LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 27 .- (Special Telegram to The Bee.)—Buck sprung young Louis Balaz on the Rourkes today, and, although Abbey was in the box and Uncle Dave Rowe in the grand stand, they fell directly on to themselves. Balsz was in fine form and held the Omahas down to one lone single until after two were out in the ninth. Here Mr. Fear projected himself into the game and rapped out a three-bagger to the fence. Pedroes died easily, however, and the game was adjourned. Mr. Abbey almost scared the Hie out of the Ebrights by appearing with the word "Chicago" branded on his breast, striking out four in the first two innings. After that their agitation ceased and they hit him nicely. Seery's fine fielding cutting off several hits. In the second Ebright hit safely and went to third on Speer's single. He came in on McKibben's sacrifice. Hughes got second on Secry's fumble of his single in the eighth. He attempted to come while old Hutch was juggling McCann's hot one. He was caught nicely, but Moran dropped the ball. Speer's single scored McCann. Omaha had a fighting chance in the eighth. Ulrich got first on an error and was advanced when Seery was hit. He was caught napping off second, eer making a pretty double on McVey's strikeout. Score: LINCOLN

MALONE WINS THE ROAD RACE.

Iowa Cyclers Ride from Atlantic to Des Moines for the Cold Plunkers.
DES MOINES, Aug. 27.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—The handicap bicycle race between William Malone and Glen Jones of Atlantic was finished at the west city limits, and was won at 12:37 teday by Malone. Time, seven hours and thirty-never minutes. Jones left Atlantic at 5 o'clock minutes. Jones left Atlantic at 5 o'clock this morning and Malone at 5:30. The race was for $50 a side, the winner to get a per cent of the bets made by Atlantic parties, which amounted to about $500, and which makes his winning the race worth about $500 to him. When about eight miles this side of Atlantic Maione broke down, which delayed him about fifteen minutes. Jones played in hard luck by getting on the wrong road, and was compelled to run back to the finishing point. The distance traveled was about ninety-two miles.

Hig Trap Shoot at Hot Springs. The first annual trap tournament of the South Dakota, Hot Springs Gun club, begins on the club's grounds Wadnesday, and runs to Friday inclusive. The club has spared neither time nor expense to make the tourney one of the best ever held in the west, and the prospects are that they will succeed most flatteringly. They have secured a large number of live birds, and some good special features are among the possibilities. There will be eight regular events daily, the specials invariably following these. There will be $250 added money, and the program in consequence is a most attractive one. A good delegation of shooters will go up from this city. One of the special inducements is a lot valued at $300, which has been donated by E. T. Evans, to be awarded to the contestant making the best average in all the regular shoots. The genial and gentlemanly F. S. Crabili is manager of the tourney, which alone insures that everything will be just about right. on the club's grounds Wadnesday, and

SAVED BY THE REFEREE.

McAuliffe's Lauron Protected by a Very Dizzy Recision at the Seaside Arena. CONE YISLAND, Aug. 27.—Never before in the history of the Seaside Athletic club did such a crowd gather within its walls as that which assembled tonight to witness the fight between McAuliffe and Griffo, and the several events preceding that combat. The attendance was 8,500. The refereeship wan entrusted Har lithe hands of William Malsey Moore of the New, York Athlede club. Con Sullivan of New York appeared against John Madden of Brooklyn, the 'atter winning in six rounds. Al O'Brien of Philadelphia and Charles Burns of Cincinnati fought eight rounds at 125 pounds—awarded to O'Brien in the fourth round. At 10:10 the light of the evening was declared on. Griffo's seconds were Mike Duan, Con Rardan, H. Tuchili and Billy Selike: McAuliffe's seconds were Eddy Stoddard, Jimmy Carroli, Jack Sheehan and Benny Murphy. McAuliffe was first to enter the ring. He was reselved with wild enthusiassm and bowed his acknowledgment frequently. The Australian followed shortly afterward and was loudly cheered. First Round—Max led off and they closed. Then some pretty sparring followed, McAuliffe putting in four points and led at all times. A good bout ended after a brisk rally, in which Griffo made a good impression. was entrusted to Tthe hands of William times. A good bout ended after a brisk rally, in which Griffo made a good impression.

