employment and enterprise in the city is seriously affecting retail trade, and the outlook for the winter is discouraging indeed. Something should be done by the city and county authorities and business men generally to provide employment for our laboring people. We should not wait until winter is upon us and then extend cold charity to the unfortunate. The wealthy citizens and business men would do well to get together at once and out of their combined wisdom formulate a practicable scheme for tiding over a hard winter without extending absolute charity to men willing and anxious to earn their daily bread.

"The strike at South Omaha has been a very serious blow to that great packing center. Just at the time when it seemed almost certain that South Omaha would step forward to second place as a packing center this disturbance among laboring people occurred. Cattle and hors, which farmers are shipping out as rapidly as possible on account of short feed, are necessarily sent to other markets, and both our packers and stock dealers are suffering in consequence. Every good citizen of Omaha regrets the conditions which have placed local labor and local capital at odds with each other. Of all the times in the experience of this city and country, when capital and its handmaid should be on cordial terms, this is the time, for capital and labor were never more interdependent than now.

"Happily the danger of further violence seems to be a reason to the constant than and the country is the constant to the case of the constant than a country to the constant the country to the coun labor were never more interdependent than now.

"Happily the danger of further violence seems to have passed, and now it is hoped the sober second thought of packers and workingmen will bring the two together and the misguided men who have quit their jobs will be permitted to return and that both employers and employes will unite in an endeavor to recover what has been lost by the strike.

"In connection with this general labor topic it may not be improper to discuss the boycott in a paragraph. To begin with, the boycott is unamerican and unchristian. It is a conspiracy which cannot be successfully defended. It is a memore to good order and should be dealt with by law in such a way as to extirpate it from our social system. For two or three weeks one of the largest and most progressive local houses in this city has been under a boycott. A year or so ago the same house was boycotted on account of the alleged religion of its managers. Now it is boycotted on the supposition that some of its cheap goods are made in a penitentiary. The boycott in neither case affected the volume of sales or the net profits, but it is extremely annoying and disagreeable to be held up to the ridicule and animadversion of a large part of the community. Omaha beer makers have also been boycotted, and, unfortunately for the local manufacturers, this inured to the benefit of their outside competitors. There is too much disposition on the part of labor organizations or their leaders to interfere with the natural course of business, and unless they reform in this particular organized villainy. In the beer makers have also been boycotted, and, unfortunately for the local manufacturers, this inured to the benefit of their outside competitors. The boycott is one and the sympathetic strike is the other, and until these two things are abandoned by organized labor organized labor will and until these two things are abandoned by organized labor organized labor will suffer from want of good will on the part of business men generally.

"Collections have never been quite as nard as they are at present. One of the leading jobbers of this city told me the other day that he received ferty unpaid drafts back in a single mail, and out of a large number sent out the first of the month by far the greater proportion were returned unable to pay. Local jobbers are disposed to be lenient, but they must meet their own bills, and interior merchants should not lose sight of this fact. There is always a disposition to take advantage of disnater as an excuse for neglecting the common courtesies which make business possible. In these times both buyer and seller must be considerate, and it is unwise for either to complicate the situation—the one forcing settlements which might be postponed and the other postponing settlements which might be fected.

"Too much congress, too much legislation, too much city council and too much peanut politics is what is killing this country, was the remark I overheard fall from a well known railroad man's lips the other day. Perhaps the gentleman did not go far enough, but really he touched the hem of the garment of a vast deal of truth in his epigram, and the remark is worthy of reflection."

Drouth and the Market Were Both Broken Yesterday.

WHEAT WAS RATHER QUIET ALL DAY

In Corn There Was a Good Trade but a Rather Weak Market-Government Report Construed as Bullish-Stocks and Bonds.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.-The drouth and the market were both broken today. The one break caused the other. The government crop report, which at the time of its receipt on the curb yesterday afternoon was conside ed a very bullish comment, and really was so, was altogether surpassed in influence by predicted rains throughout the corn belt. Wheat lost ic of the previous value, corn from 1c to 1%c and oats %c. Provisions held to the end a little of a considerable ad-Wheat was rather quiet, with fluctuations confined within from 1%c to 1%c range. The general tone was weak. Initial trades were at 56c for September, but sold up later 1/2c, eased off %c, rallied %c, declined from 1%c to 11/4c, ruled steady and closed with September at 55%c. The early strength was attributed to the government report, which was construed as bearish, making the condition of spring wheat 67.1, and the total crop of spring and winter, according to the govern-ment returns, will be about 391,000,000 bu. Cables were strom er and added some strength to the market. The exports for the week from both coasts, wheat and flour, were somewhat larger and had a stimulating tendency. Outside markets were firmer. On the other hand, the general duliness was a factor against any material advance, the local movement was heavy, there were rains where most needed, and a large increase in the visible supply is expected, all of which com bined to depress the price and worked an upward tendency. The market continued to rule easier later in the session, influenced by the further break in corn.

In corn there was a good trade, but a rather weak market. The opening was from 4c to 4c under the final figures of yesterday, with September at 55c, and sold down 4c more, rallied 1c, eased off 1%c, changed some, ruled steady and closed steady at 53% of for September. It was rains on one side and the government report on the other, with the country both buying and selling, but bought considerably more than it sold. report was construed as bullish as it did not cover the damage since August 1, which is variously estimated. On the other hand Iowa, Kansas, Illinois and Indiana had rains and more was predicted, which had a bearish influence. Outside markets, with the exception of New York, were firm early, cables 1/2d up on spot and 1/4d up on futures Receipts were small at 117 cars and the estimate for Monday was also moderate. Oats were active and easier in sympathy with corn and on selling by longs. The range for the day was it for September.

