BUTCHERS GIVE IN BEEF Join Other Union Men in Declaring the South Omaha Strike Off.

EVERYBODY PLEASED WITH THE ACTION

Mayor and Sheriff Lose No Time in Asking Withdrawal of Militia, and the Troops Leave - Strikers' Chances of Reinstatement.

The strike at South Omaha is now at an end. At a meeting of the beef butchers and beef boners yesterday afternoon by a majority vote the strike was declared off. These were the last to surrender, but the men realized that they were battling with a forlorn hope and laid down the hatchet.

As soon as Mayor Johnston learned that the last of the union men had declared the strike at an end he wrote out a telegram asking the governor to call the militia away. The mayor sent the message to Omaha to get the signature of Sheriff Drexel and inside of an hour from the time the message was filed an order was issued calling the two companies to Lincoln.

The city is now under the charge of the regular police force and no further disturb-ance is anticipated. Mayor Johnston has appointed one additional officer on the force His name is W. T. Connell, a brother t the captain of the night force, and he will be assigned to night duty.

The business men of South Omaha are very much pleased to know that the strike has been declared at an end in every department. Nearly all of the beef butchers and beef boners will go back to work this morning. Good beef cattle are coming in slowly now and while the killers are buying everything that is to be had the receipts are so light that there is not work for a very large force just at the present time. As a consequence some of the old men will have to remain idle for a time or go to some other city for employment. The boycott against the Cudahy company will no doubt be lifted within a few days.

Republicans Open the Campvign with Rousing Outdoor Meeting.

The campaign was opened in South Omaha by the republicans last night by a largely attended meeting, which was held in the open air at the corner of Twenthy-fouth and M streets. Hon, John M. Thurston was the principal speaker and delivered a rousing address. Many of the laboring men turned out and were highly pleased. Prior to the meeting there was a parade, headed by the South Omaha Juvenile band, in which many of the voters participated.

Attorney Murdock, who is president of the McKinley league, presided at the meeting. An immense banner was carried by Jerry Howard, which hore the following: "Two dollars a Day and Turkey on Sun day;" "Protective Tariff and Honest Money;"

"Populists and Democrats, How Do You Like the Change?" "McKinley Club of South Omaha.

Law Suit Over a Bed.

Justice Levy had a novel case yes day morning. According to the eviintroduced Anton Bajuk sold dence a bed to George Johnson for $7. In the language of the constable, the bed was not worth 50 cents, but Johnson needed a bed and Bajuk offered to give him time to pay the bill, and the deal was made. Johnson paid Bajuk from time to time until he had paid him $5. Thursday Bajuk went to Johnson's house, and after abusing and assaulting Mrs. Johnson he took the bed away. The complaint upon which the warrant was issued was larceny, and Bajuk was found guilty. The court assessed him a fine of $10, which goes to the complaining witness, and he was then fined $15 and costs, the whole thing amount-ing to about $25. Bajuk went to Johnson's house, and after ing to about $35.

Thieves Keep Themselves Busy.

There has been considerable daylight pil fering going on in South Omaha during the last week.

While all the members of the family wer iway yesterday afternoon a thief entered the residence of George Keiser and stole Mrs Keiser's gold watch and a watch chain and diamond stud belonging to Mr. Keiser. The thief entered through a rear door. A crook entered a bawdy house, No. 229 Railroad avenue, and asked the landlady to "tip off" any person to him who could be robbed. CALLS FOR CHARITY. Commissioners Almendy Receiving Appeals for Help from Many Families. BURLINGTON AND U. P. EXTEND HELP It is with some feelings of alarm that the county commissioners; anticipate the coming of winter, realizing that it means a heavy drain upon the charity fund. Already the number of applicants for assistance is rapidly increasing, although this is a season of the year when the commissioners contend that people should be able to care for themselves. During the month of July, just closed, 404 families were assisted at the county store, the number being almost as great as during the coldest month of last winter. In July, 1893, the county agant delivered charly goods to the value of $744, while last month the amount reached $921, all of the others it was a steady downpour for several old customers and many new ones being on the list. This month the aggregate will be largely in excess of last month, as any num-ber of parties have applied for assistance. Many of the new ones are from the vicinity of Sheely station, people who were employed in the South Omaha packing houses prior to the strike. These new applicants are nearly all Poles, man whom the county agent claims have lived up their salaries as fast as they were earned.

"Magnificent crops are reported and the people are feeling immeasurably better in every way. And there is also a d cided improvement in the iron situation. While our people feel a little blue over the failure of crops in the western states and consequently sez de-creased revenues in hauling grain to the southern states, we will make up for the decrease in the transportation of packing nouse products and iron ore. The financial depression has had little effect on the south, presumably for the reason that we were too poor to be seriously affected."