Second Round—McAuliffe led with his right over Griffo's shoulder and then Griffo got in some good purches, following this up on the face. After sparring, Griffo punched the big fellow in the nees and fuce and began to take a comfortable lead when the going was welcomed by McAuliffe.

Third Round—After carefully sparring, Griffo was effective with both on McAuliffe's face, but, rallying, he uppercut Griffo with the left in hard siyle. McAuliffe's eye was injured and he blew more than the Australian.

Fourth Round—McAuliffe's eye was rapidly closing. He seemed weak in his attack and worked slowly, when Griffo landed two beauties and put his man on the ropes. It was now all going Griffo's way, and McAuliffe was wilder than ever, getting a fearful left in the face. McAuliffe sent a sweeping right hander after Griffo, but missed, the latter ducking. Griffo went after his man in good shape and twice got home on his swellen face. He had just got a straight one from Griffo's left when the gong sounded.

Fifth Round—McAuliffe was now very tired and sparred for wind, Griffo probably losing a goiden opportunity for getting the fight by not going in.

Sixth Round—McAuliffe was now bathed in perspiration, and Griffo scored rapidly, and apparently had his opponent at his mercy. McAuliffe got slower, and his efforts with his right struck wind over and over again.

Seventh Round—Jack began some terriffe week but Griffo sac not terrified.

Seventh Round-Jack began some terrific rushes, but Griffo was not to be denied, and in some fighting got there twice to Mac's once.

Eighth Round—After a few exchanges, Griffo did well with a left uppercut, and dashed in on his man's face in good shape. It looked, however, as if he lacked power and inclination to go in and end it, being much stronger. Jack was regaining lost ground when the bell sounded.

Ninth Round—McAuliffe, much refreshed, braced up, and led off with a terrific right hander on Griffo's body. He now forced the fight flercely, punching right and left, and when the bell rang he had all but regained his laurels.

fight hercely, punching right and left, and when the bell rang he had all but regained his laurels.

Tenth and last Round—They shook hands and McAuliffe began with a good body blow. They then clinched and opening, Jack again got thete. He now went desperately to work trying for the knockout. He rushed wildly twice, and then went wild in what might have been a finishing blow. They frequently clinched, and hissing was loudly indulged in. A terrible satte was in progress when the round ended.

The referee gave the bout to McAuliffe, which called forth a storm of opposition. There was detert such a demonstration against a decision McAuliffe attempted to speak, but was hissed down. Griffo protested vigorously against the decision, and was apparently supported by a majority of the spectators. Griffo also attempted to speak, but the police interfered and requested him to leave the platform. He was loudly applauded as he stepped from the ring, and when McAuliffe was leaving the groans were dealering.

BRITANNIA TO BE LAID UP.

No More Races Unless the Vigilant Insists-Sequel to an Accident.
WEYMOUTH, Aug. 27.—Captain Carter. ommander of Britannia, has received a telegram from her owner, the prince of Wales, Instructing him not to race Britan nia again this season in any of the regattas. The action of the prince of Waler is due to the accident by which on Saturday last Chief Officer Simmons and Caterer Roper and Engineer Brookman of the steam yacht

Tabura were drowned. As already cabled, Chief Officer Simmons and his companions left the prince of Wales

As already cabled, Chief Officer Simmons and his companions left the prince of Wales' cutter for the shore on Saturday in a dingey. A heavy gaie was blowing at the time and the men had considerable difficulty in handling the boat. Eventually they tried to put back, but during a rain squall the dingey was lost sight of, and yesterday morning she was ploked up, floating bottom upward. As nothing has since been heard of the three men it is concluded they were drowned.