Provisions were active. The market advanced early on good buying and after several fluctuations declined on free realizing, closing quiet. Compared with last night, September pork and lard are unchanged and ribs 214c higher. Freights slow at from 34c to 1c for wheat and %c for corn to Buffalo.

The leading futures ranged as follows:

OMAHA GENERAL MARKETS.

Staple and Fancy Produce.

While the past week has not witnessed many radical changes in the produce market, there have been some fluctuations of importance. The receipts of butter have shown some in-rease during the past six days, but the supply crease during the past six days, but the supply of choice goods is still light, and dealers say that they have ealls for a good deal more than they can supply. Packing stock has firmed up during the week. The general feeling appears to be that there is no danger of prices going lower, white some are predicting a boom in the near future. The speculators have been holding back and have not had sufficient comidence in the situation to operate very extensively, which, it is claimed, is the only reason that prices have not advanced more rapidly.

The receipts of eggs have been a fittle heavier the post week, and though there was no great run, the demand is so light that the market weakened under the influence of the more liberal offerings.

The receipts of poultry continue to increase and the market has been in very bad shape all the week. While prices have been very low, the demand has falled to keep pace with the increase in the arrivals, and it has been no easy matter for receivers to keep their stocks reduced.

The arrivals of California fruits have been large and there have been duly sales at the auction rosms of a number of cars each day. Owing to the large receipts the market has had a lower tendency, and quotations at the close of the week show a considerable change as compared with the first of the week. Fruit is so low that it would seem as if the communities would be greatly increased and it would, no doubt, under ordinary circumstances, but the general quiet prevailing in business circles appears to affect the communition of fruit as well as the Mai of everything else that might be considered a luxuity. The fruit is arriving generally having good condition and decilers are able to full orders from outside points with stock that candot dielp but give entire satisfaction. TALLOW AND GREASE-Tallow, No. 1, 49 NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The trading in the share market today was very light and the speculation without important feature. The unfavorable crop report caused a general depression at the opening, which was not confined to the railroad list, but was communicated to the industrials, though in a less degree. The arbitrage brokers were sellers of small lots of Union Pacific, Northern Pacific preferred and St. Paul and the London cables showed American securities to be weak in that market. There was, how-ever, no great pressure to sell and on a small covering movement the market became what firm before the end of the first hour. After 11 o'clock the speculation became intensely dull, especially for the usually active stocks, excepting Sugar, which, with a few of the specialties, monopolized what lit-tle business as done. Toward the close, the freight on them.

There were free offerings of Sugar in the loan market at 1½ per cent. Atchison and General Electric closed at yesterday's last sales. The week has been full of interest sales. The week has been full of interest to the speculative fraternily, the Atchison incident being a rather exciting feature and keeping the street on the qui vive up to the very close, when it was brought to an end by the acceptance of Reinhart's resignation from the directory and as receiver. While Reinhart has some supporters, the general opinion is his reply to Expert Little's charges that he overstated the income of the road for the four years immediately preceding June 30, 1894, does not meet the issue squarely, and the representatives of the London and Amsterdam security holders state they do not regard his letter to the reorganization committee as an answer to the Little report. It has been decided to take no further steps toward perfecting reorganization until after Little's examination of the Atchison's books, which is still in progress, is completed. Conjecture is now busy with the question of Reinhart's successor as president and receiver. The names of R. S. Hayes, chairman of the general reorganization committee, First Vice President D. B. Robinson of the Atchison, President A. A. Robinson of the Mexican Central railroad, and President S. M. Felton of the Queen & Crescent system, are mentioned in this connection. Week Fnds with a Famly Liberal Run and Improved Demand.

PRICES ON CATTLE MUCH STRONGER Close of the Week Marked by Considerable

Local Packers Were Buyers and Good Offer ings Sold Well-Hogs Show Much Improvement and Close the Week Much Higher.

SATURDAY, Aug. 11. The week closes with receipts of about 1,200 cattle, 8,500 hogs and 544 sheep, as against 741 cattle, 7,458 hogs, and no sheep on Saturday of last week. The following will show the total receipts of the week with comparisons:

making about 167,500 head for the week, which is only 17,500 abort of last week's big total. For the same week last year the strivals were 72,875. Frices were firmer than at any time yearchize, but were without pronounced advances. There was a good demand, and nearly all were closed out before noon at from $4.75 to $5.25 for post to choice light, and at from $2.90 to $5.35 for medium and heavy weights. The run of sheep was about 1,500 head, and for the week 45.00 head. There were buyers at steady prices for all decent mutions, but there was little or not all decent mutions, but there was little or no demand for poor stuff. Quotations range from $1.05 for for for method for poor stuff.

CATTLE-The week closed with the lightest receipts of any day since Saturday of last week. Among the offerings there were some pretty good corn fed beeves, but no great number. The local packers were in the market for a few cattle, and prices were fully steady or even strong on the best grades. One bunch of 1,281-lb. beeves brought $4.65, and some lighter cattie $4.25. The demand for the more com-mon grades was not so good, and the market on such was a little slow. About every thing desirable was sold early in the day Rally destrable cows and heifers were in very fair demand at strong prices. Com-mon and trashy stuff was as slow as it has been any time and does not show any improvement. No one appears to be in the market for the lower grades and rough cattle. As has been the rule all this week, the demand for stockers and feeders was very slow and the market weak. The country to have given up buying cattle of that kind almost altogether. Representative
