Mr. Conley succeeded in reviving the an nexation proposition at the regular meeting of the council last night. About a month ago the council received a communication from the Omaha council requesting that a committee be appointed by Mayor Johnston to confer with a like committee from the Omaha council. The communication was referred to the committee of the whole, and that is as far as it went. Since that time the communication has been ignored. It was for this reason that Mr. Conloy got through a motion to have the mayor appoint a special committee of three to take the communication out of the hands of the committee of the whole and make some sort of report on the matter at the next meet ing. Mr. Wood objected, but the motion prevailed and Messrs. Conley, Walters and Ryan were named as the committee. Th: bill of the men who were employed as special policemen created considerable discussion. The men worked from two to nine days each. They claimed that the agreement made by Chi.f Brennan was that they were to receive $2.75 a day. The chief was asked to explain. He stated that at the time of the emergency he was unable to get South Omaha men to act at al that the Omaha men refuser go on duty unless they were be paid $2.75 a day. Mr. Con who was acting mayor at that time said he had given the chief instructions t do the best he could. Mr. Wood and Mr. Walters thought $2 a day was enough. Mr. Bulla and Mr. Ryan said that as long as the chief had promised the men $2.75 that amount would have to be paid. The motion to pay this amount was then put and car-ried. The total bill for the specials was $613.25.

Upon motion of Mr. Ryan the city attor-ney was instructed to proceed against the bondsmen of ex-City Clerk Ditzen to collect $252, said to be due the city. Mr. Bulla introduced the following, which was unanimously adopted: Whereas, The late strike in South Omaha

A grizzled veteran of the lost cause, once a powerful figure upon the floor of the United States senate, and still, though rapidly aging, strong man int lectually, General Wade Hampton, United States commissioner of railroads, reminds one very much of Gladstone in his manner of talking and his incisive utterances. There is little of the southern accent in his speech, although now and then the Italian "A" crops out and he sometimes rounds a word with "h," much

"It is a great mistake," said General Hampton, "the peopls of the country are making in regard to the payment, by the raili ads, of their obligations to the governnent. All the railroads having received aid from the government are rigidly living up to the terms of the Thurman act, paying 25 per cent of their net earnings into the per cent of their net earnings treasury as interest upon the bonds. But this is by no means sufficient to assist the government in paying interest on its own bonds, and therein the chief difficulty lies. The roads have been honest in the matter, but 25 per cent is hardly a drop in the bucket which is required from the government, and I would be in favor of increasing the amount to 50 per cent of the net earnings to be paid by government aided roads in order to assist the government in meeting its interest

"One thing has been made clear to my Coroner Maul was notified and directed Brewer & Sloan to take charge of the mind since I became the commissioner of railroads and that is the government made body until this morning, when he will ina great blunder when it extended aid to competing lines after it had built the Union and Central Pacific. There it should have stopped, and roads now in the hands of receivers would have been on a paying basis night with his head in a sling and swore instead of defaulting in their interest monthly or whenever the interest is due on bonds. After creating a road the government turned for assault. Olson claims that the assault around and put into the hands of a com-peting road a club to beat out the brains of its first beneficiary.

ON GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP. "I see by the California papers that petitions are being circulated for signatures favoring the government ownership of the Pacific roads. To my mind government Pacific roads. To my mind government ownership is impossible. Just think of it for a minute, it would take something like $186,000,000 to purchase the roads known as the government aided companies. Think of the interest on the bonds necessary to be floated to accomplish this object and what the people would be taxed to pay the interest on the bonds. Then the question of transportation would cut no inconsequen-tial figure in the manipulation and operation of the roads owned by the government, so

There have been cases in the United States where states have tried to operate roads, but they made signal failures of the venture. And I believe the govern-ment would do the same."

Mrs. Caminetti then inquired whether President Cleveland had signed the river and harbor bill, but before they were seemingly aware of it the general and Mrs. Caminetti were involved in a discussion of the tariff bill, General Hampton remarking that it was a vast improvement over the McKinley bill and thought the president would sign it, giving his reasons for so doing in a message to

The Postal Telegraph company will shortly have in operation one of the longest lines in the country, being engaged in building a line along the Santa Fe from La Junta to San Francisco. It is expected the line will be opened about the last of September. When finished the line, it is expected, will increase the receipts of the Omaha office $1,000 per month. The wire is of the largest copper make, the poles being sixty feet high and only a good old fashioned cyclone it is expected will affect it in the least. The line is at present opened to Albuquerque.