The prince of Wales, in his telegram to Captain Carter, said that unless Vigilant insists upon racing for the Cape May cup Britannia is to lay up for the winter.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Howard Gould was informed this afternoon of the decision of the prince of Wales not to race his yacht in any more of the regatrus this year. Mr. Gould said: "So far as the Cape May cup is concerned, Vigilant will certainly insist upon contesting for it. We want to take that cup home, and we mean to have a try for it. As I understand the conditions, Britannia, as the holder of the cup, must defend it. She cannot transfer this privilege to Satanita or any one else without consent of the New York Yacht club. If Britannia does not sail against us she must give up the cup."

Regarding the yacht season of 1895, Mr. Gould remarked: "I expect to come over next year with a new Herreschoff 20-rater, Of course, if there is a challenge issued for America's cup, things may be more lively at home, and it is probable I shall remain there, as it is quite likely my brother George will build a cup defender."

SOUTHAMPTON, Aug. 27.—Vigilant left the dry dock this morning and was towed to the Empress dock. She was afterwards made fast to a tug and dropped her centerboard in the water. The chains were brought through the trunk of the keel and were made fast to the main and peak halvards. During the hoisting of the centerboard by Captain Haff and Vigilant's crew, a rod and bolt connected with the centerboard by Captain Haff and Vigilant's crew, a rod and bolt connected with the centerboard in t

Death of Past Supreme Chancellor Shaw Casts a Gloom Over the Encampment at Camp Washington-Tributes to His Memory.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.-The flag of Camp George Washington was lowered to half-mast today on account of the announce ment of the death of Congressman George B. Shaw of Eau Claire, Wis., who was past supreme chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, the predecessor in office of Chancellor W. W. Blackwell. Resolutions were drafted at once by the supreme lodge, to be sent to his family. Three hundred extra tents from the War department were raised today, making the number in the camp 2,000, but there were complaints of over crowding, and the Wash-ington divisions, which had tented with the Visitors, marched out of camp and gave their quarters to the Michigan men. Estimates of the number in camp are about 10,-000, as each tent accommodates five men. There are also many unattached Knights in town. Many divisions arrived during the day and there was a jolly time in camp, notwith-standing the damp, uncomfortable weather. Crack companies drilled on the Monument grounds before hundreds of spectators, and others paid formal visits to their member of congress, notably the Cleveland brigade, which was received in a body by Representa-tive Johnson of Ohio. A pleasant feature of the encampment is the presence of many Pythian sisters, so called, who will endeavor to secure recognition as a body from the order.

The state brigades which are here Indiana, Kansas, Massachusetts, Iowa, Illi-nois, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Texas, Pennsyl-vania, Nebraska, West Virginia, Missouri, vania, Nebraska, West Virginia, Missouri, New Jersey, Ohio, Tennessee, Minnesota, Michigan, New York and Connecticut. Separate regiments are on the field from Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, Maryland, Maine, Rhode Island, Louisiana, Delaware, Arkansas and Colorado.

Convention hall, the largest association hall in Washington, was brilliant with banners and the evening costumes of hundreds of ladles during the reception given in the evening to the supreme lodge by the city and the district commissioner. Just as the scarlet-coated marine band struck up a march, "The Great Republic," composed for the occasion by its leader, Prof. Fanucilli, Vice President Stevenson walked down the aisle escorted by Mrs. Richard Goodhart, and followed by the officers, who took seats on the stage. the stage.

Chairman Goodhart Introduced John W. Ross, commander of the District of Columbia whose remarks were in harmony with the spirit of the occasion, dwelling upon the establishment of the order in Washington. Mr. Ross presented Vice President Stevenson, who was warmly applauded before he could speak

EULOGIZED BY STEVENSON. "The pleasing duty is assigned me to extend to the representatives of the order of the Knights of Pythias a welcome to the nation's capital. I may be pardoned for detaining you for a moment before this formal welcome is extended. Your committee did well in selecting the city of Washington as place for this great convention. In this selection you have honored yourselves as well as the great city in which you are assembled. This is no ordinary gathering. It is literally the coming together of honored representatives of a great brotherhood from every state and section of the American union. It is indeed an honor to any city to claim as its guests the knightliest represontatives of an order whose membership falls little short of 500,000; whose living faith is the beautiful legend of Damon and Pythlas—whose shibboleth is 'Friendship, Charity and Benevolence,' and 'the greatest of these is charity.

As it is my good fortune to be a member of this great fraternity, I cannot know to whom future ages will do honor as its founders, but that he "builded wiser than he knew" is evidenced by the fact that what our eyes now behold is the growth of less than a third of a century. I trust I divulge no secrets which would bring upon my poor head the dread penalty—when I say I have heard that each regular assemblage of t Knights of Pythias, the official inquiry made, "Does any one know of a sick brother or of a brothers family in distress?" If this be true, then even the wayfaring man may know whence came the inspiration that formulated the ritual and founded the order. I connot but believe that in illustrating in deeds the sublime tenets of its order, your inspiration is that of the new commandment, "Ye love one another." It is too much to say that truly that is "religion in action."
I repeat that you did well to select for your biennial convocation the nation's capital, the city that bears the honored name of the father of his country.

TO THE ORDER UNIVERSAL. "Coming from and representing every state, it is meet that your asembling be at the political certer of this great nation It boots not whither our abiding place be on the great chain of lakes, or where rolls the Oregon; you owe allegiance to but one flag; you are citizens of a common coun-try. In your beautiful ritual there is no place for aught that savors of sectionalism or of strife. Whatever troublous times the rolling years may bring to the state, who can doubt that the knightly men of this great brotherhood will stand as adamant for the preservation and perpetuation of all that preservation and perpetuation of all that is best in our civilization—of all it has cost centuries of tirasome endeavor to achieve. Representing every portion of the republic, every vocation and calling in life, it is yours to bind by yet stronger chords every section and state into one indivisible, indestructible union. And now it but remains to welcome you. Knights of it but remains to welcome you, Knights of Pythias, to Washington. I cordially hid you welcome to the most beautiful city in the world. Here is the symbol of the authority, word. Here is the symbol of the authority, the grandeur, the power of the greatest government known to man. You will find it indeed 'no mean city.' You are not strangers. 'but fellow citizens.' It is your capital, and you are welcome to your father's house. Your arrival is timely. The congress has adjourned, and the right of way is yours. The public buildings are open to you. Upon every lintel is the grateful 'Welcome.' Upon your long line of murch a thousand times your heart will be made glad by the cheering words floating on streamers from mansion and mart, 'welcome, thrice welcome, Knights of Pythias.'"

Supreme Chanceller W. W. Blackwell, who was to have responded, refrained from speaking on account of the death of his predecesin office, Congressman Shaw of Wiscon-

Congressman M. C. Conn of Indiana, member of the fraternity, gave the address of welcome on behalf of the knights of Wash-ington, incidentally paying a tribute to the late Chancellor Shaw, whose unlimely death he said, had changed the rejoicing into mourning. The influence of fraternal broth-erhoods, he prophesied, would eventually solve difficulties between governments and put an end to war.

The program was closed by a stirring march by the Marine band, "The Pythian Encampment," composed by Mr. D. B. Mc-Leod of Washington.

AMUSEMENTS.

Probably from some long since forgotten farce Brandon Thomas received his in spiration for "Charley's Aunt," which had its premiere last evening, so far as Omaha is concerned, at Boyd's, before the largest first night audience that has assisted in a season's inaugural for several years.

It may be that Mr. Thomas drew some of his situations from "Charles O'Malley," by Lever, or even extended his researches to the days of Aristophanes, when the serious drama was all powerful and farce was an unknown quantity in the curriculum of the stage, but whether the author drew his in-spiration from the past or whether he probed into the "gray matter" of his brain, it remains as a fact that "Charley's Aunt" is the cleverest, brightest comedy that has been written in a score of years, and it hit a representative Omaha audience hard last There is a laugh in almost every lina, and there is just enough of a simple story of love to make the humorous sitvations stand out prominently from the back-ground, filled full of clever conceits, bright ideas and as legitimate a story as one would wish to hear of a summer night.
While the play has convulsed London for several years past, while Kaiser Wilhelm has seen the aunt from Brazil, "where the nuts come from, you know," it was reserved for an Omaha audience to see probably the best impersonator of "Charley's Aunt," for the aunt is a him until the last act on this side the water in the person of Arthur Larkin, who is making his first appearance on the American stage this season. He is spon-taneous in his humor, sharp and incisive in taking up his lines and sufficiently agilo to satisfy the most gymnastic college boy as-sisting in front. Small of stature, with a face somewhat suggestive of a woman, Mr. Larkin plays the aunt con amore and won a thoroughly deserved recognition from a house that was reminiscent of a New York audi-ence rather than Omaha, which is proverb-ence rather than Omana, which is proverb-ially cold and inclined to throw a wet blanket even upon meritorious attractions. Accessory to the impersonation of the aunt from Brazil by Mr. Larkin are Raymond Capp and Mr. George H. Trader, who do not miss an opportunity to assist in the develop-ment of the fun, at the same time laying furious hold upon the women whom they

Mr. Owen Fawcett, rather Owen Fawcett for the "mister" seems out of keeping for one who has grown so near the hearts of one who has grown so near the hearts of the people in the years he has played "his round of parts," is deliciously cast as Stephen Spettigue, a solicitor, who at last succumbs to Chartey's aunt, only to have her (him) Jar the life out of him in the finale. Mr. Brian Darley, of her majesty's service, has a most congenial role in Colonel Chesney, a quiet dignified part, which is simply a makeshift for the other characters to use in bright-ening their own performance, but the colonel carries off the genuine aunt, and surely that ought to be compensation for the pranks played by the Oxonians. There is little or no scope for the women in the play, they are secondary to its development, minor chords to be played upon when the major tones have failed to give forth any sound. Yet even in their curtailed positions Miss Stacy and Miss Stevens are bright, always interesting and sufficiently pretty to have been made the luminaries rather than to have to take a back seat for "Charley's Aunt," the fictitious Donna Lucia. Miss Millie James, a daughter of the tra-gedian, Louis James, has the ingenue part of Ela Delahay, which she plays with credit to the family as well as to herself. Miss Coulter as Donna Lucia was hardly up to the requirements, particularly in view of the excellence of her surroundings. The ab normal cat on the bills is right, "Don't do anything until you have seen 'Charley's

Mrs. W. D. Fink, Madison, Neb.

"So many have asked me about the results of my treatment with Dr. Shepard that I give the facts publicly. I suffered as thousands of women do from neglected entarrh. My Doctors could not, or would not, treat me for my real trouble, and the catarrh poison got hold of my whole body and nearly ruined me. It had been working in my system since I was Il years ago, when I had la grippe. Since then its lowered my health so rapidly that I was forced to get radical help, or go down completely.

"The mucus lining of my nose and throat were first affected. I had a watery, nasal discharge for a while, then it became offensive, and the left nostril swelled shut. The left eye ran water and gave me stinging pains. Soon my stomach was attacked. For five years I was a dyspeptic and couldn't digest enough food to furnish any strength or fiesh. As the disease spread the bladder suffered also, giving me unspeakable distress. My sufferings kept rest and sleep away until my nervous system was about exhausted.

"Shall I tell how Dr. Shepard's work has acted on me?"

"From being a weak and wretched invalid I have come to be hearty and healthy in every respect. I can't go up town without some of my friends speaking about the great change. I believe Dr. Shepard's treatment can do for other women all it has done for me."
